DEDICATION

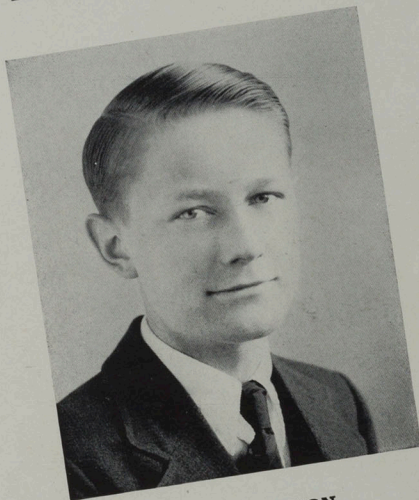

For progress and scholastic achievement, we the staff proudly dedicate this 1938 Annual to the students of the Carbon County High School.

FOREWORD

Radio is identified, not for its programs, but for its ability to reach distant places. Therefore, that the students of Carbon County High School, like radio, may spread their knowledge and good will through this land, we submit this 1938 Yearbook.

I have read that the ancient Greeks had a race—a kind of relay in which the runners carried lighted torches—and these were passed from one runner to another in succession. Not only the speed of the runner but also the luster of the torch was considered in awarding the prize. The stages of education in Carbon County might be compared to this ancient relay. The Carbon County High School receives the students from the lower grades of the county and pass them on to its successor. You have been carrying the torch of learning and are now about to pass it on. You have not only kept the torch alive, but you have caused it to glow so brightly that it attracts attention from afar. May I congratulate you, the pupils and teachers of Carbon County High School, on your performance. You have indeed made a splendid record.

MELVIN WILSON
Principal

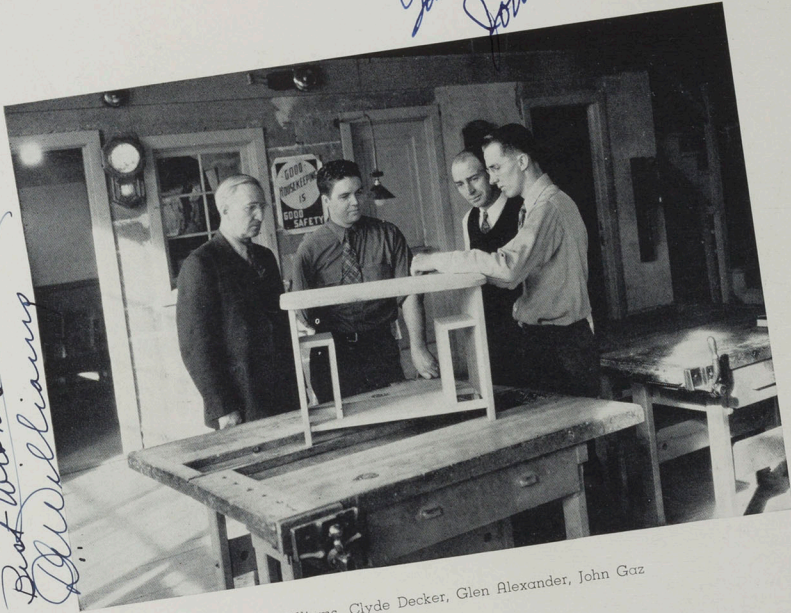

This year there will come within the influence of our high school about one thousand students. We have on our rolls every boy and girl of Carbon County under 18 years of age. Where will there ever be gathered such a force for working social change among constituents? When will there be organized an institution that comes so near to the hearts and minds of this commonwealth? Though the time has now arrived for the establishment of another institution which will call for a division of this institution, this year will remain long in the memories of all of us. The associations formed here will influence our lives more than we can ever know.

May we all be pleased and proud to feel that this, the "CARBON OF 1938," is the product of the student body in the greatest year of their high school's history.

GEORGE B. JACKSON
Student Body President

With some work, much prodding, and great sacrifice, mostly from our parents, for the last four years we have been striving for progress and knowledge. In our pursuit of learning may we have acquired lasting returns from directed effort. Some of us from necessity will soon put it into use in the industrial and business fields while others will go on into higher education. But all of us, though separated from the school, will always wish it the highest success and feel sincerest gratitude for the associations and ideals of education and knowledge which we have shared.

It has been one of the greatest honors to hold the presidency and I wish to thank the council, student-body, and faculty for their constant support and cooperation. I hope our activities will be able to help bring "that more abundant life" for all of us.

I need not point out the accomplishments of the school to you remaining students but we can only hope that every succeeding class can leave the school even better than it is today.

SENIORS

Classes come and classes go, and are forgotten soon after. But ever in the hearts of those who go, lives the memory of the years at Carbon High.

And so it is with the class of '38. For years to come members of this year's senior class will boast of the football and basketball team of '38, of their senior assembly, senior hop, and finally, graduation, all under the able leadership of their president, Stanley Litizzette, and advisers, Thelma Faylor and S. A. Olson.

Behind them they leave that dream world, school days, each to seek his own way, but their experiences at Carbon High have left permanent impressions on them, to be held as examples in coming years.

And each one, as he leaves Carbon, will become a member of that old club, the World.

Let each one use the firm foundation built in the years at Carbon to lift him to the highest level attainable.

Another Junior class leaves behind them a successful year at Carbon High.

They have almost covered the stretch of high school years.

Never will their original, oriental Prom be forgotten. With it was their unusual promenade. Among their accomplishments they can boast a varied program of activities including their successful television assembly.

President Louis Bunnell and advisers J. W. Bingham and Orpha Faylor piloted the class through all these events.

Luck and good wishes, Juniors, in future endeavors.

And so the Sophomore class leaves behind them two years of preparation to step into the upper classes.

In coming years this class will be busy finishing the job which is now half-way completed. But in the memories of each member of the class will always remain some special little incident or some outstanding feature performed by the sophomore class.

There will always be memories of the successful assembly and Harvest Ball . . . gratitude to their president, Leon Holbrook and adviser George Young for their helpful guidance throughout the year.

ACTIVITIES

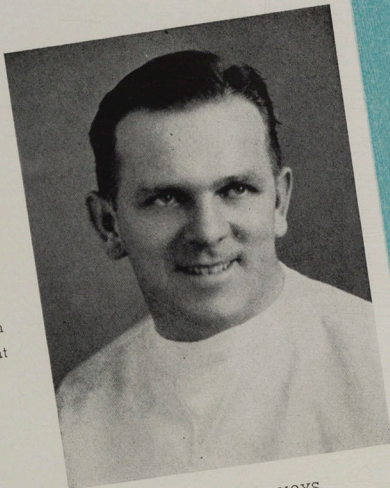

FOOTBALL

The Carbon eleven is to be highly regarded by every student for the outstanding record made this year for Carbon high.

The Dinosaurs made a spectacular show of sportsmanship and loyalty under the leadership of co-captains Bill Wilson and Gene Robertson, coached by Preston L. Summerhays.

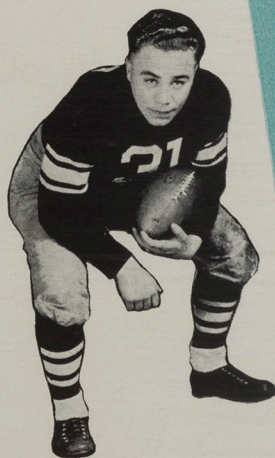

Win or lose, at home or away, there is an underlying spirit that inspires our boys to "Fight to the finish, never give in . . ."

This year, the basketball team of 1937-38 made a deep imprint in Carbon basketball history. The team attained the highest laurels of basketball honors by entering the State Tournament for the first time since 1929.

Never before has such a spirit of interest and pep been shown towards basketball, and it is due to the splendid efforts of the team put forth for good old Carbon High, under the leadership of Captain Bruno Dalla Corte and Coach George Young.

The Girls' League sponsored a Get Acquainted Party for the girls this year in order to bring about a better understanding among them. Many interesting and educational assemblies were presented to the girls, but the most successful event was Girls' Day.

To make the school a cleaner place to work in, the Boys' League held a "Clean-up" day, and with the support of the student body it was very effective in changing the appearance of the school. The League has been one of the most outstanding Boys' Leagues of Carbon.

This year the Carbon debaters carried on the most successful campaign in the history of the school. They attended four tournaments: The Weber College tournament, at Ogden in which they placed second; the U. S. A. C. meet at Logan in which they tied for second; the B. Y. U. meet at Provo in which they won first place.

The team gained the finals of every tournament, making them the most formidable team in the state.

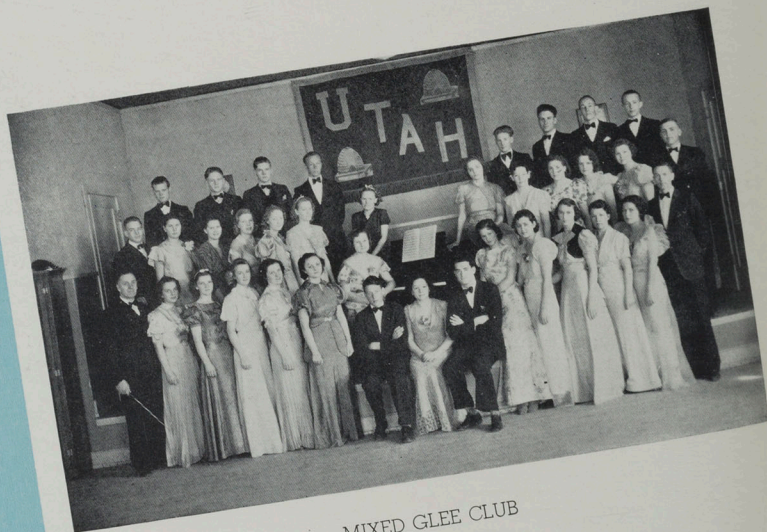

The team attributes their successes largely to the expert coaching of George C. Morgan.

Under the leadership of E. M. Williams, the director of the Carbon High School Band, entered their third national band contest to take high honors again in concert work and as a marching band. The band, having ninety pieces, has had the best instrumentation of any Carbon High School Band. The school is proud of the fame the band has brought back to the school and sincerely hope that they may continue in their good work.

To the strains of "Memories" the Junior Class waltzed from the Tazmah Hall into a beautifully decorated "Oriental Garden," the enchanting theme of their Prom. It was carried out in orange and brown with green palm trees, giving the atmosphere of a cool oasis in a desert.

Juniors, you may be proud as your efforts were well rewarded.

The Boys' Home Making Class, better known as the Bachelors' Club, under the leadership of Miss Maurine Thomson, has taken the first hour of each morning to better prepare themselves for their future lives. In their course this year they have studied Foods, Clothing, Family and Social relationships, and Housing. Foods seems to be the most popular subject, and the boys are regular chefs. They have served members of the faculty and classmates to tasty breakfasts, luncheons, and suppers.

Too much work and no activities deaden the interest in a class, so the boys have made it a more enjoyable class by their frequent hikes, parties, and feel they have completed a very successful year and hope to go out in life with a feeling that they will be able to care for themselves.

The officers of the club are: Bruce Pike, President; Jim Gunderson, Vice-President; Delbert Olson, Secretary-Treasurer and Abe Garcia and Don Naylor, Bouncers.

The American Way Of Living

We have the highest standard of living in the world. But we have not attained it by divine right. Instead we have earned it by our efforts.

Down through the years our people have practiced thrift. They have been resourceful, courageous, far-sighted. They have worked hard. And our country has forged steadily ahead.

This bank believes that so long as these basic American principles endure, and as long as business men, banks, the people and the government work hand in hand, we will go forward.

Our financial services can be very helpful to those who wish to move ahead.
