Section I: Request

Utah State University’s Jon M Huntsman School of Business has for many years offered a Minor in Business for students with majors outside the School. The School requests that the administrative home of the program be transferred from the Dean’s Office to the Management Department, and that the curriculum be streamlined to better meet program objectives.

Section II: Need

The Minor in Business has historically been housed in the Dean’s Office of the Jon M. Huntsman School of Business. However, by not having a home in an academic department, the program has lacked the academic ownership that other programs with homes in academic units in the school have. The goal of the program is to offer training in core business principles to students with majors outside the School of Business for whom this will enhance their career prospects. As such, program development and administration will be better served if the program is housed in the Management Department of the School.

Given the objective of giving non-business students a broad education in core business functions, the curriculum will also be streamlined. When it was last revised, the curriculum was expanded to give students flexibility. However, in doing so, the curriculum lacked focus on core business functions. Moreover, course prerequisites significantly expanded the number of credits actually needed to complete the minor.
Section III: Institutional Impact

The proposed changes will have no impact on staffing, course offerings, or course availability. All courses within the program are already offered and represent a subset of the existing curriculum. Ownership of the program by the Management Department and streamlining of the curriculum will make it easier to promote the program which may lead to increased enrolments. Any such increases can be absorbed by existing course offerings.

Section IV: Finances

No additional resources are required.

I. Old Business

A. Excused Absence Policy

A final (committee) version of the excused absence policy was presented. Changes included: re-organization of reasons for excused absence, for clarity. Scott Bates verified that Title IX inclusions were adequately covered and suggested that sexual assault/psychological issues were adequately covered in the Injury, Illness, Medical Conditions/Status section. Scott also addressed illness of an immediate family member requiring the student’s assistance at home; also covered in the same section under #4.

MOTION: Dawn Kirby motioned to consider the Excused Absence Policy final, Thomas Fronk seconded the motion. Outcome: motion passed.

B. Family Member in Class Proposal

By request faculty senate president, the committee reviewed the report from the Academic Freedom and Tenure committee that addressed the potential conflict of interest when instructors teaching family members.

Several concerns were voiced regarding the potential conflict of interest if family members take a class from a related professor:

- The potential for bias exists, but it is small.
- The issue would rarely be a problem.
- If the class in “conflict” is rarely taught, or a pre-requisite for additional courses, the resultant delay to student progress would not be acceptable.
• In many cases, it is not practical--nor more fair--to ask a DH, colleague, nor TA to grade a family member’s tests/quizzes. In some cases, such as a multiple-choice exam, it would not be difficult to grade fairly. In other cases, it would be very difficulty (e.g., major writting assignment).

The committee discussed the ways in which the appearance of bias could be mitigated. Roland Squire mentioned that any student can appeal a grade, there is currently a path for remedy in the student code. He also suggested faculty be made aware of potential problems with teaching family members and cautioned.

MOTION: Karen Mock motioned to note that “the Academic Standards Subcommittee does not support a code-change restricting instructors from teaching family members.” Dawn Kirby seconded the motion. Outcome: motion passed.

C. Summer Credit-Hour Registration Cap was discussed. The committee decided there was not sufficient reason to implement a cap on summer credit hours. Scott will draft a formal response for review at the next meeting.

Next meeting is February 18, 2015 at 2PM in Champ Hall

USU Course Prefixes and Funding (8:30 – 9:00 am Noelle Cockett)
The provost stated that funding from the Provost’s office will still be available for Gen Ed breadth courses that have changed from the USU prefix to a more specific prefix as long as additional seats are needed in that particular course.  There were discussions about how departments have been and will continue to add seats and help predict the seats that will be needed in future semesters.  The Provost’s new budget model will help fund additional seats as needed regardless of delivery mode (online, face-to-face, or broadcast).

The reduction of summer 2015 tuition resulted in a 25% increase in enrollment, most of which occurred in online classes.  The “take more—save more” adjusted tuition plan will be in effect for summer 2016 courses, many of which will be general education courses.  The first 7-weeks and full 14-week summer sessions are popular. Taking summer courses helps some students complete the 30 credits a year that are needed to remain on-track for on-time graduation.  Another issue is that Logan and nearby areas provide only a limited pool of people who are qualified to teach these classes.  USU is limited on instructors, classroom space, and getting enough TAs for summer because students continue as RAs to support faculty research rather than working as TAs.  UTFs could potentially help with this concern.

This item will be discussed again at next month’s meeting.

Syllabus Tracking Tool
The Curriculum Subcommittee has established a working group look to help standardize a basic course syllabus template. John Louviere has met with the working group and showed them the syllabus tracking tool, which may also serve as a central repository for syllabi.  There are certain accreditation items that need to be on all syllabi.  This process will assist students, faculty, accreditation needs, and others who review syllabi.  John Louviere will be invited to the next General Education Committee meeting to demonstrate the tracking tool.

Motion to adjourn made by Harrison Kleiner.  Seconded by Dawn Kirby.  Adjourned at 9:45 am.
