Denik, a Company Started By Huntsman Student, Gets Product Featured on Good Morning America and in The New York Times

USU Jon M. Huntsman School of Business

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.usu.edu/huntsman_news

Part of the Business Commons

Recommended Citation
USU Jon M. Huntsman School of Business, "Denik, a Company Started By Huntsman Student, Gets Product Featured on Good Morning America and in The New York Times" (2013). Jon M. Huntsman School of Business News Collection. 71.
https://digitalcommons.usu.edu/huntsman_news/71

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Colleges at DigitalCommons@USU. It has been accepted for inclusion in Jon M. Huntsman School of Business News Collection by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@USU. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@usu.edu.
Denik, a Company Started By Huntsman Student, Gets Product Featured on Good Morning America and in The New York Times

Huntsman Post

Denik, a Company Started By Huntsman Student, Gets Product Featured on Good Morning America and in The New York Times

Denik, a company founded by a Huntsman student, got some national exposure on Nov. 6 on ABC’s “Good Morning America” and on Nov. 4 in the New York Times. The company makes journals that feature artwork from artists around the world. For each journal Denik sells, $1 goes to help build schools in developing countries and five percent of their profits go back to the artists. Check out its website by clicking here. Good Morning America featured a number of products that are now sold on Tom’s Marketplace, a website that gives international exposure to products made by people who might not have access to such world-wide markets otherwise. (Denik is mentioned at 8:20 on the “Good Morning America” clip.)