New York, Sept. 14th, 1904.

Dear Sir:-

As a teacher of languages, French, German, Latin, Greek, of literature and history, mathematics, drawing, athletics and all common branches of public school instruction, I desire to connect myself with a public or private school, college or academy in city or country.

I hold diplomas of the Berlin and Leipzig universities, have taught in this country since 1894, mostly in New York and vicinity, have conducted the College Point (L. I.) Academy for boys for two years and lately acted as private tutor to a family who has now gone to Europe.

The lateness of the season induces me to use this means of making known my want. I am ready to enter upon a situation within a few days' time.

I should make it my endeavour to work for the best interests of my principals. My habits are very temperate and industrious. I would not shun any extra work beside my regular instruction hours. My expectations of remuneration are modest.

I give as references the following gentlemen's addresses in this city:-

Aug. Ullman, Rector of Trinity School, W. 91st St.,
Dr. J. E. Janvrin, 191 Madison Ave.,
Andrew Zerban, Director of Lenox Institute, 334 Lenox Ave.,
Dr. Geo. Bentz, 309 E. 86th St.,
Sigmon Stern, Director of School of Languages, 34 E. 60th St.,
Prof. Chase, 137 W. 49th St.,
Hugo Munsterberg, Prof. of Psychology, Harvard University,
A. Wittemann, Publisher of American Views, 250 Adams St., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Respectfully yours,

George Gantzer,
321 East 124th St.
