A PICTURE IS WORTH A THOUSAND WORDS...

February 16, 2012 by cphrson

We've been looking through the 13,000 archived CPD photos taken over the past 40 years. There are many interesting stories hidden behind each picture.

Once again, we came across a picture of one of our current CPD staff members, working here early in his career. Do you recognize him? He really hasn't changed that much in the last 20 years!

Here's a hint: He trained two years at the CPD while working towards his PhD.

One of our current CPD staff is seated in the middle. Do you know who he is?

Our last mystery photo was of Dr. Mark Innocenti, Director of the Research and Evaluation Division at the CPD.

You can visit our CPD History Channel for more interesting stories and people who have made a difference in the past 40 years at the CPD.
