DR. WIDTSOE MADE PRESIDENT

ELECTED BY DRY FARMING CONGRESS AT COLORADO SPRINGS.

Fitting Tribute to Author of Great Work on "Dry Farming."

Tuesday of this week the International Dry Farming Congress, meeting in Colorado Springs, elected Dr. John A. Widtsoe president. They thus showed gratifying appreciation of and endorsement of Dr. Widtsoe's late and great work on Dry Farming.

Every A. C. man and woman ought to know about this great Dry Farming Congress which meets every year. The women are interested in the International Congress of Farm Women meeting as an Auxiliary to the Farming Congress. In fact our own Mrs. Dr. Widtsoe is to tell these women all about her famous ideal kitchen. So everybody here at the A. C. is a little more than just interested in this event.

To this great International Congress come delegates from nearly all the countries of the earth, and its 11,000 members are scattered through fifty nations over the five continents. The President is an American, but among its vice presidents are men from India, South Africa, Brazil, Chile, Algeria and Tunis, Hungary, Australia, and Canada: Seven Governors of States, ten heads of Agricultural Colleges; fifty professors from the same, and fifty Government experts will attend and address the meetings. The whole world is vitally and actively interested. Over 3,000 delegates will be in attendance.

This Dry Farming Congress has been called the greatest industrial organization in the world. Its scope is truly enormous, for 55 per cent of the area of the globe must be reclaimed, if reclaimed at all, by dry farming. Not a large country but contains... (Continued on page four)

PRESIDENT TAFT VISITS COLLEGE TOWN

Students Out En Masse. A. C. Band Boys Enlivens The Occasion.

With several companies of cadets in marching formation and the whole Student Body en masse prepared to greet the Nation's Executive with college cheers, including the yell of Yale, the President's Alma Mater, thousands of Logan's citizens waited two hours after schedule last Wednesday evening to hear President William Taft deliver a short but strong address on "Peace."

Instead of arriving at 5:20, it was 7:20 when the train pulled in, and President Taft was whisked in an auto to the temporary platform erected in front of the Tabernacle. All along the route hostile threats shouted "down the University, a. c. Arbitrary and Dictatorial Attitude."

There seems to be a great deal of misunderstanding among the students of the Agricultural College, regarding our annual football game with the University, and we feel that a statement of the facts in the columns of our school paper, is not out of place.

For the last nine years, the football game which has attracted the most interest in Utah, has been the annual game between the State University and the Agricultural College. This game has always been played in Salt Lake City, on Thanksgiving day, owing to the fact that the University refuses to play elsewhere at that time. We have always conceded that point, although we should be entitled to play the game in Logan on alternate years.

On January 14th of this year, Coach Toetzl received a letter from Mr. Bennion of the University, in which he writes, "If you will meet us in Salt Lake City on October 28th, we will guarantee you five hundred dollars ($500) with an option on 50 per cent of the gate receipts, such net receipts to consist of the gross receipts minus advertising expenses, printing tickets, payment of officials and policing the grounds. We are unable to offer you the Thanksgiving date because we desire to renew athletic relations with the University of Idaho."

This does not look so bad at first glance, but let us analyze the conditions. In the first place they are taking away from us a date which we are entitled to and offering us a very much inferior date without giving us a voice in the matter.

The University has a great deal of experienced material from the High Schools in and around Salt Lake City, from which to build its team, while we are compelled to break in a lot of new and green material each year.
The University is able to get started from two to three weeks earlier with its team. Experienced players can be whipped into shape much quicker than in-experienced players. Consequently the University can have its team at top form by the middle of the season, while we would show only about fifty per cent of our possible strength at that time.

Now let us consider the financial arrangement, which seems entirely fair to the University. The University admits all its students to the game on their student body tickets, for which the University receives the revenue. All the A. C. students to the number of about four hundred pay the general admission at the gate. The expenses of advertising, printing tickets, payment of officials and policing the grounds, in fact all the expenses the University would incur, would be taken out of the receipts before there was a division and fifty percent of the net receipts would be clear profit to the University. Out of the fifty percent coming to the A. C. U., we would have to meet all of our railroad and hotel bills as well as other incidental expenses connected with our trip to Salt Lake City, which amounts to over $25,000.

When the University students are admitted on a ticket, for which the University has received the profits, and our students pay admission, when a large part of the general public who pay admission to the game come from outside of Salt Lake City, and when a large percentage of those from Salt Lake City are supporters of the Agricultural College, we feel that we are entitled to equal rights with the University, particularly as it has been an annual game between the two State schools.

On January 28th Manager Ol-sen wrote to Mr. Bennion asking for a contract containing the following terms:
1. Students holding student body cards of either school to be admitted upon presentation of their cards.
2. The home team to furnish grounds and look after the policing of same.
3. Both teams share equally the expenses of the visiting team, expenses of the officials, advertising, etc.
4. Net gate receipts to be divided equally between both teams.

The University refused to meet us under the above terms and insisted that we play on the date and terms named by them.

On September 22nd we received a letter from the University of Montana stating that unless we accepted October 28th immediately for our game with them they would be unable to meet us in his year.

As a result the Executive Committee of the Student Body directed Coach Tetzlaff to sign a contract for October 28th with the University of Montana.

The U. of U. still has an open date on November 25th and it was hoped that we could secure that date with the University. In fact we were even willing to submit to the financial terms proposed by the University if a game could be arranged for November 25th, but the U. people do not seem willing to do so under any terms.

We also wish to correct the impression that Mr. Bennion is responsible for these conditions.
In his correspondence with us on several occasions he has shown a willingness to meet us on a fair and equal basis, not on each occasion has he been compelled to recede from his position because his Athletic Board would not stand back of him.

DOINGS AT EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING

The regular weekly executive committee meeting was held Wednesday the fourth hour. President Stevens presiding. A communication from the Coach on the Montana trip of the football team stated that the expenses of the trip would be in the neighborhood of $880.00, and that the guarantees for the two games amounted to $640.00, leaving a net cost to the Student Body of $240.00. The necessary funds were voted and the team will leave Sunday.

Requests were made from the President of Student Body and the Editor of Student Life for funds to fix up their respective office rooms. The committee decided to have plans and approximate cost estimates made of the work before doing anything.

Football prospects were discussed, but the future schedule is still indefinite. But the feeling is to make a determined effort to arrange a Thanksgiving game with a strong team.

Science Club Meets

Last Wednesday night, Oct. 11, the College Science Club held an interesting meeting. The whole evening was devoted to a discussion of College policy and college life in our leading American universities. Dr. Greaves talked on the life at the University of California; Dr. Peterson and Harris talked on Cornell; Dr. West on U. of Chicago, and Leland Stanford; Dr. Titus on Harvard; and Prof. Carroll on U. of Illinois.

The club members entered into the discussion and two and one half hours were spent very profitably. The work of the club is proving to be fully as interesting as last year.

At the meeting of the College Science Club to be held Wednesday evening, Oct. 25th, at 7:30 in the Woman's building. Prof. Turpin will lecture on Problems in "Poultry Breeding." In addition to this lecture Dr. Thomas will discuss the student life in German universities.

Boserman will have a Glee Club this year.

A. OF I. AND AGGIE GAME

The game played upon the A. C. campus Saturday proved a farce as far as a game went, yet it was interesting from a spectator’s point of view to see Coach Teetzel’s invincible team in action.

The boys from the Academy of Idaho played plucky ball for a high school team, but while their average weight was not much short of the Aggies, yet they were practically helpless as far as making or holding ground went.

The ripping back field of the Aggies tore through for touch down after touch down, piling up a final score of 83 to 0. Frequent penalties for holding on the Aggies was all that kept the score below the 100 mark.

Coach Teetzel sprang a surprise by using a shift formation which will be used in the Montana games. This shift is original with Coach Teetzel, and is a dandy, leaving the opposing team no idea where or how to throw its strength of defense. Were this system of attack brought out by some eastern coach it would be the talk of the football world this season.

The Aggie interference on end runs was very good, usually making the runner safe from tacklers for at least ten or fifteen yards. Many stars were brought out in the game, notably the new men Kirby, Schweitzer, and Taylor-Bressard-Crookston and the rest of the old men played their usual good game. For Pecatello Chadwick left half back, McCallum left end and Storer at quarter played the best ball.

TEAM GOES TO MONTANA

Sunday the 22nd of this month the A. C. warriors: start their invasion of Montana. Three games have been arranged for, the first at Bozeman with the Montana Aggies on the 25th, the second at Missoula on the 28th with the U. of Montana, and the last in Butte with the School of Mines on the 30th.

This year the team going to Montana is even more aggressive and stronger than that of last year and three straight victories are expected.

made every one present hear his earnest pleas and arguments for arbitration instead of war. He argued for the two arbitration treaties, one with England and one with France, now before the Senate committee on Foreign Relations. Especially convincing were his words on the disputed point whether questions of National honor should be arbitrated over. Mr. Taft declared that war settles no question on the basis of right but only on the basis of might, and hence it is far more fitting that questions of National honor should be subject to Arbitration where right would prevail, instead of to War where only might could prevail.

President Taft explained that he chose to speak on the subject “Peace” because he wished the College students pressing to grow up with a love for peace. Immediately on finishing the speech he was hurried to the depot to resume his 13000 miles journey.

Senator Reed Smoot and Gov. Wm. Spry, were in the party accompanying the President.

GENERAL SCIENCE
The school of General Science is one which has been little heard of in the past, but year by year it is becoming more popular and at present its enrollment of 112 students shows a most remarkable growth, a growth which is at least proportional with any other department of the school.

The college stands for technical courses in Agriculture, Home Economics, Commerce and Mechanical Arts. The General Science course is one which has been introduced to embrace the purely scientific and general cultural subjects offered in those departments, hence, it has not been extensively advertised and no special inducements are offered to students to register in it. While this action is perfectly justifiable and is in part the purpose for which the College was established i.e. to train men and women along industrial and technical lines, the fact that the General Science department is keeping pace with the other departments of the school is noteworthy and of itself commendable.

Music
Possibly the correct name for the popular home instrument, the piano, is pianoforte, called also in the 17th century forte-piano. The name is derived from the two music forms, piano (soft) and forte (loud), and was given to the primitive instrument which was more harschord with adornment for regulating the power of the tone.

Cristofori, 1709 of Florence, Italy, is usually given the credit for the invention of the pianoforte.

The modern instrument is very interesting from a mechanical standpoint and art work. You are charmed with the neatness of the work and the manifest necessity for accuracy in preparing the parts. The built up pin block is quite unique, it carries the strain exerted by the strings which is sixteen and seventeen tons. The action is the machine part of the instrument, while the tone or acoustical is the art side, and it is this art that counts most in making the fine instrument.

The program for next Wednesday is some of songs, and is by Mrs. Linnartz. It is as follows:

1. The Message. Cecil M. Calverley
2. The Robin......A. Nodlinger
3. Centralino solo from Hiva-\tha, "When I Think of My Beloved."—Fred R. Burton
All are English or American composers. The last number is from that really great work "Hiwa-tha", which was studied by the choir four years ago.

The University of Cincinnati has what is said to be the only bird reserve in the world. It was presented to the university by Mrs. Mary E. Emery and comprises a large area of wooded lands within the limits of Cincinnati, which is as nearly cat and boy proof as possible. Mrs. Emery has placed the entire property under the control of the school with the understanding that is to be under Professor H. M. Benedict of the Dept. of Biology.

One university is opening its library in the evenings.

Mechanic Arts
The advance students in the machine shop, are busy making taps, drills, reamers and cutters. I asked one of the boys what they were going to do with them, when suddenly another student rushed up, tapped him on the shoulder, whispered something, of which I only heard, "He will put it in the Student Life," and not a word could I get out of anybody, but I'll find out, or know the reason why.

By special arrangement, Dr. Frederiek has consented to meet the class in horse showing once a week. Did I not tell you that there would be some din, besides the anvil chorus.

In the carpenter shop, several fine work benches are being built, and I was told that they are already sold. I thought of the man selling his fish before catching them, but anyway, the shops are all right, if anybody should ask you.

The machines are buzzing, the shavings are flying, and the anvils are ringing, a fine industrial trio, don't you think so?

Wisconsin is having a new Horticulture building which is hoped to be ready to occupy in October, may be.—Ex.

General advanced students were out sketching in oils and pastel last week. Some very interesting work was the result.

If you are interested in symbolism or in nature abstracted through imagination, make a visit to view the work being done in Art 2. The girls are not conventionalizing nature as is usually the case in such classes but are symbolism it without the use of objects or pictures in the class.

The results are interesting to observe.

The class in Home Crafts is growing. As the work becomes better known more students are electing the course. The students are at present, stenciling some rather novel work baskets.

"Look without! Behold the beauty of the day, the shout of flowers, glad music, rocks and trees, and sun and sea, and wind and sky! All these are God's expression, art—work of His hand, which men must love, ere they can understand."—Hovey.

If to heaven as grandly we arose as these,
Holding toward each other half their kindly grace,
Haply we were worthier of our human place.

Beckoning friends, companions, sentinels, they are;
Good to live and die with, good to greet afar."

Alumni Notes

James Terrius Jardine, '06, formerly a member of the English faculty of the U. A. C. and since 1907 in the employ of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Forest Service, was a visitor at the College during the early part of this week. Mr. Jardine, who looks especially rugged and hearty, is making a tour of all the Western National Forests, where experiments in grazing are being carried out, before leaving to spend the winter at the Washington, D. C. office. Mr. Jardine is to be congratulated on the advancement he has made in the service, being now one of the oldest men in the division of Grazing Reconnaissance, and having direct supervision, during the summer months, of several parties of men engaged in this work. He is also author of a number of bulletins summing up the investigation.

Among the men assisting Mr. Jardine are several members of the U. A. C. Alumni association and Jim is able to give a favorable report of them all. Jesse L. Peterson, Joseph Willey, and Heber Hänneck, all of the class of 1911, together with A. E. Land, '09, and John S. Paddock, '11, are at the Deer Lodge Forest, near Butte, Montana. All six will be in Utah, and probably at the College in the near future. A. E. Fleming, who spent two years in the Forest Service, will go from here to Washington, D. C., for the winter.

At the Manti High School, San Pete county, Miss Annie Christensen, '11, and J. W. Sessions, '11, are arouses great enthusiasm among the student body by their energetic and thorough methods of presenting, respectively, Domestic Science and Agriculture. The majority of the students are enrolled in one or the other of these two subjects.

John K. Olsen, '11, is back at the old home in Ephraim, engaged in elevating the standards and methods of agriculture in San Pete county. He goes at it both by precept and example, and the results will not be wanting.

James A. Armstrong, '11, instructor in the Mt. Pleasant High School, attended the Teachers Institute held at Manti, Oct. 13 and 14.

Miss Susannah Ferry, '10, and Hans E. Jensen, '08, are members of the Snow Academy faculty at Ephraim, Utah. Mrs. Jessie Anderson Huergaard, '09, residing at Manti, brings the total of A. C. Alumni in San Pete county up to seven, a small but potent beginning.

Wilbur M. Ball, '11, who was seriously injured at Murray about a week ago, is still at the L. D. S. hospital, but his physicians, Drs. Calderwood and Ralph Richards, say that he is improving in a satisfactory degree, and that recovery is assured. Meanwhile V. A. Sadler, '10, is taking care of the smelter furnaces experiments.

Mr. A. J. Knapp, of the class of 1911, is instructor in Agriculture and other sciences at the Fielding Academy.

THE SPIRITS

It's coming, the SPIRITS of the Student Body. A football team who can run circles around anything in the state, or for that matter, in the intermountain west! Gradually, the faculty members are learning that they can help out materially by bringing their younger personnel into the assembly on music mornings, and Student Body days. The lock on Student Life door is being fixed, and someone told a fellow that told another fellow who told it to us, that Mr. Batt was seriously considering the proposition of giving the male students an additional towel upon which to wipe their five hundred pairs of hands, and thus relieve the poor overworked dehydrating agent that now flutes its flowing fleeces before our flitting eyes. Hence, we repeat, it's coming; An era of love and mutual support. The boys and girls who are now, for the first time away from home, and whose hearts are hungry for love and companionship, are being sought out by the older students and made to feel at home in this, their college. We believe the various classes will soon organize "introduction" or "acquaintance" committees, to seek out the strangers and make them acquainted with the other members. When that happens, and may it come speedily, there will be fewer boys and girls standing about in the halls gazing absently into space. There will be less frequent visits to the secluded places about the college grounds to sob out the yearnings of a "homesick" heart, but standing shoulder to shoulder, the sorrow of one being the concern of all, the A. C. Student Body will present such a picture of mutual helpfulness as shall draw students from the north and from the east, from the south and from the west, until there shall scarcely be found room in all the land in which to contain them.

OH THE! On Tuesday, morning of this week, just as the first bell was sounding its welcome to the long train of students journeying along the "Promenade," a young couple appeared outside the south gate of the Logan Temple. The gate, however, was locked and while the young people stood there evidently debating the point of entrance to the grounds, four students of the college—passed by.

Now we don't know who the young man and woman were, or just what was the nature of their errand, but the point is this: This quartet of young men, evidently surmising that it meant a wedding, instead of volunteering their services to set the young couple right, immediately began calling to them in the most offensively manner. In fact some of the things they shouted would find scant entertainment in the mind of any gentleman. O, the shame of it! To think they were students of the A. C. U! To think that our alma mater, might possibly be judged by such men as these?

We don't know who they are, or from whence they came, but we trust that never again will the strange anomaly be witnessed, of an A. C. U. student failing to help a man, and especially a lady in distress, or of forgetting—even for a moment—that they represent a whole student body made up mostly of ladies and gentlemen.

REMEMBER OUR STUDENTS! In ADVERTISERS! beginning our campaign of boosting—in which you are all going to co-operate—we call your attention to the business men that advertise in our columns.

It is impossible to run a paper without advertisements, as the ads are the very "life of the flesh." They are the factors that we invariably "solve for x." In other words they supply the spondulix, the mazmas, the "root," the necessary; the whereby, that You can avoid your college by patronizing these men. Patronize your friends then, and be sure to tell them you saw their ad in Student Life.

Prof. Pedersen in Geology class: "Mr. Johnson, you've been in the canyon, tell you know about the dips."

Mirt.: "Why I haven't noticed any dips."

Prof. P.: "Well to notice Geology structure, it would be well for you to go alone."
