All depth courses are to be evaluated every 5 years to assure that the courses continue to meet depth criteria. The General Education subcommittee of EPC will track the status of depth courses, keep depth course applications on file, communicate with departments and instructors, and review the courses.

Review process:

- Five years after approval of a course, the committee will notify the instructor of record and their department head about the depth course review. The instructor and department head will be provided with the depth designation materials on file.
- The instructors will be asked to supply a current syllabus of the course and to note any changes in their course relevant to the depth criteria.
- The subcommittee will review these responses.
- For courses that appear to have changed substantively, instructors will be asked to submit a new description of the course and an explanation of how the current course meets USU's depth criteria.
