THE COLLEGE PLAY

College Dramatists Under Direction
Of Miss Huntsman At Work on
"The Reformers"

The try-outs for the College play are being held this week and by the first of next week the "cast" will be well on its way toward footlight fame. Oscar Wilde's comedy that was up for consideration for production this year will not be given. Henry Arthur Jones' clever and amusing comedy "The Reformers" is the play finally chosen for production. There will be some interesting competition among the young women aspirants for dramatic honors for the stellar role of "Dolly," and while the January training camp will in all probability take such experienced and talented amateurs as Mathison, Poulter and Nebeker away, Miss Huntsman is hopeful of finding some good material among the new recruits. Gardner and Wright of "Dandy Dick" fame are in the running and Alford, who did such excellent work as "Brockelhurst" in "The Admirable Crichton" is with us again.

Miss Huntsman says there is some excellent "character" talent at large in the school and in order to use it will very likely preface the play proper with a "curtain-raiser"—one of Stanley Houghton's admirable little one-act plays will be chosen for this purpose.

Basketball Crowds Out Football

THIRTY FIVE HUSKIES APPEAR FOR PRACTICE FIRST NIGHT

With the close of the football season, Coach Jensen called forth his basketball material Monday, Dec. 3, and no one who was over at the Gym Monday evening need wonder why the Coach was carrying such a broad smile Monday night. Not less than thirty-five basketball enthusiasts heeded the call to arms, and it is probably the best looking material the Coach has had in several seasons. The Coach is determined to keep up the great start which the Aggies have made this year in athletics, and is bound to cop the State championship, and if given a chance will make a whirl at the National championship.

The class series will start Thursday of this week. Every team will tangle with each of the other three, the team winning the most games being champions. The schedule is as follows:

Thursday, Dec. 6.—Seniors vs. Freshmen; Juniors vs. Sophs.

Friday, Dec. 7.—Freshmen vs. Juniors; Sophomores vs. Seniors.

Monday, Dec. 10.—Freshmen vs. Sophomores; Seniors vs. Juniors.

From the above Class series, the Coach will pick his regular squad that will work throughout the year, and from which the regular five men will be chosen.

The class managers are requested to get busy and get their teams lined up, as there is no time to waste as the basketball season will soon be well under way. All letter men will be allowed to play.

U. A. C. Preparing Men For The Army

Special Courses Covering Information Men Will Need in the Trenches to Begin at Once

Adapting itself instantly to the needs of the hour, the College has organized several special courses designed primarily to train the young men subject to the second draft for the most efficient service, according to an announcement just made by President E. G. Peterson. These courses aim to give the young man who expects to be called out to active service next February as much practical information as can be crowded into a short course.

Work in telegraphy, under a practical telegrapher, has been arranged. Special work in gas motors for those who desire to enter the truck division of the quartermasters' service will increase the chances of the young soldier has of getting his chosen work. Those who desire to get into the aviation division will be given an opportunity to study the different types of aeroplane engines and the underlying principles of aeronautics.

Practical and theoretical work in military science and tactics will be offered. Lecture courses in camp sanitation, military history, personal hygiene, first aid to the injured, diplomacy, international law, and theory of battle, will supplement work in sketching, topography, construction to scale of intrenchments, field work and obstacles, target practice, and work with the sand table.

A short course in Military French will be open in which the coming soldier will be trained in the vocabulary he is most likely to need in France.

Other courses offered of great practical value to the man who is subject to the draft are surveying, preparation of concrete, road construction, selections of various kinds of woods, and public expression.

Barristers Attract Attention

(Contributed)

The Barrister club of the University of Utah is lacking both in good taste and in cleverness. It is apparently trying to make a tradition of its yearly usurpation of position on the U. A. C. cheering lines at the annual Aggie-Utah football game. It is certainly showing each year lack of appreciation of the courtesies due guests by a host. The Barristers are presumably rather mature students than the average university man and should lead in college courtesy. Certainly nothing could smack more of the high school than their attempt to be clever by appearing on the Aggie sidelines, appropriating space that Aggie students have a right to consider as belonging to their own rosters, all with the plain purpose of creating a disturbance. No Aggie man objects to clever "stunts" pulled off by an opposing school. They enjoy them if really clever. If the inventive power of the Barristers is to be judged by their annual stunt, God pity their future clients.

Coach J. W. Watson
The Man of The Hour

In Apprecia- tion

The Aggie football warriors wish to express their appreciation for the manner in which the students, townspeople, and in fact the whole of Cache Valley have supported the squad this season. It is due to those people, together with the most efficient aid of our Coach that the Aggies made such a wonderful showing in the Conference this year. They are deserving of all the credit and all the benefits that may result of such a creditable season, and the fellows trust that they will be rightfully compensated.

To our Coach, Jack Watson, belongs the greatest amount of credit. It was he who taught us youngsters how to play the game of football; not the brutal side, but the moral side, emphasizing the many benefits derived by taking part in this activity. He trained us to develop that great feature of man's constitution, stick-tiveness. We have a Coach of whom we may well be proud, and one who has established a record never before equalled in the history of athletics in the State of Utah.

The Booster Club of Logan are a crowd of gentlemen of whom we may speak as real "backers." They placed their hopes in this team this year and backed them throughout the season. They banqueted us on our return from Montana and demonstrated to us that they were behind us. They certainly were, and we hope we have shown our appreciation with the results of the season's schedule.

The student body, although handicapped by the absence of so many old students, has performed in grand style. It has shown the right spirit.

Aggies Claim Title

MINISTERS FAIL TO ACCEPT CHALLENGE OF AGGIES

The Utah Aggie gridiron aggregation have the best claim to the Conference championship that any Utah team has ever before enjoyed. They have completed the most successful football season of their career; one in which they met no defeats whatever. Denver University is the only team which can dispute this claim as they also went through the season without a defeat. They, however, refused to play the Aggies when the latter challenged them to a contest to be played any time, anywhere, and under any conditions. Their wire read: "We regret very much that our faculty ruled against a post-season game. We will be glad to include you in our 1918 schedule. We congratulate you upon your success this season." The Aggies regret that fact also, but it looked rather questionable about the faculty ruling against such a game when the proceeds were to go to a suitable war cause, and it was rumored only a few days previous to Thanksgiving that the faculty had given the Ministers the privilege of arranging a benefit game with either the University of Nebraska or Southern California. As the results stand, both teams have claims to the title.

Oratorical Contest Next Tuesday

Keen Competition Expected For Medal of Honor, Given by The Sons of The American Revolution

Each year the Sons of the American Revolution hold an oratorical contest at the college, the winner of the contest is given a medal as a suitable award.

The only persons eligible to belong to the Sons of the American Revolution are those men who had ancestors in the Revolution. The speeches given for the medal shall be of a patriotic nature, of any length the contestant sees fit and memorized, no notes being used.

Because of our entrance into the world war this contest is particularly popular this year.

The winners of the contest for the last three years have been Moses Cowley, Joe Quinney and Harold Peterson.

The tryouts will be held Monday at 4 p. m. in Room 280 at which time the three best men will be selected to contest for the medal Tuesday, December 11th, in the chapel.

Any male student registered in the college is eligible to compete.

Aggies 14; Utah 0, tells the story. Watson's Wildcats under the handicap of a wet field emerged from the Thanksgiving battlefield with Utah's scalp and the Rocky Mountain Conference championship.

But for the slippery condition of the field Utah backers might have left the field with even more anguish than that caused by the 14-0 score; for all authentic critics, Clem Crowley included, admit that with a dry field the Aggies would have won by 40-0 score. However, altho the Aggies won, all honors of the game must not go to them, for the type of play and battling spirit of Norgren's boys is deserving of oodles of praise.

Playing straight football almost the entire game the Aggies were at all times the superior of the Utah boys, but when they resorted to open play their superiority was even more noticeable, when Stubby, Stiefel and Hansen would get away for long, spectacular runs. On the defense Captain Twitchell, as ever was always there. Pistol Cannon with his ever dependable passing and vicious defensive work was easy to distinguish at any time. This article might resolve itself into an eulogy on the whole team so well did they play but the thought of the Aggies rise in the Rocky Mountain Conference demands space.

In the past other conference teams have played the Aggies only out of courtesy. This year their name has placed fear in the breasts of all; and some to relieve their quaking hearts have piled their pens producing absurd stories of "professional athletes" and "a team not recognized as full-fledged members of the Conference." Now that the season is over great pride indeed may be taken in the rise of the hitherto "practice game" team to a position where six of its members are recognized as All Conference material.

Winter Course Opens

The popular Winter Course, with its practical courses opened Monday December 3. Never before has there been such a momentous opening. The halls everywhere are congested. The heads of departments are swamped registering the new arrivals. There is joy in the hearts of students for once more the A. C. assumes its former large proportions. Estimates place the added registration for the first two days of the week at 160 with more arriving daily.

Intermingled with the "Short Horns", who ranges in age from 18 to 55, may be seen the faces of many former students unable to stay away from the old A. C. The Winter Course students appear to be of a different type than those on whom the hat hook and chapel seat agents

WELCOME NEW AGGIES

New students, you are now members of a large family, the A. C. family. We pride ourselves on our democracy and try to judge all men by: "Can you bring home the bacon?" rather than by: "Who is your grandfather?"

Get acquainted. Add something to the intellectual, social or industrial life of the college. Join a class and a few clubs; look the fraternities and sororities over and decide which one you wish to join—if you are invited to. Do not expect the college to pluck you from the herd and raise you to a pinnacle. Climb. Be one of us—You're welcome!

AN OBJECTIONAL TRADITION

The action of the Barristers Club of the U. of U. in insisting on occupying a prominent position on the Aggie side of the field at the Thanksgiving game does not meet with the approval of the considerate students or faculty members of either institutions.

Rivalry is always so keen at this game that self control on the part of either side can not be expected when so flagrant an attempt to cause friction is persisted in.

IN APPRECIATION

We think we are not exaggerating when we say that the Aggies had as many backers in the Thanksgiving day game at Salt Lake as the Crimsonites did.

A few citizens of Logan deserve special mention in this article for the strong support they have rendered. They never missed a game in Logan or Salt Lake this season. They are: Harry Stoney, Mr. Orval Adams, Mr. McNeal, Mr. Owens, Mr. Morton, M. S. Eccles, and several others.

And last, but not least, we take pleasure in thanking the Freshmen team for the great part which they have taken in making it possible to tie for the Rocky Mountain Championship. They unceasingly, and untiringly came out every night, knowing they did not have anything to do but scrimmage against the first team, which was not easy for the rest of the teams in the Conference. They put up some very good offensive work at times. These fellows deserve as much credit as the men that played on the first team, but their time will come next year, when they will be eligible for the varsity, and then they will be thanking the older men for the experience which they received while out this year.

And did someone say that our Prexy was not still young? Did you see him at the game in Salt Lake? Enough said!

THE TEAM.

BEAUX-ARTS GUILD THE LATEST OUT

An enthusiastic crowd of arts students gathered in the studio Tuesday and organized the Beaux-Arts Guild of the U. A. C. The constitution and by-laws had been previously drafted and were adopted in the mass meeting. Nominations for officers were made and all business transacted.

The next meeting will be held at the Beta Delta Sorority house, with Miss Nielson as hostess. Painting of Christmas novelties will be the feature of the evening.

NOTICE

Mr. E. T. Ralph will meet all who desire to take the winter term course in Life Insurance at 3 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon in Room 225, at which time a regular hour for the course will be decided on.

COLLEGE CALENDAR

Leave all information concerning events for the coming week at the President's office by one o'clock of each Wednesday.

Thursday, December 6—6:00 at Murdock's the Be-No Club banquets the team. 8:00, Be-No Ball at Pavilion.

Friday, 7—8:30, Student Body football ball in gymnasium.

Saturday, 8—7:00. Mrs. Hyrum Hayball entertains football squad.

Monday, 10—4:30, Glee Club practice.

Tuesday, 11—Chapel at 12:10. Oratorical contest for medal given by Sons of American Revolution.

COPY OF NIGHT LETTER

E. G. Peterson, President,
U. A. C.

Have just been authorized by Secretary of War to request you to inform all your technical students that if they wait until drafted they can upon summons to the draft camp take with them letter from you stating their special qualifications, such letter to be filed with occupational census, Questionnaire of War Department, under authority of this authorized telegram. Secretary of War also authorizes me to say that every effort will be made to use each student's special training in connection with specialized occupations in the army so as to afford technical students of draft age fully as great an opportunity through the draft as though they enlisted now.
(Signed) HOLLIS GODFREY.

GEORGE B. COOK PASSES RIGOROUS AVIATION EXAMINATION

Events have been happening very rapidly lately in the career of the outgoing business manager of Student Life, George Cook.

George left school a couple of weeks ago, and went to San Francisco to take the examination for the signal officers reserve corps Aviation section. At the same time his fiancée, Miss Ellen Barber, began wearing a diamond. Now word comes that he has successfully passed one of the strictest physical examinations in the army. Student Life extends congratulations to its former manager, and expects to be able in the near future to add another interesting chapter to this history in which Miss Barber will play an important part.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB CHAPEL

Tuesday's chapel exercises, after a welcome to Winter Course students was turned over to the Home Economics Club. Their program was in the nature of a memorial service for Ellen Richards, the godmother of Home Economics. Included in the program were two selections by the girls' chorus, a biography of Mrs. Richards by Helen Gubler, a reading on Historical Figures in Home Economics by Bertha Thurgood and some personal reminiscences by Miss Ravenhill.

MILITARY FRENCH

The course in Military French will be repeated this quarter on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 9:50. The work is all conversation. No books are required. If this hour is not convenient you may be able to arrange another hour. But consult the instructor about it. Don't expect him to chase you up.

BIG FOOTBALL DANCE

Friday night the Student Body will close the football season of the year with a big dance in the gymnasium. It is going to be a unique affair with decorations, programs, refreshments and "stunts" all characteristic of football season. Commercial club from down town and football men and Coach will be special guests of the evening.

FARMERS NEEDED IN UTAH COUNTY, SEASON 1918

Any student, who knows of any one that may wish to earn cash by raising a crop for himself on raw Utah county land next summer, should see Captain Abbot, before the holidays.

FRESHMEN AGAIN TRIM BOX ELDER

With both teams improved a hundred per cent, the whole of Brigham City turned out to witness the battle between the local High school and the Agricultural College Freshmen. These two aggregations had met once previous and the Freshmen were victorious 35 to 0. However, the Box Elder boys were not discouraged, this being the first game of football that many of them had ever played, and they were determined to arrange a return game at some future date when they expected to put up a better battle. The second contest occurred in Brigham City, November 28, one day before the big battle in Salt Lake. True, the Freshmen did encounter a much stronger team than before, but at the same time the Freshmen were not laying around idle, but they had also improved, and as a result again trimmed their scholastic rivals 28 to 0. The Freshmen put up the best contest of the year, and Coach Jensen stated that they certainly looked like a real team. W. Watson, brother of the coach, looks like a comer, and bids fair to push his older brother for football laurels of the Watson family. There are many other freshmen who will make excellent material for the varsity team next year, and another banner year is expected.

U. A. C. PREPARING MEN FOR THE ARMY

This last course is designed to prepare the young man to become an officer by teaching him how to give commands and to give quick and accurate expression to his ideas.

These various courses are so arranged that the young man can start with the opening of the winter term, December 3, and continue in his work until called out for service. It is expected that hundreds of young men in Utah will take advantage of this opportunity to increase their efficiency as soldiers.

NEW STUDENTS—NOTICE

Students entering for only "Winter Term" will not be given government allowance for uniform and will not be required to wear same.

Students entering for Winter and Spring terms will receive government allowance of $14.00 for uniform.

All students who are physically fit are required to drill.

Denver U. Finds Final Alibi In Injury to Her Star Backfield Man

In the eyes of rank and file of Aggie sympathizers, the Utah Aggies are the champions of the Rocky Mountain conference. True, the Denver papers proclaim the Ministers as the best team the conference has seen in four years and are paving the way to make the all-conference team an all-Denver layout, but the claim of Denver supporters that Utah Aggie are entitled to only a technical tie doesn't excite much applause here, and the Ministers stand branded in the eyes of all football fans, not only of this city but of Boulder, as having wriggled out of a rather tight hole in their apparently final refusal to consider a post-season game with the Utah Farmers.

In the first place Denver U went gunning, apparently with faculty consent, for a post-season game with Nebraska or some southern California team. They got turned down, and after that the faculty decided that a post-season game with Utah Aggies wasn't to be considered.

And now we are presented with another brand new alibi for no post-season contest. For it has been discovered that the great Anderson has a cracked collar bone, and even Denver admits that without Anderson's chances to beat anybody are nil. Anderson somehow managed to play all thru the Tiger game with this fracture but it fortunately was discovered in time to serve as an alibi for not considering the Utah Aggies challenge.

Utah Aggies on the other hand have waived all preferences and rights, in their effort to get a deciding contest with Denver. They will play in Denver, Salt Lake City, anywhere Denver wishes; they want nothing more than their expenses and all the remainder to the Red Cross. They frankly express a yearning to get one chance at Denver, and Denver's refusal to meet them can stand for nothing else in the eyes of the fans than a fear of them. Right there Denver forfeits any hope to be considered a conference champion by the other members of the conference, and the laurels go to Utah Aggies.

Denver's poorest excuse is her occasional habit of comparing scores. The ministers point to a 30 to 6 defeat of Montana Aggies, who later tied Utah Aggies, after the Mormons had played two other games on the same trip, as conclusive evidence that Utah Aggies are not in the Denver class. They are not, as these scores against real teams of the conference show:

Denver beat Colorado University only 6 to 10. Utah Aggies beat the Boulder team 23 to 0.

Denver beat Colorado Aggies 10 to 6, Utah Aggies turned the trick 47 to 7.

They say there is no such thing as an official championship in the conference. That being the case, the Utah Aggies have our unofficial ballot for the pennant, and with it go congratulations and wishes for a more "convincing" schedule next year.—The Fort Collins Express.

AGGIES CLAIM TITLE

If scores are taken into consideration, the Aggies will have the edge on their opponents from Denver. The Aggies have scored 134 points against Denver's 68 against the same four teams that the two teams have played. They are as follows:
Aggies... 7 Montana State College 7
Aggies... 47 Colorado A. C. .... 6
Aggies... 23 Colorado University... 0
Aggies... 57 Wyoming ..... 0

VALUE depends upon the amount and the quality of service the article gives you—what you get out of it.

You get by far the greatest actual VALUE for your money when you buy a De Laval—BECAUSE it will give you much better and longer SERVICE than any other separator.

From the standpoint of its greater durability alone, the De Laval is the most economical cream separator to buy, and when you also take into consideration its cleaner skimming, easier running, greater capacity and less cost for repairs, the price of the "cheapest" machine on the market is most exorbitant compared with that of the De Laval.
