SECRETARY BAKER URGES STUDENTS TO CONTINUE

A request of extraordinary importance at this time from Secretary of War Newton D. Baker to President E. G. Peterson of the Utah Agricultural College to the effect that all students who do not graduate this spring be encouraged to return to school work next year and not indulge in indiscriminate volunteering has just been received at the College. This re-statement of the policy of the government to encourage the further educational training of young men should have a very stabilizing effect on the educational institutions of the country. It is made as part of a policy to strengthen and enlarge the military work now being done in certain colleges and universities and to introduce such training in institutions not now giving military work.

The purpose of this policy, it appears from the communication from Secretary Baker, is to prevent ill-advised volunteering and to insure to the government a large body of well trained men who will be available as material for commissioned officers later. The students will be able to prepare for special military service in which he will be of greatly increased value to his country when called to active duty.

The more important sections of the letter from Secretary Baker may be summarized as follows:

1. Military instruction under officers and non-commissioned officers.

Student Racquetees Defeat The Faculty

Women's Titus Medal Matches
Nearing Finish

In the match last week between the faculty and students, the students represented by Khan in the singles and Smith and Eccles in the doubles, were victorious. In the singles Khan was matched with Professor C. R. Johnson. He lost the first set due to the superior playing of Johnson. Khan then woke up and took the next two sets comparatively easy from our genial professor of music.

In the doubles, Smith and Eccles defeated President E. G. Peterson and Professor George Stewart, winning two out of three sets.

The women's singles matches for the Titus medal are nearing completion. At this writing the girls remaining in the running for the medal are Hazel Goins, Gladys Smith and Carolyne Wyatt. The dope favors the first two mentioned. They are both playing stellar tennis and the final match between them should furnish many thrills.

The men's singles matches came to a sensational finish when Cyril Hammond upset all the dope and won the Titus medal by defeating Ameen Khan, who had previously beat Bert Smith. The odds were about evenly divided between Smith and Khan in the minds of the majority of students, but notwithstanding this fact Hammond came to the front and defeated Khan 1-6, 6-1, 6-3. The match was fast at all times, but with the exception of the first set Khan was outclassed.

FARNSWORTH URGES LOYALTY

In a letter received from the Honorable L. H. Farnsworth, chairman of the State Council of Defense, President Peterson, chairman of the Food committee of the Council sees so many important issues that he requests Student Life to excerpt parts from it and publish them. This very important meeting was held at the auditorium of the Department of Interior building in Washington, D. C., on Wednesday, April 3.

This meeting was indeed of the utmost importance and if space permitted we should like to publish the entire proceedings. The more important actions taken in the assembly may be deduced from the following extracts quoted from Mr. Farnsworth's letter:

"To win the war a unified people must be back of the fighting line.

"Yet of the thirteen million persons of foreign birth residing in the United States, over five million do not speak our language and have little or no accurate understanding of our customs and industrial conditions.

"Eight million are employed in our industries, particularly in the manufacture of munitions of war, in building ships, in mining coal, and in transporting food, fuel and human beings. We can hardly expect unequalled allegiance and full and effective support of these men in our efforts in behalf of democracy, freedom, a higher civilization until they know our language and are given better opportunities to understand our customs, our ideals and the requirements of our industries. It is for this reason that I am inviting prominent officials and business men to meet me in Washington Wednesday, April 3, for the purpose of devising ways and means by which the nation, states and local communities may cooperate in the accomplishments of this task.

"There were about two hun-

Spring Festival Greatly Appreciated

NO DEATHS FROM FREEZ-ING REPORTED

The Spring Festival, held Tuesday night, was a grand success in spite of the weather man's feverish efforts to prevent its being so. The weather was very cold and remarks were heard to the effect that the barefoot dancers should have carried foot warmers in place of cymbals. Nevertheless the dancing was all classically executed and drew much applause from the audience whenever they could fight off the stupor caused by the cold. Of course this is exaggerated, but so was the temperature for May.

One could see that the girls had worked long and hard under the very able supervision of Miss Johnson to make the event what it was. Every dance was a thing to be proud of. We cannot even pick our favorites because all were uniformly good.

The two songs sung by Professor Johnson, Arno Kirkham, Lola Leonard and Gladys Smith were sung beautifully and struck a responsive chord in the audience.

Athletes Banqueted By College And Town

Last Thursday night saw the last gathering of the athletes of the school and visiting high school athletes for the year. The banquet at Murdock's fully commemorated an unusual successful season and marked the close of the best year in athletics the U. A. C. has ever had.

About seventy-five or eighty were there including the U. A. C. athletes, the West Side High School bunch and some from the B. Y. C. and other high schools. Besides these there were several of the cities' principle men and several of the faculty of the college.

President E. R. Owen of the Logan Commercial Boosters club acted as toastmaster and cleverly introduced the following speakers: Mayor Bullen, Hon. A. G. Barber, Bob Morton, Coach Jensen, Wm. Peterson, Coach Richardson, Orval Adams, "Andy" Mohr, "Stub" Peterson, Mose Steifel and Lester Jarvis. The speakers were all interesting and full of pep.

Friday morning the athletes were the guests at a canyon trip where an inspection of the Logan City water supply was made. Upon returning dinner was served at the cafeteria to the athletes.

Colleges Unite On Ac- curate Knowledge Campaign

On April 4, a War Council of college publications, called together by Mr. George Creel, chairman of the committee on public information at Washington was held at the Columbia hall, New York City. This council was under the auspices of Pi Delta Epsilon, the National Honorary College Journalism Fraternity. This conference was for the purpose of deciding as to the best means of presenting accurate information on the war to the college students of the United States. The following committee was appointed to cooperate with the committee on public information in doing this through the college papers: F. W. Rogers, Columbia Daily Spectator, chairman; R. W. Ludlow, Lehigh Brown and White; Henley Hill formerly of the Michigan Daily; L. L. Crosby, Connecticut campus and J. M. Fassett, Colgate Maroon.

Gamma Sigma Delta Elects New Members

CHOOSE FOUR MEN FROM SENIOR CLASS

At a recent meeting of the Honor Society of Agriculture, Gamma Sigma Delta, four seniors and seven members of the faculty were elected to membership in the society. Gamma Sigma Delta is strictly honorary in its character on a par with other honor societies like Sigma Xi, Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi. Its special field is in agriculture. Chapters will be maintained only in colleges or universities giving degrees in agriculture, where the entrance requirements are 15 units and where a high degree of scholarship is required for graduations.

Membership is limited to the upper one fourth of the seniors in agriculture who are within one term of graduation; to graduate students who have shown striking ability to carry on research or advance study in agriculture; and to faculty members who have been engaged in work in agriculture or in science related to agriculture for at least three years and have shown exceptional ability as teachers or investigators.

The object of the society is to encourage high standards of scholarship in all branches of agricultural science and education and a high degree of excellence in the practice of agricultural pursuits, by the election to membership of those students of the graduating and post-graduate classes in agriculture who have shown exceptional ability, and of the members of the alumni and faculty who have rendered signal service to the cause of agricultural development. It is a distinct honor and recognition of ability to be elected to membership in the society.

AG. CLUB SHOWS PATRIOTISM

Patriotic foresight would well characterize a recent action of the Agricultural Club of the Utah Agricultural College, in which it turned the money in its treasury, there due to careful conservation of club expenses, into stamps to be used at the end of five years to purchase furniture for the Club rooms. The Club has been able to save during the year $29.33. To this, the Institution has added a like amount, so that $58.66 plus interest will be available for club fittings when the W. S. S. nature.

Patriotism has characterized most of the Club's activities during the past year. The Club was instrumental in securing the presence of two of America's foremost agricultural experts Professor H. H. Whetzel, of the Department of Plant Pathology Cornell University, and Prof. C. H. Eckles, of the Department of Dairying, University of Missouri, to lecture on the relation of agriculture and the war. It has published throughout the year the Ag. Club Link, a monthly paper dedicated to the interests of agriculture in Utah, and sent to the High Schools of the State. It has just completed its annual farm tour, taking in farming establishments of merit in Cache and Box Elder Counties.

STUDENTS FINALLY RECEIVE AWARDS

DEBATERS AND PUBLIC
SPEAKERS HONORED

One of the most interesting chapels of the year was held Tuesday at which time the medals for inter-class debating, extemporaneous speaking and oratory were presented.

President E. G. Peterson made a short speech in which he showed the benefits to be derived from public debating and speaking.

A very pretty selection by the choir was followed by an interesting talk by Prof. N. A. Pedersen, in which he said that the training which comes from debating is as great as the victory. Taking our debating history we have come out with the lion's share.

Every year Prof. George Thomas gives a medal to the winner of the Inter-class Debating series. This year the honors were carried off by George Bateman and Ephraim Josephson of the Freshman class.

Heber Jones of the Freshman class was the winner of the Hendricks medal which is given every year for the best extemporaneous speech.

The Casto medal for public speaking was won by Miss Lydia Hansen. In Miss Huntsman's presentation speech, she amused the assembly very much by the following few lines: "Seeing a woman speak is like seeing a dog walk on its hind legs. The marvel is not that it is hard to do, but that it can be done at all." In conclusion Miss Huntsman pointed out that the earmarks of a lady or gentleman is having something to say and being able to say it.

It will be remembered that earlier in the year Thatcher Allred won the medal given for patriotic speeches by the Sons of the American Revolution.

Professor Hendricks cited statistics to show that it is the honor men of the country that are doing the big work of the world today. The members of the Supreme court, the leading

I. H. C. CHOOSES AGGIE STUDENTS

The International Harvester Company recognized the College and especially the department of farm mechanics and farm motors under Professor Humphries, when they chose eight Aggie students to spend a short time learning the principles of the combined harvester and engines when they will go out for the factory on work of this kind. The work will be of special value to these students as it will give them practical work not only on combined harvesters but also on tractor and tractor engines. The work will continue until the opening of school next fall.

These fellows should be in a position to stimulate interest in the college and in their department and they should bring students next year who are interested in this line of work.

The following students are now receiving preliminary instruction in the work: Wallace Wayman, G. M. Bateman, P. S. Ballif, Clem Campbell, Clyde Worley, C. H. Hart, Charles Osmond, Owen Thomas.

IS YOUR KNOWLEDGE ACCURATE

The law excuses no man because of ignorance. If you should be guilty of treason to the United States government you would be punished, although you were ignorant of the fact that you were doing wrong. There is no excuse for ignorance in this the "Era of Enlightenment" when everyone has access either to schools, books or newspapers.

A vigorous campaign is now being launched under the direction of the Pi Delta Epsilon, the Honorary College Journalistic fraternity for "accurate knowledge" of the war for college students and educated people in general that much harm may be done by their exploiting a "half baked" knowledge of the war as the "last word" in war development. If you do not have really accurate information on the war do not endanger the government, and the people of the United States by giving out even unintentionally your views for they may be harmful.

On the other hand it is disgraceful not to know about this war, especially if you are a college student. Read the publications intelligently, so that you won't be a danger signal.

WRITE REAL LETTERS

It should not be necessary to remind us that there is a small duty each one of us can do at home which would be of inestimable value to the morale of the men in the training camps and "over there."

In almost every soldier's letter, that is published, is this appeal, "tell our friends to write." The question naturally follows: what shall I write. From time to time there appears in the different camp publications righteously protests against a certain type of letters the soldiers receive. In one of the eastern training camp papers there recently appeared an article by a lieutenant in which he said, "We don't want any of those soft, mushy, sentimental letters telling us to be of good cheer, not to take our lot too hard and how much the writer sympathizes with us. We are of good cheer and our lot is not bad. But we do want to hear about every one at home and how he is enjoying himself and that all are behind us."

In answering my letter, in which I asked him, whom do you want to hear about? my friend in France wrote, "Everyone I have ever known. At a distance of five thousand miles all lines of distinction are obliterated and you take a lively interest in everything that happens at home."

ARE WE WEAKENING?

In glancing over the records and the college rolls for this year one is struck by the fact that our scholarship has been unusually low this year. This has not only been in a few isolated cases but it has been general throughout the student body. The college roll is not as large as the exemption list, as a rule. Where we had three or four sheets covered with names of A and B students last year we have only one or two this year.

There have been many reasons for this lowered standard. Many students, especially the fellows have been leaving school throughout the year, some have been expecting to be drafted at any moment, and some, we might as well say all, have been affected by the restless spirit of the times. It is indeed hard to study when the nations of the earth are fighting for their very existence. One wants to be "over there" actively engaged in the struggle and this uncertainty leads one to neglect studies when he otherwise wouldn't.

If we could only realize that the schools are as important if not more so, as the army and navy, and that the nation needs educated men more than ever before we would "tighten up" and go at our studies with renewed vigor. At any rate let us come back to school next fall with a broadened vision of our responsibility, prepared to work as never before.

dred and fifty present at the meeting, composed of governors of many of our states, the chairman or representative of each State Council of Defense, and the executive officer or president of our most important industries, railroads, commercial and banking institutions and also Mr. Gompers, representing the labor element.

Mr. Lane was the only formal speaker. His address upon Americanization was most impressive, earnest and inspiring.

"There were four resolutions adopted, dealing with the following subjects:

"1st. Federal aid to the states in carrying on Americanization work.

"2nd. Requesting industries employing large numbers of non English speaking men to cooperate in the national plan.

"3rd. Asking Congress for adequate appropriations to carry on the work.

"4th. Asking that school boards throughout the country adopt rules requiring that elementary subjects be taught in the English language only.

On the morning of Tuesday, the fourth of April, the governors and the chairman of each State Council of Defense met with the National Council of Defense in the office of, and with the secretary of the navy, Mr. Daniels. At this meeting Mr. W. S. Gifford director of the National Council of Defense, presided.

"The meeting was most important in that it urged in no uncertain terms the question of speedy and adequate legislation which would stamp out disloyalty and curb the German language press.

"Secretary Daniels asked that resolutions be formulated to support the bill drafted by Attorney General Gregory, that could reach spies, traitors and disloyal persons.

On the afternoon of Thursday a conference was held at the office of the National Council of Defense (State Council's Section) at which there were present a chairman or representative of each State Council. This was an informal meeting where reports of activities of the several states were verbally presented with a view of having a uniform plan of action along all lines of war work. The discussion was very beneficial and much valuable information was obtained.

"It affords me much pleasure to report that the state of Utah enjoys a splendid reputation for the effectiveness of its work, its organization, promptness and results. Particular reference was made to the work of the Commercial Economy committee of which Mr. Jensen is chairman, and also to the cooperation, efficient work and results obtained by the various Women's com-

Professor Caine Goes To Washington

Professor John T. Caine III, director of the Extension Division of the Utah Agricultural College, has just left for Washington, D. C., to attend a conference of a number of extension directors of the western states. Professor Caine, who is attending this conference in response to a special call from the office of the States Relations Service, will carry to Washington a statement of agricultural conditions in Utah and recommendations for further extension work. The conference is expected to result in a complete plan for the extension activities in the western division. Special projects will be worked up and a budget for next year drawn up. The various extension directors, while in Washington, will make a thorough study of the various bureaus in the department of Agriculture, and secure from the Food Administration the latest available information on food conditions here and abroad.

"Our people have 'gone over the top' in all lines of war activity, and have responded quickly, patriotically and generously to every demand made.

"Many Americans do not realize the danger of our country as a result of German propaganda and Germany's so-called 'Peaceful Penetration' of the United States.

AGGIES LOSE TO WEST HIGH

In what marked the close of the 1917-18 athletic season the Aggies lost to the West High School nine of Salt Lake by the score of 11 to 6. At no time during the game were the Aggies in the lead, and only for a few innings did they hold their opponents close, the score being 7 to 6 up until the last frame, when the High School Champions pounced on Ballif, who was on the mound for the Aggies for four more counters before he had retired any one in this frame. The Aggies were unable to score in their last attempt, and thus the game ended. Brown pitching for the High School lads was in fine shape, and only in the pinches did he exert himself. He fielded his position well and also garnered a couple of hits, knocking in several of his teammates runs. Fallentine and McGanney also fielded well and also hit the ball hard and at opportune times. For the Aggies, Hansen at short handled many hard chances, although he was a trifle erratic in his pegging. The local fellows could not seem to solve Brown's benders when hits meant runs, and as a consequence were forced to bring up the rear during the entire afternoon.

ciety. This honor will grow in size and usefulness. There are at present seven chapters in the national organization with the prospect of several new chapters in the very near future.

A recent change in the constitution broadening slightly the limitations of faculty membership to include those working in science in relation to agriculture makes it possible to elect a few members who are not working along strictly agricultural lines.

The Epsilon chapter of Gamma Sigma Delta announces the election of the following to membership in the society: From the faculty, Dr. F. L. West, Professor Wm. Peterson, Dr. M. C. Merrill, Professors W. W. Henderson, C. T. Hirst, Tracy H. Abel, and C. J. Sorenson; also Gerald Thorne, Irving Jensen, Albert E. Backman, and E. J. Kirkham from the graduating class.

All members are requested to be present at the Gamma Sigma Delta Annual Thursday, May 30 at 8:30. (Signed)

MISS KYLE REVIVES HOME ECONOMICS GIRLS

As a divergence from "Personal Efficiency", "One's War Time Duties", and, etc., Miss Kyle's talk to the Home Economics Club last Wednesday proved very refreshing. She reviewed for the girls some of the best short story writers of today, placing Kathryn Fulbertson Germond, Wilbur Daniel Steele and H. G. Dwight at the head of the list. As a clever conclusion to her discussion, Miss Kyle read two very excellent stories produced by these artists.

Those who are not for America are against her—enemies all.

Those who are idle, selfish or even indifferent are Aliens—alien to American interest.

Dr. Greaves Honored By 'Scientific Monthly'

An article on the relationship existing between crop rotation and soil fertility, written by Dr. J. E. Greaves, professor of bacteriology of the College, and chemist and bacteriologist of the Experiment Station, has appeared in the current number of the Scientific Monthly. This article which is based on long and elaborate investigations carried on at the Experiment Station, is of particular interest, because it explodes the very popular belief that crop rotation in and of itself will increase the fertility of the soil.

SECRETARY BAKER URGES STUDENTS TO CONTINUE

ficers of the Army will be provided in every institution of college grade which enrolls for the instruction 100 or more able bodied students over the age of eighteen.

2. The necessary military equipment will so far as possible be provided by the government.

3. This new policy aims to accomplish a two-fold object; first to develop as a great military asset the large body of young men in the colleges; and second, to prevent unnecessary and wasteful depletion of the colleges through indiscriminate volunteering.

In commenting upon the almost epochal importance of this new policy of the War Department in relation to educational institutions throughout the country, President Peterson said: "The significance of this universal introduction of military work into our colleges and universities cannot be over emphasized. At institutions such as the Utah Agricultural College, where efficient military work has been offered for a long term of years it will mean the enlargement of such work. To other institutions it will mean the introduction of a very valuable subject into the curriculum. The Statement by Secretary Baker that, 'Those who do not graduate this spring should be urged to continue' is particularly pleasing to me because it shows that, in the eyes of the War Department, the schools are serving the government in an essential fashion. In line with its general policy of service, the Utah Agricultural College will welcome any plan to be submitted by the War Department through which the institution can be made of even greater worth in this time of crisis."

SCHOLARSHIP OFFERED

The U. A. C. Faculty Women's League are going to offer a scholarship of fifty dollars to the worthy girl having high scholarship. The girl must have completed her Freshman year in college. A committee will be appointed by the League to select the honored student.

The average scholastic standing for the Sororities for mid-Spring term are: Sorosis, 85.4; Sigma Theta Phi, 85.4; Beta Delta, 82.9. The average would in all probability have been higher if all the grades had been complete.

SENIORS-TAKE NOTICE!

Seniors whose work is not completed by May 30 are not members of the Class of 1918 and will take part in the graduating exercises. Neither will their names appear upon the official program. Such students will be listed with the Class of 1919 and their names will appear upon the program of the 1919 Commencement.

This to avoid any misunderstanding. (Signed) Chairman Committee on Graduation.

WEEKLY BUNK

Leigh M. Sti

The calendar should go in this column this week. There's nothing in it.

Elmer Clawson, the "firefly" will be back next year if they give credit for making perfect records in attending dances.

Joe Reed must be a fiend for jewelry as we always see him with a ring around his neck.

Stan Anderson had a girl at the Bluebird the other night and when he got out he asked her if she wanted some candy and she said no because she didn't have any teeth.

Joe and Edna have dissolved partnership.

It's great to be a soldier.

The only difference between a dog and a cat is that a cat has kittens.

Every evening after dinner the Delta Nu boys flip a jitney and if it comes heads they go to the Oak; if it comes tails they go to bed, and if it stays on end they study.

George Eccles has purchased Eb. Kirkham's drill pants and is busy making a uniform out of them.

As per request "Fusser" Wayman will be left out of this week's bunk.

Duke Kahn will also be left out this week as he owes two-bits for last week's notoriety.

Sel Barber won the medal given by Pete Nielsen for the best left handed tennis player in school.

"Jazz" Hansen received his $36 for playing at the college opera. He will be back from Evanston next week.

It's not too late for a Buzzer subscription.

Juniors and Seniors hand in your list of activities and major subjects to Buzzer staff.

Jack Hendricks put ether in his gas tank and came up the college hill on high so fast that he had to put on the brakes.

Lolo Spencer leads the hall "fussers" with a total of 175 hours spent in the halls fussing. Sid is next with 170.

It's about time for the Profs. to assign us some outside readings and bulletins for next week so we won't waste any time between exams.

Only one more chapel. It's too bad Memorial Day don't come on Tuesday instead of Thursday.

Those of us who want to be fortunate enough to attend the chapel exercise during summer school will have to be content with reading Ollie Edwards' book on "How to Get to Heaven," in three volumes.

Did Poe write the Raven when he was raven.

Cyril Hammond is going to hock the Titus Medal to buy a green neck tie so the Thetas will like him.

He's lucky to have anything to hock this late in the year.

Percy Hansen is a good example of military unpreparedness.

"Midget" Brinton gave Main street a treat with a new spring hat.
