BEGIN PLANS FOR SECOND HALF

Dr. J. H. Linford Optimistic Concerning Outlook—Plans Being Made for Second Summer Quarter—New Courses.

Plans for the second half of the Utah Agricultural College Summer Quarter which begins Monday, July 21, are rapidly rounding into such a form that the second half bids fair to equal the first in popularity and efficiency, is the opinion of Dr. J. H. Linford, Director of the Summer Quarter. According to Dr. Linford the enrollment should be satisfactory since a fairly large proportion of the present enrollment has stated the intention to stay for the second half. This number, in addition to the new students who will come in for the terms work should swell the total number to a satisfying extent.

Several men have expressed a desire for a course in Farm Machinery to prepare for Smith-Hughes work. The probability is that a special

Where To Go—What To Do—How Many Will Join in The Festivities—Some Serious Questions.

Opinions and views concerning the regular Summer Excursion which will be held within the next week or ten days have not been pouring in as fast as those who are planning the affair would naturally desire. In fact, they have not been pouring in at all, which in itself is a very lamentable state of affairs. Dr. Linford and the Student Body officers are desirous of obtaining the opinions of the students as to what kind of an excursion they want. So far as can be ascertained, the consensus of opinion favors a canyon party of some sort, but the question is this: what sort?

HILARITY ET JOY AT SECOND DANCE

Students Lose All Dignity—Punch Is Profuse—Music And Floor Delight Merry Makers At Ball.

There are those who claim that they did not enjoy themselves at the Summer School Student Body party last Friday night, but they are in the minority. Permit us, if you will, to add that they are in sufficient minority to be classed as negligible, all of which proves that the second party of the summer was a huge success. History will bear out this statement no doubt.

The party started promptly at nine thirty or ten o'clock which was a very appropriate time as circumstances later proved. The music was there from the beginning as well they ought to have been as the party was of that peculiar species known as a "dancing party" in the more common vernacular—or a "ball" in the "high brow" way of speaking. As we were saying—the music started to play at about the regular time—namely nine or ten o'clock. Coincidentally with the playing of the first piece occurred the appearance of the fair dancers, a peculiar coincidence, surely. And to further add to the uncanny and awe inspiring happenings of this peculiar party was this: when the orchestra began to play the dancers began to dance; an almost inconceivable phenomenon surely. The dancers seemed to be thoroughly enjoying themselves also.

May I not add that the three piece orchestra was entirely satisfactory. They made up in spirit what they probably lacked in body or numbers.

Friday night's party was characterized by the overwhelming abundance of that old pep arouser, namely, punch. Allow us to suggest that the unfortunate ones who were absent were indeed out of luck in this respect.

Notice

Dr. Linford would like to see all those who intend to remain at school for the whole Summer Quarter at his office as soon as possible. If you intend to stay at school the entire summer call at Dr. Linford's office, Room 121.

Henry Oberhansly Returns From Eastern Trip

Mr. Henry Oberhansly, Agent in Animal Husbandry with offices at the Utah Agricultural College recently returned from a two and one-half weeks trip to Washington D. C. where he attended the National Convention of Swine Specialists of the United States. The Conference lasted five days, from June 16 to 21. Lectures, field trips and excursions of various kinds, practical demonstrations, discussions, and judging contests occupied the time. Many prominent men were present and gave talks on various subjects. Among these men were G. M. Rammel, Chief of the Animal Husbandry Division; Dr. Bradford Knapp, Chief of Extension Work in the South; Dr. C. B. Smith, Chief of Extension Work in the North and West; Dr. J. R. Mohler, Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry.

PUBLIC HEALTH EXPERT TO TALK

Theodore Hanson of National Public Welfare League to Deliver Series of Lectures at College.

Theodore Hanson, General Manager and Superintendent of the National Public Welfare League of the United States will give a course of lectures on Public Health to the Summer School students of the Utah Agricultural College on July 7, 8 and 9, 1919. It is probable that two lectures will be given daily.

This prominent man and an authority in his field has been secured as one of the special Summer Quarter lecturers. He comes with a splendid reputation as a public health expert and he will no doubt have some very valuable information to impart to the students and public at large. His lectures will be especially appreciated by the students in the courses of Public Health now being given at the College.

The general public is cordially invited to attend the lectures.

COLLEGE HONORS UTAH'S HERO

Got Four Boche Planes

Dignitaries of College And Town Unite in Warm Welcome to Logan's Greatest War Hero.

Lieutenant Russel P. Maughan, possibly the most famous of the sons of Utah, who won merit on the field of battle, was honored by the Student Body of the Utah Agricultural College, the Faculty and the townspeople of Logan at a public meeting held in the College Chapel last Tuesday. Lieutenant Maughan is a native of Logan City and a graduate of the Utah Agricultural College. He joined the colors soon after the war was declared in April 1917, entering himself with the Aviation service. In this branch of the service, Lieut. Maughan made an unusually brilliant record bringing down four Boche planes in the Meuse-Argonne Section. He lacked but one plane of becoming an American "Ace" and was probably the foremost aviator from the Rocky Mountain region.

President E. G. Peterson presided over the meeting which was well attended by students and townspeople. Many of the most prominent citizens of the City were present to honor Lieut. Maughan who is well known throughout northern Utah. Among them were, besides the Faculty of the College, Mayor Roy Bullen, of Logan, Luther Howell, President of the Commercial-Boosters Club, H. E. Hatch, President of Thatcher Brothers Bank of Logan, Henry Peterson, Superintendent of the Logan City Schools, Geo. W. Skidmore, and Mrs. Lole Hayball, members of the Board of Trustees, Marriner Eccles, prominent financier of Logan, E. Taft Benson, Cashier of the Farmers' and Merchant's Bank; William Howell and others.

The meeting, began with a selection by the College choir, directed by Professor Johnson of the Music Department and a violin solo. Presi-

AGGIES IN WAR

Utah Agricultural College men played a glorious role in the late war in France and in the training camps of the United States. Practically every branch of service from the Tank Corps to the Gas Defense, had listed on its rosters, the names of loyal Aggies. Utah Agricultural College men, both graduates and undergraduates, made proud records in the training camps in all parts of the United States and when these Aggies reached France the records were even more brilliant.

The College, according to present records was represented by over twelve hundred men with the colors. The service flag of the U. A. C. contains twenty-six gold stars for the men who were either killed, or died in defense of the flag.

Just to show the high percentage of officers among these Aggies with the colors the following is tabulated: One Brigadier General, one Lieutenant Colonel, one Major, Twelve Captains, twenty-seven First Lieutenants; fifty-six second Lieutenants; thirty-four sergeants and thirty corporals and the records are not yet complete. And among these officers are some of the foremost men in their line in the entire service. Captain Ed. Walters who died while serving with the chemistry service in France, was one of the best chemists in the entire army. Notable among his achievements is the discovery and manufacture of an artificial blood which would actually nourish and keep an individual alive. Lieutenant Russell Maughan of the Air Service lacked but one Boch plane of becoming an American "Ace." He got four. Brigadier General Hines is the youngest brigadier general in the United States Army. This recitation could continue much longer and not nearly exhaust the splendid records of Aggies who left the halls of the "school on the hill" for France and honor.

The words of one true Aggie who went over the top with the true Yankee zip express the do-or-die spirit of U. A. C. men whether on the battle field, the athletic field or the field of life. He said:

"And when we stood there amid the screech of the shells and the flaring explosion—when we stood with gritted teeth and leveled bayonets waiting for the command to 'go over' the old Aggie song, 'With The Goal Before You' came to my ears and I said to myself, 'Here's where I do it for A. C.'" course will be arranged and given during the second half at the College shops.

The regular courses listed for the second half will be given, and in addition, other courses for which demand has arisen, will probably be arranged. Many students have expressed a desire for the courses in Stenography and Typewriting, and these will be arranged for. The courses in Education now in progress will not be given during the second half of the summer.

Means of recreation for the students of the second half will be arranged so that the stay of the students at the College will lose none of the charm which has characterized the first half thus far. The social events of various kinds held during the present half have done much to erase the tedium of the summer school as ordinarily known.

spect if no other. They will have to go in the same old way all this week and next without the bracing thought that they were at least cool last Friday night. A disheartening thought indeed.

We would not be doing our duty as an historian if we did not bear witness of the fact that the floor of the Women's gym was in "rare form." May we not add that the floor of the above mentioned gym was positively "slick."

This little story has been written in all due humility of spirit and in what was meant to be a gently sarcastic style which would give some idea of the more common form which dancing parties take so that those who did not go would have some idea of that strange rarity the "dancing party." May we not add that, since "experience is the best teacher," more may be learned by attending one of these parties than by a ten thousand word article on the subject.

It is hoped that the next party will be more largely attended.

EXTRA!!! President Speaks to Janitor

The dignity of common labor is rapidly increasing. According to latest press reports the President of one of our large Eastern universities was seen speaking to the janitor.

The know-it-all fellow who quit school early to go to work is seen much oftener in the pool hall than in the saving's bank.

Now that the war is really over the doughboys can go back to their hard life on the farm.

S. L. EMPLOYEES ATTENTION

In line with other great institutions and businesses which are declaring a three day holiday for their employees on July 4, 5, and 6, Student Life will likewise grant its loyal workers a three day holiday on the above dates. Student Life is justified in doing this and she has behind her the splendid backing of many other institutions of great note in the United States, such as the business houses of Logan City herself, the mayor of Millville who is letting his hired girl off, not only for July 4, but the fifth and sixth as well. With such backing Student Life can surely not go wrong.

Always to the fore in everything, that's Student Life all over.

how many will make the trip so that ample transportation facilities may be secured beforehand. Therefore, all of those who intend to go on the canyon trip will please hand their names to Solon Barber, (Editor, Student Life) within the next day or two.

This securing of the College trucks will cut down the expenses of the trip considerably.

SOME NEGLECTED CORRESPONDENCE

Note.—There comes a time in every great man's life (likewise every woman's life) when he (or she) must answer his (or her) correspondence (or old letters). Naturally the correspondence of one so famous as "Soraba" piles up in amazing and multitudinous heaps (or piles). Some of this correspondence was written long ago in the age of the mastodon (whatever that is) and has been collecting dust in the files ever since. Please note the date on each letter.

CONTEST NARROWS TO THREE "SHARKS"

Competition for the championship in the Men's Singles Tennis Tournament has finally narrowed down to three men, namely, Messrs. Reed, Rampsberger, and Sauls. Last week's matches eliminated Barber by Reed 6-4, 11-9; Jeppesen by Rampsberger, 6-0, 6-1; Snow by Jenkins, forfeit; Dean by Morgan, 6-0, 6-2; and Mechem by Sauls, 6-0, 6-0. The next match to be played, and one upon which a lot depends, is that of Rampsberger and Sauls. Since Reed drew a by he will find it necessary to wait—patiently or otherwise—the outcome of this match. It is the consensus of opinion that the said Mr. Reed will await this outcome with much fear, anxiety, and trembling as indeed he should.

The three men who are left in competition for the dizzy honor of Singles Champion of the U. A. C. Summer School are three as evenly matched men as it would be possible to find. What makes it all the more interesting they all play a totally different game. Some thrilling tennis will undoubtedly be played when these three Anzonic boys meet—first when Rampsberger plays Sauls and then, later when the winner of this match (if he still liveth) meets the redoubtable Mr. Reed. It is sincerely hoped that unnecessary bloodshed will not result.

careful answer, I hereby answer it in this wise, viz: there is no such animal in both cases. Hoping that this answer is satisfactory, I remain,

Yrs.

COLLEGE HONORS

dent Peterson then gave a short speech defining the purpose of the meeting to be as a public recognition of the remarkable work done by Lieut. Maughan. In giving a short synopsis of the work of the Utah Agricultural College students in the late War, President Peterson declared that incomplete records show that 1217 students of the Utah Agricultural College served with the armed forces of the nation. Of these, 27 gave their lives. Present records show that 23 of the U. A. C. men in the service were lieutenants, 13 were captains, and one was a major, one a lieutenant colonel, and one was a brigadier-general. He characterized Lieut. Maughan as "Utah Hero" of the War, ranking with the "one great hero" of other states. Mayor Bullen of Logan City gave a short talk on the success of the Utah Agricultural College man in the war, following which President Peterson officially presented Lieut. Maughan.

The aviator told in an informal and very interesting way his experience from the time he entered the service until he returned to Logan on furlough. He described the tests which all prospective aviators have to pass through in order to enter the flying service, the training over the lines, how he "got" his four planes, the sensation of flying and the life in the Flying Service. He answered questions as to how the aviator "finds his way" in a fog or in an unaccustomed country and controlling machine gun fire. He compared the different types of planes, and aviators, and he ended with the statement that "if you want to see the world, join the Air-Service." Lieut. Maughan's talk was of the type that holds the audience because of its unusual an intense interest; it could come through first hand experience only. He was enthusiastically applauded.

The meeting was concluded by "The Star Spangled Banner" sung by the audience. Benediction was pronounced by H. E. Hatch.

Mr. Henry Oberhansly, agent in Animal Husbandry at the U. A. C., recently returned from a three weeks trip to Washington, D. C.

John Huppi, well known in the Art Department, has painted a picture entitled "Sunrise in the Palace Hotel" which he will sell for $500. See him at once.

Abbas and Allah Khan, the "Persian Ambassadors to the U. A. C." spend their spare time while "awaiting further orders" in visiting friends at the College.

Miss Dora Evans heroically consented to contribute to the fame of this sheet by sacrificing her life in the operation of the rheumatic office pest—the typewriter.

Lieutenant Russel Maughan, an old student of the U. A. C. and an aviator in the U. S. Aviation Service has returned from France. He was visiting school Monday.

Miss Grace Wood
Wins Coveted Championship

"To the victor belongs the blue ribbon" and this applies forcibly to Miss Grace Wood who, undoubtedly is the winner of the Women's Singles Tennis Tournament of the U. A. C. Summer School at least her opponent and friend Miss May Kent whom she defeated in her last match swears that Miss Wood was the winner. But the question is, where are the "spoils" which, according to all accepted tradition, belongs to the victor? Ah! That is indeed an upsetting question. The truth of the matter is that there are no "spoils" nothing but the honor of it. But think of the honor. Ah yes! Champion Female Tennis Player of the U. A. C. Summer School of the year 1919. Not so insignificant is it?

Miss Wood is undoubtedly the one to whom this honor great as it is, should go. And her opponent, Miss Kent, should also receive some mention for were they not the only ones who responded to the repeated pleas to sign up for the Women's Tournament.

Congratulations.
