Aggies Go Down Before Terrific Colorado Attack

First Period Fatal to Utah's Hopes

Romney's Men Fight Grittily Against Odds—Rank Even
With Colorado in Last Three Quarters.

Colorado A. C. 27
Utah A. C. 7

All breezes from Colorado say that the best team won. This is not questioned by students and ardent supporters of the Utahns. The score must have told the truth, even though the Denver Post did not. So now we can reconcile ourselves to the fact that the Utah Aggies actually won a victory under the circumstances. Even the Colorado sport scribes admit that.

The Utahns were outweighed by the Hughes aggregation, both individually and collectively. The Colorado Farmers are fast, as well as heady and heavy. According to Colonel Prince, formerly all-American backfield man while at West Point fifteen years ago, the Utah Aggies have a fast light team while the Colorado Aggies have a fast heavy team. He also emphasized the fact that the Utahns had a wonderfully good aggregation of football players and should win from Boulder.

The catastrophe occurred in the initial period. In the first ten minutes of play the Coloradoans scored three touchdowns on line plunges and various other forms of attack, (whatever they might have been), after which time the playing was even for the remainder of the game. Two of the three touchdowns came with the aid of a brick which favored the kicker who had his back to it. The one incident that marred the splendid good feeling between the teams happened in the first quarter also. Falck was tackled by Brennan who insisted in displaying an affectionate disposition until Falck wiggled himself free from his hold. The Utah-Aggie penalized half the length of the field for this, which tickled the spectators on the sidelines.

The game was played in weather that materially lowered the mercury in the thermometer, while snow had fallen the night before the game. In spite of this, a thrilling exhibition of high class football was given by both teams. The second and third periods were hotly contested with honors quite evenly divided. In the final period both teams scored one touchdown. "Perc" Hansen struggled the final two yards after the ball had traveled forty yards over the Falck-Jarvis aerial route to within this distance of the goal. Falck followed with a goal.

For Utah, Glen Dee was the most spectacular performer. He tackled ferociously and ripped off some substantial gains. Falck showed the Colorado fans some classy open field running while Jarvis did not fail to display his usual skill. Hansen flew around the field like lightning and took a couple of Colorado passes out of the air. Frok McDonald deserves possibly the most credit of any player on the field. He stood up. ### OPPORTUNITY TO GAIN PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE OPEN TO COLLEGE MEN

According to S. L. Rogers, Director, Bureau of the Census, Washington, the fourth decennial census of the United States will be taken January 1, 1920. For the publication and compilation of the census reports, 4,000 clerks will be needed. Several hundred of the clerks selected (selection to be by civil service examination on Nov. 15) will be assigned to the Department of Agriculture, and will assist in the compilation, tabulation and publication of the reports secured from eight million farms in the U. S., Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico. Young men registered in agriculture in colleges would find this work of much practical value to them. This is an opportunity to gain practical experience, and no young man would regret a year or more spent very profitably at the nation's capital.

Further information concerning this opportunity may be had by applying to Mr. Brimley, at the President's office.

UNIQUE POSTER TO ADVERTISE A. C.

A new and attractive poster advertising the opening of the U. A. C. Winter Quarter has just come out of the press. Forty copies will be sent each agricultural agent in Utah for distribution within his territory.

The new advertising medium has several distinct features. In the first place it is the only poster of its kind ever designed and constructed at the College. Mr. D. E. Robinson, U. A. C. publicity agent, is responsible for the design which consists of a large white block "A" on a blue background. The lower part of the sheet contains specific information in the opening of the winter quarter and dates of registration.

The original was constructed by Mr. D. Hughes of the woodwork department and the printing was done by The Journal.

SIX MEN ARE ELECTED MEMBERS OF COSMOS CLUB

The following men were elected to membership in the Cosmos club at the last meeting which was held November 7th in Student Life office: Wallace McBride, Coulson Wright, Irvin Poulter, Russell Croft, G. M. Wrisley, Sidney Nebeker.

The Cosmos club is an organization of college men who meet twice each month to discuss contemporary social, civic and educational problems.

Mr. Hulme Nebeker is president of the club and George Barber is secretary and treasurer.

Buzzer Staff Holds First Meeting of Year

The Buzzer staff has begun work in earnest. At a meeting held last Tuesday the general plans for the book were discussed. The size, quality, price of advertisements, and cost of the book were points brought up before the staff, but no definite decisions were made. Samples of different grades and colors of paper have been sent for, and arrangements are being made with photographers for the students to have their pictures taken. The members of the staff were urged to obtain and organize their material now and as the activities are taken up, rather than leave their work until the end of the year.

There has been quite a discussion over the suggestion of introducing and establishing certain traditional features for the Buzzer. As we have the annual college play or the annual A. G. Club ball, the idea is to have certain features in the Buzzer from year to year. This would not necessarily take the class individually from the book, as the features could be treated as uniquely and with as much variety as desired.

The Buzzer as an annual publication, sums up the whole of the year's activities. Every student should take an interest in it and support the staff. The easiest and most effective way for students to show their interest in the book is to have their money ready to buy a subscription as soon as the solicitors get busy.

FOOTBALL EDITION TO BE ISSUED NOV. 25

The Football Edition of Student Life will be out Nov. 25 (Tuesday). It is the intention of Student Life staff to issue a six-page newspaper on that date, giving all of the latest dope on the big Thanksgiving game in Salt Lake. Student Life will not be issued next Friday, November 21, due to the paper coming out the following Tuesday.

Postal Clerk: Your letter just balances, Sir; if it weighed any more you would have to put on another stamp.

Prescott: Gracious! I'm glad I didn't sign my middle names.

DOCTOR HILL DADDY OF BABY DAUGHTER

Dr. Hill came up smiling—not that it is unusual, but there is a decidedly important reason for the broad fatherly smile that insists on perpetuating itself on his countenance. The reason is a daughter born early Friday morning, November 7 at the Dee hospital in Ogden. Mrs. Hill who was formerly woman's advisor at the College is getting along splendidly, as is also the little one.

"Daddy" Hill says the babe favors both sides of the family and admits that she is the sweetest, prettiest, dearest, and best behaved baby that ever lived. Baby Elizabeth—no competition, as the name has been decided upon—is certainly a fortunate little lady and we hope she will not give her parents and Uncle Morgan too many sleepless nights; but then, she won't—and they won't mind if she does.

AN OPEN FORUM FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS

Object is to Foster Interest in Debating—First Meeting November 20th in Chapel at 7.30 p. m.

At 7:30 next Thursday night, Nov. 20th, the first meeting of the Forum will be held in the U. A. C. chapel. The object of the meeting is to find new debating material among the students and foster an interest in inter-class and inter-collegiate debating. At this initial meeting a permanent date every week or every two weeks will be appointed for these forensic combats.

It is hoped to make them so popular that some method of eliminating the entrance fee to these on each side may be necessary. The intent will be to encourage the student who has had no experience to try out. Questions will be chosen from a list submitted by the students at the meeting.

The question for next Thursday night is: Resolved, That the United States should adopt compulsory arbitration of labor disputes. All students wishing to enter should hand their names, with the side of the question they choose, to Morris Christensen, Russell Croft, Chase Kearl, William Merrill or Hulme Nebeker before two o'clock today. The list of entrants will be written on the bulletin board by three this afternoon (Friday).

The A. G. Club, composed of the men mentioned above, is chartering this idea. One of them will act as chairman of the meeting and three of them will act as judges of the debate. Professor N. A. Pedersen, chairman of the debating committee and coach of the teams, has secured permission from Mrs. Pedersen to (Continued on Page Two).

AG. CLUB BALL MEASURES UP TO FORMER STANDARDS

On November 7, a most happy combination of cornstalks, bales of hay, evening gowns, kegs of punch and farmers in dress clothes cooperated to produce a real A. G. Club ball. And a real A. G. Club ball is conceded to be quite the best in the way of college dances that ever happens in the Smart gymnasium.

Contrary to prevailing impressions among Ag. rookies, music was not played by the village organist, tractor service was not installed up and down the hill, and refreshments were not served from a Jersey dairy in the corner. An Ag. Club, gentle readers, has plebeian ambitions, but most pronounced ideas on dancing parties which are socially fallacious.

Decorative features were dry corn stalks, miniature pine forests, and cowboy effects made with hauled hay. Applis, which commenced their career as decorations, resolved into a favorite form of refreshments, supplementing the punch and wafers in the opposite corner. A carrot on the piano made eloquent excuses for those of the men who danced more easily a week ago than they did on Friday.

A ten-piece orchestra played all of the old and new favorites with the most approved jazz movement.

The usual twelve o'clock curfewment ushered in the last dance, and the end of one of the brilliant parties of the college year.

PRESIDENT PETERSON LEAVES FOR CHICAGO

President Peterson left for Chicago this morning to attend meetings of the American Association of Agricultural Colleges, at which he will deliver an address on "Harmonizing Instructional, Extension and Experimental work in Agriculture."

He will also attend the meetings of the American Farm Management Association, the meetings of the American Association on Agricultural Legislation and the meetings of the American Farm Bureau.

While in the east, he will also try to secure additional teachers for work at the College next year.

At the last meeting of the Science club, Dr. Willard Gardner discussed soil moisture problems. At today's meeting Doctor Brossard will talk on some phases of farm management.

AGGIES WILL PLAY COLORADO "U" TOMORROW

Hard Contest Expected With Fast Boulder Team—Aggies
Go Into Struggle in Good Condition.

The result of tomorrow's game at Boulder, Colorado, between the Utah Aggies and the University of Colorado will be intensely interesting to every fan in the two states from many angles, but the most interested group of fans will be the U. A. C. students who cheered the team last Saturday at Fort Collins very enthusiastically over the wires. This plan would be a mighty good one to carry out for tomorrow's game and would help to put heart into the Big Game team.

Last Saturday the Boulderites and the University of Utah played at Salt Lake in a game in which the Colorado eleven surprised Utah supporters by holding the Crimson team to one lone touchdown which was squeezed over in the last few minutes of play. Thus according to "dope" the Utah Aggies are booked for a hard contest with Boulder tomorrow.

A comparison of the two teams shows that they are quite evenly matched in weight and experience. The Colorado men put up a wonderful exhibition last Saturday at Salt Lake and will do all in their power to lick the Utahns from Logan on their own home lot. The Aggies on the other hand, are aching to get into action against Boulder and show the Aggie rooters here in Logan that they are going to do something on the trip. Coach Romney's charges are going to be most fit to participate from the reports that reach home. The only possible crinkle will be James McDonald, who (Continued on page three)

J. F. HAYES TO MANAGE HUMOROUS MAGAZINE

J. F. Hayes was appointed manager of the Magpie, the new humorous magazine, last week. His appointment came too late to be announced in last week's issue of Student Life.

Mr. Hayes is a former editor of Red and Black, the Salt Lake High School paper. He also held several class and school offices while in high school as well as important executive positions.

Since coming to the A. C., Hayes has shown active interest in school and class affairs, and has demonstrated his ability to successfully handle the business end of such a publication as the Magpie.

According to the various members of the staff of the "funny sheet," much good material is being contributed by the students. The students enrolled in the art courses are taking a great deal of interest in the magazine and a number of excellent cartoons have been turned in. Professor Pedersen's English classes and Professor Arnold's class in Journalism have freely contributed to the staff.

The magazine will be about 5x8 inches in size and will contain from 17 to 24 pages. The staff contemplates having it ready for distribution Nov. 26.

Life is gloomy enough without digging up trouble and sorrow.

Disabled Soldiers Honored At Armistice Day Exercises

PRACTICE HOUSE IS IDEAL HOME

Complete Family Circle Installed —Home Will Be Opened to Vocational And General Science
Students.

The practice house is no longer merely a practice house. It has evolved into a regular and very ideal kind of home. In order to make it seem entirely realistic, a man has been installed to be cooked for and waited upon, and taken care of generally, so that there is nothing lacking in the ordinary routine of family life.

The six girls now living at the practice house under the supervision of Mrs. Amy Merrill are Irene Rich, Louise Bird, Ireta Harris, Nadine Foutz, Geneva Wells and Helena Jacobs. Each girl serves at one more or less distinct position for a week until she becomes entirely familiar with the duties it entails. For the next successive five weeks she passes from one phase of domesticity to another, so that at the end of six weeks she is supposed to emerge capable and fully experienced in the ways of hostess, cook, housekeeper, table maid, and general assistant.

Formerly the practice house has been open only to students of senior standing who are to be graduated from the school of Home Economics, but with the beginning of next term, it may be open to vocational students as well. Girls registered in general science, and desiring the practical training offered in this way will probably be admitted also.

The experience and training which finding with a regular "practice home" can give, will in this way be made possible to almost every girl in school.

Commercial Club Holds Forth in Cafeteria

The Commercial Club has found that they can get around our uncompromising schedule via the cafeteria route. Last Tuesday the members of the club got in, or rather broke in, the show line, carried their trays to the east room of the cafeteria and there ate their lunch, cop, transacted club business and listened to a five minute talk by Dean Hendricks.

Prof. Hendricks emphasized that the requisites of a successful business man of today are initiative and ability to cooperate and he showed how these two qualities could be developed in the Commercial Club by each member. He urged each member to make the club an organization that he will be proud of, by his unstinted support.

Mr. Prescott, of the executive committee, then outlined a plan of activities for the year, which includes visits to the various business houses and industrial plants in the valley. The proposal to visit several business establishments and office buildings in Salt Lake City on Friday after Thanksgiving and a trip to Bingham on Saturday was placed before the club for their consideration. It is estimated that the expenses of the Salt Lake-Bingham trip will be about eleven dollars. Everybody is urged to be at the next meeting as this trip will be decided upon and a committee for the Commercial Club ball will be appointed.

The club decided to visit the Amalgamated Sugar company's factory at Logan next Saturday, the 15th. Members are to be at the Interurban station at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, as a short meeting will be held there to consider plans for the Bingham trip. Kenneth (Doc.) Nelson was chosen manager of the sugar factory trip.

An acorn shaped emblem was adopted as the official club insignia.

"Man is a tyrant, an absolute tyrant," said his wife to a company of friends. "Isn't he, Buz?" she asked, turning to her husband. "Why, it all depends, my dear, upon—"

"Is he or is he not?" she asked as she fixed her eyes upon him. "He is."

Tribute Paid Men Who Sacrificed Lives

B. H. Roberts Reviews Conditions of Allies at the Time Armistice Was Signed—America Deciding Factor in War.

Chapel exercises on Tuesday, November 11, were in celebration of the signing of the armistice, a year ago. Disabled soldiers who are in training here were honored, occupying front seats on the rostrum. Brigham H. Roberts, former chaplain with the 145th (U.S.) field artillery, was the speaker, his theme being the peace we have today, the gaining of it, and our obligation because of it. Mr. Roberts was in France last year, when the news of the end of the war arrived, on the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month of 1918.

The choir sang a patriotic selection, "The Flag."

Prayer was offered by Dr. George R. Hill.

The ladies' chorus sang "Soldiers' Cap," after which Dr. Frank West introduced the speaker, giving a brief outline of his chaplaincy.

Mr. Roberts reviewed conditions as they were at home and abroad a year ago. United States had a mobilized army of 4,272,521 men, about 2,000,000 of whom were in France, and 1,200,000 of these were on the firing lines of the western front. Conditions, four months before, had been almost without hope for the allied forces. The arrival of American troops in France was the vital determining force which turned the tide. The terms of the armistice were read, to show the entirety of the victory.

In claiming credit for our part in the war, we should see clearly that although America's entrance was the deciding factor, our allies paid even more heavily than we. Without the heroic resistance of the little Belgian army, the preparations that France made, the blockades by England's fleet, foreign aircraft, and foreign and home conservation, the results might have been vastly different.

In answer to the question, Who really won the war, Mr. Roberts said that the real winners were the men who paid the supreme sacrifice. Loss of life includes everything and everyone that makes life dear. Sixty-seven thousand, eight hundred and thirteen Americans died in the war. The speaker paused to pay tribute of honor to these men who died, not only for America, but for all humanity.

He spoke next of those who had been just as willing to give their lives, but of whom a smaller gift had been required—the wounded and disabled. The loss to some of these is probably heavier than death would have been. In United States there are 192,483 wounded service men. Mr. Roberts expressed deepest honor and gratitude to them.

He said that the war was fought for us, and that our posterity might be spared the tragedy of another war. (Continued on Page Two).

MANY FREELY CONTRIBUTE TO SEND TEAM TO SALT LAKE

The trip of the football team to Salt Lake two weeks ago was made possible by the good sports and business men of Logan in contributing $55.00, and to the liberality of students and faculty. Not all the business men were visited but those who were, contributed freely. Following are the contributors: O. W. Adams, H. W. Brangham, Reid Shamhart, Charles L. Richards, O. Gay Cardon, W. R. Sloan, G. E. Green, Luther Howard, and T. Stoney, E. B. Anderson, M. S. Eccles, W. J. Merrill, Thatcher Clothing company, Jim Hansen. The students in student body meeting contributed $63.90 to the fund. Due to a misunderstanding very few of the faculty members knew that this fund was being raised until the end of the trip which were not paid. The faculty contributed for these expenses, which amount they would have supplied at first had they known in time. All contributors felt that it was money well spent, and they will feel doubly repaid after the game Thanksgiving Day.

AGGIES ARE UNDAUNTED

We are not discouraged over Colorado's defeat of the Aggies last Saturday, and the team is not discouraged. We have no alibis to offer. We met an unattractive aggregation, weighing fifteen pounds more to the man—a team that has won every game played this season, and has now clinched the Rocky Mountain Conference title.

The Big Blue team was swept off its feet the first quarter when the Colorado Farmers uncorked a few "wiz" plays and scored three touchdowns in ten minutes of play. From then on the Blue and White fought with bull dog grit and held their heavier opponents even, 7-7. They solved the plays of the champion team and held their wonderful backs powerless during the latter part of the game.

They fought squarely and that is more than victory. Rumors of Falck's kicking Bresnahan, Green and Gold end, are false. Luke kicked himself loose, when he was being held after the whistle blew.

After the game, when the Aggies had won the admiration of the Colorado team and every spectator on the field by their sheer "guts" in the face of odds, Colonel Prince, headlineman, West Point graduate, proving their social activities. Already the Colorado college is planning for its summer course. Professor W. O. Shea, ex-president of the society of college teachers, head of the department of education in the University of Wisconsin, and national leader in child welfare work, is to be one of the instructors. Professor Eugene Davenport of the University of Illinois has also been engaged for the summer.

UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA

The exclusive seniors of the University of Nevada prohibit the wearing of the sombrero by any except seniors. They have also ruled that no person except an active senior can sit on the senior bench.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO

A $100,000 students' hotel for the students of the University of Idaho is included in the nation-wide Episcopal church improvement campaign. At present, the housing facilities for the university students in Moscow are decidedly inadequate. An overseas club has been formed to include all Idaho students who were members of the A. E. F. The club has a social purpose and aims to keep alive memories of life in France. A unique dance has been planned where the men are to wear the clothes which they wore when they saw their hardest service.

AN OPEN FORUM FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS

attend the meeting to watch for any embryo Daniel Websters and give a few words of consolation to the losers.

The contest is open to men and women. After the thing is established, the chairman for the following meeting may be elected at each meeting. As training in public speaking and rules of order it has possibilities that should give it enthusiastic support.

Card of Thanks

During the recent illness and convalescence of the class in soil management, much kindness has been shown. For all this they wish to express sincerest thanks, especially to the music department who daily amused them with free instrumental concerts—sometimes harmonious. Members and Instructor of the Class.

and all-American halfback fifteen years ago, said to the Utah Aggies: "You have a wonderful team. You should beat Boulder."

We are yet on a par with the University of Utah, and have an equal chance to come second in the conference. The team's morale is unaffected, it is a better team than it was before the C. A. C. game. It knows its strength and its weakness. It has hit its stride. We have more than a fighting chance to beat Boulder tomorrow and the team is in good condition and will fight to the end. We expect a victory.

A LOST FUNCTION

It is generally conceived that an institution or unit which does not function properly should not exist. The library is not functioning properly and it is absolutely necessary that it should. We know who are responsible. The students who are using it for a gossip room and not a place for concentration of thought. Those of us who do wish to study feel that we are in the wrong room as we enter the library. It is more like social discussion groups than a study room.

As I write, my fellow "students" on my right are arguing in distinct tones over the possession of a book. On my left a young lady is indulging in feminine coquettishness thus attracting the attention of some of her "fellow students." In front of me are many social groups probably discussing current topics of interest. This illustrates quite well the general condition of the library. We are not taking the proper attitude as to the function of the library. There are a limited few who could not improve their action in this regard.

How are we to correct this condition? Each individual must acquire a due respect for the rights of others; acquire a democratic conscience. If you have nothing to do, do it in the halls; the library is no place for you. Rise up! Give your brains a racking and we shall have the remedy we are lacking. Let us regain the proper function of the library which I trust has existed in past years and begin a new, progressive era in the history of our library.

HERBERT LARSEN.

THE BAND ROOM A NUISANCE

The ghastly howl specimens have been removed from Room 177 to the Calm Building. In their stead a chaotic ensemble of howling trombones, screaming violins, and moaning bass horns greets the ears of students and teachers who have classes in that section of the main building. When the class discussion is well under way and the teacher is explaining a technical question the air is suddenly shattered by the reverberating strains of "Johnny's in Town." The teacher raises his voice and the volume of tones, monotonous, chords and discords accretes accordingly. When finally the musical conglomeration becomes too loud for the teacher to be heard he stops and waits while the echoes reluctantly fade away.

It is suggested that students refrain from practicing in Room 177 while classes are in session or, better still, that the band and orchestra seek a more remote location to pursue their studies.

under the terrific battering of the heavy C. A. C. men and displayed such grit that he was visited by some of the Colorado players following the game and congratulated by their captain who said that not one in a thousand would go through in such gallant manner as did the doughty Frog. Both he and Hansen retired on account of injuries but will likely be back in tomorrow's game at Boulder, according to late advices from the Big Blue team.

During the game Utah made first down fifteen times for a total of 230 yards while the home team went the required distance for 270 yards. Worley surprised the natives by his kicking, demonstrating that the much touted Rakekin had an equal in the booting department. "We couldn't break their interference," said Del Gardner, "but we want to come back to Logan and I guess we can if we win the next two games, can't we?"

The Big Blue team is the Big Blue team in victory or defeat. One defeat does not make a season or unmake one. We are with our team through thick and thin. Every Aggie will welcome the team with open arms when they return.

In the recent Thorndike intelligence test which was applied on the students of the Montana University, it was proved that the students of the engineering department had the highest rating in all the tests. It is to contain specimens of every mammal and every bird that lives in the United States or its territories. This is the only museum in the world which is projected and maintained by a county. Los Angeles county is responsible for its maintenance.

Model of Monument in Honor of Students in Mailing Room

There is now at school a small model of the monument to be erected in memory of students of the U. A.
C. who made the supreme sacrifice during the war. It was designed by Joseph E. Baker, a former student of the U. A. C. This model has not as yet been accepted and it is not known if it will be the one that is finally used for the monument that will be placed on the campus. On the model are engraved the names of all students of the U. A. C. who lost their lives in the war. Engraved on the other three sides are appropriate scenes. The entire monument will be surrounded by a pool of water. It was at first thought that this monument would be placed in the middle of the quadrangle, east of the main building, but its exact location is so far, indefinite.

RULES ARE ISSUED ON WEARING OF UNIFORM

A complete set of regulations for the guidance of cadets in regard to the care and wearing of the military uniform has just been issued by the department head, Colonel Russell
P. Hartle.

The regulations are somewhat different from any set of rules heretofore laid down for the guidance of military students. The spirit as well as the letter of the rules sounds a new and progressive note in regard to the appearance of the cadet battalion. This year the proteges of the military department must and will appear as a well dressed military organization. To make this possible, uniforms will be worn only on the days of practical military instruction.

was badly battered last week by the likely be the same as that of last week. If McDonald is out, Jarvis will be shifted to the backfield and Brown will play end. Hart will play end with a likelihood of Andrus being at that station. With these possible changes the lineup will remain intact.

OBSERVE "Y" LIBRARY REGULATIONS

Did you ever begin an interesting story, reading it in your spare moments at the College "Y" Room? You had reached the point where the desperate villain had captured the beautiful heroine, and was taking her away to an awful fate—unless the faithful hero arrived on the scene in time.
You were sitting on the very edge of your chair, so intense was the situation; when—the bell rang for your next class.
Oh, well, you would come back the next day and find out what happened to the heroine.
So, in a spare hour the next day
you came to the "Y" Room, prepared to settle back in an easy chair, put your feet up on a bench, and thoroughly enjoy the rest of the book. But, alas you found that some guy had BORROWED the book the night before, and FAILED TO RE-TURN IT THAT MORNING—
Curse the luck—!—!—!
Let's prevent the recurrence of this catastrophe, by returning all books borrowed from the "Y" library (quite a number are out at present), and by seeing the "Y" Secretary, if we wish to take a book away from the room.

Society

Sidney Nebeker and Garfield Baa-tow, were recently pledged to Sigma Alpha.

Maurice Linford is pledged to Pi Zeta Pi.

The Beta Delta sorority held formal initiations Saturday, Nov. 8, for Fern and Mary Whiteside, Thelma Budge, Florence Riser, and Blanche Dunn.

Miss Helena Flann was a dinner guest at the Sorosis house on Wed-

The members of the sophomore

Women's gymnasium. Extensive preparations are being made for the occasion, and a very successful party is anticipated. Every sophomore is expected to be present to participate in the festivities.

Sigma Theta Phi announces the pledging of Ethel Hillyard.

Last Sunday evening about twelve members of the Sigma Alpha fraternity made a series of impromptu calls upon the sororities of the school. Each call lasted for one hour, during which time peanuts were served.

Final initiations were held last Saturday night by Sigma Theta Phi for Miss Charlotte Kyle, Blanche Worley, Elma and Erma Bennion, Reva Lewis, Hazel Whittaker, Alice Howells, Agnes Lindsay, and Florence Knudsen.

Mr. E. Stanley L. Prescott, assisted by Miss Nancy Finch, entertained for his fraternity brothers last Monday evening at the Delta Nu fraternity house on First North and First East. The rooms of the fraternity house were tastefully decorated in the fraternity colors, crimson and gold. Alternate streamers of these colors extended from the chandeliers. A cluster of distended toy balloons hung over the punch bowl. Progressive games were played, and the prizes were won by Misses Pearl Oberhansly, Messrs. Keifer, B. Saults and Harold Alford. A series of musical selections were rendered by Prof. C. R.
Johnson and Miss Clarice Hansen.
Refreshments were served at eleven o'clock. About thirty couples were in attendance.

Isabel Buck, of Park City, and Penina Wrathall, of Salt Lake, spent the week-end as guests at the Beta Delta house.

Messrs. Lee Kenner, Solon Barber, Glen Sumson, Hilton Evans, and Harold Alford met with their partners at the Delta Nu fraternity house last Sunday for an informal evening.

Sorosis held final initiations last Saturday for Kinnie Caine, Miss Ruby Beers, and Dora Evans. After the initiations, a banquet was served at the chapter house. About forty guests were present.

The Beta Delta sorority entertained at dinner Sunday afternoon in honor of Isabel Buck and Penina Wrathall. The table was decorated with a crystal basket of pink roses.
Covers were laid for fourteen.

Sigma Theta Phi entertained at dinner last Sunday in compliment to Mrs. W. G. Ruckebrod and Miss Alta Richards. A crystal basket of violet formed the centerpiece.
Covers were laid for twelve.

H. P. Jones is one of the latest victims to be initiated into the Delta Nu fraternity.

Thursday's Student Body Hour Given to The Classes

Yesterday's regular student body hour was given over to class meetings. The infants assembled in chapel (which by the way seems just about large enough to accommodate them and their usual efficacious discussions.)

The undergraduates are not allowing the grass to even germinate under their upholstery—the're up and going every minute. On Nov. 22 the Fresh class will bring the fast Ogden high school football team to Logan for an engagement on the Aggie football arena. The expenses of the visitors will be contributed from the freshman strongbox. A fee of 25 cents will be charged class members with cards. All others desiring to see the battle will be charged 50 cents.

Committees in charge of arrangements are Dal Eberhart, Mr. Thorley and Mr. Bachman, on the business end and Alfred Cherry, Bramwell Peck and Jack Wright will be responsible for the entertainment of the Ogdenites. A dance at which the Ogden team will be guests, is to be held in the evening.

Hilton Evans gathered the social element of the sophomore class together in Room 250. These wearers of the double star in the collegiate service flag are going to give a class party—somewhere on the campus, Saturday evening. As near as could be ascertained the social feat will be held in the Smart gym.

The juniors and seniors met as in their custom and elected decoration committees to cooperate with the Junior Prom committee in working out an effective and uniform decoration plan for the big social event of the year. In the past each class has decorated its booth at the Prom without attention being given to an effective color scheme in regard to the entire hall. With all classes working in conjunction with the Prom committee this fault will in all probability be remedied.

FIRST "Y" DISCUSSION GROUPS MET WEDNESDAY

The first "Y" discussion groups met Wednesday night and the attendance was such that a most successful year's work is anticipated by those in charge. The attendance at the groups last night was far greater, or that it was at the initial meetings last year.

A brief outline of the work, or rather the discussions, to be taken up during the winter was given by the leaders. The rest of the hour was taken up in getting acquainted and a social chat. Three of the groups elected a permanent organization. Dr. Hill's group elected W. H. Bell president and C. F. Turley secretary. Dr. West's group chose J. L. Spencer president and John Orme secretary. In Reverend Lewis' group J. A. Hendricks was elected president and Karl Harris secretary.

The officers of these groups, with Mr. Wisley, will constitute the "Y" council of the school. It will be their duty to shape the course of the "Y" activities throughout the year, and they will stand sponsor for them. Their first meeting will be held at the Commercial Club next Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m.

MISS COOPER RETURNS FROM EASTERN TRIP

Miss Blanche Cooper, who is associated in Human Nutrition Investigations, Experiment Station, has just returned from New York and Chicago where she has been doing special work in child welfare. She investigated the work of the National Child Welfare association, the National Child Health organization, and the Bureau of Child Hygiene in New York. She attended the international conference of women physicians in the city, also. At this conference there were women physicians from Denmark, Norway, Italy, Scotland, Sweden, China, Switzerland, South America, Japan, Serbia, Canada, England, France, Holland, and the United States. During the six weeks of the conference questions concerning the physical, social, and moral health were discussed by these women. In Chicago she investigated the work of the health centers of the Infant Welfare society of Chicago, which is making a study of the pre-school child, and also in the nutritional work done under the direction of Miss Lydia Roberts in the Department of Home Economics, School of Education, at the University of Chicago.

I wonder why Prof. Alder never combs his hair?

Freshmen Defeated By American Legion Team

With weight and experience as the deciding factor, the American Legion football team of Herman Baker Post No. 30 of Ogden, won from the A. C. Fresh aggregation at the big Armistice Day celebration in Ogden on Tuesday, by the score of 14 to 6. The game was played at Lorin Farr park before one of the largest football audiences in the history of Ogden. The field was in fair condition after the amount of rain that had fallen at intervals for three days before the game.

Considering the collection of stars that opposed the Fresh in this game they did exceedingly well, and, in fact, only a siege of some disease like stage fright which attacked the Aggie yearlings in the early stages of the game helped the Legionaries greatly to their first score. The Freshies kicked to Ogden and the former service men marched up the field in a manner somewhat similar to the way in which they were taught to advance against the foe while in the army. They were ordered to halt on the twenty yard line and the Freshies captured the ball, only to lose it on a fumble. Then the Legionaries attained their objective and Bill Glassman scored a touchdown and kicked goal.

Shortly after this occurred, the Ogdenites happened to be held on the thirty yard line where "Dog" Douglas attempted to make a punt but a slight hesitation was fatal, for the Fresh defensive units broke through the line and blocked the kick and Perry recovered the ball and ran twenty yards for a touchdown. Erickson missed the goal.

The second period was marked by better defense on the part of the Aggies. No score was made by either side. In this quarter the Freshmen started to show up much better on the offensive and made first down twice.

Two or three fumbles on the part of both teams shortly after the kickoff in the second half did not help the respective sides much. Freshmen lost the ball on Ogden's twenty-yard line on a fumble and on the fourth down the Legionaries worked a peculiar brand of forward pass resulting in a touchdown. Glassman threw to Warner but the throw was blocked by Andrus. The ball was knocked into the hands of Hastings who was already over the line, consequently another score was the result and Glassman made it complete with another goal.

During the remainder of the game the A. C. men completely outplayed the Ogdenites. Three or four times they were within scoring distance but failed to make a count. The ball was in Legion territory during all the third quarter.

Kingsford, Ogden backfielder, was banished from the game for slugging while his mates suffered a fifty yard penalty.

Following the game the team was royally entertained at a banquet given by the Legionaries of Herman Baker Post at the Weber club. At the "feed" the awards were made to the prize winners in the various athletic events of the day. Following the banquet the A. C. visitors were guests at the dance in the Bertham Hall. Al Warden, former Salt Lake High School athlete, was in charge of the athletic events of the day and deserves much credit for the splendid manner in which he manipulated affairs. Coach Scott and the Freshmen were highly honored during their stay in the Junction city.

The Freshmen will play the B. Y. C. tomorrow night at 3 p. m. on Adams field.

Such is Life

ON OBLITERATING THE COLLEGE HILL

By "Soraba"

With the eminently benevolent view of putting into print the homastic, fiery, unreasonable, foolish, reasonable, or forceful views of sundry famous or semi-famous students of the College on the all important question of providing proper means (artificial or of course) of locomotion up the College hill, "Soraba" has collected the opinions of several students for this synopsis. "Soraba" hopes to settle forever this all important question. The hope is arranged in order of its importance and the importance of the person who contributed it.

"Soraba" it is my firm and unshakable opinion that proper artificial means for the transportation of students from the bottom of College Hill to the top of College Hill be provided by an act of Legislature. Prithree let me add that the President of the United States (long may he live) should take the matter in hand and devote at least one day to the matter. In faith, the evil effects of the daily climb are becoming almost ghastly if not weird. I, myself, have heard the wheezy exhaust of the winded students from my point of beginning at the foot of the hill. It is nothing unusual for some of the students to be unable to climb the stairs to the first floor until proper time has been allowed for the regaining of the lost air incurred in the ascent of the hill. I truth if the matter is not seen to by the proper authorities many demoralizing results will result and the final result will result in the students leaving the school for pastures of lesser (if any) altitude. This final result will result in lowering the morale of the resulting students.

A most ghastly situation and one which it behooves us to act on immediately. Now for the remedy. An identical situation was encountered in ancient Athens. The citizenry of that ancient and model town clamored loudly that the hill to the Acropolis be done away with and that they would not be required to climb it every day. They decided to go to the building. The mayor and city commissioners of Athens had a hard time deciding the affair. History has it that one Apocropus, committed suicide because the Senate would not harken to his valuable advice and move the hill from under the building, letting the building fall to the ground. He claimed, somewhat vociferously perhaps, that the building would not be damaged as much as his wife was when ever she was forced, by the soldiery, to climb the hill to church. His motion was overridden. He resorted to his sword and there was one less citizen in Athens.

Far be it from me to advocate such a harsh measure as my noble backer of a similar cause. I am somewhat mild in my reforms and I do not wish to give the citizens the hard labor of digging the College Hill from under the College. I abhor the sight of large numbers of defenseless citizens engaged in useless labor. Let them work for as good as their own benefit. That's what I say. My solution of the problem is as follows: (You may take it or leave it. I warn you that I will not resort to suicide if you refuse it so all enemies take care.)

My solution to the problem, as I said above, is—Dismiss school for several days. Hire engineers to place jacks and rollers under the various buildings comprising the Utah Agricultural College; move these buildings away to a safe distance, and let school go on. In the course of time the weather will get in its good work and the College Hill will be entirely obliterated or weathered away. Then move the College back to its old position.

Quite simple, is it not?
Freshman (in Mechanic Arts): "I am afraid that I am not going to have enough board for this."
Prof.: "Use your head."

Sport Notes

Reports from Colorado give conflicting accounts of Saturday's battle with C. A. C. A Sunday paper says the Utah Aggies were swept off their feet in the opening quarter and "then the Utahs settled down to business and endeavored to wipe out their disgrace. The second, third, and fourth quarters were decidedly Utah's." Utah made first down fifteen times for 230 yards to Colorado's sixteen downs for 270 yards.

Clem Crowley says the Utah Aggies are a strong offensive team but lack defensive strength. Clem Crowley was referee of the C. A. C. U. A. C. game and sport writer for the Denver Post.

The Associated Press says "Colorado outclassed their opponents in consistent line plays and end runs."

U. of U. won from Boulder last Saturday by 7 to 0 score. Just now Salt Lakeers are so enthusiastic that they are willing to bet 3 to 1 on the game Thanksgiving day.

U. of Idaho won from Montana U. 7 to 0. A. C. won from them 47 to 0, while the U. of U. won from Idaho 20 to 0.

"If the Utah Aggies come through their strenuous road trip after three tough games none the worse for wear, they will be a mighty hard combination to beat on Thanksgiving day. But they will be a pretty lucky outfit if they don't lose some of their dependables in the grueling campaign. A terrific gale blowing the length of the field at Fort Collins played a leading role in the win of the Colorado Aggies over the Utah Aggies last Saturday. The Hughes men won the toss, and with the wind at their backs kept their dependables up against the goal posts throughout the fatal first quarter."—Salt Lake Herald.

Coach Scott is developing some likely candidates for next year's varsity from his plucky freshmen. There are a host of backfield candidates and some likely linemen in his crew.

TO A HARPY

(An Appeal)

Powder me only with thine arms,
And I will squeeze with mine,
But brush no rouge upon my nose.
For I will call for wine,
The African and Indian balms,
That many call divine,
I sprinkle only on my toes,
And save my clothes for thine.

I sent thee late a rabbit's-foot,
(To save thee from disgrace!)
And pencils for to make more sleek.
Thy horrible grimace,
Thy thin arms may upon my suit,
Their powdered pressure trace—
But, prithree, damn this cheek to cheek,
And let alone my face!
—Harvard Lampoon.

He: "Have you ever seen our terrier jump?"
She: "No, but I'd just love to. Will he do it before strangers?"
