NO SMOKING ON ADAMS FIELD

Some people like to read second hand newspapers, some people like to tell second hand news but most people like their smoke first handed. There are a few tramps masquerading in gentlemen's clothes who have no more respect for humanity than to puff the sweet essence of a cheap cigar or a cigarette in the face of a woman. There is no method to control this unbecoming habit in public places but there certainly is a method on the football field. Show me a student or any other type of personage that attends football games who "lights up" in a grandstand crowded with the fairer sex and I will show you a bondswoman who has no culture. Some claim that it would be a shame to ask the town friends to check their cigars at the gate but it is far better to ask that same moon than to suffer the foul smoke that issues from the self-splanning hand.

Picnics could be paced about the field which would give warning that no smoking was allowed and a few more would be authorized to tap the puffer if he forgot himself. Every student should be deputized to ask any person to park his weed until the game is over.

I LEARN THE COLLEGE SONG

When you came to college you expected that this school would give you no other institution, organization or whatever it may be, could give you. The good that you can get therefrom, both in mental and in social development depends upon the strength of the college. The strength of the college is dependent upon the support of the individual units. You can give support in meetings and at the games but if you cannot sing the college song this is an earmark of idiosyncrasy.

In there anything more inspiring to the big blue team, when on the field, than the sound of the college song sung by a thousand loud rosters. It is not a duty but a privilege to be able to sing with this thousand, the song that is the anthem of this school. Let every student that considers himself worthy of being called an Aggie, learn the college song and sing it with all his soul and with all his might and with all his heart whenever the occasion warrants it.

WELCOME LADIES GLEE CLUB

That the Ladies Glee Club is going to live and prosper was assured in student body meeting Wednesday when the club under the direction of Edna Crocker, sang, "Love's Old Sweet Song." This is one of the first girls' clubs of the college that has been organized for the purpose of entertaining the students.

There is a lack of cred activities on the campus. Why can't there be debating teams composed of coeds, athletes and stars? It's a movement that needs some live wire to start.

U. OF SEVASTOPOL

New Ideas, Inside 4000 Gymnasium of U. of Sevastopol.

A new plan of "College Internationals" met university ones, has been completed. The object of the plan is primarily to establish a basis of good will and understanding between the students and the professors. Class-room etiquette is forgotten at these gatherings and only the spirit of freedom and policy prevails. These department affairs have already been successfully completed. The students registered in the College and the instructors acted as both the entertainers and the interested. Mental tests were given, all applicants.

A week later the Agricultural College provided a day time for its members. Saturday, 24th, the English and their "tablets" of the nature is a secret. Other "College Internationals" are planned.

The Final Fate of The "Quizzer"

To fearful specter who infests the night
And make you with those horrid screams,
Why linger till the first small thread of light
Takes thy horrid visage from my dream?

Why stand ye by my bedside ghastly then,
And make me see with those horrid eyes,
And stretch those awful hand to beckon me
To thy abode beyond the darkness again?

Then, as I gaze, I see those phantom lips
Make motion; all I fail to speak;
And hither all my mortal senses stir
As sorrowfully to the tale repeat.

I once was learned in many earthly things,
I learned each word to mutter my mind;
I learned to tell many a tale and ancient book
Always alert a few more truths to find.

I soon became a college prof of note,
My students gained for me a torrid hate;
To quote them oft became my weekly rite,
And herein lies the secret of my fate.

One night, in peace I lay me down to sleep,
I closed my eyes all forever more;
Ere long beyond the hills began to peep,
The monster death called me my chamber door.

Through space my horrid ghost mounted me,
And passed the gates of Fate without a stop;
I knew full well my fate destiny—
From school to future I was being dropped.

They threw me in a furnace blazing hot,
Exultation shone on every face as I passed;
I wished that they all quitters had forgot,
But well knew they all remembered me.

Though time and ages may go to come,
Those students shall my constant terror be;
I've learned to live the restless furnace fire,
Vain hopes have fled, I never shall be free.

I taught you here alone to tell you this,
If you intended a teacher to become,
Eliminate whenever you can the "quizzer,"
And students' wrath will be fully won.

My time is up, beyond those eastern hills,
I see a phantom beam of early light;
The day holds for me many things to do,
So while there's time, I'll bid a good night.

branch of athletics, thereby allowing their scope of teaching. The girls may minor in estimating, aesthetic dancing, or play ground games and organized games. The aim is to give thorough enough instruction in gym line to enable the girls who expect to teach to give instruction in those lines if necessary. Practice teaching will be required in all branches of the work.
