MUCH TALENT COMES TO LIGHT IN NEWS AND ARTS
CONTEST—MORE WRITERS
FEATURED

Book To First Winner
To Be Presented In S. B.
Meeting Today; Still Chance For Entries

More students are represented on this week's Student Life than probably have ever contributed to it before. Almost every article and news item in the paper was assigned to two or more students who edited for them Saturday or Monday. The best articles in each case were chosen and published. The students having the most lines will receive a book from Professor Arnold. The students having the most lines in each department are also being chosen as staff members. There are at least a dozen openings for new writers, feature writers, sports and special writers, and reporters.

OPPORTUNITIES PLENTIFUL
Are you trying out for a place? If you haven't done so, remember that even if you didn't call for an assignment last Saturday, you can get one now and still have a chance to win a book and get a place on the staff anyway.

If you're a writer, don't forget that this is a competition, and the game doesn't end the first time.

NEW METHOD
This competitive method of choosing staff members is an innovation at Utah State. It provides a chance for debating, or any other team, are chosen on a competitive basis. Utah State's football team is chosen on a competitive basis. The methods that result in "Come out and show what you can do" at the foundation of the staff, getting the best material for any activity, no coach or director can humanely do it. It is a chance for students which men can talk the hardest, sign the trust, or fail. (Continued on page 2)

GRADUATION WITH HONOR IS POSSIBLE

Rules Passed By Faculty Last Spring; Extra Work In Major Subject Required

Last spring the faculty of the institution passed a ruling permitting students to graduate with honors. It provides that one may graduate with honors upon the completion of additional work in his major department or department. This work must be done under the direct supervision of the departmental faculty and a certificate of completion must be given. This work may consist in part of a research problem. Senior college students of good moral character and scholarship are eligible for this work and are urged to take advantage of it. The work is required of all distinguished graduating students who have done exceptional work and are interested in taking part in the annual commencement exercises.

Scholarship Exchange Is International

French, German and Czech-Slovak students are now studying in the United States, due mainly to the efforts of the American International Education Commission in arranging exchange scholarships between these countries and the United States.

French students, seventeen men and two men, arrived on the S. S. Lafayette, Monday, September 22. The following day twenty-five American girls sailed on the S. S. Pittsburgh to study in French schools, and two girls sailed on the S. S. Lafayette.

Two young women and a group of fourteen young women who are also studying in France, are also studying in the United States.

Constitution Being Drawn Up; Close Clinger to Be Made of Scholarship of "A" Athletes

A resolution to form a faculty organization whose main purpose would be to add to the scholastic development of its members and permit the faculty to function as a unit in connection with the National Educational Association and the Utah Educational Association was passed by members of the Utah Agricultural college faculty last Thursday.

A committee has been appointed to draw up a constitution under which the organization will function. The faculty also appointed Dr. George H. Hill, dean of the school of agriculture and Professor W. A. Peterson, head of the department of English, as members of the committee.

Professor J. B. West, chairman of the athletic committee, is particularly careful to check up on the work of the members of athletic teams of the institution. He has been particularly careful to check up on the work of the members of athletic teams of the institution. Utah Press Association Passes Resolution To Aid Proper Release; Franchise Work of College

The first session of the national summer school conducted last summer at the Utah Agricultural College was enthusiastically received by the press of the state. It appears from the following resolutions published by the Utah Press Association at their last annual meeting:

RESOLUTION
WHEREAS, The Utah Agricultural College has by its organization of the National Summer School initiated a movement which has brought to Utah the best of the best of the school faculty ever assembled in western America, and has drawn students from throughout America for summer study and recreation;

William Peterson Shows Unusual Talent And Technique; Many Numbers Rendered With Ease And Precision

William Peterson, Aggie graduate of 1919 appeared in the first lyceum number of the season at the Logan Theatre last Thursday evening in a piano recital.

The playing was distinctly that of a well trained artist. One could almost imagine himself following the wedding procession of Frodo and Sam, or feeling the romantic spell of the Moonlight, or again, listening to the "seven o'clock" of "The Gray Squirrel."

The audience, though small, was enthusiastic in its applause. The numbers which were rendered with ease and precision, all arose as Mr. Peterson, their Fraternity brother, walked up on the stand.

The students who missed the recital missed one of the grand opportunities of a life time, and one which probably will not come again.

Perhaps the expression that "he or she could make the piano talk" is not altogether an idle fancy. It is likely, it is possible Mr. Peterson certainly did that.

Henry H. Blood Will Speak In Chapel Mon.

Henry H. Blood, a member of the state road commission will address the students of the Utah Agricultural college at their regular weekly chapel exercises on Monday, October 13, at 1 o'clock, according to Dr. P. L. West, dean of the faculty.

Dr. Blood is a member of the faculty of the Brigham Young University and has traveled extensively in Europe.

CREATED IN S. B.

Douglas Cannon, Capt. of 1918 Football Squad, To Be Speaker in Today's Student Body

Mr. Douglas Cannon, former Aggie football captain, will be the principal speaker at student body meeting which will be held in the chapel at one o'clock today.

Mr. Cannon is a spirited athlete and will talk on Aggie traditions. He was all-around center in the 1915 squad.

Other numbers on the program will be a piano solo by Helen Hulbert, a report on football activities by assistant manager Lester Pooch, and a vocal solo by Miss Clara Watkins.

Columbus Declared to Be Man of Destiny Sent To America By Divine Guidance

Referring to Columbus as a "man of destiny," sent to America by Divine guidance to open up a land in which man's greatest opportunities lay, Dr. P. L. West, in his address in an address delivered before the students of the college last Monday afternoon, made a stirring plea to the young people of today to protect and develop the priceless heritage which is theirs by reason of their residence in America.

"The cornerstone of the perpetuity of America, institutions in this old world," declared Dr. West, "is the will of the majority as expressed in regularly enacted laws."

The invocation was pronounced by Elder Joseph K. Cannon, the college chaplain, under the direction of Professor C. H. Johnson, who presided.

Live Stock Judging Team To Go to Portland Live Stock Show; Budget Com. Appointed

At a meeting of the executive committee held last Monday, Harold Glade was elected assistant manager of socials and dramatics. Mr. Glade is a sophomore student and a member of the Delta Nu Fraternity. He is also property manager at the Capitol Theatre.

It was decided at the same meeting that the student body will send a stock judging team to Portland, Oregon, to compete in the Portland Live Stock Show. This is the decision reached last night at a student body meeting, which is facing a $2000 deficit at present.

A budget committee, with R. K. Blood as chairman, was appointed. The purpose of this committee is to consider the various percentages in the student body.

The awarding of a special award to the student body was also discussed at the executive meeting. It is contemplated that a medal with suitable engraving will be given to the student body who has won the second of the second year track championship which was to be awarded to Layton.

IDA THATCHER JOINS MORONT OLSEN PLAYERS

Ida Thatcher, I. A. C. student of last year and a member of the Sorority, has joined the Moront Olsen Players. Miss Thatcher will accompany the players in their trips and will be in Logan about the middle of the next week. She is the company's first appearance here this fall.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1924.

We believe a policy devoid of factions, cliques, or social organizations should govern the administration of student body affairs.

We believe that better men would be secured for Editors and Managers of Student Life and the Buzzer and that they would be in a position to serve the student body more efficiently if provision was made whereby they could receive some compensation and we believe that such compensation should come from student body funds in order to place responsibility directly to the student body they serve.

We believe that some provision should be made to insure proper financing of class organizations in order to protect the student body against debts incurred by the class organizations.
We believe Student Life to be the official publication of the student body and in view of this welcome suggestions and constructive criticisms concerning it, and also in view of this we will gladly cooperate in keeping student opinion to the fore-front by lending the columns of Student Life to the publication of signed editorials.

BECOME CITIZENS NOW

What at present appears to be one of the most interesting and far reaching presidential elections in American history will take place on November the fourth. The possibility of the election being thrown into Congress with all the ensuing complications should interest any American student if for no other reason than out of mere curiosity. The study of the political strategy of the various parties is another fact that within itself should be enough to bring pressure to bear upon any students' inquisitive instincts. The entrance of the third party into the field, with its seemingly too liberal platform and the possibility of its turning the election one way or another are facts of further interest. There are but a few of the many vitally interesting phases of the present campaign.

It is a generally stated and generally accepted expression that the college students of today are the intrepid leaders of a few years hence. If this be the case, which we are prone to believe it is, then certainly the coming national election should attract the students' attention. Every student should pick out his candidate and know why he favors that man and every student who has reached the voting age should exercise his franchise right and cast a ballot on November 4.

For some it may seem absurd for a college publication to venture roving interest in a national election, but we believe that one refuses to be interested in the national welfare while in college he is in a large measure missing one link in the preparation for citizenship. Such an election as the present also furnishes such an admirable opportunity for a study of the American elective system that its significance cannot be over-emphasized.

Why, then, should this election be of interest to students? First, it is important and has many unusually interesting phases; second, because students should be getting the citizenship viewpoint; and third, because it furnishes a laboratory for the study of American system of presidential elections. Prepare for future citizenship by edging up your interest now.

A LESSON ON SPORTSMANSHIP

Student Life finds it a perennial duty to remind a large number of students, largely freshmen, that loyalty and sportsmanship isn't manifested by their leaving the bleachers and field before a football game is over with. This breach of college loyalty was very marked in the Argis-Mines game last Saturday when equally half of the students in attendance at the game left or shifted to a very accessible proximity to the gate at the end of the third quarter. This is not only terrible disloyalty to our own team but a serious disrespect to the visiting team.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED
That the Utah Press Association recommend the above mentioned resolution by the state be recorded to the press to exploit this worthy effort before the nation, an effort which we recognize as being of great value and far reaching in its beneficial effect upon the future of our state.

Such interested praise of what is undoubtedly one of the most significant movements in western education of the present day emphasizes the importance of making the National Summer School Milder and stronger each succeeding year. That this is the policy of the National Summer School is the plan that Student Life has already announced concerning the 1925 session.

WHO ARE THEY? A MYSTERY

The first three questions every freshman asks are: "Where do the green eggs?" "Where do they get their cream?" "Who are the men whose pictures hang in the library?" The first two questions are easily answered. We soon have varied and more or less plausible explanations for both. But the last question remains unsolvable and seemingly impossible of solution.

Everyone knows there is a real display of portraits in the library. The pictures are carefully and artistically placed, the sittings are perfectly hung, and the spacing is beautiful. At the west end, for instance, two bearded men reside at one side of the fifth picture, while time at the other end have no matches. We know the name of the man of the center line, because it is inscribed on the frame. But here our fund of knowledge ends. How many people have really do know the men?

When you ask any Senior about them he probably would give you an answer. "Why don't you ask them?" I don't recall their names at present but one of the first governors of our beloved state, the next was a famous poet of the school and every loyal citizen has a warm spot in his heart for him. One was a professor of mathematics who served humanity by teaching here for many years. I do not remember the rest, but I believe they were renowned ministers in some churches.

The tragic part of the situation is that only about two per cent of the most convincingly, even if he had the time to find out any individual. He has to see them in action before he can ever begin to decide. And it is no easier for the editor of your college paper to decide by your own opinion in the halls whether you can write or not, or like to write than it would be for the coach to pick his football men in chapel. Many an editor has torn his hair in frustration and rattle around in a certain type of writer, with the student who was born to do the work at in the library mysteriously wishing could get a chance to get on the school paper's staff.

This content provides a way for the editors and the students who like to write to get together. There are now students from a hundred different high schools at the U. A. C. This fall. Among them are native speakers of a certain type of writer, with the student who was born to do the work at in the library mysteriously wishing could get a chance to get on the school paper's staff.

"Kemp" is a delightful comedy. Highly amusing and will make you laugh your head off. "You and I" is thoroughly American. Witty, bright and up to the time. It will live in our memories because it deals with a significant aspect of American life. The Taming of the Shrew is a hilarious Elizabethan comedy that will create fits of laughter and demand frequent applause. All of these are of the very best type and are entertaining to all. A. C. students will look forward to.

students have any definite knowledge of the subject. As to the identity of the men, we can only guess because it remains a dark secret, answered by even by a student's intuition.

Of course it doesn't seem reasonable that the professors would have time to tell us individuals of the men, but wouldn't it be worth while to have a small inscription placed on each, similar to the one on the center that reads, "Honorable Arthur H. Land, Author of Bill Establishing a Landmark in the History of Utah, March 1, 1888." That applies to him and intricate. Two we could satisfy the curiosity that we had the first day we entered the library. Probably it might be better for a medal to be given each year to the student who gives the best five minute talk about them. As it is, these pictures merely seem to us as vague hints of the men past. Sure, they show each with his own staff, but in the development of the college and served it so well, aren't they? Surely at least some minute identification, that they may come to have some meaning to the students who look them on as unmemorable things day after day.

Who are these men that peering at them each one? Can we forget? Make us an old and quiet? Make each fear to be a droid? Cause us pondering, that and wonder? As our bookshelves have shown, we are never know their history? Are their names forever known? Answer school? Never known.

Home Ec. Department Offers Opportunities

Enthusiastic reports are coming in from the seventeen Home Economics majors of last year who are teaching in Utah and surrounding states. Although the high schools have been a mission for but a few weeks the girls have entered fully into the spirit of the work and the life of the communities in which they are teaching.

The student body will undoubtedly be pleased to hear that Josephine Joranson, vice-president of last year, has had the opportunity of equipping the Home Economics department of the high school at Laramie, Wyoming.

Her life expresses actual admiration for the hospitality of the school patrons and the beautiful scenery at Victor, Idaho. Josephine Free, Naomi Nelson and Delores Wood are kept very busy, but managed to get together during institute and exchanged school gossip and reminiscences of campus life.

Although Edith Nelson is also busy, she still remembers her Alma Mater and is maintaining Utah Agricultural standards at Beaver High. Plans are being made for a group of all the 1924-25 girls who are teaching in Utah schools in Salt Lake at the meeting of the Utah Educational Association, the last of this month. The time between the dismissal of an afternoon meeting and the convening of the evening session will be spent in a visit to some theatre followed by a dinner.

A. W. S. HOLD LARGEST MEETING IN HISTORY

The meeting held in the auditorium, and the meeting of all the faculty and welcoming of new students. The girls part in the football rally was a A. W. S. activity. Already during these first two weeks of school the girls have displayed an interest and enthusiasm in the organization and it is believed that they are far the most successful group of service to the women of the college.

A FRESHMAN PRAYER

The new girls are here, and we shall want no others.
They lead us to the road of knowledge.
For they are brighter.
They teach us our A. W. S.
For we can do no better.
You, too, we know nothing.
We try to be like them.
Still their knowledge is beyond us.
We are ignorant and hopeless.
But their knowledge is beyond us.
They should give vacant minds with good thoughts.
The we forget our duty.
Honoring to ourselves we might follow their footsteps forever and forget God.
To be so little as they.
We remain as ever.

Danish Students Laugh At American Football

A description of how football is played in America, provided much in an assembly of Danish students, according to John Dravley Prince, American minister in Denmark, who lectured recently in the Copenhagen University Students' association on student life in America.
"I went into the subject of football," says Professor Prince, "and gave them a view of some footballers newly painted and I also indicated to describe a game of football, which there is of course an expression in Danish. All this caused much laughter, and some of the professors expressed the hope that it might not get to a bad example.
"Of football, we play it, they know nothing, so I showed some illustrations and gave a brief lecture on our football. They asked whether we did not have a field hospital and stretcher bearers, and on my reply, of course, the whole hall went into laughter."—From The New Student.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Seventeen students, identified, Senior girls will meet at the Home Ec. Cottage to-night dressed as children and, having all cars and worries at home, will enjoy the good old values which they played years ago when they were children. The party will close promptly at nine for children must retire early. If you don't think wishes come true just look in the cottage tonight and you will see ample fulfillment of that old wish: Turn backwards, turn back, G'bye, in the flight. And make me a child again just for tonight.

Misses Katherine Powell, Elvina Nelson, Rebecca Nelson and Sharlene Warner are taking their laboratory course in household administration at the Home Ec. Cottage each one reports that she is enjoying the work.

PI ZETA TH

Last Monday night the Pi Zeta held a stage party for their members at the chapter house. The program of the evening was in the future. Mel Lemon, Wes Vernon and a few others starred on their respective musical instruments. Talks on the different phases of college life were given by Russell "Baz" Craft and Professor Ray Beersall. A light lunch was served to a gathering of forty-five men.

CLUB NOTES

Botany Club

All members of the Botany club are invited to attend a meeting in Room 101 of the Plant Industry Building, Wednesday, October 15, at 4:30 p. m.

Compositian Club

Prof. Arnold has been in Europe all summer! Most of you, at least all you journalists know what that means. It means simply this; that he, with his capacity for searching out the unusual and the extraordinary, has a big stock of real, live experience, and stories to tell to the club members and enthusiasts at the first club meeting to be held Thursday evening at 8 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce Clubroom.

The "Chamber of Commerce" offers more enjoyment and satisfaction for the time and money invested than any other way you could spend it. All old members invite your best friends and be there, at our first meeting and get a good start for the year.

Thursday October 15, 8 p. m. Chamber of Commerce Club room.

D. A. V. Special meeting of D. A. V. is Friday at 1 p. m. in the Az. Eng. Building. Important—All be present.

Friend—Jack has a lot of presence of late.

Another One—Oh, is the poor girl getting on weight again?

THE bobbed hair craze may worry the hair-pin makers but it should be a harvest for photographers who can see what's ahead. To a million or more women trying to prove that a "bob" is more artistic than long tresses—who can be of more service than the master photographer?

Another thing—a new type of hair-dress practically makes a new woman. A hundred "bobs" is as good as a hundred new women moving to town. And the end isn't yet.

University of California Glee Club Tours Europe

Twenty members of the University of California Glee Club spent the summer in touring the United States and Europe giving concerts in the various towns along their route. Roads and communities alike came to hear the "exhibitors of the fine art of jazz."

Scotland, England, Norway, Germany, Belgium, and France were covered by the Club. After a short vacation in Switzerland the men returned home in time for the fall semester.

"And we made more" the report from the Tour Trust concludes—From The New Student.

ON the campus, at the dance, whenever and wherever good clothes are worn, Clothes Tailored to Measure by Born play a very prominent part.

It's the smart style, the good fit, the rich woolsens and the fine needlework that appeal to college youths.

Besides the price is around $35.00 instead of $50.00, the price others ask for the same quality. Why not save the difference?
