Ragbies Clash in Hoop Battle Friday

Interest Waxes Strong In Outcome of First Encounter With The State Champions

Much Is Expected of Baker, Woodside And Sauers For Aggies.

Y Has Champion Quintette Back in Suit; Will Give Staff Competition

Collegiate basketball will make its local appearance next Friday and Saturday night in the Smart gymnasium when the local hoop farmers clash with the British Young College team. Interest in the game is waxing keen. Not only are local fans anxiously waiting to see the Cougars' eleven, Rocky Mountain champions of last year, in action, but the opening of the season allows players in a state of those another item of importance which local fans are looking forward to is the performance of Coach "Dick" Romney's proteges. With but a short practice period the local sport has hardly had a stride from a scoring standpoint. If between now and Friday some desirable contribution is evolved the team will not stand a chance of a real chance.

One of the features of the farmers' outfit is the number of men now wearing on the floor. Six of the ten men representing the Aggies are now in college uniforms. The Cougars, however, who will start at four o'clock are fresh men and show more possibilities. These men from both sides are effective runners as well as capable floor players. Williams, Geddes, Hawley and Martindale are not new men who will be held on reserve in case of emergency. It is well that this situation is so it is because of the fact that new men will be developed for next year.

While it is a shame to predict just what the new men will be under the fire of college athletics, one thing is certain and that is the new men will be holding their own. With Baker at center that position is securely filled. It is around him that Romney intends to focus his scoring hopes and if Baker lives up to his previous practice work, he should cause considerable worry for the Cougars. The Captain Woodside and Saunders will take place on the guard line and they are capable of holding down the positions.

The Proven aggregation on the other hand will pit Buckner and Howard guards against Nelson and Herrie. These two guards are two of the best

The A. W. S. with the men of the College make up a skiing party to be held Saturday, January 25, on Providence hill.

Tank Artists Go Through Daily Workouts

The College tank artists are daily going through their routine of work in preparation for the state swimming meet. Under capable direction of Coach Mori, Harry the men are gradually assuming a finished appearance and should give a good account of themselves this season. With such men as Crawford, Hall, Cole, Tom Parkinson, Virgil Norton, Alma Barzons and others, this phase of athletics should be well taken care of.

Striking Success Made In Six Months By Maurice B. Linford

After an attendance of less than six months at the University of Wisconsin, Mr. Linford is ready to publish his work and has gained prominence by the report given before the Washington meeting. Dr. Jones writes:

"Today, Mr. Linford's report of the survey was the control feature of a very long program and an ample central feature it was, as I felt nearly as a hour, holding attention every moment. Well, the point is, Linford established in his hour before the group, a secure place for himself in 'Physiology'."

Dr. Edison, the chairman of the meeting, Mr. Woodbury, and several of the others who attended also spoke of his splendid work at the end of the meeting.

Unfortunately, weeks of hard work have left Mr. Linford an easy victim for a light case of "grippe" which prevented his sightseeing in the national capital. A later letter from Dr. Jones tells of his recuperation after returning to Madison; and his Aggie friends will unite with Dr. Jones in his wish that Mr. Linford's rapid recovery.

U. S. C. Have Game Listed With Aggies

A clipping from the University of Southern California paper states to the effect that two games with the Utah Agricultural College are booked for February 20 and 21. The California team places these two games as the hardest they will encounter and they have a particularly hard schedule.

The coast trip proposed by the athletic department should be very profitable for this institution inasmuch as it will furnish interest for the fans of both sections. California yearly produces one of the best on the coast, and if the local bunch marks up an enviable record with the fans of both sections, the college before the coast campaign but it will strengthen inter-collegiate athletic relations.

FRESH DEFEAT WESTON HIGH IN SECOND GAME

Coach Harris Makes Real Practice Game of One-Sided Encounter

In a one sided game, the Weston high school was always held by the fresh, the Weston high school bowed to defeat, 28-17, last Friday in the Smart gymnasium.

Aggie greenies were master of the situation at all times outlasting the Idaho boys in every department of the game.

Coach Harris made it a real practice game using all or almost everyone of which made a good account of himself. Bennett and Keller at forward are developing to be snappy men. Several of the other men are also showing real ability in their positions. For Weston, one who is playing his fourth year was the outstanding man. Gassman did well.

As Weston is the best team in the section it is an accomplishment to stand out so well. At the rate the fresh are in with they will make a fine showing this year.
