REPORT OF EDUCATION SURVEY IN UTAH ISSUED BY UNITED STATES BUREAU OF EDUCATION PROPOSES SWEEPING CHANGES AT U. A. C.

courses in public health nursing, preclinical work looking to the organization of a dental school later, expansion of the work in pharmacy and some additional development in music, and the development of kindergarten work.

The Commission recommends the abolishment of the 400 free scholarships awarded to the University of Utah which are distributed through all the counties to students in the high schools who thus are selected to attend the University.

Both institutions come in for criticism because they have permitted themselves to appear before the public in a competitive attitude.

In regard to the relation of the State's higher institutions to the tax problem the Commission has the following to say:

"The idea that the State higher institutions are responsible for a large proportion of the tax burden is a mistaken one. This is evident from the fact that only 2.87 per cent of the tax dollar goes to higher education. Actually, of course, 2.87 per cent of the tax dollar is a large sum but this is not great when considered from the standpoint of how much the individual would save on his taxes if the State higher institutions were entirely abolished.

Further on the report states:

"It has become somewhat popular to talk about students paying the cost of their own education. Of course no private nor public higher institution at the present time has undertaken to require this, although the tendency is toward higher fees both in public and private institutions. The plan of consideration also the actual money value to a State of the men and women trained in its higher institutions. It may well be maintained upon this basis that the State can afford to pay for the higher education of its people as well as for their elementary and secondary education. It is very probable that the cost to the State of instruction in a university or college is small in proportion to the return given by the individual so trained.

In this connection it has been proposed quite frequently that the charges to students from outside the State be raised materially. Reference to preceding tables will show that Utah sends more students outside the State than it receives from outside. The amount received from such students would not be large, and excessive imposts laid upon students from other States may well lead to retaliation which will in the end prove costly.

The Survey Commission does not take the all too common view of what is called duplication. In this it is thought to render a great service to the understanding of the people of the State in the following comment:

"It is always interesting to find those who are especially violent in denunciation of duplication somewhat at a loss to define the specific functions of one of the institutions so as to exclude from its teaching any large number of subjects already handled. Utah is no exception. As long as two institutions exist in the State geographically separated by a considerable distance it will be necessary for sociology and chemistry and the whole range of subjects that are basic, culturally and scientifically, rather than peculiar to the educational mission of any one type of institution."

The recommendations of the Commission come only as recommendations that are made to the State Department of Education and will be considered by the State Department of Education, by the Governor and the State Legislature in any way that is deemed feasible. It is apparent that much of the analysis conducted is of a rather superficial character as was to be expected of the short time the investigators spent in the State. The survey was conducted under the auspices of the United States Bureau of Education, the higher educational survey being in charge of President Zook of Akron University, Ohio. The whole survey was under the supervision of John J. Tigert, Commissioner of Education. A large staff from the Bureau of Education and from other institutions was called in to help.

MEXICAN ATHLETICS

POLLY HIGH DOESN'T KNOW WHAT SHE'S GOING TO DO WITH HER CAR. BEING SOBERITY MEETINGS SINCE THE SOBORNS GARAGE BURNED DOWN.

Dick Reese, Lloyd Johnston, Deney Lewis, Darrell Palmer, Charley Griffin and Scott Nelson, were among the many eager patrons who saw a ticket by which the Student Life phone to call their girls or converse during the week. There were about four cents and a bus slug to start a loan fund for young men.

Tarver suggests that President Peterson is qualified by some of his easier experience to officiate at the Women's Vaud.

NEVER TRY TO KISS A GIRL—EITHER KISS HER OR DON'T.

Yoda: "It's only handsome men who have halitosis."

"Shame!" "Well, I have to have some protection don't I?"

"Aw, come on, have another banana sandwich."

Chet: "I forgot me, I feel myself slipping now."

"How's this dream?" "More your hand, so I can see."

Tarver will now harmonize for your entertainment: "People who live in Glass Houses, Shouldn't throw the Stones."

"DOES SHE WALK HOME FROM RIDES—OR RIDE HOME FROM WALKS?"

Boots: "You say I had the right of when this man ran into me, get it in your mind."

Ball: "Sure, his dad is Mayor, his brother chief of Police, and I step his sister."

"That A. E. Frosh was such an old fellow knew how far apart to put the mitepoes."

PETERSON RETURNS FROM EASTERN JOURNEY

There they devoted their time to music, as the music in New York is incomparable to that elsewhere. They heard the New York "Symphony."

Among the concerts and other entertainment which they attended may be mentioned the following: "Tanshauser," Wagner's opera; and "The Bohemians," they also saw the Zierfelds' Polka and Ethel Barzore in Somerset Maugham's play "The Constant Wife." During their stay in New York, they visited the kindergarten and all of the different schools in Columbia University.

Another very interesting meeting that the Petersons went to was the annual convention at Baltimore. The subjects were "Child Psychology" and "The Role of the Parent and Child."

On their return home the Petersons were pleased to be able to stop at Chicago to see the International Livestock show.

They arrived home on Monday, Mrs. Peterson says. "The trip was marvelous, we had the time of our lives. Every minute was crowded with interest and delight."
