DR. B. L. RICHARDS PRESENTS SURVEY READY FOR PRESS

Report Drawn From 23 Counties; Lists 218 Diseases.

COVERS 1927

Nine Disease Specimens Introduced To Science for First Time.

An eighty-nine page typewritten report on "Plant Diseases in Utah, During 1927" has been prepared and forwarded to Dr. B. L. Richards of the Experimental Station, by Dr. Maurice B. Linnford, Aggie graduate and son of Dr. J. H. Linnford of the U. A. C.

Dr. M. B. Linnford now has a fellowship in the National Research Council.

In general, the report lists attempts to list—all of the diseases known to occur in each of several of Utah's most important crops (peas, wheat, tomatoes, sugar beets, potatoes, etc.) and the diseases which have been reported by the author. Nine of these are new diseases never reported to science before.

The report is taken up by the first time. The balance of the report is taken up by a list of diseases reported from Utah for the first time. The balance of the report is taken up by a list of diseases reported from Utah for the first time.

Debaters Are Guests at Provo Promenade

Ball Follows Aggie-Cougar Debate; Vickers Visits Relatives at Nephi.

Allden Lillywhite and Vernal Johnson, Aggie debaters, together with their partners, Miss Leah Plowman and Miss Frankie Beal, left for Provo, Monday night, to attend the Provo Promenade held in Provo, last Friday night.

Mr. Ball followed soon after the Cougar-Aggie debate, which was won by A. C. Many Aggie graduates from southern Utah were present and did their best toward making the evening a round of pleasure for the visitors.

Mr. Lillywhite and Miss Plowman were shown through the University buildings Saturday morning. This visit was made by the editor discussed year-book financial problems for a short time with the editor. The editor also discussed the "Banyan," the Cougar annual.

Dr. Vickers took advantage of the trip to visit relatives at Nephi, returning to Logan Sunday.

Mr. Johnsons and Miss Beal returned, spending Sunday at the homes of relatives.

"Ionic No. 5" Adopted By Student Life Publishers

New Type Meets Universal Approval; Authority Claims "Better Than Spectacles"

Perhaps you have noticed some thing new in the appearance of the Ionic No. 5. It is the new type of Student Life. If not, get an old copy of the Aggie weekly and compare the old and the new. You will see at once that to-day's page has a blacker, more solid appearance.

The change was effected by the adoption of a new style of type by The Journal where Student Life is printed, designed by the Mergenthaler Linotype Company and called "Ionic No. 5."

Compared to the old, containing printer's type that Student Life has used in the past, the new is bolder, stands out more distinctly, is spaced more freely, and is a lot cleaner cut. It not only is new, but looks new.

Perhaps these items alone would not justify mention of the new style were it not that "Ionic No. 5" possesses in itself a value as an eye-strain reducer. It is easy to read—there lies the secret of its fast-growing popularity. The United States, England, Canada, and Australia are urging its universal adoption by their newspapers. Dr. Joseph H. Salvo, eye specialist of the New Jersey Optometric Association, says the new style is better for the eyes than the old.

Dramatic Fraternity Work Overtime On "Ice Bound"

According to Professor Myers, the cast of "Icebound," Theta Alpha play is doing remarkable work in the interpretation of the drama. Although the situations in it are every-day occurrences, and the characters are the kind that we are acquainted with, the play calls for uncommon ability in acting.

The drama has a New England setting; the characters are hard-headed New Englanders, the situations are intensely human.

Owen Davis, the author, has portrayed life in a clear-sighted manner. He has touched up his play with humor to ward off any bitterness that might creep in. He has pictured human nature vividly; he has created out of a seemingly colorless event a drama that is interesting and alive.

Professor Myers has been hard on the play and they are working hard to make a worthy production.

The play will be presented in the college auditorium on Founder's Day, March 8.

Canadian Draws Graphic Sketch Of Indian Life

Perhaps one of the season's most stimulating lecture numbers was covered yesterday by Dr. G. W. A. Smith, a former explorer under the order of the Bolivian government of South America. After sixteen years of exploring and studying through five republics, he returns with a graphic sketch of the life of particular geographical and social conditions.

From Argentina he brings the Gaucho, or camp dress, and the numerous trapping of silver. Traveling into the interior of the republic, which is of an extent and richness that would supply the entire world, Dr. Smith says that the white man allowed to trade the boundaries of the vast territory where he spent twelve months.

Dr. Ray is an author as well as a speaker. His recent and twentieth-fourth edition being "Through Republics on Horseback."

At the luncheon today President Johnson, Quinney and Professor Frank R. Arnold will be speakers. Recently the Friars have featured the Thursday entertainers, luncheons with strong talk of the month Spring banquets, one to be held in Logan and another in Salt Lake City, with the University of Utah and Weber College chapters at attendance; this idea may be renewed in today's discussion.

Tomorrow evening the club will be held in the Cherry Blossom. Being one of the final pin ceremonies it will also have elements of a rush party for new members.

Kampus Kaprice Polishing Acts

Kampus Kaprice, A. W. S. van der, is receiving final touches to make it a real production. The costume committee, composed of Edna Thorson, Donetta Cox, and Peg Hansen, has its work well under way. The costumes are planned by the club and the materials are being purchased by the club.

Harry Reynolds of the Art department is in charge of all the costumes and the things of the two of the more artistic scenes under his direct supervision.

Last week the A. W. S. council reviewed all the scenes on Sunday a general rehearsal was held. From now until the vaudeville is ready there will be rehearsal of all acts every Saturday and Sunday.

Edna Thorson, Donetta Cox, and Peg Hansen are property managers for Kampus Kaprice, and Ted Allred is stage manager.

Dr. Geddes is back at school after an absence due to illness.

Walti Sleights Gleemen From Northern Tour

HELD ASKED FOR '28 CATACOCUE

Sorenson Solicits Help From Students in Correcting Blue Book Errors.

Professor A. N. Sorenson, newly-appointed editor of the 1928-29 U. A. C. Blue Book, has asked the assistance of any members of campus clubs and societies in correcting pages 91 and 92 of the present catalog, which deal with the titles and purposes of Aggie student clubs.

On the three pages mentioned, under the heading "Student Clubs," are listed thirty-one clubs and societies. This does not include the Greek letter fraternities, other than those that are national.

Some of these organizations do not exist, and have not for years. Others, like the Gamma Phi and Agora clubs have become national fraternities, or have modified their names, and some have changed their names, accordingly. Perhaps new campus organizations exist that do not have their titles in the catalog.

It is to the interest of the officers of all clubs that such errors be corrected; these corrections should be made at once by communication with Professor Sorenson.

Tomorrow Night Is Time Set For Cherry Blossom Dance.

Recently the Friars have featured the Thursday entertainers, luncheons with strong talk of the month Spring banquets, one to be held in Logan and another in Salt Lake City, with the University of Utah and Weber College chapters at attendance; this idea may be renewed in today's discussion.

U. A. C. LISTED ON APPROVED COLLEGE ROLL

Washington, A. C. Only Other Western Agricultural Institution To Receive Rating

UTAH LISTS TWO

Nine Internumtional Colleges And Universities Named In Book.

"American Universities and Colleges" a book just off the press published by the American Council on Education, lists the Utah Agricultural College as one of the twenty-two outstanding agricultural colleges in the seventeen western states to be placed in the approved list of the Association of American Universities. The other western agricultural institutions to receive this rating is the Washington State College at Pullman, Washington.

The volume also shows that this scholastic rating of the Utah Agricultural College is not exceeded by any western institutions with the exception of Stanford and the University of California. These two Universities are members of the association.

According to this publication of the American Council on Education, the Utah Agricultural College is one of the twenty-two outstanding agricultural colleges in the country on the approved list. These are Iowa State College, Massachusetts Agricultural College, Purdue University, and Pennsylvania State College.

Nine colleges and universities in the inter-mountain section, of which include the States of Utah, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Wyoming, Montana, and Colorado, are on the list as being approved.

Sof-Frosh Thaw Scheduled For Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night, in the women's gym, Sophomores stage their mid-winter thaw. The Freshmen class will be in attendance as guests.

The event will be a hard feelings that are supposed to exist between the first and second year classes. Tomorrow's dance will pass as the "Sof-Frosh Thaw."

Steps have been taken to remove most of the confusion incidental to under class parties. The members of both classes have been or will be, satisfactorily paired off. Preferences were altered before the final pairing-off.

As a final assurance, Lisle Adams, chairman of the Sophomore class, has promised something new in the way of a good time.

Furr Talks Before Cosmopolitan Club

Karl Furr gave a very interesting talk on Mexico to the Cosmopolitan Club yesterday afternoon. He told of the founding of Mexico City by the Aztecs about 1320 A. D., some of the Aztec history, and a few of the Aztec customs and religious beliefs. He pointed out how these things made it possible for Cortez with 500 men to conquer almost without bloodshed and to rule effectively a nation of over one million people, adding that the present condition of Mexico is probably largely due to the early practices of the Spanish. Mr. Furr made his audience feel that they should sympathize with the people of Mexico.

The Cosmopolitan Club invites all students and faculty members to attend its meetings. Watch for talks on the countries in which you are interested.

Zona Gale Skit Myers Choice For Frosh Play

"Miss Lulu Bett," a dramatization by Zona Gale of her novel by the same title, is the choice of Professor Myers for the Freshman play. It is not yet known whether the play has been released for amateur production, but Professor Myers has written for information concerning it. If it is procurable, copies will be sent for immediately so that rehearsals may start as soon as possible.

The play shows Lulu Bett as a house-hold drudge, "chief cook and bottle washer," awakening slowly from imminent spinsterhood to blossom into a charming girl who falls in love and gives the play what is technically known as a happy ending. It is a truthful and interesting and contains some very amusing dialogue; it gives us a deft and economical study of small-town class life.

ARRIVED YESTERDAY

1929 Convention Set For Utah University Campus.

Eighty student delegates representing ten colleges of the Rocky Mountain region were present at the fifth annual convention of the R. M. Intercollegiate Press Association which took place February 2nd and 3rd, at Fort Collins, Colorado.

Among the distinguished speakers to address the press delegates were President A. C. Crane of Wyoming University, President Charles A. Gray of the Colorado Agricultural College, A. Gayle Waldron, head of the department of Journalism at Denver University, J. G. Kinghorn, publications editor at C. A. C., John H. Shaw, editor of the Denver Times and Rocky Mountain News.

Committee meetings, open forum discussions, and hallway argument, at which practically every question relative to the editing of a college paper was introduced, figured not least important in the general business of the convention.

For the entertainment of the delegates, the Collegian staff of A. C. C., the Agricultural College administration, Pi Delta Epsilon, the Alpha Phi Omega, the Aggie Journalism societies, and the Fort Collins chamber of commerce obliged with a series of banquets, drama productions, games, and dances.

At the final general meeting of a creditable nature.

A. C. Wins and Loses in Friday's Debates

Aggie Debaters Faced Junior College Teams From Weber And Westminster.

A win and a loss for Aggie debate teams were the result of Friday's debates between the Aggie and the Junior College teams.

At Provo, the negative Aggie won from Nelson and Dickson of B. Y. U. Both debaters were spirited contestants in which winners and losers handled the topic in a creditable manner.

University of Utah, by winning from both A. C. U. and B. Y. U., took the triangular series.

The two teams entered in the Junior College division, and will meet Weber College here Saturday afternoon. Monday at 1:00 o'clock, Westminster College of Salt Lake City will be Aggie opponent in the second round.

The question for debate will be the same as that used by the Senior College teams.

Lee Randolph Collection To Be Chapel Exhibit

Present Utah Artist's Exhibit At C. of Commerce to Last Ten Days.

The painting of Lee Randolph, one of America's foremost artists, will shortly be exhibited in the chapel art gallery.

Accompanying the exhibit will be a series of some of his leading students. More than a week attends the arrival of the paintings.

As an added feature of the 1928 U. A. C. National Summer school, Randolph recently signed a contract to teach art classes here during the mid-summer weeks.

President of the Pacific Arts Association, director of the California School of Fine Arts, and a member of the National Academy of Art, he is a great admirer and supporter of modern art, although his work is not extremely modernistic. His paintings are, however, examples of master drafts.

BULL SESSIONS

Rapidly crowding to a front seat in the playhouse of practical education, the "bull session," widely recognized as a coming all-American collegiate institution, is claiming a serious consideration of its merits. The Silver and Gold, Colorado U. student organ, in treating the subject, says: "When College women 'session' they 'cat'—no good in that. When men 'bull,' they discuss every question that happens to come into anybody's head. Every man entered in any session is sure to have at least one idea on any subject on earth. The point to all this? Just this—a college man gets his formal education in the class room; he picks up his informal education in the most peculiar places, and chief of these is the session he loves.

James W. Armstrong, dean of men at Northwestern University, is an "advocate of informality" in education. He says that when a group of students congregate in a talk-fest they "reveal their hopes, their likes, their skepticisms, contribute their own ideas, and listen to others in a discussion. In this way each listener really gathers material that has lain dormant in his mind and from it forms ideas and opinions of his own." The dean went on to explain that a "bull session" was not a "smut session." The man who enters a "session" with the wrong attitude is quickly crowded into the background.

FOR A BETTER UNDERSTANDING

Ithaca, N. Y., (by New Student Service)—Regular faculty-student conferences for discussion of faculty legislation pertaining to students is suggested by the Cornell Sun to "promote greater understanding and insure complete cooperation in questions directly governing the undergraduate body." The Sun believes a representative group of students meeting with the faculty would do much to remove mutual irritation. The proposal is not new. Elsewhere it has been presented with little student attempts to gain access to faculty meetings. These efforts generally have been fruitless, presumably on the ground that the students are not sufficiently mature to be of aid to the administrators. However, some of the kinder teachers have been known that the faculties are not so much afraid of student immaturity as they are of the danger that the inane character of most faculty meetings may become too generally known.

In October of 1926 Dr. Richards, by invitation, attended a convention held in Detroit and gave the

SENIORS CREATE THE NEW AWARDS

Rentals From Caps and Gownships.
 Privilege Funds For Scholarships.

The class of 1927, among other things, is leaving as a parting gift to the college two scholarships. These scholarships, consisting of $125.00 each, are to be presented yearly to those students who properly meet the requirements. The funds for these awards will result from the rental of caps and gowns purchased by the class of 1927, to the graduating classes of each year. These garbs are to be rented to the graduating students for the sum of $2.50 each.

After the funds for the scholarships are extracted from the rental money, the remaining portion will be used for the upkeep and renewal of the caps and gowns.

Certain rules must be adhered to for the students applying for the scholarships. They are:

1. The Candidates shall be passed on by the committee on awards and honors, and a representative of the class of 1927.

2. The applicant must be chosen from the Junior Class and receive the award in their Senior year.

3. One-half of the scholarship shall be payable at the beginning of the senior year, and the other half to be paid on its completion.

4. The Applicants shall be judged on the basis of:

(1) Scholarship 75 per cent
 (2) Student Activities, 25 per cent

5. Also on recommendation from their Major Professor, as to their research ability.

With application for scholarship a written statement shall be submitted giving an account of research work he or she has been doing to do during the senior year.

6. It shall be the duty of the incumbent to submit an essay on research work in which he or she has been engaged, a copy of which shall be given to the library for reference material.

Applications for the scholarships must be filed on or before October 1st with the Faculty Committee on Honors and Awards.

Students are also advised to enter in the Johnathan R. Richards Scholarship contest. These consist of $250 to $500 to be given equally among three worthy students from the Junior or Senior Class. Applications for these scholarships must be filed with the Chairman on Awards and Honors before April 15th for the succeeding year. For further particulars the student may consult Dr. W. J. Jass.

results, and methods, of research work in parental education which had been undertaken under his direction in the seventh ward of Chicago. During that convention it was discovered that, as a result of a survey of the United States and Canada by the National Council, Dr. Richards and his associates had been together as a group which was interested in parental problems, longer than any other.

The field of parental education is almost entirely new. Very little work has been done by research workers. Universities and colleges are just beginning to branch out into the field and launch projects with competent workers to superintend them.

Dr. Richards' interest in parental education came as the result of personal problems at home, and also as a result of the research work in the seventh ward.

It was further decided that the convention be held next year at Salt Lake City, on the University campus. Although this decision will necessitate a much longer trip for most delegates of the seven Colorado institutions and Wyoming University, it will at the same time bring in the two Montana schools, and a more representative group from each of the three Utah colleges.

Bene Creep Dated For Feb. 16th

Bene Creep, annual frolic of the Intelligentsia, Knights and Nymphs, was recently postponed due to the epidemic of spinal meningitis, at all times definitely dated for the 16th. Nothing short of an earthquake or a flood can prevent it.

According to Bill Walters, Chairman, the Creep will be all the better for the delay, due to the countless number of ideas hatched by the decoration committee during the last few days.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor of Student Life: Because Napoleon was unable to bring up his heavy artillery on time it is said by some historians that Napoleon's army was defeated. Now while world history may not be made at the U. A. C., an equally common calamity may occur some day to those professors who never examine their classes on time. Perhaps the value of punctuality has never been called to their attention.

It is, indeed, most annoying to be obliged to remain in a class five or ten minutes after the bell has rung. New Rutledge Booklet Just Off The Press

As a Compilation of Questions and Discussions Taken on North American Geography. Copies of a pamphlet written by Professor R. M. Rutledge of the department of Agricultural Economics at the Utah Agricultural College have just been received. It is a booklet of questions and discussion topics on the geography of North America and is to accompany Dr. Russell Smith's well known economic geography text "North American Geography." Rutledge's point of view as expressed in his introduction is that the economic geography should serve as a basis for later studies in history, sociology, political science and economic theory. The subject should become an interpretation of current events and as such it becomes vital to the student according to Professor Rutledge.

Large Audience Enjoys Campus Players Program

A capacity audience filled the Babbie Hall to enjoy the annual dramatic program given by the students of Mrs. Ruth Mendenhall and by the Campus Players club Jan. 30th.

Campus Players who participated were: Merrill Anderson, Sara Owen, Alma Gardner, Anna Meyer, Riva Carlson, Blanche Boudreau, Janita Boyle, Conan Mathews, Otis Peterson, and Thelma Fogberg.

Three short one-act plays comprised the evening's entertainment. The first was a juvenile comedy in which the parts were portrayed by Mrs. Bell Young and least experienced pupils.

The second, a clever comedy, depicting the misdeeds of much hard work and thought, was written by Miss Della Morrell of the Playmakers Club, and met enthusiastic applause. Number three was a short play after by the more experienced pupils.

Entertainment between acts was furnished by the Agnes Saxophone quartet, Mrs. Gardner, Baird Larson, and Wikson, the College Girls' Glee Club directed by Professor Wells, and a violin trio composed of Misses Ann Pearson, Geneva Schaub, and Cleopha Richards.

Prof. N. A. Pedersen stated recently to his advanced scribbles that there was a penula in the word "penula" which he would seemingly shy and modest, whenever he approached them on the subject.

St. Kallen said, "Even Mexicans know enough to quit fighting when they can't remember what they're mad about."

Smoking, hnt and drinking are bad habits for children; only parents should cultivate them.

March 7 is Tentative Date For Winter Scribble Appearance

There is to be a winter quarter number of the Scribble. Furthermore, every indication points to the fact that it will not only contain pieces of red meat but that it will be able to offer more than usual in the way of quantity. The high standard of campaign that characterized the quarter number have aroused a great deal of interest and many articles have already been submitted. Those having material to contribute should get in touch with member of the Scribble club and arrange to have in a type written copy of their article at once. It is advisable that students do not hand in their copy of a piece since it is impossible to return all copy. Articles may be in any form and on any subject that will be of general or cultural interest.

The date tentatively set for the appearance of the book is March 11th.

NEW INSURANCE RULE HITS FRATERNITIES

New York.—(IP)—Although not planned to affect fraternity and sorority houses in particular, the revised insurance rates made recently by the New York Fire Insurance Rating have increased insurance rates on fraternity and sorority houses about 50 per cent, on an average.

The increase comes through interpretation of a clause concerning the number of families represented in a house. Since the fraternity houses and their sister sorority houses usually have about as many families represented as there are residents, the interpretation lays a heavy load on them.

Student Assemblies Noticeably Improve

Thurber Dancing Class Act Meets Spontaneous Approval.

Aggie student body programs are noticeably improving in the opinion of the student audience. Last Friday superior dance demonstrations, music, dances, readings, and acrobatics entertained the assembly for a brief, fleeting hour. Beth Thurber's dance act met spontaneous, ready applause and led more than one farmer's son to inwardly crave membership in her dancing class.

Tomorrow the Sophomores claim the hall. Lindquist, Soph prexy, insists that his following is the most talented class on the campus and will take the hour to prove it. A short time will be allowed the Intercollegiate Knights in which to advertise the much heralded Benzo Creep.

February 18th, the Military Department will assume the assembly management in order to arouse the student body to the fact that the annual Military Ball will be held on the 21st, thus celebrating Washington's birthday. Calahan will probably be on the stage in person, with Art Layton also of the R. O. T. C. The snappy-attired Spicers, as well as the local chapter of Scabbard and Blade, will be on hand.

This is the first time a college or university in Utah has been so honored.

AGGIES MEET UGARS AT PROVO SATURDAY

MONMONTA STATE HAS A MONOPOLY ON THE SPRING

Thompson, F. Ward, and M. Worthington All Lead in Their Departments.

FIGHT IS ON

Captain Worthington Leads Utah Aggies.

Thompson of Montana State leads all the conference scorers in the western division by a big majority. He has a total of 98 points to his credit. This is over three times as much as any other forward in the conference. His team made F. Ward lead the center with 69 counters to his credit. M. Worthington of the Bobcats leads the guards with 51. This is a pretty light attack. The game between Ingersoll and Worthington for the scoring lead among the centers has been both pass Ward who is idle. Ingersoll leads Worthington in the present time by a margin of four points.

Chess Club Receives Immediate Approval

The Aggies Chess Club, newest campus organization, has received an unusually enthusiastic response during the short period of its existence under the temporary guidance of Prof. Sherwin Macey, faculty representative, an Harrison Davis, student body representative.

Although no definite enrollment of members has been received, the following are considered as the club's enthusiasts: Major O'Brien, Lieutenant Hickey, Ray B. West, Amos Cole, Israelson, Edlison, Coy, Daines, Harris, Bailey, Richards, Feinman, Hammerly, Myers, Gardner, Furr, Bracken, and Emil Hansen, faculty members; and A. G. Cranney, Theobor, Abbott, Gardner, C. Greaves, and Lindquist, students. This list is by no means complete as new members are coming in constantly.

It is quite likely that the club will be open to players of the city proper as well as to the students and student body members, as some applications for membership have already been received from down town.

Since very few of the above-mentioned persons actually understand the game of chess, a meeting has been called for 4:00 o'clock, Friday, in the Student Body office, in which the members will be instructed how to move the pieces, and possibly started on one or two of the fundamental openings.

Any information desired previous to the meeting may be had by communicating with Professor Macey, in the Chemistry Department, or with Davis, in Student Life office.

Merrill Johnson, Lund Johnson, Deeken Broadhead, Frank Morgan, Alton Sover, J. Z. and King Stewart, Delta Nu, motored to Salt Lake City yesterday, returning in the afternoon, puncture trouble reported.

GLEN WORTHINGTON
Worthington, versatile captain of Aggies basketball, will be out of the running Friday and Saturday due to sickness. The pivot position may be filled temporarily by Carl Davis.

All of the missing letters were sent to the Aggie meet and most of them scored in the conference meet. These men are: Capt. Romney, George Wood, Bear, Sanders, Alfred, Farrar, Johnson, and Benson. Benson is still in school but he was seriously injured in football and will keep him out of the track meet. Eleven letter winners of last year's conference meet are eligible for participation this season. They are: Captain Romney, Earl Benson, Harry, Hawley, Davis, Willard, Geddes, Smart, Gail, Walker, Smith, and Phillips. Burke, Worthington, and Hawley are counted on for several points this season. The track meet is successful year in the pole vault and the shot put. Phillips and Smith are certain point winners in this state in the javelin. The frosh ranks will have to be disappointed for men to take the places of the missing lettermen. On the basis of high school records, the Aggies have several youngsters of promise. In the gun game, Edward, and several quarter mile, Robinson, mile, Williams, half mile, Tate, pole vault, Alkins, weight, and judo, and jumps. All of these men gained recognition in the state school meets. There are undoubtedly other prospects without a reputation. Competition shoots with the University of Nevada and the University of Vermont have been completed. The results will not be available until Friday Saturday, however, University of Nebraska and University of Michigan are next in line as Aggie opponents.

Five highest scores from the most recent match (shooting done from prone position):
T. Smith 99
Magdalena Marwedel 98
Olafsen 97
Edna Thorsen 92
Donnetta Cox 91

BLOOMERS AT INDIANA U.
Bloomers, "reaching to the top of their line at all times" is the ultimatum issued to Indiana University women by the school authorities. Failure to comply with this rule will entail loss of five hours credit for the first offense, and expulsion from the class for a second offense. Over-length hose are also taboo. The rule is known among undergraduates as the "Dutch vest" rule.

WORK STARTS ON TEAMS OUTLOOK FOR YEAR BRIGHT

Aggies Have Conference Championship to Defend — Prospects Are Fair.

Coach Dick Romney of Utah Aggies is already looking toward the defense of the conference track and field crown which the Aggies have held for the past four years without interruption. Captain Mel Burke of the 1926 team and the greatest miler ever to perform in the conference is taking the lead in indoor workouts and all of the men not in basketball are working out with him. This is particularly so in the dance men who will participate in the annual cross country run in two months.

The Aggies will have plenty of trouble in defending the title this season not only because of the strength of other teams, particularly eastern division teams, but also because Romney has lost eight letters from the 1927 team. All of the missing letters were sent to the Aggie meet and most of them scored in the conference meet. These men are: Capt. Romney, George Wood, Bear, Sanders, Alfred, Farrar, Johnson, and Benson. Benson is still in school but he was seriously injured in football and will keep him out of the track meet. Eleven letter winners of last year's conference meet are eligible for participation this season. They are: Captain Romney, Earl Benson, Harry, Hawley, Davis, Willard, Geddes, Smart, Gail, Walker, Smith, and Phillips. Burke, Worthington, and Hawley are counted on for several points this season. The track meet is successful year in the pole vault and the shot put. Phillips and Smith are certain point winners in this state in the javelin. The frosh ranks will have to be disappointed for men to take the places of the missing lettermen. On the basis of high school records, the Aggies have several youngsters of promise. In the gun game, Edward, and several quarter mile, Robinson, mile, Williams, half mile, Tate, pole vault, Alkins, weight, and judo, and jumps. All of these men gained recognition in the state school meets. There are undoubtedly other prospects without a reputation. Competition shoots with the University of Nevada and the University of Vermont have been completed. The results will not be available until Friday Saturday, however, University of Nebraska and University of Michigan are next in line as Aggie opponents.

Below, we don't expect to see them there for any length of time. The win on the last night of the Montana game was a mere appetizer. Watch the Blue and White this week end.

Did you ever stop to think that if the Aggies win the remainder of their conference games that there is no power on earth that can keep them away from a conference championship? And now since that is about as sure as Utah Aggies can get.

It is let's time we started preparing for that last two weeks of basketball. Unless some rabid fans go in training they are very liable to fall by the wayside.

Carl Davis is beginning to map out of it and furnish some real basketball at last. Now if he will just give the knuck of it to the rest of the team—?

Our varsity bone crushers will be in Salt Lake over the week end, showing the Utes all the tricks of the trade. Also a few they learned from the college of Idaho last week.

Co-ed Rifle Team Sees Competition

Glick's Rifle Team met for the same difficulty that the Men's Club has had to face; that is, the same inattention of sponsors. Targets instead of the time-honored large variety. The new members are due this week. Until the co-ed association themselves the new marks, there will be no more chattering into the perfect score zone.

Competition shoots with the University of Nevada and the University of Vermont have been completed. The results will not be available until Friday Saturday, however, University of Nebraska and University of Michigan are next in line as Aggie opponents.

Romney Shifts Lineup In Effort To Find Best Combination For Game

Smart Is Sure to Start at Guard—Forward and Center Positions Are Still Undecided

WORTHINGTON SICK

ineligibility Hurts Cougars Chances Considerably.

A squad of ten or eleven Aggie basketball players will leave Logan Saturday morning for Provo where they will meet the B. Y. Cougars. Friday and Saturday nights in the final games of the first half of the conference schedule. On these games will rest to a large measure just what will constitute the winning of the conference championship by Montana. B. Y. U. has won two and lost two, while the Aggies have won one and lost three but the Aggies can win the Bocatals stamp them as having the real stuff.

The Cougars have been in a hole late vacant by ineligibility and according to reports coming from Provo it is going to handicap them severely. Coach Romney says that all he needs to have a good team is a guard and center. The guard will be Romney's combination. However, the other half of the team, "Bugs" Hickey, is going to be a house afire so the games are going to be close.

The Aggies have been having some troubles of their own lately, the least of which is the sickness of Captain Worthington. Romney says that he will have a stride against Montana in the second game at Bozeman. He pulled a muscle and has been out of the game ever since, first with the bad muscle and then with sickness. Last night was the first "Zeus" has been in a suit since he came from Montana and it is doubtful if he will see action against Provo. In case he does, he may make the grade. Carl Davis will in all probability be shifted to center. Tate put in at forward. Davis seems to be coming out of his slumbers lately and showing all kinds of stuff. If Tate can keep up his end of the game, everything will be easy among the forwards for no one has seen Nielsen fall down on the job yet. Without Hawley and Worthington to feed the ball to, the Aggies will be in a tight spot. Romney is sure to put his own record of late and shows considerable improvement. He is coming along, though nicely and shows flashes of a ball player. A little more experience and self-confidence is all he needs.

On the guard line there has been quite a turnover. At the present time it looks as though Wade and Smart will be in the starting lineup. Smart is rather a surprise. Starting out slow at the onset of the season, he has developed rapidly under Coach Romney's tutelage until he looks perfectly capable of taking care of himself and several others if such is necessary. Wade is also developing in the cold. He is a tall, lanky, veteran of three campaigns rather out in the cold. That Coach Romney intends to use Marindale's sharpshooting.

Ramblers Discover New Sport

Surrounding deer on higher slopes is the latest of Aggie Ramblers sports. Eight ramblers rode their mounts into the blizzard, last Saturday morning, to participate in the new sport: Arden Lauritzen, Vito Walker, Vernon Walz, Ernie Probst, Hal Peterson, Paul Carlson, Kette Stacey, and Arden Carlson, all of the Aggies. A similar expedition is being planned for the 22-24 activities, however, may be seen in the fact that he is using him as a substitute forward. If Marry can just get going without someone alongside to prod him up now and then, he should make either Tate or Davis step to keep up with him.

Broadens these men, Romney is planning on Gunnell, Vanderhoff, and Hickey. Hickey has been out of the game lately, but he is a good player. Gunnell has developed some habits lately that are sure to keep him out of the team. Not the least of these is a habit of dropping the ball through the hoop from wherever he happens to be on the floor. Such a habit is valuable in any team.

All in all the Aggies should come out the victors in at least a close encounter of their kind with the Cougars. They are hitting a stride that will make any other team look better. It would surprise very few if the Aggies were to win the double victory which will give them an even 500 percentage to start the second half. It will also give them an even break with the other Utah teams in the State race.

Change Size of Rifle Targets

Contesting with innumerable other colleges in the Ninth Corps Area shooting match has worked members of the Aggie Men's Rifle Club overtime during the past week. Not was the time wasted in the slightest, as the individual scoring was almost favorable. The circumstances mentioned include mainly a change in targets, from the large sheet to which the men have become accustomed to a smaller size. According to private picking, the rapid improvement of his parts under the new change of targets has made this handicap almost negligible.

The Ninth Corps Area match consisted of three stages, or trials, open to all colleges and universities in the country. So far the Aggie nimrods have completed round one.
