ARABIAN NIGHTS, PERFORMING GIFT HERE MARCH 12

Tony Sarg's Marionettes to Present Scenes From Eastern
Myth Series.

CLUB CHOOSES

Doll Puppets Perform Amazing
Stunts Under String Manipulation.

Tony Sarg's famous Marionettes are to give a stage production of picturesque scenes from "The Arabian Nights" in Logan on March 12. The performance is being sponsored by the Periwig Club of the U. A. C.

The club has been given its choice of productions of "Rip Van Winkle," "Treasure Island," "Don Quixote," or "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves" and will probably choose the latter, according to Lloyd Thresher, president. In this production Mr. Sarg has created the most villainous set of robbers seen on any stage, and an extensive menagerie of donkeys, camels, elephants, sheep and dogs that all play an important part in the production. Morgiana, the star of the show, is a remarkable puppet, an acrobatic dancer, which in mechanical skill is undoubtedly the most remarkable marionette exhibition ever shown in this country. The club requires thirty-two strings for operation and two trained puppeteers.

The Marionette company, a large concern from New York, comes well recommended and will give matinee and evening performances on March 12 in all probability. It will be given in the Nibley Hall on the former B. Y. building, although as yet nothing definite has been arranged.

"MEETING OF THE GIRLS FEB. 27"

Production of Community Players
Directed By Ruth Southwick.

NIBLEY HALL

Pathos and Humor Make Play
Exceptionally Appealing.

Israel Zangwill's, "The Melting Pot," community players production will be presented at Nibley Hall on Friday, 27, under the direction of Miss Ruth Southwick of the Logan High School drama department. The production is the second of a series of four plays yearly produced under the direction of Miss Southwick.

Class Gift of '09 Attains Aesthetic End Fountain of Youth Is Cupid Haunt

Situated in the main hall, midway between the Secretary's Office and that of the dean of the Faculty, is a drinking fountain of historic importance. The class of '09 installed it with the intention that it serve as a drinking place for the thirsty students. The givers should not object to the finer and nobler purpose which it has assumed in recent years. Favored are the students who catch one glimpse of the illustrious student figure. An ordinary student should dare to drink from it, his crime would be unpardonable. How preposterous to suppose that an unmemorable scholar would ever consider such a blunder of etiquette!

So deep are the connotations clinging to the fountain that an assembled, impenetrable throng is proverbial. Were it ever attained for utility purposes, one could truthfully conclude that endless youth had been obliterated. Never without its impervious layer of lovers so stationed as to protect it from pollution.

"The Market Place" is a highly available term used to designate the fountain's acquirement mission. Here it is that students give and take. Girls, whose parents have come with their college has been invited in order to make them marketable products, are here being prepared for the end. It has been estimated that

Extension Service
Takes Heavy Part
In Leadership Move

Cooperating with the L. D. S. Church Board of Education, the Extension Service of the College is furnishing a large part of the program in the Leadership Institute which is being held at Shurt College in Ephraim, San Pete County, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Of the sixteen lecturers who are to take part of the various subjects which will be taken up at this institute, seven are to be furnished by the extension service. They include Professor Geo. B. Cairns, A. C. Espin, W. P. Thomas, Byron Alder, and George D. Clyde, Mr. Harry Reynolds, Miss Afton Odell, and Mrs. Effie S. Barrows.

While in that part of the state, several of those named above are filling lecture appointments in the counties surrounding San Pete in which Ephraim is located.

"Prom Week" Latest
Junior Committee
Innovation

"Prom Week" is the latest Junior social innovation at the U. A. C. It is a combination of Matinee dances, hall dances, pep stunts, anything, in fact to arouse general enthusiasm and high feeling for the college, to be features of the newly inaugurated program. The committee on arrangements for the Prom is perfecting of what this one extended social which will quicken the interest of students in the Junior Ball to be held on March 9.

It is a plan hitherto untried at the U. A. C., but if the success of the feature in other Colleges is any criterion for judgment of what this one should be, we may anticipate something equal to an 1896 foot rally, when the Juniors come forth with their new innovation.

Art Professor Leaves
Wednesday For South

Fletcher to Lecture at Hinkley
Leadership Convention.

Professor Calvin Fletcher will leave for Hinkley, Utah, to attend sessions of Leadership program at the High School. In the Home Improvement section, Mr. Fletcher will speak on subjects covering art appreciation in the relation to decorative harmonies. His specific themes will be "Interior Decoration" and "Home Beautification."

In connection with a display of paintings, Professor Fletcher will give an interesting talk on painting appreciation, pointing out values and their application. He will return from the institute.

In acceptance of a request, Professor Fletcher will install a "court" in the evening at the School this week to be open for approximately two weeks. This will probably be the largest and most important group of paintings brought together by this author.

Fencing Experts Score
High Honors In
Foil Tournay

Fencing experts of the University of Southern California, led by Captain Frank C. Bray and Coach Harry Uytendhoeve, former champion in both foil and epee, and the Belgian army, scored high honors in recent Los Angeles meets. L. West and C. E. Caple took first and third in the prep foil tournament; Hugh Miles won third in the novice foil; and Alice Gilson, Lorraine Young and Jeanne Edwards made a clean sweep of places in the women's foil event. D. C. Hansen won third in novice epee, and second in novice sabre class. Miles took first in the sabre class.

Under the auspices of the Beaux Art Guild, third floor social club, Addition Martindale, Ann Pearson and Ronald Flamm will entertain the student body tomorrow at 4:30 p. m. in the chapel hall. Everyone is urged to be present.

LOGAN, UTAH, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1928.

Committee Chairman

Governor, Lieutenant Maughan
Accept Invitations to Social.

February 21
Doors of Hall to Open at 9:30
Promptly.

With a host of prominent visitors as honor guests, the A. C. military department will entertain the student body and alumni at the College at the 34th annual Military Ball Tuesday night, February 21. The Palais d'Or dance hall has been engaged for the social.

Governor Derr of Utah with his staff, commanding officials at Fort Douglas, cadet officers and sponsors of the University of Utah, including Lieutenant Russell Maughan, famous Aggie graduate, have accepted invitations to attend the formal affair.

Decorations for the affair will consist of battalion flags and shields. No crape paper draperies will be used. The features of the evening will be the grand march led by Governor Derr.

In order that no difficulty will arise concerning the reception plans, the doors to the hall will be closed until promptly at nine o'clock.

It was in 1894, 34 years ago, when the members of the U. A. C. cadet corps entertained at a formal party. The affair proved a success and was repeated the next year and the next. At first, attendance to the dance was limited to cadets and their partners but later the entire student body was admitted and the ball became an annual party.

In 1919 Governor Spry set the precedent for his successors to attend the Logan social.

Mr. Edwards is going to give a series of five lectures, the first, "Personality Development As Business Asset," second, "Selling Yourself to Yourself," third, "The Science of Salesmanship As It Is Used Today," fourth, "Selling Yourself to Others," and fifth, "Success Insurance."

Edwards is a business engineer from San Francisco. His work has been that of analyzing all types and kinds of businesses with the idea in mind of improving their sales, credit and advertising departments. In addition to this his fifteen years of practical experience, together with his teaching and lecturing experience places him in a position to give practical fundamental information.

A special arrangement has been made for the students to attend the lecture at a special rate.

First Call Issued
For Medal Tryouts

Speech Contest Preliminaries
Come February 21.

Preliminary tryouts for the Hendricks gold medal will be held Tuesday, Feb. 21 at 4:00 in room 280 of the main building. This medal is awarded once each year for the best extemporaneous speech, and has as its object the encouragement of college students to express themselves adequately upon short notice.

A list of suggested topics will be posted upon the door of Prof. N. A. Pedersen's office at 1:00 o'clock Tuesday. Contestants may use the hours from one until four for preparation.

The four best speakers will be selected by the contestants to appear in the finals which will be given before the student body at a later date.

Students are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to gain not only recognition but personal development in this line.

CALL FOR GRADUATION APPLICATIONS

All those who are planning to graduate with the class of 1928 should file applications for degree with the Registrar. Forms for this purpose may be obtained from the Registrar's office. Applications should be filed by Feb. 15th. An additional fee of $1.00 will be charged those who apply later than March 1st.

All those desiring Teachers' Certificates may also obtain application cards at the Registrar's office, last week.

MARLER TO COACH
NEW RAH RAH BOYS
IN PRIVATE COURSE

Competitive tryouts for cheer and song leaders will be held in some future Student Body meeting if persons interested in leading cheers and songs will see this. Marler or Merrill Johnson immediately.

Last fall quarter the executive committee decided that, if possible, the positions of cheerleader and song leader should not be determined by the appeal of the contestants.

Mr. Marler will give private lessons in how to be a cheerleader or song leader, or to any one wishing a chance to be next year's cheer or song leader, or assistant to such. As soon as the recruit is sufficiently versed in the intricacies of the cheer or song leader, he will be given a chance to help lead cheers in a Student Body meeting.

The call goes forth, then, to all able-bodied Aggies to make a try for these two positions.

Negative Debaters Meet Weber Normal

Marriner Merrill and Royal
Cook Do Well in Junior College Forensic.

A negative debating team from the College, composed of Royal Cook and Marriner Merrill, debated with the Weber College of Ogden last Monday at the Ogden school. The debate was on the question of whether or not the death penalty should be abolished. The team from the College won the debate.

The party also included Alden Lillywhite, Claire Hume, and Beth Merrill. After the debate the group returned as far as Brigham, where debate funds were disposed of on five hearty meals and after visiting some time in that town, returned to Logan. The only mishap of the trip was a flat tire on the south side of Sardine Canyon, where a rear tire on the car picked up a small, but effective nail.

LON J. HADDOCK GRAD OF '13
MAY VISIT ALMA MATER

California's big king, Lou J. Haddock, a graduate of the A. C. U. in 1913, may pay us a visit this month at least, such was information intimated in a letter sent to President Peterson last week by Haddock, who leaves in March for a lecture tour of the country, is deeply interested in the future of the Utah Agricultural Experiment Station, and plans to devote much of his time to the project.

The military ball comes just once each year—Don't miss it—February 21 is the date.

Grade A in Press
Survey

Too late to be announced in last week's issue of Student Life, the information was received that in a survey of the ten college papers represented at the convention, Student Life was ranked in class A with three Colorado publications.

A Gayle Winthrop, acting head of Journalism at Colorado U., in making the survey, complimented the Utah Aggie paper upon its general tone, balance, editorial page, and range of news.

Five Ogden Business Men Contribute $250 for Contest Prize;
Open Only to Aggies.

"Name Places in Utah" Thesis;
Wantless Heads Local Committee in Charge.

Five Ogden business and professional men have just offered a valuable scholarship gift competition for which only graduates of the Utah Agricultural College are eligible. The scholarship is a $250 cash presentation for the best thesis written by a student of the College on the subject "Place Names in Utah." The offer is largely due to the efforts of former Judge W. J. Reed, Jr., of Ogden. In addition to pushing the idea, Judge Reed permitted $100 to the fund. The other Ogden citizens who contributed $50 each are W. H. Watkins, W. L. Watts, Dr. L. S. Merrill and O. W. Ewing.

Interesting Thesis
The thesis is to be a complete historical dictionary of all important names of counties, towns, creeks, mountains, canyons, lakes, streams, etc., in the State of Utah. There is no intention on the part of the donors to demand too exhaustive a description of each of these names but the final work is to be complete enough to constitute a dependable reference which can be used as a guide through the state.

Certain rules and conditions have been adopted by the donors of the scholarship. The manuscript must have the approval of a committee to be appointed by Judge Reed and Professor William Peterson, director of the Extension Station. The manuscript must, of course, be submitted in accordance with the rules.

OUR AGE-MELLOWED MUSIC BOX

During the advent of the perfected radio, when music is a la ether, as the whole show, dealers put their undoubted stock of phonographs along with their mechanical grating, rasping canned melodies, on the shelf and charged the loss to "old stock." And the phonograph companies were left out of the running for want of a declared product.

But some time afterward the Victrola people invented a machine the perfection of which revolutionized the phonograph industry. The new "Orthophonic" would record and deliver, without a sign of noise, the lowest and sweetest tones of the human voice. It could be so regulated that any intonation of intensity might be reproduced. And the wonder of it was that it cost far less than this bunglesome, raspy predecessor!

In the College musical department we have a phonograph. You should just hear it. We have had it with us since the civil war and still no other taking machine has come to usurp its place in the studio. No radio, for volume of static, could stand up to our little music box. From the extent of its squeaking we might well have used it at football games to let the boys know that the music department was back of them.

Last week Professor Arnold led his class to the machine that might time in one of the modern musical epics. Such was the force of the resulting squeak and rasping of the Victrola that the professor's youthful charges, cars covered with their hands, departed in alarm.

Members of the class in "Music Appreciation," after digesting a quarter's siege of the ancient victrola's best efforts, have left the course in the hands of their instructor from music to something less suggestive of their recent trials. And more—when a specially engaged teacher of music is at the College, it becomes necessary to borrow a more modern machine for use in the classes. At least such has been the case in the last two summer sessions.

A modern orthophonic machine, designed especially for class room use, and obtainable at a special price, can be had for $160—which isn't much, considering the need and utility of such equipment. But even if we are not to have a new instrument, are not subjected to the course in music appreciation as taught on the antiquated thunder engine, we should rejoice if the apparatus be put in its proper place—which is in the cellar.

IF YOU KNOW YOUR SAGEBRUSH—

OPPORTUNITY SMILES upon that Aggie who knows his Utah—and "loves the spot where the sagebrush grows." Five Ogden, Utah, business men who have a deep interest in Utah Agricultural College are to give a prize of $250 to the U. A. C. student who submits the best description of interest points in the Beehive state. Because $250 is a lot of money, and because it comes from business men not of our college town, we are pleasantly surprised. Naturally, our hearts go out with expressions of gratitude to these scholarship donors whose friendship for the College is thus materially manifested.

THE ART OF PRETENDING

PRETENSIONS OF A NOVEL SORT have recently come into being over the question of art work in Utah. According to the "critic," Utah art, with its modern interpretation of what constitutes the field of true art, is all wrong. Further, classifying some of the most conservative paintings in the state as ultra-modernistic and characteristic of jazz, primitive, this person of doubtful capabilities has taken up a missionary station in Logan to attack art—particularly that which comes from the brushes of local artists.

He embarks on his first and recent challenge against the quality and beauty of Utah scenery. Utah art and the authors of this art, placing all positive preference in the hinterland of his own work. Within view of his regime and worldly possibilities, which he designates as art, we fail to find manifest a semblance of the conservative and individualistic values found in real art. When remarks such as the above extend to stepping on the toes of all Utahns, this self-styled genius is coming long to notoriety—and in a fashion not altogether worthy.

Money is Power

YOU can't employ labor or buy machinery or burn fuel on good intentions. It is capital and organization which are required before any sizeable project can be carried out. We make loans to responsible parties, and the officers of our institution will be pleased to give you the benefit of their experience.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK, Logan, Utah
Under Supervision of U. S. Government

And Another Thing

At the Fort Collins convention of editors of the boys from Colorado complained that he was being paid but thirty dollars a month to edit his campus. And the other editors began to grumble until they found out what the Utah Aggie fellows were being paid.

We'd think thirty bucks a month was enough to get married on.

Shakespeare's King Lear might easily have meant as when, in a spirit of repentance, he shouted to the raging elements: "Hail, shrubbed witchers! that hide the pelting of this pitiless storm: How shall your houseless heads, and unfed sides, your looped and window'd raggedness, defend you from such sudden colds as these?" O, we have let too little care that the head, the judgment, expose themselves to feel what editors feel. That thou mayst shake thy mouth and swallow them! And show the heavens more just.

The most satisfactory editorial was in the R. M. P. A. it seems as if $17 per issue for editors was a fair price. It was a good time to show off our knowledge of ratio and proportion—17:16: good time, even at home.

And now people are kicking about the name of the Aggie year book. Even Lilywhite considers that the name is a bit of a fact that the humor section can be paraphrased "The Buzzard."

We don't mind having people use ink, paper, clothes rack, telephone, and even the editor's office. But, if we must have a form, we like to be asked first.

However, let it be understood that the Delta Nu boys are given first speaking rights.

Kampus Kaptree is coming. And, judging from the number of acts planned, it will be a real, a real show. It will take at least a year to get them all perfected.

And another six months to produce them, in rapid succession, on the stage.

We will now sing "The Mountain Tops Appear" on page 29 in the red books.

This year those who attend the annual U. of U. from will dance from 9 p. m. until 2 a. m. And nobody's girl is expected to wear a dress.

They will feature one dance: "Everyone is Rootless Now."

Our tower flag is holy. In fact, it's full of em.

Twenty-three in a zoology class of twenty-eight completely finished their R. M. press survey. It was a real, a real show. It will take at least a year to get them all perfected.

No, Isabelle, we are using the new Ionic, not Ionic, type of print.

Perhaps one reason... about the naturally we hesitated about revealing the news that Student Life ranked class A in the R. M. press survey. It was a real, a real show. It will take at least a year to get them all perfected.

For it Student Life, in such a comparison, stands near the top, what can't be the matter with the other papers in the conference?

Why wasn't George Washington twice so big that we could have a two day rest?

Besides, we haven't had a scandal about any ambitious humorist being publicly ousted from the school for months.

Scene on observation car of train passing through Colorado Grand Canyon.
"Paul, hey! didn't see that big ice cave over there?"
"Yeah, sure, did you?"

Speaking of Hank Davis and his proposed, or imposed, chess bet, we should like to suggest a new angle of the game:

Wait until the quadrangle is free of snow and the sun or moon shines brightly, let no limit of co-eds and frat-boys see as to club membership, school the group on "Principles of Spring Fever," and declare the club motto to be—"I'll chess you and then you chess me!"

Or better: "Go chess yourself."

He: "I'm going to buy myself a harem."

He: "What do you mean? You can't buy a harem, can you?"

He: "Sure I saw a sign at a gas station that said 'Right Gas for a dollar'—U. of Calif. Wampus."

"Thank you for the hug and kiss!"

"The same to you—the pressure was all mine."

The Hi-Jinx show at the University of Montana was already to be put on when one or two girls found the copy of the parts, and spread the information about the campus. Not to have their show spoiled, the players reversed the copy to include all the available information about the co-eds who played their dirty.

Five airplanes were used to transport the University of Weights basket ball team to Hays State Teachers College recently. The schools are less than 200 miles apart.

Legislators of North Carolina recently tried to prohibit the sale and consumption of Coca Cola in that state. Probably the senator who advocated such a policy wanted to save the rabid, red nosed Coca Cola fans from themselves.

Here is a hard one to believe. Mushdika, king of Buckley Condo was father of 510 children. He produced these children within 30 years. He was beheaded 20 years ago by the Belgian government for murdering 27 of his wives.

A man in Detroit, recently, was sentenced to life imprisonment for having a pin of gin on his person. Prohibition is a joke where it succeeds or where it fails.

A double headed, two tailed trout was recently hatched in the fisheries laboratory at the University of Washington. 50,000 eggs were incubated. A one eyed specimen was found among the hatch. Two bodies growing out of one head as well as one body branching into two heads, were some freaks occurring.

Rough handling of the eggs is thought to have some effect on the formation of the freaks.

Cedar Flats Wintering Place For Deer Is Hiker's Paradise

Cedar Flat, contradictory even in name, only one of a score of local attractions to hikers. Is an ideal wintering spot for deer. The flat lies to the left of the mouth of Logan canyon, almost due east from the campus. As the snow as we march vertical as horizontal, three and one-half hours at the least are necessary to complete the round trip.

The flat is on a gentle incline, protected from both northwest and north winds by a semi-circle of ridge and cliff, as well as by a heavy growth of cedar. Sun strikes on an angle against the cliff, thus heating the enclosure by reflection and radiation. One might adventure it as "a modern flat," well lighted, with excellent heating facilities, etc., etc.

Mountain Nalgany is almost as abundant as cedar, and, together with dry grass, furnishes the winter food supply for the deer.

Hikers may best view the flat from a point on the western ridge. From this elevation about fifty acres of "flat-land" are visible.

So far, the winter has not been severe enough to drive many of the deer out of the mountains; but during a frigid spell it is not unusual to come upon eighty or ninety head of them, quietly grazing.

Worthington is going to have to do some talk traveling these next two weeks if he is to keep his place on the all-conference team. Ingersoll of Provo and Ward of Montana are running him a close race for the position and so far have an edge over him.

It is too bad that Neely, glowing Utah center, was hurt in injuries. He gave promise of making one of the best centers in the conference, the way he performed against the Aggies in the first game.

Speaking of all conference choices, we hope no one forgets "Flash" Nelson. He has been doing better than his name implies all season and sport authorities are going to hear a mighty yell from the school on the hill unless he gets some recognition.

The competition in the conference is getting to be something fierce. Anyone who finishes up on this year would show up well against any competition in America.

From all reports the games against the Cougars last week resembled football games more than anything else. We have a feeling that the remaining games are going to be more than that.

Who said the minor sports do not attract interest? The Aggie basketball team was left to practice without onlookers the other day, while nearly fifty students watched the tryouts for the wrestling team.

Still, it would be hard to find any classier matches than were played that night. We have a feeling that the remaining games are going to be more than that.

Who made that dirty crack about an inferiority complex? Maybe if we can just convince Smart to come out, he will star in Wrestling, tennis, and swimming also. Still, all sports are enough for any man.

Aggie Five Faces Bobcat Tangle With New Lineup; Smart Is Latest Star.

MARTY DROPS OUT

Military Ball Interferes With Regular Date of Games.

U. A. C. and Logan basketball fans should get their fill of basketball during the next two weeks with six headline games coming to Logan. The Aggies played their first game last Saturday night, and from home and will entertain each of the other conference teams here during the next two weeks.

To Meet The Bobcats First

The first series is against Montana State and will be played on Monday and Wednesday of next week. The game is scheduled to start at seven o'clock and the Wednesday game at eight o'clock.

The next Friday and Saturday, the Cougars will be in Logan while the Aggies will entertain the Utes.

Each of these series has some special significance. The first series very likely will decide the conference championship.

The second, the state championship, is a game which will help to alleviate the feelings of hate Aggie fans have for the Cougars.

By a quirk of fate, the Cougars will be in Logan while the Aggies will entertain the Utes.
