HANDBALL COURTS NEEDED

Perhaps the most urgent need on the Campus at present is the addition of several handball courts. The interest which is being shown in the sport by new students and the talent prevalent among older players marks handball one of the most popular games in the field of Campus athletics. It is a game in which both faculty and students are showing a live interest and deserves encouragement.

To enter the court without having to waste an indefinite amount of time on the waiting list is an utter impossibility under the present conditions. At times the waiting lineup is so long that enthusiasts are compelled to forfeit their desire to play. On one afternoon the writer was watching the matches from the gallery while three foursomes were waiting to play. Time is valuable to the College student; too much so to be wasted in such large quantities. With the present limited facilities the game is being killed. The need for additional handball courts on the Campus is urgent.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

A delightful phase of our 1929 football season is the schedule. The delegates who represented us at the Conference athletic gathering at Salt Lake City last week to draw up schedules are to be congratulated on the bookings. Games with Colorado College, Colorado Aggies and Brigham Young University are scheduled for Logan and the Aggies will meet Denver University, Wyoming, Montana State College and the University of Utah away from home. This is an excellent schedule both at home and abroad.

The addition of Colorado College to the Aggie program is a welcome innovation. It will give local supporters an opportunity to see the famous "Dutch" Clark in action. The fact that Clark was chosen on the all-American team by the Associated Press this year and the recognition he has been given by other national authorities mark him perhaps the greatest backfield man that has ever been developed in the Mountains. His presence should be a powerful drawing card for the home lot next season.

After having suffered through a decidedly inadequate home schedule during the 1928 season the more promising bookings for 1929 should be exceedingly welcome to Aggie students and fans in the vicinity of Logan.

HISTORY OF CHRISTMAS

Strange as it may seem, our custom of celebrating the birth of the Saviour grows, not out of a Christian tradition, but from a pagan feast celebrating the renewed activity of the Sun God. The early Christians adopted a number of Roman feast days, giving to them new religious significance. The heathen atmosphere of the feast was dispelled by the elaborate liturgy. Later sacred dramas, carols to the Virgin Mother, and beautifully decorated trees were used in the ceremonies. The feast day spread to the Western Church during the fourth and fifth centuries.

In Britain, December 25, was a holy feast day before the island's conversion to Christianity. In 1644 the Puritans passed a law requiring people to give up their feasting and observe the day in fasting and prayer. The custom of feasting was renewed when the Puritans lost political power.

Now, in all Protestant churches, December 25, is celebrated as the natal anniversary of the Son of God, the greatest teacher the world has ever known.

FRATERNITY HOSPITALITY

One of the greatest popular misconceptions of modern campus life, and one which it is about time to dispel, is that fraternities do practically nothing but await the opportunity to cut each other's throats. If all Greek-letter fairy tales were believed, it would appear that fraternities are little more than vicious beasts, their fangs bared, crouching to spring at the least provocation on any other organization which has displeased them in the collegiate scheme of things.

This is just another terrifying bugaboo that a little observation can easily destroy.

Actual fraternity courtesy is one of the most stimulating and uplifting elements of modern college life. Greek-letter organizations may cultivate the keenest type of rivalry over many matters, even to the point where the feeling runs so high as to be almost inimical. But this is all a healthy, spirited form of rivalry which does no harm whatever.

What is more, if you are a fraternity man, just step into another house on the campus, in order to see some friend of yours for a moment. You will be greeted with a type of cordiality which can only be duplicated with difficulty. You will be welcomed warmly, introduced carefully to all the brethren about the living room, invited without fail to dinner if the time is right, and altogether be received with a degree of cordiality which is a marked contrast to the blood-thirsty tales of fraternity enmity.

This sort of thing is a credit to the fraternity system—a circumstance which does much to offset some of the discreditable features of organized fraternal existence. It is a thing to be admired, cultivated, and furthered in campus life.

ACHIEVING SUCCESS

(The Nation)

Samuel Holt Morison, who is writing the official history of Harvard for the approaching three hundredth anniversary of its founding, has unearthed a memorandum by the late President Eliot, notes for a lecture on what equipment a student should acquire in college for success in after life. We reprint it from the Harvard Crimson:

"1. An available body. Not necessarily the muscles of an athlete. Good circulation, digestion, power to sleep, and alert, steady nerves.

"2. Power to sustain mental labor.

"3. The habit of independent thinking on books, prevailing customs, current events. University training the opposite of military or industrial.

"4. The habit of quiet, unobtrusive, self-regulated conduct, not accepted from others or influenced by the vulgar breath.

"5. Retentive, reserved, not many acquaintances, but a few intimate friends. Belonging to no societies perhaps. Carrying in his face the character so plainly to be seen there by the most casual observer, that nobody ever makes him a dishonorable proposal."

What more could be said? And in how few words is put this guide to what Mr. Eliot himself called the "durable satisfactions" of life. We invite especial attention in this day of head psychology to his demand for independent thinking and independent living.

"PIPE" COURSES

Students are beginning to discover that certain courses recommended to them by friends or neighbors at registration time as "pipes" are not exactly that. They are having to study on them as in every course.

Which makes one wonder, what is a "pipe course?" Superficially it is a course in which a student can make reasonably good or high grades without enforced expenditure of effort. It is a course in which the grades come without having to be dragged by strenuous effort.

The fact that certain courses that are "pipes" for some and Waterloos for others makes one stop and think: Is it the course that should get the credit (or the censure)? Isn't it because certain courses appeal to students, and other do not? A course may hold a fascination for a student; doing the work required may become a pleasure rather than an irksome grind; he may look forward to the classes. If he has this attitude, the chances are good many to one that he will get a good grade. Then, by the laws of campus reasoning he has found a "pipe." To him who enjoyed the course, it might be called such; to his neighbor who abhorred it it might have been a bore—he may have flunked it.

When one says he has found a "pipe" the odds are very strong that, consciously or subconsciously, he has found a course in which he finds pleasure. "Painless" studying is a compliment to the course and its instructor. "GOLD AND BLUE"

STUDY METHODS REVERSED

There is a trend in modern education to alter the methods of study. With the acquiring of knowledge in the various fields of learning there have been many alterations and eradication of ideas; concepts as to methods of instruction have undergone like changes.

An example of the trend of modern thought on new methods of study was the Floating University which returned to New York in May 1928 on its carrier the S. S. Rydam. Instead of students making contacts with the world through text books, laboratories and the like, they took their laboratories to nature and studied it first hand. By this undertaking, the methods that had previously been used were completely reversed.

Christmas Comments

By Weldon McIntyre

Christmas is a chronic college ailment. Not of course, excluding the rest of the world. It afflicts everyone and not a soul goes unscathed. The disease usually sets in about two weeks before December 25 and does not let up its grip until January, even then it occasionally lingers for several weeks.

The first discernible symptoms are a disinclination to study, increased interest in the opposite sex, a rise of good spirits, and a tendency to linger around jewelry windows and candy displays. The disease progresses rapidly and usually reaches the climax on December 23 or 24. It is then that the major symptoms appear. A wild light comes into the eyes of the afflicted they crowd madly into gift shops, they walk the streets, the shimmering of their spirits becomes almost maniacal. Luckily this advanced stage lasts only a few days and the disease then begins to subside. The students, chilled by cold weather, withdraw into their respective rooms where their fever of their passion subsides, and self possessed they once again take up their normal mode of life.

Wonder if it would not be in keeping with the Christmas spirit for a few of the professors around this institution of learning to loosen up slightly and bestow a few "A's" here and there? Certainly no gift could be more appreciated. Perhaps it would even provoke a spirit of Christmas within the hearts of the donors for "it is better to give than to receive."

What an ideal Christmas we have approaching. For once we have snow, and plenty of it, we have ideal weather and wonderfully beautiful, clear, cold, starry nights. It makes one think of sleighing, skating, coasting, skating and heats of winter sports. The spirits leap in anticipation of dreamy evenings spent before a blazing hearth. Could anything be more alluring? No small wonder that we long for the holidays.

Christmas could not be complete without the Aurora Borealis. So far this winter I have seen that matchless spectacle play but once but let us hope for a liberal display to beautify the holiday nights.

ITCHING HANDS

A certain Virginia college has a most unique student merchandising system. The goods are arranged in the cafeteria style and no clerks nor floor-walkers are in attendance. The students help themselves, selecting the articles they wish, and making their own change; the whole transaction is made without weight or assistance by a store employee.

Could such a system exist on this campus I fear not. We are only westerners, freeminded, friendly, and failed with great interest. Being such it is not necessary that we maintain such fluttering monuments to the Golden Rule. Besides there are times when we need our neighbors' chattels such as three overcoats, some of us appropriated at the Harvest Dance. Two $10.00 bills which some student has been vainly advertising for, and a new topcoat that vanished into the air last Saturday. Honor, merchandising system—pooh, honor is a mere scotchman. What we need is someone, all seeing and omnipresent, to prick us when our fingers itch, to remind us that our locker is over there, and to teach us again that law which our progenitors found all sufficient for property rights. Let us pray to high heaven that Santa Claus will bring us such a being.

Gwen Hansen gave an informal dinner party on Thursday evening at her home in Providence. Ethna and Valerie Rowberry, Hazel Hobbs, Luree Gardner, La Rue Parkinson, and Melba Theurer were her guests.

Bruce Wallace, F. W. W. and Elmer Randall have moved to the Phi Kappa house.

Gracia Stewart and Orlene Jones were dinner guests at the Theta House on Sunday.

Howard Linford, football captain of 28, now co-captain of the Phi Kappa house.

On Tuesday evening Elma Rowberry, Gracia, Helen, and Valerie Rowberry were Theta dinner guests.

On Wednesday evening Ruth Parkinson, Floraine Benson, Vada Marble, and June White were dinner guests at the Theta House.

Sylvia Cannon, Mary Cannon, Edna Wilson, and Melvina Buffum were dinner guests at the Theta house on Friday evening.

An informal breakfast at the chapter house was given last Sunday by the Beta Delta sorority, in honor of fifteen rushees. Ladies were decorated with red carnations. Covers were laid for thirty.

Thursday morning the Gamma Xi Gamma sorority entertained in honor of its rushees at a breakfast at the College Blue Bird. Breakfast was served to thirty-four guests.

The Alpha Gamma Phi Christmas party was held in the Blue Bird Wednesday night. Punch was added to the affair by stunts during intermission. The couples in attendance kept up a lively spirit throughout.

On Thursday evening a childrens party was given at the Theta House in honor of the rushees. Games were played during the evening. After gifts were distributed, refreshments were served.

The Sorosis sorority entertained their rushees at a roller-skating party at the Danesque Fri. afternoon, after which they returned to the sorority house. Hot chili and candy were served.

A group of Sorosis girls entertained in honor of four rushees Friday night at the home Mrs. Bessie A. Merrill. Bridge was played, and a light supper was served to twelve guests.

Monday evening the Betas entertained at an informal Bunco party in honor of rushees. Guests came in midst costume, and light refreshments were served. Gwen Hansen, LaRue Parkinson, and Owen Rigby were the committee.

Archie's Magazine Rate Update: Archie's Magazine, published by the State College, and Moren Ohio from the Beta Epsilon chapter at Shaw Lake was dinner guests at the local chapter house the evening of November 8.

Thursday evening, Dec. 5th, the Gamma Xi Gamma sorority held their annual formal dance party in honor of its rushees at the Hotel Eccles. Light refreshments were served to the fifty couples in attendance.

The College met Monday at a luncheon party in the east room of the cafeteria at noon. Seventeen of the Scribblers were present to discuss plans for the forthcoming issue of the Scribble, with Allan Cannon, president of the club and editor of the publication.

Paul Larson, business manager, gave a statement of the financial condition of the club.

Sylvia Cannon, Edna Wilson, Ruth Bennett, and Bernice Boyce were entertained Wednesday evening by a group of Sorosis girls at a progressive dinner party. The guests met at the home of Miss Ailton Thain for the cocktail and salad, leaving about eight o'clock for Laue Bankhead's home, where the main dinner course was served. The party ended at Katherine Christiansen's residence, where a dessert was served. The three small tables which were covered with miniature illuminated Christmas trees were afterwards prepared for bridge. A high score prize was awarded to Mrs. Sylvia Cannon.

The Alpha Kappa Psi Fraternity's annual Christmas ball will be held tonight at the Hotel Eccles. The arrangements committee, composed of George Martineau, David Cline, and Fred Burdick, promised something new and entertaining in the line of parties and this event will doubtless attract a large number of their socially successful season.

The Beta Delta sorority entertained at a formal banquet and dance, honoring rushees of the sorority, on Saturday, December 8, in the hotel Eccles. The banquet was featured by a unique scheme of medieval chivalry, which formed the theme of the dance programs, place cards, and toasts. Small knights in armor served as waiters, and the grand duchess of the "court" and introduced Lillian Orme, who toasted "Ladies of the Court". Hazel Tebb, who toasted "Gird of the Castle", Dallas Linford, as Court jester, who gave a few "Polles of the court", Alice Burgyne whose toast was "Activities with the Courtyard", and Mrs. Olean Smith Harris, who gave as her toast "Memories of other Court Days". Wanda Holland sang and Lillian Orme gave a trumpet solo. The tables were decorated with yellow and white roses, the sorority flower and color. Each rushee was presented with a corsage of violets and yellow roses. After the banquet the girls were joined by their payhers, and dancing was enjoyed.

Heien Hyde, chairman, Bertrude Madsen, Zilla Linford, and Mildred King composed the committee in charge.

The Gamma Xi Gamma sorority entertained its rushees Tuesday evening at a swimming party. An hour was enjoyed in the A. C. pool after which the remainder of the evening was spent in the amusement hall of the Presbyterian church. Refreshments were served to forty guests.

On Tuesday, December 11, Faye Pedersen, Carma Cardon, and Melvina Buffum entertained at a progressive dinner in honor of Hufaker, Connie, Shaw, Gracia, Verna Reeve, Edna Smith, and Floraine Benson. A delightful dinner was enjoyed by twelve guests after which a social evening was spent at the Ellasson home.

On Friday night Rita Hill entertained at a bridge party. Those present were Orlene Jones, Melvina Buffum, Hufaker, Connie, Shaw, Gracia, Verna Reeve, Edna Smith, and Floraine Benson. A delightful dinner was enjoyed by twelve guests after which a social evening was spent at the Ellasson home. High score was won by Orlene Jones.

Past Year Proves Another Success For "Smiling Dick" And His Stalwart Aggies

Great Year Despite Failure To Capture Any Titles

TRACK TEAM STRONG

Football, Basketball, Wrestling,
Swimming, Tennis Men Good

Coach Dick Romney's Utah Aggies failed to win a conference championship during the 1922 athletic year. This was the first season in several that the Aggies didn't grab one pennant. Aggie teams were in the verge of championships in two major sports but the last vital punch was missing.

Though the championships didn't look to Logan it was another successful year for the wily Farmer majority's team. The western division wrestling championship was won, and the hoop quint went into a tie for second place in the division. The Aggies also took second place in the Rocky Mountain Conference track and field meet after winning the title on four successive occasions. The Farmers were also battling for the conference championship in football when they met Utah in the final game of the season. Utah won the game and the championship, an Aggie win would have meant a tie for the honors with Colorado U.

The Logan hoopsters got off to a late start in basketball due to the football invasion of Hawaii. The squad was not even picked until the week of the first games in the University of Utah at Salt Lake. The Utes grabbed both games by a close margin but Aggie's coach Romney's quint was the only team in the division to score a victory over the champion Bobcats, and in the second series the Aggies pulled the game out of the five in the final seconds.

Cantril Nielson was the finest performer on the team and proved himself to be the best forward the Aggies have ever had. Captain Glen Worthington was slowed up by a serious leg injury, Nielson made the Telegram team.

The western division wrestling championship came to Utah Aggies when Nielson's men took the division meet by scoring 28 points on the 24 for the B. Y. U. McCallister and Dahle won their divisions and Sparks and Walther wrestled to a draw in the finals of their classes.

The swimming team again was forced to third place in the divisional meet. The Aggie swimmers also counted third with sixteen points in the conference meet noosing out the Colorado fourth place. Wendell Phillips and Captain Lee Olsen were the best men on the Farmer team which was coached by Lee Christensen, former Utah and Stanford star.

After several years of continual losses the Aggie basketball team got into the win column during the season and were always threatening. The team tied with Utah for second place in the division. Aggies tied B. Y. U. for third place in the conference meet. Every team match of the season was a battle with both winners and losers being determined only by the narrowest of margins. Captain Anderson and Johnson, Henry Hyman, Cannon, Jack Christensen, Alton Saker, and Cecil Cooley won letters.

The phenomenal performances of several Utah and B. Y. U. athletes forced the Aggies to third place in the State track and field meet but the Farmers came back in the conference clash to take second place and push Colorado Aggie to the third place. The Aggies' men lost a dual meet to Utah and won by a close score from the B. Y. U. Captain Mel Burke continued his phenomenal running by taking both the mile and two mile runs in every meet. He performed well in the national intercollegiate track meet and won the right to represent the section in the finals of the Olympic trials at Boston. Warren Hawley was the other outstanding point getter. These two men scored 21 of the Aggie's 41 points in the State meet. Glen Worthington completed a triumvirate of high point getter.

The opening of the football season presented Romney with the task of rebuilding his team entirely. He went at the job with enthusiasm and with the aid of some good material and a fine spirit, he developed a very capable team. In the first game the Aggies scored two touchdowns against the University of Southern California, which since has been rated as one of the greatest teams in the country. Only Notre Dame and Washington State scored as frequently against the Trojans.

Two defeats marred the Aggies' conference record, one coming at the hands of Colorado Aggie, the cause of failure to convert, the score being 7-6. Utah U. humbled the Farmers in the season final 20-0 when the two teams met for the conference championship. The Aggies gridders gave their best performance of the season

Hilltop Chatter

— JOE COWLEY

FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

The interesting feature about the athletic banquet tomorrow night at the Bluebird will be the election of a football captain for the 1923 season. The football captaincy is one of the most significant political assignments on the campus and there isn't a man on the team who would not give his left ear lobe to be thusly honored. Possible candidates for the coveted post are such men as Douglas Bergeson, Ed Jensen, Joe Clark, Harry Clark and Alma Gardner. Each of these athletes has played two years of varsity ball and will be playing his last season of College ball next year. Eighteen men will be eligible to vote, the right to cast a ballot being limited to last year winners.

Theron Smart was the unanimous choice of his team-mates last year. He has played his last game of football for the Aggies and is leaving school. The Aggie's are parting with one of the greatest all-around athletes they have ever had.

MY CAPTAIN, I'M ALWAYS BE RIGHT, BUT RIGHT OR WRONG, MY CAPTAIN.

HANDBALL TOURNEY

The winter handball tournament which is now in process has attracted thirty-two participants, which means that the court will be overcrowded with tournament players from now until the holiday period. In order to complete the tournament before the holidays it is necessary to reserve the court for tournament games. That means that players not engaged in the game are playing and vacate the court if match players are waiting. Most of the handball players who have entered in the tournament so that this rule should not interfere greatly with the playing of any body. However there are sure to be meritorious cases where groups of tournament players would be forced to wait and even postpone their matches were it not for this ruling.

Excluding faculty men tournament games have preceded.

GREAT MEN

Miss Lois Lunt was conducting her Sunday School class in the hall today. The subject of "Great Men and Prophets" was up for consideration. The group of youngsters was asked to name some of the leading men of church history. After enumerating some of the significant characters such as Brigham Young, Joseph Smith and Heber J. Grant, one lively youngster raised his hand and shouted—Glen Worthington. It is consoling to learn that Nephi is contributing her share to the great men of Zion.

Professor, Can you tell me what force makes the earth rotate at great speed around its axis?
Student, Love.

A CHRISTMAS TREE

Oh Boy! A real Christmas tree for the "A"! One with colored lights and everything! And I'll be on the Campus, out in front of the main building, where it can be seen from a long ways off.

The Christmas tree suggestion was passed by the executive council last Monday, and approved by President Peterson yesterday. One of the big evergreens north of the front steps of the main building was chosen to receive the decorations. The lights and other accoutrements were purchased yesterday. From now until Christmas the tree will be illuminated.

It is intended to make the decorated Christmas tree an annual custom at the College.

against Montana State. The day was cold and raw, a blizzard was in process. The field was miry, but the Farmers played powerful football to win. Theron Smart early in the year showed up the brilliant back. Joe Clark played sensationally at quarterback through the season and Gillespie, a sophomore, was a capable full-back. Regular linemen were Alma Gardner, Doug Bergeson, Van derhook and Alton Saker, Harry Clark, Joe Day, Bob Lohie, and Ed Jensen. Other men who won letters were Alvin Gardner, Gordon, Golden Welsh, Glen Worthington, Wes Sorenson, George Judah, and Wendell Phillips.

PIKAPS SMOOTHER WATKINS QUINT TO SNATCH TITLE

Veterans Outplay Frosh In Fast
Passing Tilt

Last Friday, with an array of exceptional basketball being demonstrated, the Pi Kappas won the annual intra-mural hoop series, outscoring Watkins team by a 31 to 21 score.

The series has been going on since the opening of the Winter quarter, teams from various campus organizations participating in the contests.

A blue and white pennant will be given to the Pi Kappas with the name of the winning organization being inscribed thereon.

Throughout the winter series much fight and spirit was shown with many quints playing good ball and earning the Pi Kappas a fight for the laurels.

The lineup for the teams playing the final match was:

Watkins team:

Pi Kappas: Hacking, Davis, Noel, Worthington, c, Wacker, Henrie, lg, Schaffer, Bennion, rg, Jensen.

Western Division Tennis Tourney Booked For Logan

On the 25th of May next, the Utah State intercollegiate singles and doubles tennis meet will be held in Logan on the Aggie courts. This meet will be sure to attract the best sports lovers in this region. This will be the first year of action under the new decision made by conference directors who have decided to disband the Rocky Mountain Tourney and have only the state meet. The event goes to Provo and in 1931 to Salt Lake.

The state meet promises a high caliber list of performances, as each state college will have several stellar players back. U. A. C. loses Laith Johnson but College of Idaho has a strong team. Cannon, Christensen, Brenchley and Saker will be back. The great "Chickie" Blevins will be missing from the Ute squad. Fred, Whaley, Forsberg and Neff return. The B. Y. U. has Dixon, Holt, and Brinley to fight for laurels.

Greek Letter

Fraternities Start

Third Greek letter fraternity to be established at the college. Delta Nu was founded in 1914. This fraternity had an active membership of 48 men last year. It won the scholarship cup, offered to local fraternities, for three years, so that it now has permanent possession of the trophy. Among its social events the frat features an annual spring banquet and its Mothers Day, also held in the spring.

Alpha Delta Epsilon, established at the college in 1915, is one of the active fraternities of the campus. Last year it had a membership of 42, and won the interfrat baseball series and also the chess championship.

The Alpha Gamma Phi fraternity was organized in 1920. Later it combined with Phi Beta Rho, Alpha Gamma and Alpha Gamma have not been very active in athletic events, they have been prominent in scholastic life. The latter two fraternities are graduate under the Honors Graduation plan, were members of this fraternity, as was also the valedictorian of 1926.

The youngest social fraternity, Omega Tau, was founded at the College in 1922. Although it has not had a very long time to demonstrate its ability, it is an active supporter of all student body activities and has a rapidly growing membership.

Due to the death of Shortland Evans and the lateness of the football season, and several other reasons, Boxer decided to drop out of the team for this season. By virtue of their victory over West high, they will likely share the state championship with "Freddie" high school Toole issued a challenge to them, but Boxer failed to accept, leaving the championship in a deadlock.

Thirty One Candidates Entered In Tourney

Thirty one candidates have entered the handball tournament which is now in progress and judging from the entries a hotly contested tournament is in prospect. The tourney is under the direction of "Dutch" Cannon and Norman Jensen who urge that all matches be played off promptly as scheduled. Entries who fail to show at the appointed hour for play will be requested to default. Their matches in order that nothing interfere with the progress of the matches. The tournament finals are booked for Wednesday, December 15, the last day of school before Christmas, and in order for the tourney to be that far advanced when the day comes all matches must be played off promptly as booked.

Drawings for the first round matches are as follows: Cannon, By, Hutchinson vs. Ostler, Hadden, H. vs. Stangor vs. George Larsen, Green vs. Smith, Call vs. Vickers, Pulley vs. Whittle, Rippon vs. Cowley, Bennion vs. Thomas, Jensen vs. Harris, N. Taylor vs. M. Bankhead, Koford vs. Johnson, Andersen vs. Wood, Griffin vs. Quavie, Henrie vs. R. Bergeson, Hubbard vs. N. Jensen.

The present tournament is a preliminary to the annual tournament to decide the college championship. The titular tourney will be held at a later period during the Winter quarter. Consequently the tournament now in progress is open to both faculty and students.

At the present time he is coaching at South Cache high school and seems to be very well liked by his proteges. He developed a scrappy football aggregation and right now his basketball team looks like a prospective winner. Flash deserves success.

FROSH HOOP SEASON TO BE INTRA-MURAL

Much inquiry has been going about as to whether there will be a frosh basketball team and a schedule with various other schools, but as yet nothing definite has been planned. Coach Anderson, who has had charge of the intra-mural series reports that there will be no regular freshman squad but that another intra-mural and class series will be held after the holidays which will further develop freshman hoop enthusiasts. He states that many of the freshmen are trying out for the varsity teams and are getting the training they need there.

Coach Anderson states that the eight men on the winning series to be held after the holidays will receive medals. These medals will be in the shape of a basketball with the name of the player engraved upon it.

Many frosh enthusiasts have been working out every night forming quints and are ready to enter any future hoop series that may be started.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Utah State high school athletic association held in Salt Lake recently, Mr. Harding presented a motion that the annual state basketball be made a regular event of the winter quarter of Utah, U. A. C. and B. Y. U. Each playing hosts to the cream of the state. The motion was carried, holding the meet in Salt Lake each spring. Mr. Swenson of Provo seconded the motion and after considerable discussion it was tabled for further investigation.

"My aunt will sure go to heaven when she dies."
"Why so?"
"She's always up in the air and harpin'."

Coach Nielson Training Matmen For Contests

College wrestlers are pounding the mat in the Smart Gym every afternoon under the direction of training coach Nielson. The husky youths are working hard with the object in view of again winning the Western Division wrestling championship. Nielson, who has had charge of the intra-mural series reports that there will be no regular freshman squad but that another intra-mural and class series will be held after the holidays which will further develop freshman hoop enthusiasts. He states that many of the freshmen are trying out for the varsity teams and are getting the training they need there.

Coach Anderson states that the eight men on the winning series to be held after the holidays will receive medals. These medals will be in the shape of a basketball with the name of the player engraved upon it.

SCRIBBLE EDITOR ANNOUNCES DATE OF NEXT ISSUE

The next edition of the literary quarterly, "The Scribble," will appear the later part of February, according to the editor, Allan Cannon. The fact that many contributions were handed in for the November issue than for any other in the history of the publication indicates that the competition is keen.

"Three or four articles of exceptional merit had to be omitted from the last issue due to lack of space," says Mr. Cannon. "Several unsuccessful contributors have an excellent chance of making the Scribble Club next issue. We are swamped with essays. Students have a better chance of getting in the Scribble if they write poetry, on plays or short stories." Contributions for the March Scribble should be in the hands of the editor by February 10.

Prof. Rutledge: "I've had this car for years and never had a wreck."

P. E. Peterson: "You mean you have had that wreck for years and never had a car."

Bessie Merrill: "Now dear, what will I get if I cook a meal like that for you every day this year?"
Milt. Merrill: "My life insurance."

"Geel! Marge Smart wears a lot of cute clothes."
"Yeh, but I know they're not so well off any more."

"Why?"
"Well the other day I went up to her house and two of them were playing the same piano."

She: "According to the latest fashion notes skirts are going to be worn below the knees."
He: "I don't doubt it, but how are they going to keep them on?"

Then there's the absent-minded society woman who kissed her husband and cursed her poodle.

"I just heard an awful story about your husband."

"Tell me. I need a new dress."

Gene H: "Why so gloomy?"
Jim A: "I've just finished reading 'Paradise Lost' and it is so realistic it made me feel like hell."

"How do you like Laura's golf socks?"
"But they're not golf socks."
"They're silk!"
"Get out. Didn't I count nine holes?"

"I'm starting on a new lap today," thought the co-ed as she met her date.

Many Veteran Aggies Get Taste Of Real Competition

The Utah Agricultural College
basketballers defeated the Vico Oil five of Salt Lake by a score of 43 to 34 here Wednesday night in the Smart gymnasium. The game was fast and well played throughout.

The Aggies led at the end of the half, 17 to 16. With about two minutes left to play in the latter part of the game, and with the score 35 to 34 for the Aggies, the winners spurred and had increased their score eight points before the game ended.

Watkins, Aggie forward, a freshman at the school, was one of the outstanding players in the game, making eight field goals. Davis the other forward, and Worthington, also played a good game, the latter's floor work being exceptionally fast. Dykeman and Glynn were the best performers for the Vico Oil.

The Aggie seconds lost to the Dixie college five, by a score of 23 to 35 in the second game of the evening. Dixie led throughout although the Aggies were right at their heels when the first half ended. The Aggies substituted frequently. Coach Romney wishing
