DISCLOSURE IMPLICATES SCRIBBLERS

Recipient Reduced to

in "True Confessions."

An startling disclosure was made last Saturday by Mr. Norton Christensen. The so-called Scribblers Club, supposedly by Mr. Christensen and the rest of the student body, have taken over the Denver Herald and are publishing the life histories of all members of the club. It was further learned that the life histories of all members of the club have recently been published, with all their glaring details, in the most widely read of these magazines, "True Confessions."

The unhappy secret marriage of Alberta Jensen has been disclosed in a heart-rending love story in the last issue of "True Confessions." The editor and publisher of the magazine, Mr. Christensen, commands the sympathy and respect of all the students for the brave spirit with which she has endured her trials.

The startling secret, which had been carefully guarded from the pure and pious Mr. Christensen, was discovered in this way. It was recently entered the morning room of the Scribble club and found Alberta Jensen and Virgil Norton in a heated discussion. Norton was known to be a member of the club in a special way that caused her to leave. He was denouncing the true story of her life, the details of which would stir up the public. Recent attacks have been sufficiently made to satisfy the demands of their subscribers. Miss Clayton valiantly rebuffed the man in the room by refusing to write her confession.

We are intensely grieved to announce that one of the girls who is considered for vice-president of the student body for next year is absolutely unworthy of the position and her name will be removed off the ballot. It has been discovered that Miss Bertha Stoker very unwisely told the ladies to omit her rival, Bonnie Smith, and give herself a sufficient majority of votes to secure the nomination in her favor. Bonnie Smith, at first pleaded not guilty to the charge of accepting the bribe but in the trial of Bertha and the judges it was revealed that Bertha had indeed turned Bertha to cross fingers. Dean Wanlass Takes over Duties As Cafeteria Head

And We Thought Only
Girls Used Roller Skates
this afternoon generally merges into darkness at a convenient hour.

However, Floyd Thomas has strayed from the well-beaten path of caution and prudence. He was seen today strolling in from an automobile ride last evening—skates on his shoulders. Who he was with and her method of attack are known to Tom and the Creator only. No matter what the situation, his spirit is admired.

THROUGH THE TRANSON WAS HER ONLY CHANCE

Two Thirds Majority Pushes
One Third "Minority" Over
That They May Go "Through"

No names are necessary because the other night three highly respected members of Dean Dan's trainees, coming signed away from their room after ten thirty and carelessly closed the door behind them. After a "cadet" on subject of anonymous interest the three left the room in which the "cadet" had been heard, and while the polite gesture of maidens sleeping on their backs ended in the bare hall, shut back to the deserted room. Three twigs of the knob convinced them that the night lock was on and a discussion of ways and means ensued. The final decision passed by a two-thirds majority was to lift the sleeping one—thirty—through the transom. Without much delay the majority mounted the minority and the door was left to shift for herself. This also did by the combination of several articulate letters.

Hands and with one foot hooked over the transom did the split in the most approved style. Her legs were a little short and as a result the hanging foot would not reach the door knob. Several students, seeing the case, anyone of which would have turned a "Pan" against green with envy, convinced her that the door knob was out of reach. So she more freed the leg from the transom and then hanging by her hands until she succeeded in pushing the door knob. From this on it was easy after a paring chain on the merble floor and a vigorous effort of reentering the lock clicked. The other two slipped in the door closed, the curdling shriek continued from the hall and the Good Dean slept untroubled on.

Bored Makes Choice

Given Ample Opportunity to Apply His Taylor System
Complex in Fueling Pouches.

At a meeting of the bored members of the College held last Saturday at Deseretville, it was decided that Dr. W. L. Wanlass, formerly dean of the School of Commerce and Business Administration, would assume Mr. Dean's duties in the cafeteria. The appointment takes effect today.

It was the unanimous opinion of the bored members that the former dean would be more valuable to the school in the new position. They again it will be remembered that the students considered the dean as being far from competent in the position which he was removed as indicated in the record regarding his resignation advertisement.

Dr. Wanlass will not be given a chance to apply his Taylor System, complex to the business of fueling pouches, (that is the business of life according to the dean). But the last six years he has been expending his efforts to prove that the management of the cafeteria has wasted enormous sums in sending a truck to haul milk from the dairy barn to the cafeteria kitchen. Dr. Wanlass contends that one man, not four, could smooth down two milk trucks for an estimate of the (Continued on Page Three)

Wednesday of last week, besides being the seventh day of the month and the third day of the week was a making stand for an event in world history which will, according to expert engineers of the depot and college unified, be commemorated by all in years that have past.

Probably most outstanding among the casualties of the day was the unparadise, promiscuous accident perpetrated against Dean Frank L. West as he was returning home from a pleasant stroll with his own "whoop-ee-darling."

The touching scene took place when, Logan's, said, or west bound—depending principally on the (Continued on Page Three)

AND TO MARRY SIXTY--HIS WAS NOBLE WORK

Branson Writes of Mormon Beauties in Atlantic Monthly Mag

Ungainly Homely Creatures
Bring Sympathy
And Diverted Purpose

A marked copy of the "Atlantic Monthly," was recently sent to the President's office. It contained an article written by Dr. Branson, who was a member of our faculty during the fall semester, entitled "Mormon Beauties." This article is quoted below:

"My stay in Logan amounted to only three months, and therefore I had no time to make the workings of polygamy and get up the usual statistics and deductions preparatory to calling the attention of the nation at large, once home to the matter I had the will to do it. With the coming self-sufficiency of youth I was tempted to abuse in heading and achieve a great reform here—until I saw the Mormon women. Then I was shocked. My heart was warmer than by head. I warmed toward these poor, uneducated and pitifully homely creatures and as I turned to find the feminine stature in my eyes. I said, 'No, the man that carries one of these has done an act of Christian charity which entitles him to the kindly applause of mankind, not harsh sentences, and the man (Continued on Page Four)

Panic Stricken Mortals Gasp As Prexy Falls Face Down

Dies Bravely

Beetled Slightly and Without Further Adieu Fell to Floor
With Dull Sinking Thud.

Without a word's warning, President Roland (Dew) Davis fell dead, a victim of apoplexy, before an astonished and almost panic stricken student body this morning at 8:35 o'clock.

Falls Face Downward

Just as he rose to make a short speech by way of explaining at a special meeting, his program for the remainder of the day he was observed to twist slightly, the corners of his mouth twitched without imperceptible, and without further adieu, pitched face downward to the floor, alighting with a dull sickening thud.

Smith is First to the Rescue

The President's fall, which was the first to overcome her terror and dash to the rescue of the fallen chief. This with one except the student corps to their feet and rushed blither and blither, some carrying their way to the front to assist the President that Davis was awfully alone.

Cries Out for Preston

Students, confused and unsure (presumably a freshman), to try to find Dew Preston. Instantly he and two others rushed from the room and rushed to the doctor's office. After several minutes of vicious pounding on the door they were admitted and being given that the doctor was suffering from doubt and did not wish to be disturbed. He was finally prevailed upon to examine the messengers to the student body of five since the chief, evidently, had been killed.

YELLOW CRAWLER PROFITS ON HIGH SHOE LEATHER

Enormous Revenue Causes
Control of Board; Will Say
No Appointment After April 17

The recent rumor concerning the slough of the Y. C. has been thoroughly investigated and proved correct.

Due to the extensive investigation made, it was found that Logan could no longer have ten colleges, and also one more close, that rumor "you know." The truth of the matter, however, is that due to the increase of cost of the shoe leather, the Yellow Crawler Co. has received great revenues, and has become controller over the Board of Trustees, and intervention will be from their direction.

The committee with "Dew" Davis and President fully the new President, and manager of the company, made the two boys that the Y. C. will close, following April 17, a week of vacation will then be given, and on Monday, April 26, resignation will be held at Salt Lake, on the Y. C. campus.

During the vacation week, all the necessary appointments will be made from the college hall, by the Y. C., and a new track will be laid out in the hall at Salt Lake, on the Y. C. campus.

The Y. C. or what will be called of it will probably be turned into a handsome building, with a suitable (Continued on Page Four)

As we would like to be.

As they would have us.

The most brilliant and impressive entertainment of the spring season was given last Sunday afternoon at the U. A. C. stable. The A. C. club which has been unusually active this year entertained the A. W. S. at noon hours between the hours of 2 and 5. Atlanta with a border of shawls formed the centerpiece for the table. Miss Martha Nether and Ted De Kol was in charge of the dining room. Special music was furnished by the Jones sisters. Heavy refreshments were served in abundance. Everyone had a busy time. The hostess (Miss Nether) demonstrated the character.

The real reason for the Sigma Alpha fraternity being granted a charter of Sigma Chi has just come to light. The Honore Scholarship for 1926 has been awarded to one of their members, Floyd Thomas. Mr. Thomas has turned over his responsibilities at the college library to Plater Jeffs and will spend his time in preparation for the opening of school next fall.

The business had a theater party at the link theater last Friday night. Thirty couples motored there. The party was given in honor of LaVoy Card and Thelma Holdaway. Hospitality in the grand manner of an English inn. Refreshments were thrown around during the show.

Copies of the text "The Proper Use of Grammar" by Deane Greaves are on sale at the bookstore.

THE WORSE THINGS CHURCH

price of said car was the Christ and best on its schedule—street car or disposition never touched, and got too gently, the cow as she crossed the tracks on fourth street fourth east.

Now the "Dean" in his earlier youth, according to the diary of Scribble, held the position of chief engineer when the planning of this same railway was progressing. Therefore his supervision the track was built. This gave him an up-to-date advantage in the case of "Whooop-darling" being hounded, because he knew "the way of the land" so to speak. The Dean on the Dean I should say did not stop to argue with the automobile about the morality of building into town, or who had the right of way by divine right, but instead he appealed for justice at the court on Thursday, next. The trial was set for Monday, or Tuesday, a charge of attempted assault and battery being brought against the "lawyer."

The proceedings on Monday afternoon I was unable to be, and one who knew something about them or who had been at the trial, is being quite necessary that I myself attend Chapel in order to receive my share of the "showers" there, occurred, probably as follows: Judge after the vast congregation had quitted down, reading from paper in hand, "I Frank L. West, hereby charge the Deane and Catherine transcontinental railroad with the sum of three ninety eight ($2.98), for damages received by me, "Whooop-darling" last week as she crossed the tracks owned by the said company."

The Deane (very small voice) "Whooop-darling" besides being crippled for life, due to her having shifted gears at the trial, afflicted with that terrible malady known as asthma. The injury to me is also true because due to the accident the cow has dropped two quarts in her profusion, and also, due to her desire to continue to continue I am obliged to spend a great deal of time pushing air at her in order that she may keep steady. Ladies and gentlemen in the audience, I appeal to you for a fair trial; you, a few of whom have something in common with my cow, "Whooop-darling" in your old age and know the suffering she labors under."

Defendant: "I do not wish to disprove the statements of Mr. West but instead wish to see the price received by the Company."

First, the cowcatcher of the "railroad" was slightly bent in the middle, which deflected from the original alignment. The car Second, Three customers who were waiting for the car decided it would be more profitable to walk than wait, so you see the company lost fifteen cents on that account. Third, We are now threatened by two different ladies who were on the car at the time. The first will undoubtedly bring her case in court, it being very serious; she swallowed a fresh chunk of Ritor Bros. gum when the jolt occurred. The second person, who by the way was paid for seat and then had to stand up, fell headlong into the lap of "Plater" Jeffs, who was on his way to give take of some education. This lady fell into embarrassment over the situation at the time, but "Plater" felt more so, she naturally recovered that and now feels quite ashamed over the accident. She is still dangerous, however, because one can never tell when Mr. Jeffs will let her down, and in doing so cause trouble for the company again. Now Judge I intend to play my trump card. Mr. West, the Dean, sitting over on that bench looking like a "Mid Summer Night's Dream," was the chief plaintiff in this case, and a foundation for that railroad and as a reward for his professional services we feel as if he should be recompensed. How about it Judge, do I win?

"Order in the house" shouts the judge as the congregation applaud with vigor. The Dean is dismissed, take out "Whooop-darling" as you go will you?"

Just a word "While it may be true that pigs never made money, still I remember some fairly heavy returns derived from shoving them around at these past winters."

Why is a circus staid nearby? Because it's all but.

times needed to be said. After the one trip to return the empty cans, can deliver the required amount of milk. During our interview with the new cafeteria head we learned that the simple application of the principle of lower milk costs would save the school about $11.50, which sum would allow A. W. S. representatives the annual convention trip to the Washakie reservation where they hold their rounds.

Mr. Wanlass states it is distinctly understood that he is in sympathy with the democratic character of the bank assumed by Mr. Cooley. For the purpose of maintaining this reason "for-to-fore" condition he has conferred with several of his Washakie establishment and will secure any composition leftovers they may have.

The menu for the opening day under the new management is with food pending investigation by the U. S. D. A. party food inspectors. The Dr. says he will be open at the old hall on Wednesday and that the police window franchise will be steadily matched with plater blue borders.

It is plain to see that the Dr. is counting good will as he has announced a regulation banquet for school graduates at 6 p.m. Wednesday afternoon.

In connection with this revolution, are change in the College we mention old time food word from Mr. Waters, the Managing Director of the New House, Bureau of Salt Lake City, is to the effect that the dining activities at that history.
