Roy Christensen Gives Lecture To German Club

Those few AGES who can understand the "Deutsch" language and other students, greatly enjoyed an interesting slide-lecture last Thursday at 4.00 P. M. in the Plant Industry lecture room.

The lecture was opened by three German songs, followed by an introductory talk by Sterling Richards in which he introduced Herr Roy Christensen.

Mr. Christensen lectured on ties of numerous German ports, including old castles, modern cities, important buildings and monuments, and also the little village where the "Passion Play" is held every seven years. He also illustrated modern and ancient methods of farming, including scythe and sickle harvesting and ox-team plowing with the old peasant and his family.

The lecture was sponsored by the German club of the College called the "Germania-Verin," which promotes interest in the German language, art, science, sports, literature, culture, and customs. The speaker also quent at least one year in Germany, or having taken four quarters of German in College.
