...the university student of today! Who is to settle the turmoil left by another war if it isn't the comparative carefree student of right now? Yet how much does he participate in national problems? What power does his voice carry against capitalism? We must admit, not much.

We don't have an uprising or any snow or violence from American students concerning government. We wonder why there is not more student interest in government or more definite result of that interest if there is any. Perhaps those are problems not worth our time, but we feel that they are paramount right now. We might concern ourselves more about them if we could see what it would do any good. Well, it is something to think about anyway.

student publications. Many of them have been kind enough to favor us with the information desired. We had on file in the office, these letters; each containing a different plan. It may be interesting to note that none of them boast the same haphazard system that we use. These plans have distinct advantages and possibilities which we might employ in a system of our own.
