Number 9

Walter Well, "Messiah" director, rehearses a section of the oratorio with three soloists, June Lacey, Barbara Olsen and Beth Olsen. Maughan McMurdie is accompanist for the oratorio, which will be presented next Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in the Logan L.D.S. Tabernacle.

Handel Oratorio Set For Sunday

"The Messiah," famous oratorio by George Frederick Handel, will be presented Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in the Logan L.D.S. Tabernacle, as the beginning of the Christmas season at the A.C. Under the direction of Prof. Walter Well, a chorus of 130 voices and 11 soloists will perform.

Pres. Richards Will Deliver Smith Serm

President Stephen L. Richards, first counselor in the first presidency, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will deliver the 10th annual Joseph Smith Memorial sermon at the LDS Institute of Religion, Sunday morning at 10:30 a.m.

"Joseph Smith, Prophet-Martyr" is the title of President Richards' address, according to Dr. W. W. Richards, director of the Institute.

Musical numbers will be presented by Con Moto, a chorus under direction of W. H. Terry, and Carl Hill, vocal soloist.

Frank Nuffer will give a scripture reading. Organ selections will be played by Janice Burton. Prayers will be offered by Cecil B. Kenner, counselor in the East Cache LDS stake presidency, and Prof. Ira N. Hayward, counselor in the Cache LDS stake presidency.

Guests at the service will include Dr. Franklin L. West, LDS commissioner of education, and local stake, ward and seminary teachers.

Assisting Dr. Richards with arrangements are Dr. Eugene Campbell and Prof. Wendell O. Rich of the Institute faculty.

Considered one of the best of Handel's works, the Messiah is sung internationally during the Christmas season. The oratorio portrays the birth, ministry, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Soloists for the production include Carl Hill, Brent Nash, June Lacey, Grant Reese, Mary Jane Handy, Beth Olsen, Margaret Segler, Barbara Olsen, Eugene Tuelier, Don Spahnower, and Bill Marshall. Accompanist is Maughan McMurdie.

Handel wrote the Messiah between Aug. 22 and Sept. 14, 1741, a period of only 24 days.

First performance was in Dublin, Ireland, on April 13, 1742, for charitable purposes, with Handel conducting the chorus and orchestra personally.

Schedule Bulletins Available Monday

With the close of fall quarter fast approaching, registration for winter quarter is being readied by faculty committees. Schedule bulletins will be available next Monday at the registrar's office.

A complete list of registration times will be published in Student Life next week. The winter quarter sign-up is slated for Jan. 5, with classes to begin Tuesday, Jan. 6.

Class schedules should be prepared before fall quarter classes in order to facilitate registration next year.

'Corn' Readied For Production

"The finishing touches are now being applied to rehearsals of "The Corn Is Green," a three-act comedy to be presented in the main auditorium next Wednesday through Saturday, at 8:15 p.m.

Tickets for the first student go on sale today in the basement ticket office.

Beth Green, Mrs. Watty; Sydney Reading, Bessie Watty; Carmel Croshaw, Miss Moffat; Arnold Strangham, Robert Robbath; Philip Falier, Morgan Evans; Edwin Rogers, Glen Thomas; Cecil Wells, John Owens; Eldon McLatchie, Will Hughes; and Jay Meservy, old Tom.

Other cast members are Richard Beckman, Weldon Hyer, Barbara Jewett, Lori Burnham, Betty Barker, Delbert Killian, Harry Brunson and Carolyn Conover.

Scenery for the play is being built under the direction of Prof. George Tanner, and students from shop classes. Five girls are among those working on the sets.

The play is set in a Welsh mining village, and begins on a June moon when Miss Moffat, an English spinster settles in the village and starts a school for the boys of the neighborhood.

Morgan Evans, a student, shows promise and Miss Moffat tries to do everything possible for him. Against community objections, she prepares him to apply for a scholarship to Oxford. Young Evans, rebelling against help from a woman, temporarily loses sight of his goal, and succumbs to the charms of a lovely girl.

From there, the play moves to its conclusion.

Author of the three-act drama is E. J. Williams. The play also has been made into a movie, starring Eileen Barrymore.

Concert, Tour Scheduled By Orchestra

Utah State's symphony orchestra will present their annual concert next Tuesday at 11 a.m., in the main auditorium as a student assembly. Dr. N. W. Christianson will direct the orchestra.

Tuesday evening, the orchestra will again be presented in concert. Time is 8:15 p.m. The evening performance is for the public.

The concert will consist of Introduction to Act III of Wagner's opera "Lohengrin," "The King and the Duke" by Richard Rodgers, Brahms Hungarian dances No. 5, 6, and 7 arranged by Martin Schmeling, "Rodeo" by Aaron Copeland, "Symphonie Espagnole" by Lalo, and "Over the Rainbow," from the picture "Wizard of Oz."

Featured soloists will be Mischa Poznanski, Maughan McMurdie, and Beth Olsen. Mr. Poznanski, concert master and violin soloist, will play Symphonie Espagnole. Special orchestration has been ordered for the number so that the orchestra can accompany the solo.

Mr. McMurdie, a senior student in music, will play several piano selections, while Miss Olsen will sing vocal solos.

Following their Logan concerts, the orchestra will go on tour, giving concerts in Preston, McCammon and Blackfoot, Ida., on Wednesday, Thursday, two concerts will be given in Idaho Falls, plus performances in Rigby and Rexburg Thursday. The group will return home Thursday night.

Arrangements for the orchestra to stay overnight in Idaho Falls are being made by Karl T. Homer, an Aggie alumnus.

Tribute Is Paid Editor Vents Views On To Dr. Widdowsoe Wiscissitudes of Life

Last weekend death closed the doors on the mortal life of a great man.

John A. Widdowsoe, fifth president of Utah State college and second-ranking member of the Council of the Twelve Apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, passed away in his Lake City home after an illness of several months. He was 80 years old.

All who are concerned with the education of youth and the improvement of the welfare of mankind must view the passing of Dr. Widdowsoe with sadness. He was a greatly-loved churchman and widely-respected scholar. The Board of Trustees, faculty, students and alumni of USAC feel the loss of this great man with special keenness because of the many contributions which he made to the progress of the institution.

Native of Norway

From an island in Norway, young John Widdowsoe, his brother and his mother came to Logan in 1883. His boyhood and early college years were spent in Cache county where he also received his early church training. Following graduation from Brigham Young college, he attended Harvard university, from which he graduated in three years with highest honors. His M.A. and Ph.D. degrees were won from the University of Göttingen, Germany.

Dr. Widdowsoe first came to Utah State in 1894 as chemistry professor; he later became director of the experiment station. He early distinguished himself as a scientist of the first rank through his significant research here and in Germany.

Far from insuring himself in the laboratory, he gave his knowledge and his inspiration with warm generosity to all with whom he came in contact. His students included not only those on the college campus but the many persons whom he addressed and advised in the Farmers' Institutes which he organized throughout the state.

Dr. Widdowsoe became president of USAC in 1907, in a time of turmoil and uncertainty for the institution. With wise, firm and loving leadership he brought much strength to the college. By broadening the curriculum and raising the standards of research and teaching he brought the institution into its full heritage as one of the great land-grant colleges of the United States.

Because of his forward-looking leadership in extension education, Utah is credited by authorities as having had the first county agricultural agent and the first home demonstration agent in the nation.

President Widdowsoe, aided by Mrs. Widdowsoe, was a leading part in initiating a nationwide movement for the scientific improvement of the home.

Pioneered Technical Aid

Through his scientific books and papers, through his leadership in scientific organizations, and through the preparation of students in science for service abroad, Dr. Widdowsoe was one of the pioneers in the movement to give America's scientific and technical strength to backward foreign lands.

We of the Utah State college are grateful for the many contributions which this great and good man has given to our institution, to other educational institutions and to mankind in general. Through his wise and sympathetic teaching, his skill in writing, his power as an administrator and his inspirational leadership of men and women, young and old, he has exerted a many-sided influence which will never die.

The best way to fail, some philosopher once said, is to try to please everyone. Now, we at Student Life certainly don't have that as our motto, but as of late, we've been aware of a discontent among the studentbody about our newspaper.

Complaints Received

This apparent discontent has been voiced to us by many, and undoubtedly there are as many others, or perhaps more, who feel the same way, but have not spoken to us about it. For a campus as small as ours, this dissatisfaction with a student newspaper is not the best of attitudes.

Therefore, we feel it only right that we tell you our side of the story, and explain some of the reasons why we are not able to give you the type of newspaper even we ourselves would like to see come out each week.

First, our problem is finances. Naturally, our budget just isn't big enough to provide funds for a big paper. We, the staff, would like to publish a 12-page paper each week, but if we did so, Student Life would probably be a one-quarter paper, and the other two quarters you might get a mimeographed sheet once a month.

Funds Reduced

Two years ago, the student council allotted $5,000 for Student Life. Two years ago, costs were not nearly so high as they now are, and the money went further. Last year, the budget allocated was $4800 for Student Life, and even on that budget, very few 12-page papers appeared. But this year, our budget given by the student council is only $4,000, plus $200 from the faculty studentbody card revenue. We were hampered last year by a lack of funds, and we're in even worse shape this year as far as finances go.

It is a physical impossibility for us as editors to have limited by one of our two special 16-page editions at Christmas time and Agathon, the "gripes" paper. We must cut down some articles, rewrite many others, and just leave out many more.

We feel that if we had funds to publish a 12-page paper each week, with one or two special 16-page editions at Christmas time and Agathon, the "gripes" about the paper would cease.

With a large paper we would be able to run more humor than we have had. We could run more pictures and get more names into the paper. Stories could be more complete, and some types of reading to please everyone would be guaranteed.

Now, secondly, a problem arises because of the smallness of the paper about our advertising. We are limited by an eight-page paper to approximately 225 inches of advertising. The Logan merchants have given wonderful support to our paper, and it is very hard for us to refuse advertising. But, because our space is limited, we have had to turn down advertisers, whose dollars could have been a big help to us. A 12-page paper each week would provide adequate space for all who wanted to get their messages before you students.

Opinions Requested

Well, there is a problem. We'd like to hear from you about our difficulties. We want you to know that we as the editors are not deliberately leaving material out. We find ourselves in a situation that is not of our own making, but one which we must bear, and bear it we will. We hope you will write us and give us your opinions about the paper, and what we might do to solve this dissatisfaction among Aggies?

Due to the windows and lights.

Overall the lighting was unsatisfactory according to illuminating engineers' standards, but because the day was cloudy, I felt that was not a good time to make a judgment.

I took the light meter over in the evening and that is what I found. (Assuming that 20 foot-candles is adequate, the following percentages show where the light is unsatisfactory and hence unfair to the students' eyes.)

Reference counter 25 to 50% of recommended.

Reference desk 50%.

Remeron reading tables 40 to 50 with an average of 15%.

An average of 36 readings in the main reading room of the library showed that there is only about 35% adequate light with NOT ONE single place up to standard.

The reserve library is the best place to study with a whopping 75% average, and ranging from 50% to 100%.

The intensity of light is, however, only one factor in good lighting and if a real study were made of the problem many other things would need to be considered.

It looks as if the plaintiff was justified. I'm lucky. I've got a place to study where the light is good.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick

"Well, anyone who takes 'Modern Dance' deserves a little more."

HUBBARD'S CUPBOARD

Students Neglect Arts

BY DEON W. HUBBARD
Student Body President

I attended a funeral Tuesday.

A building on this campus bears this man's name. He went to school here, he taught here, and he was president here. He added something to the world and left it better off because of him. John A. Widdowsoe gave and left part of his life to this college. Will men be able to say that about ourselves?

You know there are a lot of things to consider when writing a newspaper column. There are things to write which it is often difficult to decide which to write. For instance it would be easy to write a whole column about Dr. Widdowsoe. Also our marching band has just completed a very successful season and I'm sure a full page could be written to compliment them on their achievements.

Shakespeare Ignored

I could spend a column telling about a faculty member I wish you all knew, a man whose judgment of the cultural arts I respect. Yes, I was talking to Prof. H. Reuben Reynolds after the Barter Theater production of "The Merchant of Venice," and I was asked, "Where are the students?"

I don't believe 10 per cent of the Aggie students saw the play which Prof. Reynolds praised as good, and said "I'll give my student body a devil tomorrow for not seeing it."

I don't recall seeing very many of our faculty members there, either, nor do I remember any of them mentioning the play in any of my classes, nor did I see them at the last assembly to hear Richard L. Evans.

Students and faculty alike — we are lazy. Too many students are in college for a diploma — not an education. Too many of the faculty are here for a job — not to teach. Shakespeare with his "Merchant of Venice" taught more wisdom than any 5-hour course on the campus. Yet because no roll call was taken, or because we didn't get credit for going, or because we are so wrapped up in our own little lives, we didn't take the energy to go.

Maybe this is an agricultural college and we aren't supposed to know anything but cows; however, I'll defend the agricultural students with my belief that more of them are taking advantage of opportunities than a student on the campus.

Fraternities and sororities include in their purposes the fostering of cultural activities, often not attending or encouraging their members to attend, they occasionally plan a which compete.

I'd guess Lund Hall or more students Monday night at the college auditorium, and offer the local movie world Hollywood cheese-cake with the patronage Shakespeare. Students living off campus do well to break away from apartments and see what the campus some night, to the rest of the world live. Let's get an education, a degree, a broad education, a degree.

Debate Journey Matters Nerves

State Debators returned their trip to Denver, Colo., with many tales to tell. The most interesting and humorous of the misfortunes encountered by the enthusiastic debaters was the wreck of the car which added to the excitement of the occasion. Early in the morning, it was learned, a car traveling westward had overturned several members of Utah State Debating Team. The accident hit a tractor. Luckily, the accident occurred near the school and the occupants of the disintegrator were not seriously injured. A ride to Salt Lake City would have solved every problem except that their "Good Guy" contracted a flat tire during a short distance. It was not until the car was towed to a modern conveniences. The accident was a loss of time. The accident itself produced surprising results for members of the Utah State Debating Team. After the first three debates, Royce was thrown into a state of confusion when he discovered that he had misplaced all his debate material. After a futile search, Harr borrowed some stray cards from his fellow debaters and ad libbed his way through the two remaining rounds. Imagine his surprise when he learned that he had won both contests. Now I see why Arthur Godfrey made good.

20 to 0 Defeat
The "Coup De Grace" came when our debaters learned that the Aggies had lost their Thanksgiving game with Utah by a score of 20 to 0. On the way home, some University debaters who shared the same chartered bus, who had no knowledge of the final score, bet our hero, Royce Harr, five dollars that the University had beat the Aggies 56 to 6. "That guy had it made!"

Unfortunately, Royce didn't accept the bet, which just goes to show that Aggies are "poor but honest". Well folks, that's the life of a debator.

Traveling Thespians Double As Stage, Lighting Hands

In less than two hours Monday the stage in the Main auditorium was transformed from a 20th century setting to one of the 16th century and in half that time was restored to its original setting.

The stage was set for the traveling Barter Theater production of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice," which was presented Monday afternoon and evening.

The 22-member company travels with a bus and a large van. Scenery for the Shakespearean play and for Moss Hart's "Light Up the Sky," which the company also presents, is stacked in the van.

The scenery includes a ramp, flats, lights and lighting equipment. When the company arrived in Logan at 10:30 a.m., every member of the company went to work carrying the scenery onto the stage and putting it into place. All actors become stage hands for the mantling and dismantling processes.

Lauren Farr, who plays Tubal and Leonardo in the play, is stage manager. Under his direction, a house and ramp are erected, the street scenes are put into place, and the rooms of the house and the court of justice are set.

It generally takes about two hours to set up the stage and one hour to tear down the scenery, Mr. Farr says. One of the biggest tasks in preparing the scenery is erection of a light bridge.

Because all members of the company combine their efforts in setting the stage for the plays, it is possible for the group to travel to more cities and towns with fewer people. Each person plays one to three characters on stage and in addition serves as an electrician, carpenter, or stage hand.

College officials point out that this is an opportunity for transfer students or others who have not had a good opportunity to take the

LDS Institute Draws Leaders

I'm too busy for religion, there are too many questions it can't answer, and I can get along without it.

College students who say they are not religious usually offer one of these three reasons, according to Dr. Adam S. Bennion, featured speaker at the first annual religious institute held at Utah State college.

The institute, held Nov. 21, was attended by religious leaders from as far north as Randolph and south to Davis county. Students of many denominations also attended.

John Willis, president of the Student Religious council, announced that it would be an annual affair.

The importance, or lack of importance, of religion in college life and in world problems was discussed in several workshops led by students and spiritual leaders of varying faiths.

Students and religious leaders mingled at open houses following the Denver game.

John Willis asks that students watch for future activities which the religious council plans to sponsor winter and spring quarters.

Symphonic Band

Students who plan to be in the Symphonic Band winter quarter should meet Friday, Dec. 5 and 12, in the band room, Main 32, at 1 p.m. All those interested bring instruments.

All men who are enrolled this quarter in military band should meet in Main 32, Thursday, Dec. 4 and 11 at 1 p.m.

Lind, Storey Take Honors At 35-School Forensic Meet

Two members of the Aggie forensic squad took honors at the Western Association tournament held at Denver university, Nov. 25-27.

Charlene Lind took second place in the junior women's division extemporaneous speaking contest. Loraine Storey placed third in discussion in the upper women's division.

"Competition in all divisions extremely stiff," said Dr. B. Robinson. Thirty-five schools from ten states attended.

In early February, the team will participate in the Midwestern Speech meet, to be held at State.

Agathon Posts Open; Stephens Is Named

Allen Stephens, councilman for the School of Agriculture, has been appointed chairman of Agathon by student council, according to President Deon Hubbard.

Agathon, which is an "educational fair," will be held April 30 and May 1 and 2. High school students from Utah, Idaho, and Wyoming will visit the campus to participate in Agathon events and to see the displays. It is also anticipated that the dedication of the building will be held at that time.

Events that are being planned for the educational fair include departmental displays, variety show, judging contest for the state Future Farmers of America, region one track meet and other athletic contests. There will also be a dance with a name band to furnish the music, a band concert and a sneak preview of the school play that will be presented the week following Agathon.

Application Open

Eldon Drake is faculty adviser working with the student chairman.

"Applications are now open for students who want to work on the following committees: dance, high school relations, variety show, displays, student union building, queen contest, assistant chairman, secretary, publicity and assembly," Mr. Stephens said. Applications should be turned in to the student body office by Dec. 8.

As Major Councilman, Mr. Stephens, a senior, is majoring in agricultural education. He is president of Alpha Tau Alpha, national honorary agricultural fraternity. He is a member of the intramural staff and a former member of the election board. Mr. Stephens is also a member of Delta Phi.

As a student councilman, his special assignment is chairman of the public relations committee. He is also responsible for printing the campus signs.

Award Deadline For Quarter Is January 14

Deadline for submitting student award points which were earned during fall quarter this year or the last part of spring quarter last year is January 14, according to Anna Marie Heyrend, council chairman for awards.

All organization heads are urged to submit the points for their groups, since any student who earns 50 points this year will be entitled to attend the awards banquet in the spring. Students who accumulate 200 points during their college years will receive an "A" award at the banquet.

"Requests have been made that the awards system be altered to meet the needs of the students more fully. Because of the time necessary to make a adequate change, we will be unable to adopt a new system this year," Miss Heyrend said.

Any organization head who does not receive an application blank from the awards committee is requested to contact Miss Heyrend, phone 230-NW or Charlene Lind at Land hall.

Career Confab Committee Cast

Committee members and the date have been selected for a career conference sponsored by the Associated Women students.

Judice Burton will be chairman of the conference which will be held Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, Feb. 17-19.

Purpose of the conference is to give aid to students in selecting their careers, or choosing opportunities within their major fields of study.

The regular weekly assembly hour on Feb. 17 will be used as a kick-off meeting for the conference. Sectional meetings, divided on the basis of Harris, seven schools of the college, will follow on Wednesday and Thursday.

Speakers from the Intermountain Area will address the meetings. Individual consultations with the guest speakers will be held following each of the sessions.

Members of the conference committee, in addition to Miss Burton, are: Diane Coray, secretary; Dean W. Women Leah Farr, adviser; Glenn Bradley, engineering and technology; Sam Alfano, forestry; Darwin Larson, commerce; Dr. Thelma Fogelberg, arts and sciences; James J. Harris, education; Charlene Lind, home economics; Gordon Ashcroft, agriculture, and chairman secretary, publicity and

Redskins Capture Turkey Tilt, 20-0

Sightin' In

BY LARRY MONROE

Well this spot in the paper is just about obsolete with the passing of the great seasons to the land of sky blue waters. You can still hunt ducks, but the only guy brave enough to go out in this weather got carted off to Provo the other day after his neighbors complained about him shooting skeet in his front yard.

Wild Olive—Wild Dream?

I have been wondering of late as I watch the white stuff pile up on the hills hereabouts, what ever became of the wild olive plants that the fellows down in the School of Forestry were going to bring over from the middle eastern countries to plant in our hills. The advertisers claim to this plant was that it would provide winter browse for the deer that came down into the foothills to spend the winter. According to one of our exchange students this plant did everything but bear tomatoes and play the fiddle.

A Matter of 10 Minutes

If the deer that I shot at this fall are any indication of the average velocity of deer in feet per second, then it would only take these furred friends about 10 minutes to hit Miami, Florida.

George Mitton tells me that a trusty rifle neglected becomes a rusty trifle.

And with that mine friends it becomes obvious that there is nothing more to say. So take care.

"Finish" is the thought of the Utah gridmen this week as they wind up another season of football.

The Ends in Sight

Starting slow but gradually progressing the Aggies go into their final game with a three win and three loss record for the Skyline conference. Two of the three wins came late in the season when the Farmers overpowered B.Y.U. and Denver. Early in the season the Aggies edged past the Montana Grizzlies. The three losses at the hands of Wyoming, Colorado A & M and Utah.

The remaining Aggie game is with the University of Mexico.

Aggie Offense Falters In Cold, Wet Weather

BY ROD JENSEN

University of Utah and Utah State agreed on one point (believe it or not) following the Redskins' 20-0 whitewash of the Aggies on Thanksgiving Day:

Playing football in 15-degree weather is no fun. But they weren't alone in scoffing at Jupe Pluvius, for 13,090 shivering fans wished they'd remained at home with the turkey.

Despite the grey skies and frozen turf, Coach Jack Curtice's rampaging Redskins rolled over Utah State for the sixth straight time to hang up their second Skyline Conference championship in two years.

Utah beat the Aggies so convincingly on the ground that there was nothing left even if the Statoids could have plucked a passing attack out of the icy air.

Ag Defense Falters

The Redskins gobbled up 328 yards by running, a surprise to most people who had watched Utah State's tenacious defensive line hold like the Rock of Gibraltar so often this season.

Scoring came early in the second quarter when the Utes rambled 74 yards in a scorching series of plays. Jack Cross, a hard-running junior, was the big gun in the drive, but halfback Gene Plaga took credit for the touchdown.

begin tomorrow night when the Aggies clash with the University of Colorado at Boulder City. The Ags then meet the Buffs in a second game next Monday.

Fifteen members of the squad will take the trip, leaving here Friday. These are: Bill Hull, Eob Harbertson, Jack Clark, Don Tuft, Nate Done, Frank Condie, Bob Springman, Ivan Alired Cordell Brown, Lee Boothe, Bart Johnson, Glen Weight and Jim Ertz.

when he smashed across from the one-yard line.

Utah pounced on a Hal Garner fumble to set up its second touchdown minutes later. Garner dropped the slippery pigskin on his own 20, following Carter Cowley's long punt.

George Bean hung up the six points, after he and Kay Bernson had carried to the eight-yard line. Charlie Kalani kicked both extra points to give his wates a 14-0 half-time bulge.

Cool And Overcast

Things didn't warm up at all for Utah State's offense in the second half, although the Aggie defense did tighten slightly. In fact, the Ags still insist that an illegal-use-of-hands penalty charged against Larry Montgomery should never have been called.

At any rate, it was this infraction that enabled Utah to creep into Aggie territory for its final touchdown. Bernson and Seth Branham were the ball carriers in the drive, with Branham bucking over from the one.

Last Chance

Utah State threatened once—near the end of the third period when safety man Leron Johnson intercepted a pass from Don Rydahl and returned it to the Utah nine-yard line.

The Farmers couldn't go, however, and after Earl Lindley threw two incomplete passes the Utes took possession and made sure their friends from Logan would never again get such a golden opportunity.

Outstanding in the game for Utah State was George Hotchkiss, all-conference end; Bud Paul, Russ McGraw, Leron Johnson, Don Smith and Matt Trontel. McGraw, all-conference linebacker, was in on 26 tackles during the fray.

Bert Cook Stars at Fort Lee

BY GARY R. BLODGETT

Bert Cook, 1951 Aggie hoop star and top scorer of the Skyline conference the past two seasons, is now starring for the Fort Lee Travelers.

Cook was inducted into the armed services immediately after graduation and is now stationed at Fort Lee Virginia training center.

Just Like Home

It's just like home (almost) for Cook as he is stationed at the Virginia base with LaVell Edwards center of last year's Ag football team, and Jim Garrett. Garrett was the fullback of last year's squad.

Cook is rounding into shape with The Travelers with hopes of playing professional ball at the end of his two years. He has already signed a contract to play with the New York Knickerbockers upon his release.

"Femurals"

With all-campus ping pong and volleyball both ending this week, intramural ping pong takes the limelight. The field was cut in half after the first round of games last week.

In the all campus ping pong tournament, Judy Golding snatched the championship cup for the second consecutive year. Runners-up were Yvonne Rippon, Bernie Tomlinson, and Deon Johnson, in that order. One more game remains to be played to determine the winners for doubles. Deon Johnson and Bernie Tomlinson will be competing against Yvonne Rippon and Joellyn Pingree.

Volleyball Stuff

Lambda Delta Sigma held the lead in intramural volleyball at the last report. Tonight's game between Sigma Kappa and Kappa Delta will close the activity and determine the final team standings.

Ski enthusiasts can start polishing their equipment, because the recent snowfall has prompted the Intramural Council to start planning for the Winter Carnival.

Kerr Hall Is Named Mural Wrestle King

Kerr Hall, managed by Jack Allen, made it two in a row when they led the field in the 1952 Intramural Wrestling Meet with 25 points. Second place was won by the Wellsville club; P.K.A. and Sigma Chi tied for third place with 23 points; fourth place was another tie with S.A.E. and S.P.E. each gaining 18 points.

Big Help for Kerr

Dick Pouliot who won the 187 pound class, was a big help for Kerr Hall in gaining its second championship of the Club Team League. Dick was a bright star in the meet, winning by a fall over every opponent he met. The 187 pound champion is only a freshman, with many hopes of big moments ahead.

S.A.E. Ties

S.A.E. had Dave Kotter, who went through the meet defeating all his opponents by a pin, yet the classy 177 pound wrestler was not enough spark to give S.A.E. top honors. Second place in the Fraternity League last year, S.A.E. could only muster a tie with S.P.E. right under Sigma Chi and P.K.A. this year, despite Dave Kotter's brilliant chain of victories.

Other Champs for '52

Fort Lee squad, Cook scored 16 and 19 points. Last year with the Aggies he scored an average of 18 points per game and nosed out Glen Smith of Utah for scoring honors. Cook also led the conference in foul shots.

Bert started his basketball career in his home town grade school at Plain City. Cook then attended Weber high school where he lettered in football, baseball, basketball and track.

In 1948, Cook led his high school team to its first State basketball title. Cook was selected as a member of the All-State team and odd

1952 intramural wrestling champions were crowned last week after a series of elimination bouts. Basketball Is Highlight Of Winter Intramurals

BY BILL BOWLES

Basketball will be the final sport on the 1952 fall schedule of Intramural sports, announced the Physical Education department. The teams scheduled to play in the "A" basketball tournament this year, show hopes of having some of the best talent Intramurals have had in some time, the department added.

Last Year's Champs

Last year's winners of the respective leagues, Fraternity, Club teams and Department were: S.A.E. in the Fraternity league when it defeated L.D.S. 23-13 in the final game; the Wildcat team, managed by Don Law, defeated Kerr Hall 20-17 to win the Club league championships; the Faculty better known as (The Pudgy Five) was the overall champs last season. First the Faculty won the Department-league championship, then in the All-Campus playoff they defeated S.A.E. by one point 36-35.

Tuesday at noon in the Field House found Sigma Nu playing Kappa Sigma to start the Fraternity action while Brigham City was playing the Bobcats in Smart Gym to begin the action in the Department and Club leagues.

First Week's Schedule

The schedule for the first weeks action in both the Field house and Smart Gym for this 23 team basketball tournament is as follows:

as it may seem, played the entire tournament with a sprained ankle. Sound like Cook was a great athlete? Well, ask any coach who knows.

the Smart Gym game time will be 12 o'clock, (Dec. 3) the Ag. Club will go into action against the Wellsville team, (Dec. 4) the Faculty will play Kerr Hall, (Dec. 5) finds the Wildcats pitted against the Forresters. In the Field house action begins at noon, (Dec. 3) Sigma Chi will play last year's champ of the fraternities S.A.E. (Dec. 4) Sigma Pi will go against L.D.S. (Dec. 5) Delta Phi is pitted against S.P.E.

P.K.A. is the only team not seeing action this week in the fraternity league. In the Department and Club league the teams not playing this week are: the Canadian club; Bear Lake; Nebo-Alpine; Malad, Newman, and the Engineers.

The Winter quarter has been modified some from the way it was previously scheduled in the Intramural Handbook, the Physical Education department, announced, in order to make room for an open date in January for the Junior Prom.

Or, Use Not Far Off

Ray Watters, supervisor for Intramural Sports, advises, all teams to select their candidate for queen of the Open House activities will start on January 22.

The rest of the winter quarter schedule and dates are Winter Carnival which will be the week of Feb. 9-14. "B" basketball will begin Feb. 23 for the Fraternities
