'Life Requests Review Of Symons' Transfer

Dean Joseph N. Symons has been asked by the Board of Trustees to accept a position as acting head of the sociology department, a transfer which naturally would take him from duties as Dean of Students.

We are still uncertain why the Board took this action. Apparently, the decision was reached when the board met in Logan, Dec. 13. The Board again discussed the matter at their January meeting, last Friday and Saturday in Salt Lake City.

However, there has been no official announcement from the Board to explain their action.

'Life Open For Review

Believing that we as students have the right to know why such actions are taken, we would like to ask the Board to review the entire issue. The pages of STUDENT LIFE are open to this review, and we will welcome the opportunity to present a review by the board.

We talked this week with Thorpe B. Isaacson at his office in Salt Lake, and he assured us that if the proper procedures were followed, our request would be brought before the Board.

Chairman Lauds Symons

As we talked with Chairman Isaacson, he expressed the opinion that the Board has high regard for Dean Symons. Speaking individually, Isaacson told us:

"I have very high regard for Dean Symons, both as a man, and as an educator and a teacher. In fact, I'm quite fond of him personally.

"I sincerely hope that Dean Symons will remain at the college. He's been here a long time, and is very capable, and I have urged President Madsen to do everything in his power to urge the Dean not to act in haste, and to remain at the College during his active career in education. Certainly there is a place at the College for him. We need men like Dean Symons."

We conferred Tuesday with President Madsen, and are glad to note that he expressed his complete confidence in Dean Symons.

Rumors Exaggerate Truth

We too would like to express our confidence in him. We know not why the Board has taken this action. We have heard rumors—you have probably heard the same ones—but rumor spreads, and mushrooms far beyond the truth, and no trust can be placed in mere rumor. That is why we feel that a review of the problem is the only way we can get the facts.

We shall follow the necessary procedures to get a letter before the Board. They are meeting in Logan, Feb. 13 and 14.

Influence Would Be Missed

In our work with Dean Symons, we have found him to be competent, efficient, and very cooperative. We would hate to lose his services from the student personnel office, and would also hate to see his influence go from the college.

Dean Symons, President Madsen and Chairman Isaacson were meeting Wednesday in Salt Lake City. We hope that the issues get ironed out. But most of all, we hope that the Board will give us an opportunity to present the facts to you through a review published in STUDENT LIFE.

Letters to the Editor . . .

Editorial Praised

Editor, Student Life:

Hats off to the Student Life! Your editorial in the last edition concerning the outrageous conditions prevailing at the Aggie-BYU basketball game could not have been better timed and could not have been better if the hundreds of bruised and battered "paying customers" had said it themselves! It is unanimously agreed that the organization was appalling. I only hope that your timely suggestions will not be overlooked.

I'm sure that students and reserved seat purchasers were just as distressed the other night as the worn out mob that bucked a two hour line only to be herded into a mauling snake pit. If something isn't done about it, our college will only be picking up another bad name. (I heard many remarks from Provo residents.) Here's to happier basketball games!

Opinions Aired

Editor, Student Life:

The January 8 issue of "Student Life" carried the notice that "... the college tradition of no smoking" will prevail here as in other buildings on campus. In view of the fact that the new Union Building, unlike the other buildings on the campus, is owned by, and operated for, the students of this college, this announcement seems to me to be rather high-handed.

The rule is readily understandable when applied to buildings whose main purpose is the education of the student body, but becomes rather questionable when applied to a building whose purpose is mainly recreational. It seems to me that, at the least, the question could be submitted to the students for a vote. Or is the policy of "our" building to be decided without our knowledge or consent?

Another column in the same issue mentioned the fact that last fall's issue of "Scribble" had been held back for a review of questionable material.

May I suggest that mimeographed reprints of the article in question be sent to the various clubs and organizations on the campus for a vote, with the issue being resolved by a vote of organizations, rather than individuals? This method would enable students to hear the opinions of others on the subject at the regular organizational meetings.

One other suggestion which I would like to make in this letter: At the time in the future when all the proposed recreational equipment has been installed in the new Union Building, I sincerely hope that the gentlemen's sport of billiards will not have been neglected. By billiards I do not mean pocketed billiards, or pool, but genuine, dyed-in-the-wool three-cushion billiards. Let us have at least one game which requires both physical and mental skill.

HUBBARD'S CUPBOARD

Administration Should Consult Student Body

BY DEON HUBBARD
Studentbody President

Utah State college has as its sole purpose, with the exception of research and experiment, the education of students. The college was built for students, and the administration and faculty are hired for the purpose of teaching and training students. The Board of Trustees has been appointed by the Governor for the purpose of setting policy for the administration of the college in behalf of the students. Therefore, in any phase of college activity the students not only should be considered, but should be taken into account first, and in no phase of the cycle of authority should any other motive enter than the education of the student. As I sift over the rumors of the recent "transfer" of the Dean of Students,

I question if this rule has been followed.

Any move to "transfer" our present Dean should come from the students. I know of no general discontent or move to instigate this change. In fact, it apparently came to most students as a surprise.

The Kelly survey contained questions concerning the present personnel but apparently registered no real discontent.

Progress is identified with change. No man is indispensable and it is likely that there is someone, somewhere, better qualified to do a job than the man who is doing it. This fact alone is not disturbing to me. I'm certain, for example, that there are many individuals who could serve as student-body president better than I.

If this is the case with our Dean then I suppose progress has been made. If the board has a better Dean to appoint then we as students should have no complaint about the end objective.

There is a question in the form of an old adage which asks "Does the end justify the means?"

Student Council, the duly elected leaders of our college and the body which probably has to work as closely with the Dean of Students as any campus group, was not contacted in any way for money in this matter. In problems concerning student body cannot students be considered contacted?

15 Students File Insurance Claims

Over fifteen claims were made against student insurance during fall quarter, reports Harold Dance, local agent.

Payments averaging fifteen dollars a claim were made for injuries received in intramural sports, automobile accidents while on school business, and in some cases falls on the campus.

The insurance has amazingly wide coverage for its low cost, Mr. Dance stated.

Dean Joseph N. Symons would like to encourage all students to get insurance. All too often those getting in trouble are the ones that are without insurance, he observed.

Insurance is available at any time in the student personnel office in the Main and at the nurses office in the Smart Gym. The cost is .65 cents per quarter or $1.90 a year.

Students Should Obtain Decals

The parking problem on the campus is being complicated by students who have neglected to get decals for their cars, according to Prof. C. D. McBride of the

Open House Slated for Wednesday Evening

Judging Takes Place Tuesday For Queen

BY BILL BOWLES

Beauty, personality and scholarship achievements are the qualities the queens of the 1953 Open House must have plenty of. This is one witness who had a sneak preview and vainly tried to utter a worthy description, but the only sound that could be understood was "they're loaded." This about describes the nine beautiful candidates who are bidding for the Queen of Open House.

Tuesday Is It

Tuesday, Jan. 20, will be the day the judges will have the difficult job of picking a queen and two attendants from a group so lovely that all could be called a queen. Remember, ladies, to be in the Main auditorium at noon to witness the judging—no sense in telling the men—they will probably camp over night anyway.

The poor gents who have to pick a winner but sit up front to see her are Professor Moyle Q. Rice from the English department; Ray Waters from the Physical Education department; Major G. M. Hensley representing the Military department, Lester C. Pocock from student housing and employment, and Everett C. Thorpe, who represents the Art department.

Here's How

Here are some of the qualities the girls have that the judges must decide which is best: Beauty, which is worth 30%, is broken down to many parts: The face with a smooth complexion, silken hair and stary eyes. Figures like Marilyn Monroe, legs like Betty Grable, a bust like who else—the one and only Jane Russell, hips like—who am I to know the ones you watch, waist like maybe Vera Ellen, and ankles like the Swedish Angel (only fooling, boys). Next comes a sweet smile with only a touch of dare. The appearance follows—any suggestions on how they should appear?

Leaving the beauty, as much as we hate to, we must watch and listen to the personality for 15%. Remember you can't always look, you must sometimes hear, so watch close for this in the queen of the year. Last but not least comes the intelligence test, 15% for scholastic achievements. These girls

Ags Lose to Pokes, Drop Heartbreaker to Colorado

Misfortune struck twice last week as the Utah State Aggies dropped a pair of conference hoop tilts to Wyoming 74-64 and Colorado A&M 78-76.

The Utags, previously beaten by the Brigham Young Cougars 72-66, are in last place with a three loss record. The Aggies have failed to win a single game since capturing the Holiday Festival championship at Madison Square Garden, New York, during the Christmas holidays.

Tired Ags

Coach Baker's crew, tired and travel weary from the eastern jaunt, lacked the mental spirit to pull through against the Cowboys at Laramie and were downed 74-64.

It was against the Cowpokes that

Bob Harbertson, outstanding floor man for the Aggie aggregation, suffered a leg injury and failed to finish the game. Harbertson was also lost to the Ags the following night due to the injury.

Tucker led the Farmer parade with 21 points. Hull wasn't far behind with 19.

At Fort Collins

It was a nip and tuck affair at Fort Collins throughout four periods before the Rams from Colorado "getting some out of the world breaks" downed the Aggies in an overtime stanza.

At the close of the regulated game the score was knotted 60-60.

Laughs, Bumps And Cute Gals Mark Escapade

Utah State's annual intramural extravaganza, the colorful and fun-packed Open House, will be produced next Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the field house. Over 400 contestants will keep the spectators entertained in the circus-like precision that features team and individual sports and feats of skill in three ring style. The event is sponsored by the college's department of physical education and recreation as a part of the intramural program.

Pi Kappa Alpha is the defending team champion of the Open House that offers competition in all phases of the event from the precision of the grand entry to the effectiveness of the decorations and pyramid building.

A crowning of the annual queen of the event will be announced at the mid-way point of the event. The queen will be chosen in competition next Tuesday at 11 a. m. in the auditorium and chosen from: Palma Lundahl, Patti Buehler, LaVon Jensen, Rita Schiffman, Annette Brock, Carol Felix, Joe Ann Forsgren, Helen Bergeson, and Lucilla May.

Other events on the program will include the obstacle race, chin ups, different types of wrestling, dizzy race, and many others.

Ray Waters is the faculty advisor of the intramural program and Dick Motta is the student manager.

In the overtime period the Aggies took a six point lead but hardly had a chance to capitalize on it as the referees got whistle-happy and consistently called the Utags for traveling and palming the ball. With this playing an important role, the Farmers were defeated 78-76.

Behold . . . Darrel Tucker and Jack Clark will play against the University of Utah tonight.

Tucker resprained his ankle in last week's encounter with Colorado A&M but in an interview with him yesterday he indicated he feels fine and hopes to see action against the Utes. Clark, who also suffered a sprained ankle in the Ram contest, will also be ready for Thursday night's play.

Temper! Temper Tucker!

After losing a close 78-76 overtime game to the Rams, Tucker, disgusted with his ankle injury and the fact that the Aggies lost the game, kicked the locker room door—adding insult to injury.

Bob Harbertson pulled a leg muscle in the Wyoming contest and is doubtful of seeing action tonight.

Ice Hockey Begins

Even though there are few people who realize it, there is an ice-hockey team at Utah State. Known as the Mountaineers, the team from Aggeland dropped their first encounter to the Icelanders from Salt Lake City, 6-2.

Anyone interested in playing hockey for the Mountaineers should contact Dick Riley at Kerr Hall.

Utah State's hockey team, the Mountaineers, dropped their first contest of the season last Saturday to the Icelanders of Salt Lake City by a 6-2 score. Lack of freezing weather forced the contest to be played on the artificial ice of the Iceland arena in Salt Lake City.

Player manager Walt Wilde, a native of British Columbia, sparked the team's offensive drives with help from the team's three forward lines, and defensive help from goalie Jim Johnson, Wabash, Ind. Wilde, a graduate student working for his doctor's degree here at the college, is the pioneer leader behind the two year old hockey team that has now begun to play amateur teams throughout Utah and Idaho. The members share traveling expenses among themselves and have received some equipment from the athletic department at the college.

If weather conditions permit, the Mountaineers hope to set up a rink on the quadrangle and bring in some opponents to show local sportsmen what hockey has to offer as a spectator sport.

Anyone interested in playing hockey for the Mountaineers should contact Dick Riley at Kerr Hall.

SAE Wins 'A' Hoop Crown

Basketball champions is the handle which has been attached to Sigma Alpha Epsilon after its walloping of Delta Phi to the lopsided score of 36-21 in the championship game. S.A.E. now holds the honor of two championships in a row in the Fraternity League "A" basketball tournament after the victory over Delta Phi.

The Club and Department League found a well balanced Wells-ville squad rudely shock a flat-footed Drones team to the better than double score of 31-14. The game was a little ragged around the edges but Coach Roning would have been pleased to see the sharp, keen blocking of Tom Lorenat and John Karnick. The coronation of the Wells-ville squad for the winner of the 1952-53 championship title of the Club and Department League followed the free-for-all contest.

Following the red hot "A" basketball tournament, all hands shift into preparation for Open House under the guiding reins of H. B. Hunsaker, director of physical education and supervisor of intramural sports, Ray Watters.

Femorals

A full agenda of activities has been slated for winter quarter, with basketball heading off the list. The women's gym will be open every day for groups who wish to sharpen up with a little practicing. Games will be played off starting next week. If anyone has any problems, get in touch with Deon Johnson, basketball manager.

Carnival But No Winter
Winter carnival is set for February 14 at Beaver Bowl. According to Bette Reese, women's sport manager for the event, the women's teams will be required to enter the slalom and downhill races. Snowshoe and snow sculpture competition will be conducted on the quad prior to that date. Teams are only required to enter two of the three fields.

For The Gals
Later on in the quarter, badminton and water baseball are scheduled. Plans have been laid to increase the number of independent teams, so anyone interested in joining the quarter's activities may do so by handing her name in to the intramural office in Smart gym.

April 8 is the date which has been selected for the Dance Contest.

Seating Project Progresses

Progress is being made on the fieldhouse seating project, and at least major portions of the job should be completed before the end of the current basketball season, Joe E. Whitesides, athletic director, stated this week.

When completed, the project would give at least 2500 additional seats. Fourteen rows of bleachers are being added to the student section on the north, with the bleachers running from the east to west walls.

At the game tonight, students should come in the northwest doors; general admission in the center doors on the west; and all with reserved seats or advanced tickets through the southwest door.

Reserved seats for students can be obtained in the south bleacher section at no cost, or for a small fee in the south section. When the new seating is completed, all students who wish to attend will be assured of seating, Whitesides stated.
