Founding Observance Planned March 1-8

BY DIANA WALKER

Founded March 8, 1888, Utah State college will observe its 65th anniversary during Founders activities next week. General chairman of Founders Week is LeRoy A. Blaser, executive secretary of the Alumni Association.

"Spirit of the Land Grant College" is the theme that will be carried out through Founders' Week, and at an assembly, Tuesday at 11 a.m. in the Main Auditorium.

President Louis L. Madsen, class of '30, will give a statement of welcome at the assembly. Special music numbers will be played by Aggie graduates. Eldon Torbensen, class of '33, will play a trumpet solo, with organ solos being played by Blanche Cardon Thompson, class of '37, and Clark Gardner, class of '53.

The invocation and benediction will be given by Lloyd Theurer, class of '28, and Mrs. Lucille Petty, class of '26, respectively.

Caine to Speak

The Founders' Day address will be given by guest speaker, John T. Caine III. Mr. Caine is a nationally known agriculturist, and is the manager of the National Western Stock Show at Denver, Colo. He has built this stock show into his dream of the "West's" most useful livestock event. Mr. Caine has been called "Dean of the American Tanbark Trail."

A native of Logan, John T. Caine III is the son of John T. Caine II, who was the first treasurer of Utah State college.

Golden Anniversary

Following the assembly on Tuesday, a luncheon will be held honoring the special guests and the members of the Golden Anniversary Club, who are students and graduates of 50 years or more ago.

Scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, March 4-5, is the presentation of Gounod's, "Romeo and Juliet" at the Logan Capitol Theater, under the direction of Prof. Walter Welti, head of the vocal music department and Dr. N. W. Christensen, head of instrumental music.

On Friday, March 6, the college band under the direction of John Phillip Dalby will present a concert at the 11 p.m. assembly.

Founder's Ball

At 9 p.m. Friday, the associated students will play hosts to Aggie graduates, friends and students at the Founders' Week dance in the union building ballroom. Ralph

Campus Station Begins FM Broadcasting

Experimental broadcasting has begun on the new FM channel of KVSC, campus radio station. The experimental period will not be longer than 30 days, after which regular broadcasting will begin.

The station will be on the air tonight, from 6 to 10 p. m. with news, classical music, popular music, and special programs, according to Prof. Burrell Hansen, advisor to the station.

Announcers Picked

Six new announcers also have been selected for the station in competitive tryouts. Prof. Hansen stated.

Fred Critchfield, Ken Hayes, Edwin Rogers, Dexter Davis, Robert Bell and Don Spainhower were chosen for the announcing spots.

"Judging was close, and those chosen will have to prove themselves before they will receive a permanent job," Prof. Hansen stated.

Listeners — Respond

The station, in their broadcasting, is located on the FM band between 70 and 90. The station will appreciate comments by mail from all who hear the station during the experimental broadcasting. Comments can be mailed to KVSC, box 150, at the college.

The position of agricultural advisor on the programming staff of the station is open, and the job of coed editor also needs to be filled. The station also needs the help of a specialist in classical music. Anyone interested in these positions should contact Prof. Hansen.

Alec Templeton To Play Here

Alec Templeton, versatile pianist and composer, will appear March 9 in the fieldhouse in the final lyceum of winter quarter. His appearance is sponsored by the college lyceum bureau and the Cache Valley Civic Music Assn.

Mr. Templeton, who has appeared on concert stage, radio, the theatre, and who is a recording artist, began playing the piano at the age of two.

He was born with an absolute pitch, and has developed an ear for music so remarkable that when asked to identify eight or nine unrelated notes, he can do so without hesitancy.

Mr. Templeton is perhaps most noted for his ability to play almost any melody. At his concert, the audience requests from four to six songs, and he combines them into one number.

Operatic 'Romeo & Juliet' Readied For Performances

BY NORMAN KIMBLE

Charles Gounod's operatic interpretation of Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" will be presented next Wednesday and Thursday nights on the stage of the Capitol theatre as the annual Utah State opera.

Carl Hill, left, and Maughan McMurdie enact a scene from Gounod's romantic tragedy, "Romeo and Juliet," which will be presented March 4 and 5 at the Capitol.

The performances will be directed by Prof. Walter Welti. The college orchestra, under the direction of Dr. N. W. Christensen, will accompany the soloists and chorus. Curtain time each night is 8:15 p.m.

Tickets are now being sold for the productions in the basement ticket office. For students, the prices, with studentbody cards, are 50 cents, 25 cents, and free. Students will be required to show their cards at the theatre for admission, along with the ticket stub.

The opera is the story of a feud between the houses of Montague and Capulet. Romeo, a Montague, and Juliet, a Capulet, fall in love, in spite of the family rivalry.

At a secret rendezvous, the two lovers are discovered and, in a duel that follows, Romeo slays a member of the Capulet family.

Prefers Death

Declaring that he prefers death to an exile sentence given him by the Prince, Romeo again tries to see Juliet. Meantime, in trying to escape a family-arranged marriage, Juliet takes a drug which leaves her in a death-like condition. From there, the opera plot moves to conclusion.

Portraying the tragic lovers will be a brother-sister combination, Bonnie Tueller Seeholzer and Eugene Tueller. Beth Olsen will sing the role of Juliet at the other performance.

Leading Roles

Others taking leading roles are Barbara Olsen, Stephano; Peggy Tueller, Gertrude; Carl Hill, Tybalt; Tom Vaterlaus, Benvolio; Derral Siggard, Mercutio; Dennis Simmons, Paris; Kent Poulsen, Gregorio; Maughan McMurdie, Capulet; Earl Faulkner, Friar Laurence and Roger Ralphs, the Prince.

In the production staff are LaVar Sprouse, business manager; Shar on Jacobsen, costumes manager, assisted by Greta Moyer; Lannice Papworth, makeup; Charlotte Fisher, properties; Ladelle Marcussen, program and tickets, and Jean Marcussen, advertising.

Aiding Prof. Welti and Dr. Christensen are George Tanner, speech instructor, who is scenery designer and stage director, and Pauline Fuller, dance director.

LIFE SURVEY SHOWS - -

Name Change Favored

Utah State students highly favor changing the name of the college from Utah State Agricultural college to Utah State college, a STUDENT LIFE survey showed this week.

Conducted by Roselyn Nebeker and Veeone White of the Life staff, 121 students were picked at random from a student list, and polled on the name change proposition.

Only Four Not Aware

Of the 121 students polled, only four were not aware that a name-change was being considered.

When asked if they favored the proposed name change, 106 replied yes; eight said no; and seven registered no opinion. In addition, several campus organizations were contacted, and the organizations informed the pollsters that their entire groups had voted in favor of the change.

Difficulties Might Arise

Students stated that a new name is desirable, but some noted difficulties which might arise in finding nicknames for the team; designating letters for sweaters, etc. Others thought the name should be Utah State University, since the initials USC already are the famous brand of University of Southern California.

A bill, SB236, was introduced last Friday in the State Legislature by Cache County Senator Vern Muir to change the name from USAC to Utah State College.

Gilbert Resigns From Council

Arnold Gilbert, student councilman in charge of finance, has resigned from his council position, effective spring quarter.

Gilbert, who had one more year to serve on the council in his three-year position, stated that because of pressing school work and other duties he found it necessary to submit his resignation.

Jerry Christiansen, councilman from the school of engineering has taken over the finance duties, according to Deon Hubbard, student president.

Mr. Gilbert's council position will be filled at the spring elections.

BOARD AND RUMOR

From Trustee Woolley's Pen...

Mr. James Mortimer
Editor in Chief, Student Life
Utah State Agricultural College
Logan, Utah

My dear Editor:

This I have never done before, viz: Write an editor about an editorial. Perhaps I should not do so now.

What I here say I do upon my own responsibility and as the expression of my own thoughts and without consultation with any one else, and without claiming to speak for or to reflect the feelings of any other member of the Board of Trustees of Utah State Agricultural College, except as specifically indicated.

Your editorial of February 19, 1953, "Public Relations Is Exigent Problem", provokes this expression.

Its barbs are aimed at the refusal to "answer rumors". Rumor is an anonymous monster, without body or parts, but possessed of passion, the passion of assassination. To joust with it is like trying to capture the dust spiral of the desert. It is obsessed of its own importance. It never speaks out loud, but whispers, and usually with a hiss. It writes letters without signing them; incites petitions, which are signed promiscuously, and then by signers covertly repudiated. It is this monster which has done the damage, if any, which you say, has reportedly been done, to the reputation of the Utah State Agricultural College. I suggest this monster is the Exigent Problem. And, speaking "horsely", I would say that Fear, the get of Rumor, out of Malice, is the Exigent Evil on the campus of USAC.

I remarked at the session of the Board of Trustees, when we met with the student council and representatives of the press and some who spoke, as they said, for five thousand, that the public relations of the Board had been bad.

Should the Board employ a press agent of its own choosing? Should it be at the expense of the taxpayers, or out of pocket?

We do authorize the employment by the college of experts in public relations, and spend many thousands of dollars of taxpayers' money for hand-outs and bulletins, extolling the accomplishments of Utah State Agricultural College, and all its branches and twigs, except the friendless Board, none of whom asked for the job, and all of whom (except the underpaid Ex-Officio member; the secretary of State) serve without pay.

Mr. Editor, please advise us how, without answering rumors, we may improve public relations?

Let me join my personal testimony with yours that Utah State Agricultural College is essentially sound; it is staffed by fine people, and has a fine body of students, all of them, on and off the campus, who are touched by the educational program of this great institution. I would not knowingly do an injustice to any one of them, and I would not exchange one of them for any other, unless, in my honest judgment, I thought it would be for the improvement and betterment of all of them. I believe that every member of the Board has the same feeling about this business.

Yes, this College is essentially sound! But, I suggest it may be bettered, in more ways than by appropriating more money. But, to move in any of this, should the Board poll Logan Main Street? The Faculty? The Deans? The Students? Should we ask the Editors and Reporters? The Churches? The Politicians? Whence shall we seek counsel, other than from our own consciences?

And is not all of this the business of all of the people, young and old, of the whole State of Utah? And how, if the true democratic process is to be invoked in the choosing of servants of the College, shall we arrange the plebiscite?

Or, if the familiar theocratic practice of calling the worthy to service, and sustaining the appointment by show of hands be followed, who shall be invited to the conference?

Please, Mr. Editor of Student Life, ask the Editor of the Salt Lake Tribune and the Editor of the Desert News for the answer, if your wisdom does not suggest it.

You may make such use of this effusion as you care to, or none at all as you may be minded.

Sincerely yours,
ARTHUR WOOLLEY

LIFE'S EDITORIAL

Suggestion, Out of Exigency, To Beat Rumor Handicap And Keep College Stable

STUDENT LIFE, after receiving the above letter from Arthur Woolley, member of the College Board of Trustees, feels called upon to account to Trustee Woolley for our editorial of Feb. 19, which provoked his letter; and to offer suggestions as requested by him.

Trustee Woolley in his letter refers to his remark, made at the last meeting of the Board, to the effect that public relations of the Board has been bad. We have no disagreement with his observation. In fact, such was the contention of our editorial.

Likewise, we have no disagreement with his eloquent expression on the evils of rumor. We are aware of the damaging evils of rumor. A similar awareness prompted the Student Council to ask the Board to clarify a rumor, concerning President Madsen, which had reached alarming proportions.

The reply to the council, formulated by Mr. Woolley, and confirmed by the Board, was that "This Board does not feel called upon answer rumors."

As Trustee Woolley points out in his letter, rumor seems to be an exigent problem at Utah State. The reply of the Board, however, was not a step toward eliminating rumor, but merely caused its multiplication.

Trustee Woolley in his letter asks us to advise "how, without answering rumors, we may improve public relations?" We can only state that there are circumstances where a reply to rumor is the only means of fostering sound public relations, and the case before us is of this nature.

The citizens of Utah need to be assured that the college is essentially sound. We are happy that Mr. Woolley agrees with our editorial contention that Utah State is sound. We know it is, and the Board knows it is. The thing to be regretted is that the Board has not taken the necessary steps to create among the people of Utah, generally, this same assurance. Many still believe that Utah State is in an uproar.

We infer from Trustee Woolley's letter that the Board acted in honest judgment in its recent controversial decisions. No man can do more than act in his honest judgment, and the people of this State expect no more than that.

Board members have been appointed by the duly elected representatives of the citizens of Utah. In their capacity as Trustees they must gain and retain the trust of the public. They only lose confidence of the public when they act with impropriety; or through a negative public relations approach, give the appearance of impropriety. The importance of a sound public relations policy is therefore manifest.

It is in this area of public relations that the Board, and the college generally has been deficient.

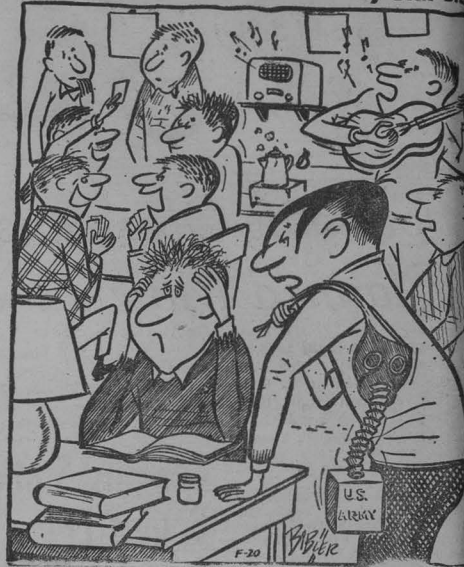

The Kelly survey has recognized this deficiency. We think the survey recommendations to overcome the deficiency are excellent. Immediate action should be taken by the Board in accepting the recommendations, and appointing a director of public information and college development.

The person filling this position, as one of the four chief aids to the President, would be an excellent pivotal man for public relations, for public relations is not only the interpretation of policy to the public, but also the interpretation of actual or probable reaction of the public back to those responsible for college policy.

The recommendations of the Kelly survey—one of which has been mentioned here—are, we feel, urgent. The Board has not yet adopted this survey, although it was made at their request. The survey has only recently been published, and so we hope that early consideration of the recommendations will be forthcoming from the Board.

Cafeteria, Bowling, Billiards, Fountain, Soon in Union

Bids were let Wednesday for Union building fountain room, cafeteria, and skyroom food service area equipment, according to Glenn Blaser, Union building manager.

Getting the bid for the fountain room was Progress Supply Co. of Salt Lake City. They bid $19,800.46 for complete equipment, counters and booths. Plans call for completion by May 1.

W. H. Bintz and Co. received the cafeteria and kitchen equipment for $54,521.13. For an additional $3,701.62 they will also install the skyroom food service equipment.

Six bowling alleys have also been purchased for the Union building, and will be installed as soon as preliminary cement work is completed. Mr. Blaser stated. Three pool tables are being purchased, he added, and will be in the billiard room next week.

New easy chairs have been placed in the main lounge, and additional cushioned chairs are now in the main ballroom.

Skyroom drapes have been hung, and most Union building offices will have drapes by the end of the week.

Kiwanians Offer Award to Cadets

Recognizing the nation's need for high quality young men in the flying training program, the Logan Kiwanis club has announced that it will present a one hundred dollar defense bond to the outstanding air force cadet at the college who has applied for and been accepted for flying training program this school year.

This was announced by Lt. Col. Robert J. Hill, professor of air science and tactics and by Ace Raymond, president of the Kiwanis group.

"Scholastic excellence, both in academic and air force subjects, is but one of the points to be observed in picking the cadet to receive the award," Col. Hill said. "In addition, he must display officer-like qualities as proven by campus and ROTC leadership.

Arthur Lawrence MacKusick, Jr., has been named a new West Point appointee. He is the son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. A. L. MacKusick. Col MacKusick is head of ordnance at Utah State college.

Shakespearean Tryouts Slated

Tryouts for the Shakespearean comedy "Much Ado About Nothing" will be held tomorrow and Monday and Tuesday, March 2 and 3, from 4 to 6 p.m. in the drama department.

There are 20 characters in the play and any student on the campus is eligible to try out for the parts. Copies of the play are available in the library or may be obtained from Professor Floyd Morgan, director in the drama department.

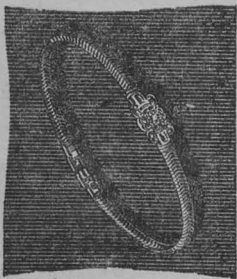

The advanced acting class is now rehearsing the play "Hobson's Choice." This folk-play by Harold Brighouse will be presented arena style in the Little Theater, and is scheduled to begin March 25 and to continue for six performances.

Faculty Talent

Talent discoveries of the year were featured at a faculty association party Friday evening, Feb. 20, in the Main auditorium.

Entertainment included the King Cole Fiddlers, featuring Arthur Holmgren, Neville C. Hunsaker and Lewis W. Jones; chalk talk, Everett Thorpe; two wood sprites, fresh from the bosky dells, with Pauline Fuller and Israel Heaton; and a skit by Ina Doty, Neil Klear Holbrook and Eldon M. Drake.

Blonde Beauty, Palm Trees, And 'Old Main'

Speculation as to what a color photo of Utah State's Old Main tower was doing on the cover of a magazine section published in Tehran, Iran, confused Student Life's Wednesday.

Beside Old Main were pictures of palm trees, a beautiful blonde, and ten lines of writing that might as well have been Greek.

Actually, it was Iranian, and inasmuch as even our language majors hadn't studied that imagination ran wild.

Some thought Utah State was being pictured as a perfect vacation land for Iranians. Others said it must be the blond girl's alma mater, and still other journalists suggested maybe our foreign friends think palm trees and lovely women grow abundantly in Logan, Utah.

BY ROSELYN NEBEKER

A boy walks his girl to the door. The moon is shining a perfect setting for romance; he looks tenderly into her eyes and murmurs, "See ya, kid." This is a typical example of one of the farewells that can be heard every night around the campus. Have you ever stopped to think how silly these farewells really are? "Be seeing you," "So long," "bye now," are some of the common ones that mean absolutely nothing.

Now if the young swain mentioned had any imagination, or if he were a typical man of the world, he might have said something like "au revoir," "adieu," or "adios." Then there are those people who took Shakespeare last quarter, who could wax eloquent with "Parting is such sweet sorrow."

Those who are really trying to make an impression sing their farewells. Such songs as "Goodnight Sweetheart," "Auf Wiedersehn" and "Now Is the Hour," can often be heard ringing through the air on a romantic night. And then there is the boy who goes in for the "Hank Thompson style" and he sings with the aid of his trusty guitar, "I'm Movin' On."

However, the most interesting and perhaps the longest farewells may be observed in front of Lund Hall about 1 p.m. on Saturday night. These goodnights are not always verbal and many are examples of the motto, "actions speak louder than words."

Just listen to some of these farewells some time and see if you don't think they're absurd.

FROM THE E Campus Ponderii

In moments of relaxation, between participating in heated discussions concerning certain physiological characteristics of either the long- or short-haired types, the highest species of vertebrates, being mentally present in lectures in addition to bringing being there, some campus, burning the midnight oil over notes and eating ice cream at Sawyer's or drinking coffee at the Bird, some campus folk find pleasure in solving foolish problems which are made up solely for the purpose of keeping a person awake nights (!) trying to find the why or how.

Currently stumping some of us campus commoners are the following:

- x equals y;
- x square equals xy;
- x square minus y square equals (x minus y) (x plus y) equals (x minus y) (x plus y) equals (x minus y) (x plus y);
- x minus y equals y;
- xy equals y; so 2 equals 1.

How come? And if you like to balance things, figure this one: you have 13 weights, 12 of which are equal. The other is either more or less than the first 12; makes no difference which. How, using a simple balance, can you find the odd weight in four weighings, and tell if it weighs more or less?

Have fun.

A sturdy jaywalker dashed through a busy intersection against a red light, smacked into a car, demolished the radio antenna and kept right on going—a hit-skip pedestrian!

Things looked a little rugged for Air Force Capt. Fred C. Seals of Dallas, Tex., when he fell out the wide open door of a mile-high C-46 cargo plane as the plane lurched violently in bad weather while dropping supplies to GI's in Korea. But just as he struggled desperately to pull the ripcord of his parachute, the plane hit an air pocket, dipped sharply downward and scooped the plunging airman neatly back aboard through the same door.

Aggies Clash With Zags In Last Home Game For '53

BY ANDY HAYS

Utah State's resurging eagles will wind up their home stand of the '53-'54 season this Friday and Saturday against Gonzaga University of Spokane in what promises to be some torrid non-conference action.

The Zags dropped the Utags at Spokane, 85-72, while Coach C. Baker's crew was on their trip to the Northwest in mid-December. And it is a determined Utah Aggie squad that is out to avenge their previous setback from their inter-sectional rival.

Cuttings from Spokane papers state that the Zags played their second best contest of the season against the Aggies—their best being the 82-60 win over Seattle University and jumping 2 1/2 days O'Brien. Such foes as DePaul of Chicago, Washington State, Lawrence Tech of Detroit, and Seattle make Gonzaga major opponents for the Utags as they ride on the crest of a six-out-of-seven win streak in Skyline action.

After their split in last weekend's action—Aggies 67, Denver 60 and New Mexico 90, Aggies 91 (double overtime)—Tucker and center Bill Hull have emerged at the top of the Skyline statistical heap in more ways than one.

Respected Tucker continues to be the loop's top point-getter with 19 and 27 points last week for a nifty 21.7 tally-per-cent average and tops in the free throw department with a better than 90.6 percent rating and among the top five in the rebound department.

Hull, on the other hand, remains step ahead of his competition as he, with a 14-point performance against New Mexico—the highest single game total in athletic department records, moved into the second place spot of the Skyline scoring race with an 18.0 point-per-game total.

Coach Baker announced that Hull, Tucker, Cordell Brown, Jack Clark and Bart Johnson should be his regular starters in this week's tilt.

This will be the last look by the local fans at five Aggie seniors: Captain Darrell Tucker, the league's leading scorer and a three-season veteran for Coach Baker; jumping Jack Clark, an improved sparkplug of this season's club—a two-season vet; Frank Condie, a transfer from the University of Utah who has contributed much in his one season with the Ags; Don Tuft, a steady utility player who will have two varsity letters to show for his work; Bob Springman, a good defensive player and dependable reserve who has played six seasons under Cee Baker—three at Graceland high school and three at Utah State.

BUCK GOLIGOSKI, Gonzaga co-captain and leading scorer, will lead the visiting Spokane, Wash., cage club against the Aggies in a pair of non-conference battles this Friday and Saturday in Logan. This will be the Utags' last home appearance of the season.

This in Sports

GARY R. BLODGETT

Well, sport fans, the basketball season is gradually coming to a close as our Utah State Aggies have but one remaining conference tilt. That being with Montana U. March 6.

The Aggies sport a present record of seven wins and six losses and a firm grip on third place in Skyline conference standings. Regardless of a Gritty win or loss, the Aggies will finish with a third place standing.

Capt. Darrell Tucker boosted his game point average to 21.3 last Saturday as he racked up 27 points against New Mexico. Big Bill Hull however, was the big gun as he rang the bell for 34 counters. Hull jumped from fourth with a 16.7 to second with 17.3 points per game. This gives the Baker-coached crew a wonderful one-two punch.

This will be the last look at Aggie seniors. Those playing their home game under the colors of Blue and White are: Capt. Darrell Tucker, Jack Clark, Frank Condie, Don Tuft and Bob Springman.

Congratulations Weber Wrestlers. Congratulations to the Vencer high school wrestling team for capturing their fifth consecutive state title. Coached by likable Mel Wood, former football quarterback of Utah State, the youth of Weber matmen have won the title the past five years, losing only the first year when they took third place honors.

Kerr Hall Takes Waiver B-Ball Title

Kerr Hall, led by their unquarable manager, Jack Allen, took another first place victory on their upward climb to glory. The winter basketball tournament was won by Kerr Hall's latest feat, and the teams who succumbed to this latest attack were: Sportman club, which coked out a second place; the Wildcats showed up with a third place and Malad garnered a fourth place spot.

The last triumph by Kerr Hall in the all-campus swimming and water basketball tournaments also gives them a boost to first place in league standings with 120 points and drops the Wildcats to second with 62 points.

P. K. A. took a first place in the Fraternity league standings when they edged out S.A.E. in the "B" basketball tournament. Friday noon in the Belldomus P.K.A. will pit its strength against Sigma Nu in the semi-final round. The other game in the semi-final round will be Monday at noon with a clash between Sigma Chi and Sigma Pi. The winners of these two games will meet for the championship of the 1952 "B" basketball tournament next week.

The table tennis tournament will come to a close today at noon in the Smart gymnasium. The field of chess has been cut to four men, who will use all the trickery and experience they have acquired to gain the title of King of the 1952 Table Tennis tournament.

The remaining four men with the smashing serves and wallowing backhands are Frank Condie, Ray Briscoe, Don Larson and Ross Wright.

The greatest of faults, I should say, is to be conscious of none. —Thomas Carlyle

A big business magnate was visited by a boyhood chum whom he had not seen for years. This man told him a long story of misfortune: bankruptcy, death of wife and children, long personal illness, and more—ended with a plea for help. The big shot pushed a button on his desk, and a burly porter appeared. "Sam," he instructed in a sob-choked voice, "throw this poor fellow downstairs—he's breaking my heart."

DICK HEADLEE
... Retiring Cheer King

Ceremonies Will Fete Dick Headlee

Dick Headlee, cheerleader for the past four years, will be honored during halftime ceremonies at the Utah State-Gonzaga University game Saturday, according to Larry Porter, Booster committee chairman.

The cheer king will graduate at the end of this quarter with a bachelor of science degree in speech correction.

During his college career, Dick has been active as a member of Sigma Nu fraternity, president of Alpha Sigma Nu, honorary senior organization, and member of Blue Key. He has taken part in several theater productions, and was Homecoming chairman in 1951. He was also formerly chairman of the Booster committee.

Dick is married and the father of two children.

"During the four years Dick has been leading cheers, the spirit at the basketball and football games has increased tremendously," Larry said. "The Booster committee is honored to be able to give recognition to Dick this week."

Other halftime activities Saturday will include a drill by the freshman ROTC Sponsors. The Sponsors are competing with the advanced group for a trophy that will be awarded by the Booster committee.

Band Schedules March Concerts

First appearance of the Utah State symphonic band for winter quarter will be at the assembly Friday, March 6 in the Main auditorium.

Under direction of Prof. John Philip Dalby, the 55-member band will present a program of symphonic numbers, popular music, and marches. Clair Woodward is assistant director.

The band is also planning concerts at the local high schools during March. Assembly programs will be presented at North Cache, South Cache and Logan High schools March 2. A tour of southwestern Idaho towns will be taken March 16 to 18.

On March 20 at 8 p. m. in the Nibley hall auditorium, the band will present a concert under sponsorship of the four-stake Mutual Improvement associations of Logan. There will be no admission charge for that program.

Officers of the band are Derrell Siggaard, president; Marilyn Briem, secretary, and Mamie Rae Lewis, librarian. Clark Gardner is property manager.

Faculty Reaffirms A C Name Change

The faculty association this week reaffirmed its desire to have the institution's name changed to Utah State college.

The vote in the monthly meeting Monday came following resolutions by certain organizations in the state opposing the proposed name change. A bill to change the name is now being considered by the legislature.

Faculty representatives pointed out that to shorten the name would not de-emphasize agriculture but would give due recognition to other departments of the college.

As a second choice, rather than keep the name in its present form, the association would prefer having it changed to Utah State College of Agriculture, Arts and Sciences, Commerce, Education, Engineering and Technology, Forest, Range and Wildlife Management, and Home Economics.

With this name, each of the seven schools of the college would be recognized, rather than just agriculture. For everyday use this official name could be shortened to "Utah State College." Such an arrangement exists at several schools outside Utah.

In Painesville, Ohio, William Marut, after wondering for weeks what had hit his head New Year's Eve, finally got around to showing the bump to a doctor, who found a .22 slug embedded in his scalp.

Club Gives Books to School

The Sociology club at USAC has school or to the sociology club. presented a 12-volume set of "Champion" encyclopedias to the Utah State Industrial School at Ogden.

Presentation of the books to Claude Pratt, director of the school came as a result of a trip by members of the club to the Ogden school where they saw the need for additional books.

The club has instituted a project of collecting books for the school, according to Carl Berg, president. Persons who would like to donate suitable books are urged to send them directly to the Ogden school.
