Agathon Activities Made Ready

Three of the first entrants in Miss Utah Stat contest are Judy Barker, Alice Welti and Nancy Stallings. Entries are due today at 5 p. m. Contest is Monday at 7:30 p. m., in the union ballroom.

TV Show, Queen Contest Open Annual Celebration

BY JUDY BARKER

In the spring everyone's fancy turns to thoughts of Agathon, Utah State's "educational fair."

Agathon events start next Sunday, with the television show on KSL-TV, at 3 or 4 p. m. Featured on the TV show will be contestants for the title of "Miss Utah State;" LaVonne Jensen and Dick Waite in a ballet; the Alpha Chi Omega's dance contest entry; departmental display from the physics department; and models from the Agathon fashion show.

The union building will be open Sunday for students who wish to watch the television program, Glenn Blaser, union manager, said.

Official entries for the "Miss Utah State" contest were announced by Eleanor Knowles, chairman. They are Lucilla May, Judy Barker, Nancy Stallings, Alice Welti, Pauline Tate, LaVonne Jensen, Orma Linford, Jackie Jacobsen, Joe Ann Forsgren, and Marilyn Crawford.

Judges Named

Judging will be conducted Union ballroom, following which the queen will be announced. Judges include Marilyn "Bunny" Reese, Miss Utah of 1952; Ross Bowen, secretary of the Box Elder chamber of commerce; and Dave Sakai, president of the Logan Junior chamber of commerce.

Jodie Noble's combo will play several numbers during the judging, and Deon Johnson will play several piano selections while the girls are being judged. A 25-cent admission fee will be charged.

Applications are being accepted for queen entrants until 5 p. m. today. Those who wish to apply may do so at the Agathon office, Miss Knowles said. All candidates are requested to submit a 5x7 photograph by noon Friday, to be turned in at the Agathon office. A special meeting for all contestants has been called for Friday at 4 p. m. in the student council room.

Agathon Assembly

Tuesday is the Agathon assembly. Due to renovation of the main auditorium, the assembly is slated for the Union ballroom, at the regular hour, 11 a. m.

"Miss Utah State" and her attendants will be introduced during the assembly. Door prizes, donated by local merchants, will be a special feature of the assembly.

Bob Chambers is emcee, and talent numbers include Judy Decline and Ann McDonald, piano duet; Ruth Green, reading; Arthur Smart's combo; Sigma Alpha Epsilon Quartet; Kappa Delta quintet; Eugene Tueller, vocal solo; and a skit.

Opening - Thursday

Grand opening of Agathon comes next Thursday, April 30, with opening of departmental displays. Friday, May 1, is "High School Senior Day." Events on Friday will include departmental displays, FFA judging contests, ROTC review, fashion show, variety show, Region One track meet, and the Agathon dance in the evening featuring Jack Pina and his orchestra.

Saturday morning, the new Student Union will be dedicated. Dr. Edgar Brossard, a Utah State graduate, now chairman of the U. S. Tariff commission in Washington, D. C. will present the dedicatory speech.

Services will begin at 9:30 a. m. in the main ballroom of the Union, with a concert by the Hill (Continued on Page 8)

BYU Exchange Planned Today

Students from Brigham Young University will present an exchange assembly, today at 11 a. m. in the Student Union ballroom.

The exchange program originally was planned April 9, but snow prevented the participants from getting into Logan.

The program will be a talent show, and will also include numbers from the BYU ROTC chorus.

The assembly is being held in the Union ballroom because of scenery of the current Shakespearean production.

All following assemblies will be held in the Union ballroom, because of planned remodeling in the main auditorium, Nora B. Thurgood, assemblies chairman stated.

Members Sought For Blue Key

Applications are still open for 12 positions in Blue Key, honorary service fraternity for upperclassmen.

Application blanks can be obtained from the student personnel office, and should be returned there when completed. Applicants also must turn in a 500-word essay on a proposed project for Blue Key.

Deadline for submitting the applications is Tuesday, April 28, at 5 p. m.

Deem Elected To Council

Darrell Deem won a seat on the 1953-54 student council Wednesday by defeating Preston Thomas, 71 to 38 in a special by-election.

Last week, in regular elections, the two candidates tied, with 97 votes each. Dean represents the school of commerce on the council.

Meanwhile, Nora B. Thurgood, chairman of elections announced that applications are still open for officers of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

Application blanks must be filed by Wednesday, April 29, at 5 p. m. in the studentbody office. A special meeting will be held that day at 5:15 p. m. in the studentbody office for all candidates, or their campaign managers. Attendance is required.

Campus Editors To Be Named

New editors for the three campus publications will be named today at a meeting of the student council.

Applications were closed Wednesday night for editors of Student Life, Buzzer, and Scribble. The publications council headed by Monte Merrill, will meet at noon in the student meeting room, in the Union.

Meanwhile, applications were opened Wednesday for business managers of the publications. Deadline for filling the applications is Wednesday, April 29, at 5 p. m. Blanks are available in the studentbody office.

Applications Due

All senior students who are qualified to receive state teaching certificates must make application at the placement bureau, Main 276 before April 28, Reea Peterson, placement secretary, announced Thursday.

'Much Ado' Heralded For Humor, Acting

BY JAMES MORTIMER

Truly, there's much ado about nothing in Shakespeare's romantic comedy, "Much Ado About Nothing," which opened Wednesday night at Utah State.

But, between the opening line and the final curtain call, there's an abundance of fine acting, a profusion of wit, and even some music and dancing, as the Utah State Theatre performers portray the Shakespearean drama.

The play will continue at 8:15 p. m. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings. Incidentally, today, April 23, is Shakespeare's birthday anniversary.

Written in 1599 "Much Ado," which Shakespeare penned in 1555, is centered around the house of Leonato, governor of Messina. As the play opens, Don Pedro, prince of Aragon, has returned from a successful battle. He stays for a time at Messina, and there Claudio, his companion, falls in love with Hero, the beautiful daughter of Leonato.

Don Pedro agrees to woo the fair Hero for Claudio, and his suit is favored. But Don John, the bastard brother of Don Pedro, jealous of Claudio's preferment, resolves to ruin his happiness.

Meanwhile, Don Pedro plans to unite two professed enemies, Beatrice and Benedick, and enlists the services of his and their friends to trick the two into realizing their love for one another.

Don John carries out his cruel scheme, and through a "trumped-up" love scene at night, convinces Claudio, Don Pedro and others that Hero is an untrue lover.

Almost Miss Love

Don Pedro, in his plot to unite Benedick and Beatrice, is highly successful, and the two lovers whose witty retorts to each other almost make them miss falling in love, are pledged to one another.

Reed Durham, as Don Pedro, is highly entertaining, as is Dick Waite, in the role of Claudio.

Both were consistently fine in their acting and interpretation.

Jarvis Anderson, who portrays Leonato, does a splendid job in his role. He is particularly impressive in the speech denouncing his daughter Hero, when at the altar of marriage, Claudio exposes the "false" love scene which he believes, and refuses to marry Hero.

Convincingly witty and subtle are the two lovers, Beatrice played by Carmia Croshaw, and Benedick, characterized by Paul Evans. Miss Croshaw, a veteran (Continued on Page 4)

LIFE'S EDITORIAL

Agathon Will Require Support of Everyone

Agathon, Utah State's educational fair, begins one week from today. Stories elsewhere in this issue explain progress of this event which yearly puts the college on display.

President Madsen has authorized that classwork will be dismissed Thursday afternoon and Friday for the activities of Agathon. It is this point, then, that needs emphasis—students should plan to stay on campus for the activities.

Classes are not being dismissed to give students and faculty a longer weekend, but rather to give all a chance to participate in the numerous activities of Agathon.

Students and faculty members should plan to be on campus Thursday afternoon and Friday to take part in the many activities, and to view the numerous displays and exhibits that will be set up.

A complete schedule of events for the celebration will be announced in next Thursday's special Agathon edition of STUDENT LIFE.

Letter To The Editor

Says Hubbard Blubbered

Editor, Student Life:

After reading the latest reports from Hubbard's usually empty cupboard, concerning the outcome and as he puts it, the "Greek coalition", I feel that there is need for an explanation to counteract these twisted theories which he puts forth in his amusing fairy tale column.

Last year while each organization on campus was pushing their capable candidates for the various student offices, two large organizations using Greek letters pushed into office, by an overwhelming majority, their candidates. After being continually reminded throughout the past year of the mistake that can come from such action, the idea of similar action was presented to the various Greek organizations on campus.

All but two of these Greek organizations agreed that it would be to the advantage of their organization to hold a nominating convention and instead of the usual six candidates, try to select, to the best of their ability, the most capable candidate for each office and back them. Immediately there were moans and talks of fines, but the one that "takes the cake" is Mr. Hubbard's suggestion or reference to the blackball.

I would appreciate the opportunity to explain to him the use, power and theory of it. In my estimation it is a word he knows nothing about. He makes reference to questionable idea of methods of getting votes. The fine is a farce—there is nothing on which to base this on. Of course, to encourage voting, memory of past year is enough for that.

In his estimation this so-called "coalition" failed. This may be true to a limited extent. There is basically no difference in the independent and the Greek students. We are all Aggies trying to gain in every way possible by pushing our school to greater success by electing more capable leaders. The fact that the whole theory was undermined by non-truth Greek organizations dipping into the Greek ranks to find a candidate which they could support was the partial defeat of the purpose. Then too two of the big Greek organizations joined with last year's victors and found partial results.

It is more a matter of opinion as to what the coalition was and if it failed. Nevertheless, we will have a very successful year with our new leaders. A leader is only as good as his fellows make him. Our school is in line for a vast improvement this year. We are behind you Student Council!

Letter to the Editor

Persecuted Greek

Editor, Student Life:

Being a "persecuted" Greek, I feel as though it is an obligation of mine to answer the implications set forth in last week's "Hubbard's Cupboard" with the bare, essential facts.

It appears, according to our ex-priest, as though the majority of the student body feels as though the Greeks attempted to railroad some people into office during the elections that were held the past two weeks. This naive conception is entirely out of order. The thought of railroad someone into office was the farthest from our minds at all times.

We established the coalition so that we, the Greeks, might nominate the best qualified from among us to run for office. We were not trying to bush the rest of the student body. We knew that out of the twelve Greek organizations on the campus would come many applications for the various student body offices. We felt as though, through the coalition, we could nominate the best qualified Greeks for the offices, thereby eliminating the possibility of a weak candidate ruining a qualified candidate's chances.

I found Mr. Hubbard most aggravating when he accused the Greeks of actually having people to vote. We do not tell the members of our organizations who they have to vote for and that they have to vote or else. What they do in the voting booth is their business. We merely tell them to whom we have pledged our support. The other organizations on the campus tell their members the same things. Why are we so wrong?

It's true, we do impose fines on those who do not vote. We want our people to have good representation at the polls. Without the Greek vote in the last elections how large would the total have been? I would say a little more than half of the actual total. About 600. A very poor representation of the student body as a whole.

There also exists among the major portion of the student body the idea that the Greek coalition was undemocratic. If there was anything about the elections that was democratic at all it was the Greek coalition. We, the minority, simply exercised our American democratic rights and organized so that we would have stronger possibilities of defeating the majority. I am a firm believer in majority rule, don't be mistaken on that account, but I am a more ardent believer in minority right, being of the minority group of course.

When the minority failed in the elections just as the Democratic Party failed in the National elections. We did not have enough support. But we are not bitter about the defeat, because we did show the student body that the minority could organize and pledge its whole-hearted support to its candidates. Anyone who questions this right as un-American and undemocratic should read Laurence Stimpson's "The Design of Democracy" chapter.

We said at the convention, and Mr. Hubbard was there, that our candidates would represent the student body as a whole. We did not advocate any kill or be killed tactics. We nominated our candidates on the basis of their own "worth and ability" without the influence of any "particular group."

When the independents and other factions on the campus organize at election time, isn't it only right for the Greeks to organize also? I cannot understand where the foundation for the discrimination against the Greeks on this campus lies. It may be that our political potentialities throw a scare into the wrong people but, as it has been explained before, Greek candidates represent the student body as a whole and not any "particular group" or organization.

In conclusion I would like to say that if each and every one of us would only cut out all inhibitions, segregation prejudices and petty jealousies, we could become one big, happy,

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

HUBBARD'S CUPBOARD

BY DEON HUBBARD

Student Body President

Twice this year on our campus I have had the privilege of hearing nearly a hundred high school people in the Bear River high school acappella choir, under the direction of Mr. Jorgensen. This group, in my opinion, (and apparently others believe so too) is exceptionally good.

Not long ago while on tour with Utah State exchange assembly I heard a rehearsal of several hundred voices of the BYU chorus.

The University of Utah chorus sang with the Utah Symphony when they presented the "Book of Mormon Oratorio."

Several times in recent years South high school from Salt Lake has brought to our campus their most excellent acappella choir.

We can look around the state, both in high schools and in colleges and see excellent choral groups.

Let's compare, even what high schools have, with what we have homogeneous student body that would be an added benefit to every Aggie.

here at Utah State College a choral music.

Now I hope the Meistersingers or Chansonettes will not be offended by what I'm saying nor will the students feel I'm offending this group. These two choral groups recently presented a very fine concert, but this is not enough in the way of choral music on our campus; there is still much lacking.

Several reasons might be given for this lack. One reason is the physical inadequacies of the music department. They have no real place to call home; office, classrooms, practice rooms are poorly furnished, poorly ventilated, and are scattered throughout Old Main. One music major remarked to me recently, "Our practice rooms are a disgrace, the pianos are beat up and out of key, keyboards are dirty, as are the rooms." Another said, "I'd transfer to the BYU if my home wasn't in Logan."

Recently while at Branch Agricultural College, I was shown a beautiful, newly-renovated music hall, a facility which that small student body is and rightly should be very proud of. They likewise have a music program just as good.

A department staff is ordinarily, however, what makes a department good or bad. I shall not comment on whether I believe our staff is good or bad. I have not had close enough association with these men to profess to be a judge. I see only the outward results such as an excellent and much improved marching band or an uninspired symphony orchestra or little choral music.

Possibly another reason is that we "farmers" are just not interested enough in music to support a program, but I would dissent this one.

It is possible though that I am entirely wrong in my assumption that our music department isn't up to par for a college of our status—but that I shall leave to each individual critic.

Big-Game Hunter Brings African Films

A novel method, involving an internationally known big-game hunter, today was selected by the Delta Phi fraternity as the kick-off on a fund-raising campaign to memorialize the late John A. Dittose.

According to Delta Phi's past-president, John Willis, the fraternity's founder and long-time president will be memorialized by establishment of a series of fellowships and scholarships available to returning missionaries.

"The method our Logan chapter has selected for raising its quota," Willis said, "begins with a sponsorship of a personal appearance of Wallace Taber, globe-trotting photographer, author and lecturer, in Logan junior high school auditorium Wednesday, April 29."

Willis said Taber would bring with him a pair of his latest kodachrome films which he personally documented on the "dark" continent last summer.

"The intrepid big-game hunter any times risked his life to produce the double-feature-length program he will bring here under our sponsorship," Willis continued. "Both of his films have won him praise in seven western states, where he has appeared ready this past winter on lecture tour."

Only two weeks ago he was selected from a national poll to present his program in the Presidential Suite of the Statler Hotel in Washington, D.C., before the national convention of the American Rifle Association.

Tickets are available from all Delta Phi members at $1 for adults and 50c for high school students and children.

Scrubble Deadline

A final plea for possible SCRIBBLE articles was voiced today by Vern Bailey, editor of the Utah State literary quarterly.

"There is still a definite need for original student essays, short stories, and poems for the Spring issue," Bailey said.

Articles may be submitted by simply addressing them SCRIBBLE, and depositing them in the college post office. Deadline for the Spring issue is Monday, April 27.

Ag Debators Eye National Tournament

National Tau Kappa Alpha debate tournament, which is held annually, will be attended this week by Utah State college debaters.

Eight forensic students of Utah State will enter various events at the meet in Denver, Colorado, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They will participate in debate and parliamentary discussion.

"Many of the nation's best intercollegiate debate teams will enter competition, including many men's teams who received bids to the West Point tournament which was held recently at the Military Academy in New York," said Dr. Rex Robinson, Utah State debate coach.

Colleges from all over the nation will be represented at the three-day tournament.

Utah State debaters attending the tournament are Nadene Fowler and Charlene Lind, Roselyn Nebeker and Marie Merrill, Royce Harr and Martin Pond.

Cooper Movie Today in Union

"Cloak and Dagger," starring Gary Cooper and Lili Palmer, will be the movie tonight in the union building. This week the new sound system will be in operation.

This movie portrays the O.S.S. in action. Here the ruthless operations of fascism are clearly revealed when the vital war secret of the atomic bomb is at stake.

Movies are shown at 1, 3, and 8 p. m. and admission is by student body cards and 25 cents.

JACK FINA
... Agathon Band Leader

Agathon Dance Features Fina

That maker of modern-music history, Jack Fina, is coming with his celebrated piano stylings and his orchestra to the Union ball room on May 1.

It was Fina's arrangements of the classics that struck the death blows to swing music in an era when discordant jazz was at the height of its popularity.

Who can forget his recordings of Tchaikowsky's "Concerto in B Flat Minor," Rachmaninoff's "Piano Concerto No. 2," Greig's, "Concerto" and Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Flight of the Bumble Bee" (Bumble Boogie)?

More than 10,000,000 copies of these recordings have been sold throughout the world. "Bumble Boogie" was adjudged the best boogie-woogie selection in 1946.

In the more serious vein, Fina features his "Modern Piano Concerto," "Piano Portrait" and the theme used by his orchestra, "Dream Sonata."

His show and dance programs also feature Fina arrangements of such classics of American music as Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," "Kitten on the Keys," "Jay Walk," "Tico Tico" and "That's Where I Came In."

AF Camps and Quotas Given

After notification this week by the Air University that quotas for the Air Force ROTC camps have been announced, Aggie Cadets eligible for camp are urged to contact M/Sgt. Carl Timmerman, Air Force Sergeant Major, today.

Camps are to be held during two periods. The first session will be four weeks and start June 22. All camps are to be in California. Sites and quotas are: McClellan AFB, Sacramento, 36; Hamilton AFB, near San Francisco, 10; and Castle AFB, Merced, 47.

The second session, starting July 27, has a quota of 40 and will be held at Castle AFB only.

All camps will be of four weeks duration. The second session is being held for cadets unable to attend one of the earlier camps.

Sergeant Timmerman also said that students whose permanent homes are in eastern or southern states may apply for a camp near their homes.

Student Officers Plan Workshop

All presidents, vice-presidents and secretaries of campus groups will participate in Utah State's second annual leadership workshop May 7-9.

Purpose of the workshop is to better acquaint students with campus problems and improve leadership ability.

Registration by officers will be done at the President's meeting, scheduled for noon, May 6. Registration is $1.50 per person.

Royden Braithwaite, Brigham Young university student coordinator, will be keynote speaker at the opening banquet of the workshop the evening of May 7. A complete workshop schedule will be announced later.

Both old and new officers are invited.

Committee members working on the gathering are Nora B. Thurgood, Jay Beazer, Janice Burton, Brent Hoggan, Ann Nelson, Charlene Lind and Pat Hurren.

Lee Ream has been named "Knight of Knights" for 1953 by members of the Spurs, a honorary service organization.

Ream, a member of Intercollegiate Knights organization, is currently working on the IK National convention, on campus this weekend.

It is traditional each year for Spurs to select the Knight who is most distinguished during the year. The IK's select the "Spur of the Moment" also.

Announcement of Mr. Ream's selection was made at the Spur formal, recently. Guests at the dance included Dean and Mrs. Joe E. Whitesides, Dean Leah Farr, President and Mrs. Louis L. Madsen, and Prof. and Mrs. Harold Nielsen. Former members and pledges of Spurs also were in attendance.

performer at Utah State, maintains her high acting reputation, and Evans is surprisingly effective in his "lover" role.

Hero Is Hero

Ann Patrick, as Hero, the "nothing" over whom much ado is made, has the beauty and the ability for the role, which she presents effectively, both when speaking, and when she is just on stage. She is ably assisted by attendants, Barbara Gaddie as Margaret, and Sandra Lee Richards as Ursula.

Turning in commendable performances were Larry Wright as the bastard Don John; Jay Meservy and Paul Wilcox as followers of Don John—Conrade and Borachio.

Some of the most delightful satire and wit to hit the Utah State stage comes in the performances of Lyn Burton, Weldon Hyer, Vern Coleman, George Tanner, Floyd T. Morgan, and Morgan White as the master constable, headborough, sexton, and watchmen.

Stupid But Smart

These, stupid as they may appear, are they who discover Don John's wicked plot, and let the play end happily.

While he is no musician, Gerald Speth still does a good job as Balthasar, attendant to Don Pedro. Charles Tate, as Friar Francis looks the part, and acts it effectively, as does Cecil Wells, who plays Antonio, brother to Leonardo.

Prof. Floyd T. Morgan, director, has done an admirable job in producing the play. The scenery is effective, and the costumes, designed by Francis MacGregor, an art student, are magnificent. Prof. Tanner and Wilcox constructed the costumes.

Typical of the wit of Shakespeare, which the Utah State players adeptly bring out, is this comment of Benedict to Beatrice: "I would my horse had the speed

Photogs Ready So. Utah Jaynt

About 50 photography students will take a three-day field trip to the Arches National Monument Friday to Sunday, according to Bert V. Allen, head of the college photography department.

In the three days' time each student will be able to get in about 20 hours of picture taking, he said. Color, black and white and movie pictures will be taken.

Jo Reid, photographers' model, and George Baker national lecturer on photography, will meet the college group at the Arches. Mr. Baker plans to make a movie of the field trip.

The students will be accompanied by Mr. Allen and Fred Pryor, instructor in photography.

They will leave Logan early Friday morning and expect to arrive back late Sunday evening. They will camp out Friday and Saturday nights and prepare all their own meals while at the Arches.

As it moves through the acts and scenes, the play succeeds in making much ado about nothing, but there's much credit a-due the Utah State players for another fine Shakespearean drama production.

History Head To Lecture Friday Night

Dr. Joel E. Ricks, of the history department, will present the annual faculty research lecture, Friday at 8 p.m. in the LDS Institute.

Dr. Ricks will speak on early Cache Valley settlements. He is a former president of Weber college, and is currently president of the Utah State historical society.

A dinner in the college cafeteria will honor Dr. and Mrs. Ricks, prior to the research lecture presentation.

Cake Contest For Batter Or for Worse

Care to whet your culinary capabilities?

You can during Agathon, and for prizes, too. The Foods and Nutrition department will sponsor a cake baking contest during Agathon, according to Nada Arnell, contest chairman.

Rules, as listed by Miss Arnell, are: bake a white or chocolate cake only, and leave it unfrosted.

Cakes must be taken to the dining room of the cafeteria in the Commons building, and must be entered before 12 noon Friday, May 1.

Anyone is eligible to enter except Ann Pillsbury, Betty Crocker, Mr. Cinch or Mr. Swansdown.

Whites Down Blues 26-6;

Football enthusiasts of Utah State had their first glimpse of next year's gridmen last Friday when they staged their annual Blue versus White contest. The Whites came out on the long end of a 26-6 score.

No injuries were reported in the "roughly" played contest but Coach John Roning stated that the boys need a lot of things ironed out before conference competition next fall.

The Aggies will display a new system in the backfield formation when they change from a single-wing to a T-formation. They will use both the balanced and unbalanced line.

Reno Rifle Range Hosts Matches

A "grudge match" between the University of San Francisco, University of Nevada and Utah State will be held in Reno, Nev., on Saturday, according to J. M. Callan, rifle team coach.

Ray Purser, team captain, recently took several honors at the Utah Indoor Smallbore Rifle Meet in Bountiful. Competing with shooters from the entire state, Purser won the iron sight match, scope sight match and placed first in the grand aggregate scoring.

Members of the USAC team are Purser, Arden Pulley, Robert Harlow, Rollo Brunson and Robert J. Bell. They will travel to Reno by car.

Councils Plan Greek Week

Under the sponsorship of the Panhellenic Council and the Interfraternity Council, the first annual "Greek Week" will be held from May 3 through May 10 at Utah State. The week's activities are under the chairmanship of Ron Austin and his committee, consisting of Jan Eggen, Darlene Nelson, Bonnie Reese, Jim Slack, Norm Olson and Jerry Sherratt.

"The purpose of this week is to coordinate some of the regular Greek activities into one week, with the idea of giving the Greeks a more comprehensive idea of their role at Utah State," according to Ron Austin, chairman of Greek Week.

Week's activities will be inaugurated with a Panhellenic-Interfraternity Housemother's Tea Sunday, May 3, in the union building lounge. An All-Greek rally will be held Monday, with a guest speaker, yet to be announced. The Greeks will also present an assembly to the Studentbody Tuesday, and the Panhellenic and Interfraternity officers will hold their annual banquet that evening in the Bluebird.

Thursday night a Panhell-Interfrat Ball will be held in the union ballroom, with heels and hose being the dress. Friday and Saturday Panhellenic will conduct its Workshop with Goldy Mehas, Panhellenic president, in charge. The activities will be climaxed with Greek Swing Sing.

maxed with Greek Swing Sing, the annual non-competitive Greek song fest. The scholarship cups will be presented at that time to the fraternity and sorority maintaining the highest academic average during the past three quarters. Chi Omega and Sigma Nu were the recipients last year.

Electrical Fair

Aggie students are invited to attend the Cache Valley electrical fair sponsored by the Cache Valley chapter, Intermountain Electrical Association, tonight at 7:30 to 10 p. m. in the union building. Many door prizes will be given.

LDS Sets Formal

Lambda Delta Sigma will hold its annual spring formal April 25, chairman Don Kroth announced. It will begin at 9 p.m. Favors will be given and corsages are in order. Admission is by Lambda Delta Sigma cards or guest cards.

Organ Recital

William Foxley, accomplished pianist and organist, will present an organ recital Sunday, April 26, at 8:45 p.m. at the LDS Institute.

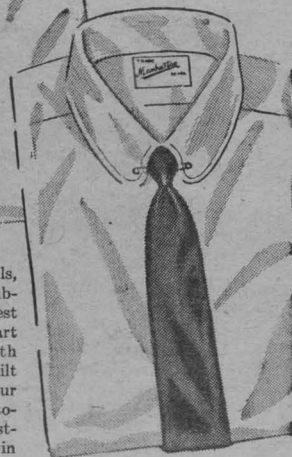

Mr. Foxley is a faculty member of McCune School of Music and Art, and a representative of the LDS music committee.

Everyone is invited to attend this fireside recital and sacrament meeting at the Institute.

Aggie-Cougar Diamondmen Clash Friday

Ag Tracksters Lose Opener

BY CLAIR PETERSON

Utah State's track team lost its opening dual meet of the season to the University of Utah Tuesday, but Aggie fans had a couple of things to cheer about in the high jump event.

First, they watched Utah's sensational high jumper Cal Clark clear the crossbar at 6 feet 9 1/8 inches, 2 1/8 inches better than the Skyline Conference record.

Secondly, they witnessed Don Spainhower, Utah State jumper, go 6 feet 4 3/4 inches, the highest an Aggie has ever high jumped in the school's history.

Clark's performance was outstanding. Three times he failed to clear the bar at 6 feet 11 1/8 inches, 1/8 inch higher than the world's record.

A Ute, Dale Newbold also turned in outstanding time in the 100-yard dash, covering the century in 9.7 seconds without being pressed too severely.

Otherwise, times and distances were not outstanding in the dual meet, which was the first competition of the season for both the Redskins and Aggies.

Utah State was able to muster only four first places, in the shot put (Jim Erz), javelin (Matt Trontell), 220-yard low hurdles (Cordell Brown) and 440 (Willard Jessop.)

Utah was expected to have a comparatively easy time with the Aggies, and this they did, mainly because of the depth the Salt Lake City squad had to offer.

Summary:

100 Yard Dash—Dale Newbold (Utah), Tovey Utah, and Yates (Utah) 9.7.

120 Yard HHI—Lowell Wilson (Utah), Burgner (Utah State), and Marsen (Utah) 16.1.

880 Yard Run—Don Brown (Utah) Anderson (Utah State), Perkins (Utah) 2:01.7.

High Jump—Cal Clark (Utah), Spainhower (Utah State), Fulton (Utah) 6 feet 9 and 1/8 inches.

220 Yard Dash—Dale Newbold (Utah), Tovey (Utah) and Prince (Utah) 21.3.

Pole Vault—George Papadakis and Jackson, Oscar tied for first. Clark (Utah State) 11 feet.

Shot Put—Jim Erz (Utah State),

Shown breaking the tape on the 440-yard dash is Utah State's Willard Jessop. Jessop captured one of four first places garnered by the Aggies as they were swamped by the Utah Utes 87-44.

Team Standings

From all appearances, spring has taken over the campus and a fresh interest in physical activity is apparent in the Women's Intramural Department.

All-campus badminton is reaching the final rounds. Winners will be announced next week. Next on the agenda is water baseball, which will begin Monday at 5 in the pool. The first game will be played by Alpha Chi and Kappa Delta.

Smith (Utah), and Moore (Utah) 47 feet 4 inches.

2 Mile Run—Mike Morris (Utah), Woodward (Utah State), and Anderson (Utah) 10:31.0.

220 Low Hurdles—Cordell Brown (Utah State), Yates (Utah) Wilson (Utah) 32.2.

Discus—David Jensen (Utah), Saunders (Utah State), and Weight (Utah State) 145 feet.

Javelin—Matt Trontell (Utah State) Fulton (Utah), and Snow (Utah) 177 feet 2 inches.

Broad Jump—Dick Taylor (Utah), Ford (Utah State), and Garner (Utah State) 22 feet 1 3/4 inches.

Mile Relay—Utah 3:29.7.

Total Points—Utah 87 Utah State

Twin Bill Begins at 2:30 p.m.; Cougars in Favored Role

BY LARRY MONROE

The Aggie baseballers came out of their sphere of bad weather last week and dropped two games to Montana University. In a free hitting double header with the Montana school, played in Pocatello last Saturday, the Grizzlies out-hit the Aggies to win both games by an identical score of 8-11.

Montana Has Edge

Montana definitely showed an edge in experience according to baseball coach Ev Faunce. They have had the break of better weather and also more game experience.

Halavaty started the first game and was relieved in the third inning by Dawson, who finished the game. Lewis started the second tilt and we relieved by Hawes and Halavaty. Halavaty and Lewis were the losing pitchers.

The Aggies had good hitting according to Faunce. Spareboom and Harris hit well in both games. Harris, Dawson and Hansen got triples for their efforts. This Friday the Aggies meet BYU in Logan. The first game will be played at 2:30 on the Logan high school field and the second will come off at 7:30. Either Halavaty or Lewis will start the first game.

BYU who is on top of the league right now is strong all around. With the good weather, though, the Aggies will be in better shape to meet the Cougars.

Lineup

The starting lineup for the BYU games will be either Dawson or Shelton at first, Davis at second, Fleniken or Hodges at third, Sparboom at short Yokomiza in left field, either Larsen or Harris in center field, Hansen in right field and either Larsen or Ghering catching.

The starting lineups for BYU are not obtainable at this time. However, BYU is known to have strong hitting and pitching. Of the basis of BYU's other games they have good defense too.

Makeup Games
The Aggies also have two make-up games to be played with the University of Utah in the near future.

Golf and Tennis Teams Drop Openers to Utes, Y

Both golf and tennis jumped 6-4, in one of the day's top matches. Both suffered defeats in their opening western division action of the season.

The net team bowed to the University of Redskins, 8-1, and the golf squad fell before a consistent BYU team, 9-3.

In tennis, only Glenn Peterson, playing No. 3 singles, was able to win for Utah State. He defeated Ralph Stephens, 6-3, 4-6, Utah's No. 1 single ace, Jerry Glade, took the measure of Ivan Christensen, 6-3, 6-0, in a brilliant display of tennis by the Utah ace.

It was about the same story in golf, where only John Lundahl was fortunate enough to play his man on an even basis. Lundahl fired a 79 to take 1½ points from BYU's Westra, who shot a 78.

Marine Officers Plan Interviews

Lt. B. S. MacCabe, U. S. marine corps, will bring an officer procurement team to Utah State college on May 1. They will come prepared to process applications of students interested in becoming marine reserve officers.

The marine corps is offering college students two plans for obtaining reserve commissions. One is for juniors or below. Successful applicants for this program will attend two marine summer camps during their undergraduate years. Upon graduation from college they will receive their commissions and will undergo several months of intensive training before entering upon active duty.

College seniors may enter the officer candidate school upon obtaining their degrees and thus earn their commissions.

Application forms for both programs may be obtained in the office of Dr. Carlton Culmsee, dean of arts and sciences.

Payments made on student insurance last week were listed by Harold Dance, company representative, as follows:

IK's Schedule Beno Creep, National Confab

Three hundred Intercollegiate Knights from some 30 western colleges will hold their convention on the campus today, tomorrow and Friday, according to Duke Eugene Farnsworth, of the local chapter.

The Intercollegiate Knights have their scrapbook on display this morning in the union building. The book is up-to-date with stories and the history of the Knights.

"We have 30 colleges represented and we hope we can show each Knight an interesting time," said Duke Farnsworth.

Tonight the knights will spend the evening at Crystal Springs. Friday night will be the annual Beno Creep, a student body dance, sponsored by the Knights. The dance will begin at 9 p.m. at the union building.

Elections for next year's officers will be conducted Saturday, with the convention to end late Saturday afternoon.

"The Knights are staying at the different fraternity houses, and we want to thank everyone for their cooperation," commented Mr. Farnsworth.

The Intercollegiate Knights say that anyone interested in joining the organization may contact Eugene Farnsworth or attend the Knight's meeting Wednesday, at 5 p.m.
