Finance Commission reviews allocations to student groups

Last year, eighteen dollars of each student's fees were allocated to the various student organizations on campus.

The percentage of the fund each organization received is depicted in the pie chart on the left.

Last week, the Financial Commission voted to give funds again to the same groups, with the exception of Ag Incorporated, Engineering Council, Photography Guild, Rifle Team, Range Society, Blue Book, and Faculty Associates.

No official decision was reached regarding funds for next year's Buzzer.

Not Finalized

However, Mark Anderson, Financial Vice-President, wants to stress that this list of groups to be allocated is not final.

Each organization was judged against the following criteria:

1. Should the function depend on ASUSU funds?
2. Would the activity function without funds?
3. Is the activity necessary?
4. Is the activity departmental?
5. Does a duplication of activities or funding exist?

If any eliminated or new group feels they meet this criteria, they are welcome to present their case to the Financial Commission, after March 24th, according to Anderson.

The commission decided that the university holds the responsibility of funding academic and classroom-type activities. Consequently, the cause for omitting a group from ASUSU funding usually was the group's classification as a departmental activity.

Agriculture Inc., Engineering Council, Photography Guild, Rifle Team, Range Society - 0.82%, Angel Flight - Sponsors - 0.28%, Activity Sec. - Exec. Council Assistantships, Leadership training, organizations v.p., elections - 5.5%, Women's Intramurals and extramurals - 1.7%, Men's Intramurals - Soccer and Rugby Teams - 3.3%, Academics, Blue Book, Crucible, Faculty Associates, Freshman Orientation, Public Relations - 6.0%, International Coordinating Council, Model UN - 1.3%, Homecoming - 1.0%, KUSU FM - 2.3%, AWS Miss USU, Socials - 3.3%, Big Blue Booster Club, Forensics, Rodeo Club - 5.9%, General Expense - 3.5%, Student Productions, Utah State Theatre - 4.2%.

Supreme Court gives ruling on claims for draft exemption

Reporting:

Barry Schweld
AP Writer

Washington (AP) — The Supreme Court barred Monday draft exemptions for men who claim conscientious objections to the Indochina war but not to all wars.

The 8-1 ruling, based on what Justice Thurgood Marshall called a straightforward reading of Selective Service law, closes the door on Roman Catholics who subscribe to the "just war" doctrine as well as to other selective objectors.

Sincere Also

Marshall said they are subject to the draft, however sincere or religious they may be.

He said Congress intended to exempt only persons who oppose participating in all war.

Justice William O. Douglas dissented. He said the exemption provision is unconstitutional in that it discriminates in favor of religious persons and against humanist and atheists with similar scruples against war.

The decision upheld the conviction of Guy P. Gillette, 26, of Yonkers, N.Y., a self-described humanist who said he would help defend the country or fight in a United Nations peace-keeping effort but not in Vietnam.

At the same time, the court ruled against Louis A. Negre, 23, of Bakersfield, Calif., a Roman Catholic who was refused a discharge from the Army. After completing infantry training Negre declared his participation in the Vietnam war would contradict "all that I had been taught in my religious training."

War Unjust?

Both men said the war is unjust and the court did not question their sincerity.

Marshall, delivering the court's opinion in both cases, said "We hold that Congress intended to exempt persons who oppose participating in all war ... and that persons who object solely to participation in a particular war not within the preview of the exempting section..."

A Justice department source said the ruling opens the way for the government to seek indictments against several alleged draft evaders who have raised similar arguments.

Evaluation

Reporting:

Julie Washburn
'Life Writer

Course evaluation results will be filed at the Information Desk in the University Center at the beginning of spring quarter.

The file on each professor will consist of four parts: (1) scored responses taken from the evaluation test given fall quarter, (2) a copy of a major examination, (3) a course outline, and (4) a profile.

The evaluation sheet will summarize the results of responses given by students who had taken the course from the professor fall quarter.

The professor will file with the evaluation sheet examination representative of his or her testing techniques.

A self evaluation will be filled out by each professor in the form of a profile. It will contain information on the professors teaching methods and publishing interests. The manner of presentation will be described -- lecture, discussion, etc.

The types of examinations and their frequencies; what outside work for the course consists of (reading, papers), and grading basis will all be included in the profile. There will also be any other additional information included that the professor feels is relevant.

On the whole, the evaluation is expected to allow students to investigate courses and professors to learn what is to be expected.

Results to be filed

Verushka's fate - natural causes

Verushka Schwartz lives dangerously.

She smokes un-filtered cigarettes, filling her already polluted lungs with smoke that -- she is reminded three times a day, each time she reaches for a fresh pack -- may be hazardous to her already precarious health.

Verushka, weighing in at 173 pounds in her school gym shorts, has a slight tendency to overweight, so all her drinks -- coffee, Daiquiri and soft -- contain cyclamates, which aren't easy to get these days. But Verushka perseveres. And -- get this: her salt isn't iodized.

Verushka, A Good Catholic, is on the Pill -- she takes them religiously every a.m., making her susceptible to blood clotting and cervicle cancer. Helping her ailing condition along are the pep pills she takes during the week and the LSD she devours. Verushka is daily losing 7,364,098 chromosomes from her withering cells.

During the week, she digests ground beef -- not ground round -- and her breaking heart is overflowing with saturated fats, if you can imagine that! Her ulcer is fed with potato chips and french fries, and her little liver is nightly infested with liquor, mixed and un.

Her deodorant -- when she uses one -- is not Extra Dry. Her clothes are not Wash and Wear. Notheven Drip Dry.

She smokes pot, she drives a car, she opens her umbrella indoors; doesn't knock wood; puts her shoes on the table. Her cat is a Carrier; she charcoals her steaks; cooks all her food in micro-wave ovens; takes plane rides; crosses against the light -- and who knows what her pet boa constrictor can do?

"At the rate I'm going," Verushka says with a sickly sigh, "I figure I've got about 3½ minutes left to live."

Pity poor Verushka.

But in those 3½ minutes, Verushka -- a university student with a double major in Health and Home Economics -- said she wanted to give the free world some valuable and meaningful advice.

"Be careful what you do. Never leave your room. It's just not safe to go outside."

"It's no longer safe," Verushka said, "to drink, think, swallow or wallow. It's not safe to rest, digest, perspire or tire. It's not safe to eat, excrete, diet or try it. It's not safe to masticate, fornicate, smoke or choke..."

And then Verushka, who, incidentally, also has bad breath, went into a coma.

In her will, she requested to be cremated -- "so that my ashes can scurry through all the hills and valleys, through the cities and the country -- and pollute the whole bloody world."

"I want to die dangerously, too."

She was smiling when she passed away. The doctors decided that Verushka Schwartz died of natural causes.

Cheer, but don't heckle

Editor:

An open letter to U.S.U. students:

This letter is an appeal to promote good sportsmanship of our students, our fans or anyone else who is in attendance at our athletic events.

My statements are made only to help the situation and in no way to discourage good, clean cheering and enthusiasm from our fans.

Booing an opposing player or coach is an act of obvious bad sportsmanship. Throwing paper cups or debris on the court is not only very dangerous to the players competing, but it is in very bad taste and makes it impossible for us to play the game until it is removed. We would like to appeal to those violators of this act to discontinue this bad habit. It seems like we have this type of a problem when we play our big rival games.

As I travel to other locations, I find the practice of booing and throwing debris on the court and making disparaging remarks at our players, leaves me with a negative feeling toward that school.

Cheering for your favorite team is encouraged and at Utah State we have this with great abundance and we are doubly proud of it. Now if we can eliminate any distasteful actions by our students and fans we will be well on our way to promoting good sportsmanship which in the end, is really what it is all about.

We hope all schools will endeavor to accomplish the same type of atmosphere in their arenas.

Buzzer case pleaded (again)

Editor:

During the years that we have been taking the individual pictures for the University yearbook, we have worked with many fine student editors and there have been a number of fine award winning Buzzers.

It has been a pleasure for us to work with Dave Marcusen this year. Dave, along with his staff have worked hard to put out a book that the student body will be proud of and one that will be off the press and available to the students by the end of spring quarter.

There are a few negative attitudes towards the Buzzer on campus at the present time. Some students feel that $2 is too much to pay the photographer to have their photograph put in the yearbook. In the first place, we do not get $2. The $2 collected from each student is deposited to the Buzzer account at the controllers office. We in turn are paid $1.45 for each picture taken and we do not receive this money until the finished picture is turned in to the editor. The remaining .55 stays in the Buzzer account and is used towards publication and other costs. From the time we take the photographs until the finished picture is turned in, we handle the negative envelope of each student 14 different times, this involves six different people.

Most students do not realize the advance planning necessary in putting out a yearbook. The editor has to be chosen spring quarter for the following year so that he can be working with the publisher during the summer in planning the lay-outs, the art work, and the general theme of the book.

The photographer must know by August if he's going to shoot the pictures so that he can order his film and supplies in order to be ready to start taking pictures the first week in October. He is required to turn in the Freshman class by the middle of November so that the editor can start meeting his deadlines with the publisher. These deadlines have to be met every two or three weeks up until March so that the book will be off the press by May.

The student photographers have a big job and plenty of headaches in getting the many group pictures and activity shots. It takes the cooperation of the students. A good yearbook represents hundreds of hours of hard work by lots of different people. Ask anybody who's worked on one.

Utah State is a great school and you students should be proud to have a yearbook. We think it deserves your support.

Subcommittee report evaluates purposes of Honor program

Reporting:

Melinda Anderson
'Life Writer

Is the Honors Program relevant?

An evaluation of the Honors Program has come about as part of undergraduate assessment. A subcommittee for Honors assessment recently made a study and issued a report on the findings.

Equal Opportunity

In response to the why of having an Honors Program, "the committee reasoned that justice requires of the university that it provide an equal opportunity for all of its students to lead productive lives "and that an Honors program which challenges gifted and well-prepared students enables the university to meet this principle.

Not For All

Raymond Sanders, director of Honors, feels the program is to meet the needs of the student desiring classes with more discussion, and more inquiry on his own part.

He said the Honors Program is not for everyone on campus. Some student want their classes to be more structured and specific than Honors classes tend to be.

In Honors, student initiative is emphasized. Honors students are encouraged to plan their own curriculum. They have the opportunity to devise the courses that they want for themselves. Upperclass honors students are experimenting with the idea of advising their freshmen and sophomore counterparts.

The assessment committee report states the Honors privileges as a "waiver of the general education requirements, the same library privileges as granted to graduate students, and access to the Honors lounge."

In addition, the committee recommends the requirements of the Liberal Arts major be revised so that Honors students will have the opportunity to earn this major as part of a double major.

Future of Program

The program at USU is a general honors program. Its purpose is to "provide a broadly humanistic and truly liberal education for its participants."

Such an education involves a host of goals. It involves fostering an understanding of the major intellectual traditions in western civilization. It involves the attempt to understand the major problems besetting contemporary society. It aims at forming in students the skills and dispositions required for critical inquiry and problem solving and it involves gaining an appreciation of cultural and aesthetic values.

committee offered suggestions and commendations for the program in the future. They summarized the current program in regards to entrance, graduation requirements, budget, and responsibilities of the director.

Sanders said the program is available for any student who can qualify in respect to the entrance requirements.

BYU head resigns post after 20 years

Provo, Utah (AP) — The resignation of Brigham Young University President Ernest L. Wilkinson, who will be 72 in May, was announced today before a student assembly.

President Harold B. Lee, first counselor of the First Presidency, said Dr. Wilkinson submitted his resignation in May of 1970, but that he was asked to stay on until plans for a law school were worked out.

Wilkinson's retirement will be effective at the end of the school year, or until a successor is named.

The new law school will be named the J. Reuben Clark Jr. College of Law in honor of the late counselor of the First Presidency, who served as an undersecretary in the U.S. State Department and as U.S. ambassador to Mexico.

Wilkinson has been BYU president for 20 years.

During his tenure, BYU has grown from five to 13 colleges and the regular daytime student enrollment has grown from 4,654 to its present 25,021.

Wilkinson, who attended Weber College and was graduated from BYU in 1921, has a law degree from George Washington University and a doctorate in juridical science from Harvard.

'Crucible' opens tonight

Salem, Massachusetts, in the witch-burning days toward the close of the 17th Century, is the scene of The Crucible, a play by Arthur Miller which opens tonight in the Chase FAC Theatre.

Miller's play is a sardonic picture of the grisly chapter in American history when a mass hysteria swept a whole community into condemning to death 19 people convicted of witchcraft on the testimony of malicious and irresponsible witnesses.

Main Characters

Chief among Miller's gallery of portraits of people who lived, loved, feared and died in the Salem of this nightmarish time are a farmer and his wife, John and Elizabeth Proctor, who will be portrayed by James Arrington and Peggy Patrick Garbis.

The play tells how a quartet of exhibitionistic young girls, to escape the consequences of having been caught in "sinful" pastimes of dancing in a forest, hurl accusations of witchcraft at Elizabeth Proctor and other highly respectable members of a well-meaning but not too clear-headed community. Accusations feverishly taken up by adults with motivations equally irresponsible.

Guilt By Association

On the basis of the flimsy evidence of these girls "guilt by association with the devil" ... scores of innocents are brought to trial and condemned by prejudiced, fear-ridden authorities. Those who "confess" their guilt are saved from death. But the farmer John Proctor cannot buy his life at the price of such a lie. Wrestling with his conscience, he defies his crazy community, and goes to the gallows.

Cast Members

In addition to James Arrington and Peggy Garbis whose ordeal is the central focus of the story, the cast will include Christopher Hobbs as Parris, a mean-minded parson; David Goodall as the harsh, overbearing deputy-governor of the colony; Christine Ingleby, a mischief-making chief accuser; Sharla Quayle as her intimidated ally; and John Beyer as a preacher overwhelmed with horror at the fury and bigotry unleashed by the trials. Others in the cast being directed by Dennis David will be Patricia Day, Richard Conn, Bob Moeller and Bob Walkingshaw.

KRUD radio in dormitory

Pullman, Wash. (AP) — A Washington State University men's dormitory has used its budget surplus to finance its own radio station.

KRUD went on the air for the first time Wednesday in WSU's Rogers Hall.

KRUD, operating just below the FCC maximum wattage for nonlicensed transmitters, has a 17-hour day with popular music broadcast Monday through Thursday and mood music on Friday and Saturday.

Steve Sterling, an electrical engineering major helping to operate the station, said KRUD cost $300 to set up and consists of a 95 milliwatt transmitter, a record changer, tape deck and 96 hours of recorded tape.

The station turns on automatically and begins its broadcasting day at 7 a.m. The equipment will operate up to four hours unattended.

DONISTHORPE, England (AP) — The romance crashed but Maggie Tomlin never took off her fiancé's ring. And 55 years later, after she had been married four times, Maggie and her first love, Joe Cox, are going to the altar.

The couple, both in their late 70s, parted in World War I but met again recently by chance.

Does her anger at a domineering husband justify a wife's taking a lover?

Aggies-Cat clash shapes up as classic

JEFF TEBBS, key to USU offense, will be slowed-down Saturday due to a broken jaw.

'Enjoyable year': Belnap says of 15-5 Ramblers

"This has been one of my most enjoyable years coaching. The kids were all willing to learn while attempting the big changeover from high school to college basketball. The guys made coaching easier," stated freshman coach Dutch Belnap.

Utah State Freshman basketball team finished a 20-game season with 15 victories. The season record was not the finest coach Dutch has ever had, but it certainly was termed successful. "Winning is important, but the real purpose of the freshman team is to prepare athletes for further competition in the varsity ranks," said the freshman mentor.

As coaches, we felt we accomplished many of our goals in our freshman oriented program. "All the players on the variety except Ed Epps are products of Aggie freshman teams, and all except Marv Roberts and Dave Andersen are from Dutch Belnap's teams.

Varsity Prospect

Glen Hansen, a definite varsity prospect, led the Ramblers in scoring with a 22-point average and totaled 187 rebounds for a 9.3 per game average. Another man counted on to help the Big Blue in future years in Jim Boatwright. The 6-8 forward led the team in rebounding with 13 per game, and demonstrated an outside shooting touch for 17.7 per game average. Gary Erickson and Dan Drensen were also double-figure men with 17.6 points per game and 11.0 respectively.

The team averaged 91.2 points a game while holding opponents to 78.2 for an average margin of victory of 13 points. By the way, two of the five losses this year came at the hands of the No. 1 ranked JC in the nation, College of Southern Idaho.

Jim Boatwright

Top varsity prospect

The coaches will spend many hours evaluating the freshman performers to decide who should be brought up to the varsity. Many of their evaluations will be made on "how well the individuals transformed from the high school star to a college team player."

Most people thought -- and hoped -- that USU's 72-70 victory over BYU last January would be the last time the Cougars would be heard of this year. Ha! Ha!

For those who watched the powerful Pumas whip Utah 98-87 last Saturday, the most commonly used word was "awesome" or "impressive." Most agree that BYU should be favored over the Aggies, home court edge notwithstanding.

Great Shooters

When BYU shoots well, there are very few teams that can match basketball talent with them. And BYU has been shooting exceptionally well for the past two months.

The big reason, undoubtedly, is Kresimir Cosic. Here's a guy that will dominate college basketball for the next two years. The 6-11 sophomore is a showboater, but it doesn't effect his play. Aggie coach LaDell Andersen has called him "potentially one of the best centers in the country."

Joining Cosic against the Aggies will be hot-shooting Phil Tollestrup, Bernie Gryer and Steve Kelley. When these guys are hot you can kiss any victory hopes adieu.

Although veteran coach Stan Watts will not be able to attend the game, assistants Glen Potter and Pete Witbeck have proven to be shrewd stand-ins. They have piloted a team picked to finish in 6th place in the WAC conference to the top spot.

Witbeck Optimistic

Witbeck and Potter have been extremely quiet in mentioning USU's home court advantage in the playoff game. Neither coach has made it known they oppose the playoff site.

Says Witbeck: "We've played Utah State twice and split with them. We beat them pretty handily in Provo and lost a real tough one up in Logan in the last three seconds. We thought, 'we should have won that game.'"

"We think we can beat Utah State and we're glad to have a chance to do it for the Western Athletic Conference."

Potter added: "They've got a great ballclub and its on their home court. When you consider this team as having four all-Americans, they've got to be good." Potter was referring to Marv Roberts, Nate Williams, Bob Lauriski and Lafayette Love. Lauriski and Love have been named to an All-Sophomore team recently.

Tebbs Restricted

With Jeff Tebbs' jaw injury restricting him from full speed, Andersen will likely go with Terry Wakefield and Ed Epps in the backcourt.

BYU has confronted USU with an outstanding zone defense in both of the previous meetings, and chances are they'll try it again. If Wakefield is hot, BYU may be forced to change its defensive plans.

"We have to control the tempo of the game," Potter said, "If we can keep our poise on defense as well as offense, we should be able to keep up with their fast break. We are both fastbreaking clubs."

In the 72-70 USU victory, the USU defense limited Kelly to two points. The BYU senior is averaging more than 19 points per game, so that stood out as one key factor. If the Aggies can cut off one or perhaps two of the BYU shooters, then Cosic may have too much burden to handle.

Marvin Roberts (21.3) and Nate Williams (17.0) shoulder the key offensive hopes for USU -- and the top defensive duties as well. USU was able to out-rebound BYU in the last meeting and should they do so Saturday, it would be hard for BYU to pull it out.

Still, odds-makers will probably list this one as a toss-up. It should be a classic.

Weber State and Long Beach State will meet in the top-half of the doubleheader, beginning at 7:05 p.m. The USU-BYU game will follow at 9:05. The WSC-LBS winner will play either UCLA or Southern Cal.

USU BRIEFS

Winter concert

USU Chorale's annual Winter concert is scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Concert Hall of the Chase Fine Arts Center.

The performance will be a benefit to raise funds to send the Chorale to the Western Division of the Music Educators National Conference in San Diego.

Selections to be performed by the Chorale include: "Glory to God", "Christ Be Thine the Glory", "Cantique de Jean Racine", "Praise the Lord, All ye Nations".

Recording studio

USU may soon have the facilities to record sound, with professional quality, according to John Layton of Student Productions.

If funds are obtained from the Executive Council, Layton said, the studio could be operating within a month, for staff and equipment are ready, but funds are needed to construct a wall in what is now the rehearsal room.

Layton feels that about $900 at the most will be needed, and "the studio will pay for itself within a few months."

Plans are presently being drawn up, and as soon as they are finished, the proposal will go before the Executive Council, Layton said.

"You can record anywhere if you have a good recorder and microphone," Layton said, "but to do a top-notch job, you must have the proper facilities, among them a studio with perfect acoustics."

Student Productions already has some of "the finest equipment available" said Layton, and the recording studio will make this equipment available to students, faculty, and the public at a fraction of the cost it takes elsewhere.

Faculty members interested in taping telelecture can take their ideas to the studio when it is completed, and the Student Productions staff will work out the program and get it taped, according to Layton.

Student Groups can also use the services at a reasonable rate, "and with the quality of equipment we have, even an average group will sound great."

This is the case, Layton said, because staff members will use the finest equipment and facilities, and the recordings will be of the best professional quality.

While the central studio will be located in the University Center, Layton said, the facilities will be versatile, so we can record programs and concerts attended by only a few students, and make them available to the entire studentbody.

When completed, profits from the studio will be channeled back

Engineers elected Cathy Gibson, first attendant, Debbie Foster Queen, and Kathy Fugal, second attendant. Winners of the bridge contest were: Ken Hazelbaker, Abbas Golshani, and Lynn Zollinger. Rodney Galloway, senior in Civil Engineering, was chosen outstanding engineer at USU and he received an award from the Utah Society of Professional Engineers.

into student funds, with Student Productions utilizing only enough for equipment maintenance, Layton said.

Book Exchange

Intercollegiate Knights and Spurs will sponsor a Book Exchange again this quarter. It will be held for two weeks beginning Monday.

Previously, the profits from the exchange were absorbed by each organization. They now plan to establish a scholarship fund of $25,000.

Students approved for the scholarships will be chosen by the scholarship committee and must meet some requirements imposed by the organizations sponsoring the fund.

Honor lecture

Dr. A. Alvin Bishop, head of the department of Agricultural and Irrigation Engineering will deliver the 42nd Annual Faculty Honor Lecture March 10 at 8 p.m. in the UC Auditorium.

Dr. Bishop will discuss "Conflicts in Water Management." While not attempting to vindicate engineers, Dr. Bishop suggests that many critics of engineered water systems do not understand the complexity of water interactions. His talk attempts to encourage an informed approach to the problems of water management.

Dr. Bishop points out that fish and waterfowl pollute their own ecosystems and some industrial uses can actually help an ecosystem.

Telelecture guest

One of the nation's best known educational philosophers -- Dr. Theodore Brameld -- will be a Telelecture guest on the USU campus today.

Steve Allen, Ed. D. candidate, said that anyone interested is invited to the free Telelecture by Dr. Brameld. It will begin at 12 p.m. in room 211 of the Education building.

The telephone interview between Dr. Brameld in Honolulu, Hawaii, and USU students is being sponsored by members of the class in educational philosophy taught by Dr. Basil C. Hansen.

Dr. Brameld currently is visiting professor of Educational Philosophy at the University of Hawaii. He is also Professor Emeritus at Boston University and for many years was professor of educational philosophy at New York University.
