NUMBER 15.

DEBATERS CHOSEN

Twenty one students tried out for places on the collegiate debating teams last Monday. For more than three hours the judges sat motionless and listened silently to various arguments and new interpretations concerning the "Single Tax." Ten men fell in line with Henry George and, with some modifications, declared themselves in favor of taxing the "unearned increment." Eleven students maintained that to tax the "economic rent" was unjust and therefore they bitterly opposed "this socialistic movement."

From a numerical standpoint the "negative" won—by one. But on just which side a Lincoln jury would have been willing to bet a "picayune" was extremely difficult for the judges to determine. The preponderance of evidence was hard to locate. The dilemma was due, in part, to using this question for the tryouts:

Resolved, That a tax on land values be substituted for the general property tax for city purposes in American cities of over 10,000 inhabitants.

* Most of the arguments hinged on the justice or injustice of the proposed tax. Some "light" was shed on the subject that would have probably surprised Henry George himself. Most of them now have a fairly accurate idea of what is meant by the "unearned increment."

Of the twenty one who tried out, the judges decided on but four: J. B. Bearnson, S. J. Quinney, W. J. Starley and Irvin Nelson. The competition among the others was so close that a second tryout was deemed advisable. The following will try-out again today: Heber D. C. Clark, Wilford Heyrend, J. L. Jones, Harold Peterson, Willis Smith, J. B. Walker, J. Howard Maughan, Sumner Hatch and Leroy C. Funk.

Each speaker is allowed eight minutes and can choose his own side of the question. Next year probably a different method will be used. At least one semi-final and maybe two will be held. A better method to determine debating ability would be to divide the talks into two parts and have five minutes for a direct speech and three for rebuttal, instead of using the entire eight minutes for one speech. The speakers could be rated somewhat after this order: 25 per cent for material; 25 per cent for arrangement, 25 per cent for rebuttal, and 25 per cent for delivery.

The tryouts were judged by Dr. George Thomas, Prof. Geo. B. Hendricks, Prof. N. A. Pedersen, Prof. F. D. Daines and Mr. W. E. Brooke.

"MILESTONES"—A HOME PRODUCT.

"Milestones," the most talked of play in the last decade will be ready for delivery January the 25th. The play will be entirely a "home product" this year—the costuming and scenery are both being made right here in the school under the direction of the Art Department. They both promise to be of unusual merit. Mr. Braithwaite, who has charge of the "sets" has had a wide experience in scene painting and the costumes are being made by expert dressmakers.

The cast is rehearsing daily and nightly. They will present the play out of town two nights next week—possibly in Hyde Park and in Wellsville. "Milestones" is a "big" play in every sense and we're looking forward with great interest to its presentation. Those who know say its "coming on finely."

TRUE EDUCATION.

It has been said, and wisely, that "education is to the soul what the sculptor is to the block of marble." From the quarry comes the rough, unpolished block of marble and is placed before the sculptor. The instruments of the art, guided and moved by a trained mind and a trained hand transforms that block of marble into a beautiful statue. It is then admired by all lovers of art and beauty.

The magic touch of the sculptor has changed that which was crude and repulsive into that which is beautiful and inspiring.

That is the relation between this being of ours and true education.

True education changes the potential into the actual. It unfolds and develops too, the greatest possible heights, the qualities, attributes, and powers of man. It so directs human energy that it will be expended in that service which will be of greatest value to mankind.

False, and fast passing away is the idea that education converts a man into a mere machine, crammed with facts, and when cranked grinds them out.

The individual roughly hewn, base, crude and weak when truly educated is transformed into a being of beauty, culture, refinement, and power—power to uplift and bless his fellow men.

"BRUTUS."

SHALL WE RETAIN THE COLLEGE ROLL?

I have heard quite a number of our college students criticize the "College Roll." We have had the College Roll for several years and what good has it done? I do not think that it is a fair example of the best students in the school. I do not say this because I did not get on the college roll myself, but because I know that this is what most of the students believe. If the student is interested in his studies I do not think that he needs any inducement to get an A or a B. Let us take our sister institutions for example. Have they a college roll? I do not think they have. Why not adopt some other method. For example a free scholarship to some good school for the best boy or girl student. Other schools have this method, and it has proved satisfactory. Or let the Student Body as a whole give a money scholarship each year. I think that this would induce the students as a whole to attain better marks, and it is something worth while trying for. The college roll as it is, is more of a joke than a roll of honor. Some students actually try and get their mark changed so that their name will appear on the College Roll.

Fellow students, do you not think that we ought to discuss the College Roll in our Student Body meetings, and come to some definite and more modern methods? I think the faculty would be with us and help us to adopt a better method.

L. G. N.

Manager Wilson is now arranging for football games next fall. We will probably play Colorado Aggies, and Colorado College on their own grounds, while we play the U. of U. and the U. of Montana here. We will also have one or two more home games.

Trustee John C. Sharp spent the greater part of last week at the college.

TWO SHEETS

J. Howard Maughan.

After an enjoyable Christmas holiday, when we are beginning an untouched sheet in life's scroll, the season's greetings are in order. We have each just finished a page in the volumes that are to contain our life's works. Not wishing to grow sentimental, yet I wonder if we have kept records that can be deciphered and if so, how many of us would like to have these records published in the pages of this paper for our fellows to read? Who can tell what the unprinted sheets which we are just beginning will hold a year from now. If it be true that each determines his own course in life, then there is one who can tell what the record will be. And that is he who can read the finished sheet. We are certainly all equal in at least one great particular. Each of us can read one and only one sheet in all the finished records to date. Will we have power over more than one of the uncopied ones? At any rate we are most concerned with our own.

We are face to face with the busiest part of the school year. From a student body standpoint perhaps more outside affairs will come in the next two months than all the other school months together. Our dramatics, debating, oratory and musicals will receive their year's maximum attention in this time. The indoor athletics, basketball, swimming, wrestling, etc., also, come in this period. All this, besides the regular school work and extra functions. The Round-up, the move on for the new dormitories; are all for the benefit of us and ours. Truly, advantages were never so multiplied. If there is progression in one, what more would it take to awaken it? If these surroundings will not do it the backwoods is the place for him. He will at least be out of the way there and perhaps he may develop into a Lincoln. Influences act differently on people.

The season's greetings are extended to all. May the new year be a happy one.

NOTICE OF FELLOWSHIP.

On the bulletin board in the main hall is a circular from the University of Missouri regarding fellowships and scholarships which may be of interest to advanced students, particularly seniors.

STUDENT BODY DANCE TOMORROW NIGHT

ALUMNI.

The date for the Alumni ball has been changed. It will take place Friday evening, January 22. Every member of the Alumni association should make it a point to be present.

The whole day can be spent very profitably at the college. Some of the most distinguished guests of the "Round-up" will be present. Mrs. Nellie Kedzie Jones at 11:00 a. m. will talk on "Dividing the Dollar Wisely." Early in the evening addresses will be given by Dr. E. G. Gowans, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Dr. A. E. Winship of Boston. In addition to these there will be eight other lectures during the day.

You are intending to spend some time at the college during the "Round-up," so why not make it include Friday, January 22, and then be present for the big social event.

Alumni members will be especially interested in the "Buzzer" this year. It promises to be the best ever issued during the history of the institution. Now is the time to subscribe for one. One dollar deposit is required now and the balance of a dollar and a half when the book is delivered.

The Alumni Council held its monthly meeting at the Boosters Club on its regular night. It was decided at the meeting to hold the Alumni ball January 22 instead of January 23, as is listed in the Round-up program.

David J. Nelson, 1914, now at Cornell University, in a letter of the 9th inst., says in part: "Spent part of the holidays in New York City seeing the sights, but the greatest pleasure of all was that afforded by the theatres. They were certainly a treat as compared with what we see in the west. Also, spent part of the time at Rhinebeck, on the Hudson, installing an inventory and stock system which took care of all my expenses to the Metropolis and furnished me additional monetary consideration."

We are always pleased to hear from the members of the Alumni association, in fact, we request you all to write to us occasionally.

While in California recently Dr. Geo. R. Hill visited Berkeley University. He met Prof. Porter there and visited with him for sometime. Prof. Porter stated that all the A. C. students at the institution were doing good work.

Dr. Hill spent several days at the experiment station at Riverside. He visited the San Diego fair and was greatly impressed with the Utah building and exhibits. The maps of Utah which were prepared here were being painted and put in the best of shape.

In addition to Prof. C. W. Porter, Charles West, Earl Robinson and Willard Gardener are attending Berkeley University.

WAR AND WOMEN

(By Chenchiah)

The Civil war was fought in America, not because the Negroes were not fed and clothed well, but because liberty, the fundamental right of humanity had been trampled upon. In the same way, women are fed and clothed, sometimes even better than they deserve, but their right of voice in the councils of nations has been withheld. Though wars affect men and women alike, the latter, have as much to do with declaring and closing the war, as our cattle.

Every war is a war against women. It affects them in more than one way. Man's so-called chivalry has made women dependent upon him. It has forced her to remain at home, to be narrow-minded; less adventurous and less efficient than man. When war is declared, man goes to fight, his bank-book is of no use, and woman has to depend upon her own resources. She cannot get a position, because positions are rare in war time. Food stuffs become more costly, and the result is, woman has to starve.

The economic condition is not all. Though equal number of men and women are born in a country, a number of men are employed in the army, and some men go off to other countries for commercial purposes. So, even in peaceful times, there are in a country, more women than men. During war, many of the young men are killed. This makes the proportion of women still higher than men.

It is natural for women to crave affection, to want to love, and to be loved by man. A certain percentage of women can not get this love and affection legitimately, as many men are killed in war. As a result, we have that most pitiable sight, so common in cities—street walkers. Women are directly thrown into the street. They are compelled to seek in vice what they cannot do in virtue. It degenerates women and demoralises society.

Nor are those women who get husbands free from the bad effects of war. When there are more women than men, the competition among women for partners is keener. Their main weapons in securing husbands, namely beauty and coquettish characters are enhanced. As a result they become more servile and obedient to men. They lose their individuality.

That is not all that war does against women, It is her sons that die in war. Her trouble in raising them is enormous as compared to that of man. Her affection for them is consequently very strong. Her sons go to war, with a reckless and heroic spirit. If shot, they do not mind it. But it is not so with her. She feels the bullet that strikes her son. She considers that she herself is shot and not her son. Words cannot express her anguish. Though war directly injures man, it does more harm indirectly to women.

When man has deprived women her right in governing the nation and when he takes upon himself the burden of government, he can be excused if he does his work all right, but he has utterly failed in maintaining his nation at peace with another. Take, for instance, England which is one of the most civilized countries. Her statesmen are of high rank, and it is they that have involved England into wars, at least once in a decade. Their foreign policy is a failure in maintaining peace. Well may woman laugh at the presumption of man.

The presence of women in the councils of nations would be of untold benefit to humanity. They could realize their share of the troubles from war, better than men do for them. They can act as a better check against wars, than any other element in the nation.

Oh women! Realize and feel your position. If you do that, you will demand your rights. If you do not get them, fight like men and take them.

INDIVIDUAL PICTURES.

For the benefit of the students who do not understand clearly about the individual pictures for "The Buzzer" we will repeat explanations.

All Juniors, officers of the Student Body organization, and members of fraternities, sororities, and clubs having individual pictures should have their pictures taken immediately at Torgeson's studio. Every one is required to pay seventy five cents at the time the picture is taken, then if pictures are ordered the seventy five cents will apply on the price of the pictures. If no pictures are ordered the seventy five cents will pay for the cuts for "The Buzzer." Be sure to have your seventy five cents with you when you have your picture taken, as no pictures will be taken until the deposit is paid.

Arrangements are being made for the Senior pictures. Watch for instructions.

"Very well, I will go to the Railroad Station after the trunks, but what will you do in the meantime?"

"Dont yu know nothing, yu dont got to go to Railroad Stations fur trunks, yu just go to the deep-hoe and tell that guy what runs around pullin wagons with a cap on fur them their trunks uv ours what rode on a train. And I'll take a hike up to the A. C. and talk to president Woodtoe."

"You mean president Wido-soe."

"By gee thats right, I said Woodtoe didnt I?"

"Yes, and I would advise you to be more careful with your English when at the A. C."

"I hant English."

"You dont understand me. I mean speak more correctly."

"Yu mean use better talkatives dont yu?"

"Yes, be more cautious when talking."

"Why dont yu say what yur talking about?"

It was understood that I should register in the afternoon while my companion secured a boarding place. He had been very inquisitive all morning about atmospheric and heavenly conditions in Logan, and I knew something must be wrong, but did not inquire.

"By gess I dont gess I know the way up to the A. C." he began.

"Just get on the street car and ride as far east as the car goes, then after getting off you can see the main building very plainly."

The young freshman had for the first time in all his life seen the sun rise in the west and began its unusual journey toward the eastern horizon. Consequently he mounted the next car that ran in the same direction as the sun in the heavens, believing that when the sun set it would set in the east, and that the car would stop at the far-most point near the College. The car had soon reached its destination and after stepping off the young man, somewhat astonished began gazing upon what he truly believed to be the Agricultural College of Utah. Then boastfully and erect he walked to the door and knocked but no answer came, again he knocked and still no reply. The third time determined in his mind that the knock should be heard, it was given with energy sufficient to cause the door to swing open, and the farmer rushed in and with hand out stretched ran to a window to shake hands with an individual who stood in amazement while his unknown friend explained it all by saying: "By gee I'm hear at last. Just blowed in last night. Bill told me to tell you that his pa. told him to tell me to tell you it was impossability for him to come to the A. C. this year kuz things didnt turn out just like their expeculations. But I want to register now and I want to take elec-twix-i-tya and-." But his listener was now subject to violent laughter.

"I knowed yu'd be happy but I'll be hear fur a long time." continued the student.

"You are mistaken, I am an agent and you are now in the O. S. L. Depot."

"Yu mean in the Railroad Depot? Just wait till I see that pall of mien." and he immediately walked out.

I soon met him but it was very difficult for me to convince him that he was mistaken in the directions. But when all was clear he said:

"I thought kuz the A. C. was hear mabie the sun came up in the west but, I dont gess it does."

"Indeed not." I replied.

We both decided to register that afternoon, and when we stood face to face with the tower of this institution my friend looked up at the flag waving from the tower and said: "By gee it grows flags dont it?"

"No, that flag was placed there this morning at sunrise. But do you know what that flag and for?" I inquired.

"Fur the fourth of July." was the immediate reply.

"Why do we celebrate the fourth of July?"

"Kuz thats when everybody shoots firecrackers."

"Yes, but why do they shoot firecrackers?"

"Kuz they want to hear em pop."

"Do you know what the stars of that flag represents?"

"Yes, they represent white specks."

At this we walked into the main building and after some trouble succeeded in registering. Then we went down town where a very dignified young man walked up to my companion and said: "Are you an Aggie?"

"No! I hant! and I hant been customary to have anybody call me names like that neather."

"Excuse me friend, but I thought you were attending the A. C., and was naturally an Aggie."

"Yes, I go to the A. C., but I hant that kind uv a thing. I'm one uv them guys what they call freshies."

In a very short time we succeeded in securing a boarding place, and the days journey was completed. A STUDENT.

"STUDENT LIFE"

Where is our student life? It seems that even the little life we did have early in the year has gone into hibernation for the winter. In October we were boasting of the life shown by our Freshman class and expecting to have the infants wake up the slumbering and put new vim into the entire student body. What has happened, Freshies? Where is all that class spirit? Yes, and what are you doing, Sophs? Where is your boasted class distinction? Juniors and Seniors, get in and help wake up the sleeping "Aggie spirit."

What is the matter with the life at our basketball games? Will we let a high school go back after a game with us and report us as the "deadest student body in the state?" How can we expect the team men to feel a spirit which we have not got? This means not only every class but every individual.

Wake up!

THE BEN GREY PLAYERS

Record breaking crowds saw both of the Shakesperian plays presented by the Ben Grey players on Monday last. We hope that this result insures the coming of Helen Keller and the Chicago Glee club. The general sentiment of all who attended either or both of the plays was one of satisfaction. Those, however, who saw both are unanimously in placing the afternoon performance ("As You Like It") as the better by far. This fact shows that the students have a proper appreciation of art. Although laughing is generally spoken of as healthful, still the audience felt that the part at which it laughed, was most ridiculous and was a mar on the beauty of one of Shakespeare's clever plays,—a mar of which Shakespeare never dreamed. The wit of Shakespeare was well brought out by the players in the afternoon. The leading lady was at a far better advantage as Rosalind than as Viola. All considered, we are well pleased that they came.

GET IN THE BUZZER.

A good way to do something of note is to write a basketball song. We are badly in need of one right away. Write a good song for our indoor sport and we will fix it with the Buzzer staff to get you into the year book.

THE ROUND-UP.

Next week and the week following will be busy times on the campus. The annual round-up has grown to be a very important part of the institution and does probably more toward advertising our school and increasing the attendance of our regular school than any other one agent. We as students should therefore be interested in the success of the round-up and in the entertainment of the visitors. Show our visitors the advantages of our school that they may in turn return to their homes and there advertise us.

The programs have been carefully arranged and speakers of national reputation have been secured. The taking of moving pictures will be one of the many features.

NOTICE.

Will the committee on publications and all members of Student Life staff please meet in Student Life office at Drill hour tomorrow. The purpose is to consider another magazine issue.

GET INTO THE REVIEWS FOR EXAMS.

We are now nearing the time when we sum up what we have been accumulating for the past four months. Reviews will soon begin and in every case the instructor will constantly be asking, "Is there a question here—do you understand this point—what is this rule?"

Often we pretend every thing is clear whether it is or not, remaining in ignorance of the question for fear some of our classmates will find out how little we do know of the subject. We are doing the class as well as ourself an injustice by not admitting that we don't know, for many times a number of others don't know any more than ourself; and we will soon have these same questions to face in exams.

When I hear the professor begin to ask questions, it reminds me of a clipping which I took from a magazine, which caused me to resolve, and I think it should every one else, to say, "I don't know."

The clipping is entitled, "As You Were Saying."

Nuggets, Bullion, and Fool's Gold.

J'ever say—
"I don't know"

Try it oncet.
It looks hard,
But it ain't.
Jes' screw up the old front-piece.

Look the guy in the eye,
And let him have it.
"I don't know."
It's plumb easy.
Gets easier with practice.

In fac'—
It ain't a bit hard.
'Cept for folks who never tried it.

Funny thing about some guys.
They'll sleep an' eat an' get tired an' mean-minded,

And the'll cuss an' lose their tempers, and the'll miss fire an' plug the wrong game,

And fumble an' bump their shins an' slip an' bite the gravel.
Jes' like all of us.

But—
They never will let on,
The's anythin' about anythin'
They don't know.
And why not?

Oncet n a while—oncet in a long long while,—

The' must be some little, little thing.

They don't know.
Why not say so?

'Fraid somebody'll git wise to the fac' how seldom they are in the know?

How little they do know?
If they only knew—

It's a fool form of weakness
Not to be able to let on Y' don't know.

If y' don't Y' want to

And y' never will Unless y' let on.

The man who don't know
Is in the way of findin' out,
He's ready for learnn'.

But the guy who knows it all
Ain't likely to.

The feller who won't let on—
He don't know

How quick folks get on to him.

THE SENIOR STUNT.

On Saturday afternoon the students were very much surprised to hear the lively, stirring notes of "Tipperary," issuing from the lower hall of the main building. Every one rushed to the scene of action, but in place of soldiers lined up ready for the war they found the seniors lined up all properly dressed in the regulation senior uniform, waiting to escort all unsuspecting students to the "gym" where these aforesaid seniors intended to show all lower classmen how especially brilliant a senior man can be—even down to the tips of his toes. The senior girls wore a neat tan waist with a big blue tie and a blue skirt and while the costume did not receive the fascinated attention given to the masculine costume, it brought many favorable comments.

At the gymnasium, President Widtsoe would have had no difficulty in admiring the multitude of tango legs. The boys were delighted with the ease and grace of the puteses as a part of a dancing costume. In fact one of the boys said that he felt as if he were trying to dance the Harvard on stilts. However, be that as it may, the dancing went merrily on until the junior boys filed into the hall. The poor unfortunates looked as if they had been badly worsted in a battle and were forced to bandage their damaged legs with rags, old sacks, ropes, and stray pieces of string, which might be found on a field of battle. They thought they looked like seniors, but—

"You're a long way behind the seniors,

You've a long way to go."

There were some pictures taken for the Buzzer to preserve a record of this memorable event for the admiration of future generations. (Don't fail to buy a Buzzer.)

By six o'clock a tired, happy crowd of students wended their way homeward, realizing that they had made some of the "history" which makes the record of a school year so well worth remembering.

Don't Delay Buying a

DE LAVAL

Cream Separator

a single day longer

IF YOU ARE SELLING CREAM or making butter and have no separator or are using an inferior machine, you are wasting cream every day you delay the purchase of a De Laval.

THERE CAN ONLY BE TWO real reasons for putting off buying a De Laval; either you do not really appreciate how great your loss in dollars and cents actually is or else you do not believe the De Laval Cream Separator will make the savings claimed for it.

IN EITHER CASE THERE IS one sensible answer: "Let the De Laval agent set up a machine for you on your place and SEE FOR YOURSELF what the De Laval will do."

YOU HAVE NOTHING TO RISK, and over a million other cow owners who have made this test have found they had much to gain.

YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO wait till spring. Let the De Laval start saving cream for you RIGHT NOW.

WHY NOT START 1915 right with a De Laval and by spring it will have saved enough to go a long way toward paying for itself. Why not talk this over with the local De Laval agent? If you don't know him write to our nearest office.

Nature has an intelligent way of instilling into the various forms of life a desire to do those things that are necessary and art a part of its infinite scheme. It also has a wise method of making pleasant those desires necessary to the very existence and propagation of living things. Because of Nature's intention to perfect certain terrestrial plans it becomes necessary for earthly animals—both human and inhuman—to live, and so nature has instilled into these animals an intense desire TO LIVE and this desire has become so saturated in man's make-up during the many years of the past that it might now be considered a mania.

So life's antithesis—death—is usually shunned as some terrible end to look forward to by the average human being. But while nature wisely puts fear of death into the minds of most men she also very wisely creates some men without it and through that select few the dangerous work of progress is performed. It is always the new and untried things that are fraught with the most danger, and it is he who dares to tread into the new fields who aids mankind the most. To die while endeavoring to learn Nature's so-called secret laws for the purpose of uplifting humanity, should be every human being's greatest aim, for after all the supplying of knowledge and happiness to others is about the only thing worth living for.

When a man has done some one thing during his life that no one else has ever accomplished before and which proves a factor toward the sum total of human progress, he is entitled then, and then only, to feel proud of his work—yea, even conceited over it if he likes.

If a man, while performing some great service to mankind loses his life, he does not need our sympathy—his memory should stir our personal gratitude, our unstinted praise and every honor we can bestow upon his name. Instead of weeping for him we should weep for ourselves—for that which WE have lost. We should weep when we realize how small we are in comparison with him who gave up his life to aid us and our descendants.

We should remember that it is not the length of our lives that counts—as a few year in time is hardly worth speaking about—but the quantity and quality of the work we do. Dying in action is the greatest blessing that man could possibly expect and hope for. No man should be ashamed to die with his boots on unless it is at the end of a rope or other soothing end civilization bestows upon those who perform questionable deeds.

So, honor to our martyrs who in danger of their own lives delve into the mysteries of Nature and to whose unselfish work we can add a little of our own labor for the benefit of our future generations. Praise to those explorers who unselfishly gave up their life careers to find out the unknown of the far away and have shown to the people of the world more land on which to settle. And finally, hats off to those grand and glorious pioneers—those heroes who gave their lives in laying the nucleus of this great and wonderful country and this progressive State and to whom we owe the peace and freedom we now enjoy in a time when Europe is involved in the most bloody war history has ever witnessed.

THE BENEDICTS RECEIVE A BENEDICTION.

A number of the married students and their friends enjoyed a peaceful, happy hour January 10th in the lecture room of the Woman's building, where they listened to an address by Dr. Widsøe.

The President, in his inimitable happy vein showed that men in all nations, from the humblest to the most exalted in life attain the highest degree of happiness through cultivating the spiritual side of his nature along with his intellectual development. He proved that the greatest scientists and philosophers are agreed that the unseen and comparatively unknown laws of nature are doubtless far greater in extent than the harmonious co-relation and perfection of design in the discovered laws is prima facie evidence of the existence of a greater, intelligent designer. He agreed with the sentiment expressed by the Psalmist that none but "the fool hath said in his heart 'There is no God.'"

The Benedict's club has arranged for a lecture to be given on the second Sunday of each month during the remainder of the school year. O.W.J.

Lillian.—I'm fighting for the Germans and they're bound to win.

Miss Libbie Hale was a visitor at the college Saturday, and attended the Senior matinee.

Homer was caught reading the "Children's page" in the "Woman's Home Companion."

The Cache county legislators and their wives, were entertained at dinner at the college last week.

One Freshman and two Sophomore hats have been seen thus far. Are you ashamed of your class?

Freshie.—Is that young fellow down there in the secretary's office a son of John L. Coburn?

Mr. George T. Odell, of Salt Lake City, a member of the board of trustees, was a visitor at the college Monday.

We would like to emphasize the necessity of subscribing for "The Buzzer" early. Don't be among the disappointed ones who get left.

Homer, in crowded car after a student had given up his seat to a lady.—You ought to be like "Bunny" Woolley, he got up and gave three ladies his seat.

Miss Gretta Benson was called home from school last week on account of the death of her father. The student body offers its deepest sympathy to her and her mother.

The pseudo-Seniors made a grand showing at the matinee Saturday with their gunny sack puttees. Apparently they were much more comfortable for dancing than the real ones.

We still have unsigned articles being handed in.

Extra good music will be at the Student Body dance.

Student in Zoo 3.—What was that about a normal man carrying a color blind woman?

Lisle Judd and Less Smith entertained a party of twelve at a jolly sleighing party last Friday evening.

Dr. Plummer, a noted physician of Salt Lake City, gave two splendid lectures to the class in Rural Sanitation last week.

Vera N.—What are we going to sing in choir to-day?

Edith C.—The Lord knows, I don't.

Miss Calvert has a wisdom tooth. Official announcement was made in English 8. She is wondering if her exams will be easy now.

The Department of English took charge of the chapel exercises Tuesday. The speakers were Prof. N. A. Peterson, Mr. Ogburn, Miss Huntsman and Miss Kyle.

Seen on board in Prof. Daines' room: They told him he had been to we.

But said I was not him. They gave them a good character.

But said I was not him. It cannot was.

A delightful theatre party was held Monday evening by Misses Midgely, Cook, Reed and Allen, and Messrs. Caine, L. Smith, Lewis, and McAlister. Later they adjourned to Murdock's.

We need not question the life of the Buzzer staff. Their issue of Student Life and their chapel exercises last week were both very successful. The Buzzer for this year can not help but be a success, and the Student Life staff will be found among the boosters for the 1915 Buzzer.

The next lecture in the course in Disease Prevention will be given Wednesday by Dr. Morrell of Ogden.

Bird.—No sir, I've never been there.

Prof.—I've never been able to find a place you have been.

Prof.—How is limestone formed?

Hugh Peterson.—Little microscopic animals die and leave their remains behind in large quantities.

Dr. George R. Hill just returned from California where he was called to give expert advice concerning the effect cement smoke has on oranges.

Stranger going up to student sweeping in the hall.—Do you get any credit for this?

Student.—Oh, yes; we get credit for taking all the books and rubbers that are lost.

All be out at the dance Saturday, January 16th.

Lester Stoddard, after a week's delay in Oregon, has returned to school.

Quit talking so loud or I'll sit on your voice.

You'll have a box seat if you do.

Neilson last Saturday hiding in the corner of the hall with his Senior togs on.—Gee, I can't see any of the rest of 'em.

The students, as well as Prexy, regret that there is no way for the Seniors to show their legs during chapel.

Four new members have been initiated into the Delta Nu Frat. They are: J. Salisbury, D. Bowen, R. O. Card and Orval Ellsworth.

Prof. Saxer in Math. 5, after working a hard problem.—I don't know that this problem is particularly elevating.

Student.—It has got us all in the air any way.

Coach Teetzel has outlined a regular routine through which he puts his basketball men each week. Mondays they pass the ball and shoot baskets, Tuesdays and Thursdays they have a forty minute scrimmage, same as regular game, Wednesdays strenuous passing and basket shooting, Fridays a light practice of passing, etc., and Saturdays a scheduled game. To go through this course the men will have to do some faithful training which is bound to bring good results. The weights of the squad men are recorded every day and the coach has a check on their condition. * * *

Class athletic managers, get your handball stars busy and enter them in the tournament before Monday. * * *

Mr. Fred Marshall, city editor of The Logan Journal, has been appointed by President Widtsøe to take charge of all athletic publicity at the A. C. * * *

Coach Teetzel has announced that all of the entries for the class handball tournament must be in by Monday, January 18th, so that he can get the schedule arranged.

In the tournament each man must play every other man and honors will be given to the men winning the highest percentage of games. The winner of first place will receive five points, second place three points and third place one point. * * *

Manager Lewis has completed the basketball schedule, which consists of several High School games before the Inter-collegiate series begins and will enable the team to get into form.

Efforts have been made to bring the Pocatello team here for Saturday night, but definite word had not been received when the paper went to press. If they come sufficient announcement will be made.

The exhibition of basketball out up by our team last Saturday night against the Salt Lake High School, was not one of which we may be proud. The game was fast at the beginning and looked like an easy victory for the Aggies, but in the second half the High School team came back strong and kept the score too close for our comfort.

Erickson started at center but was taken out of the game early and Captain Peterson was shifted from forward to center. While at forward Pete did some spectacular playing, but at center he allowed his man to be free and to make eight field baskets. Dorton replaced Peterson at forward and later Johnson and Price replaced Maughan and Packard. These changes enabled Coach Teetzel to get a line on his men and he expects to take ten men on the trips to keep them working hard for their places on the team.

The line-up:

COLLEGE	HIGH SCHOOL
Peterson-Dorton. l.f.	L. Spencer
Johnson-Maughan r.f.	E. Spencer
Ericksen-Petersen c.	Johnson
Packard..... l.g.	Kerr
Kappel..... r.g.	Goodrich

Next Monday the big Farmers' "Round-up" and Housekeepers' Conference will begin. It will be the greatest conference of its kind ever held in the world, based on comparative population. No student or any one intending to come can afford to miss the first day.

The greatest authority on agriculture in the United States Liberty Hyde Bailey, will give two lectures. His first address will be given at 2:30 p. m. and the other in the evening at 8:00 p. m.

Mr. Bailey was born and reared on a farm and is familiar with every detail of farm life. He is a graduate of the Michigan Agricultural College.
