About

Justice Porn is an Internet slang term that is used to describe true stories and online media depicting events in which criminals, bullies and other aggressors are thwarted, exposed or punished for their wrongdoings.

Origin

The earliest known use of the term "justice porn" was featured in an article about courtroom reality television published in Reason^[1] in January of 2009.

"Justice porn, it turns out, is a fairly reliable way to achieve that end: Find a sassy real-life jurist with an itch for the big time, throw some penny-ante miscreants at her mercy, and let the premature adjudication begin."

Spread

On July 28th, 2011, the /r/justiceporn^[2] subreddit was created by Reddit PimpMogul, which gained over 196,000 subscribers within the first two years. On May 21st, 2012, Redditor Jtl4231 submitted a video to /r/justiceporn^[4] of a man in a tiger suit defending himself against an attacker (shown below, left), receiving upwards of 4,500 up votes and 220 comments prior to being archived. On the following day, The Daily Dot^[6] published an article about the subreddit, noting that it has become one of the fastest growing communities on Reddit. On September 4th, LiveLeak user als uploaded a video titled "Justice Porn," featuring a video of a teacher being kicked in the groin after scolding a little girl (shown below, right). Within the following nine months, the video accumulated more than 338,000 views and 1,100 comments.
